ELEGIBLE BACHELORS
What Our List This Week
Contains.
SOME GEMS FOR PERSUAL
Many Places in the Matrimonial
Market.
The list of eligible bachelors was crowded out last week and a great many of our readers felt sore over the matter. During the past two weeks great lists of names have been handed in for publication. Owing to the uncertainty of the financial market
this week we cannot vouch for the correctness of the ratings but we believe they are fairly right.
Thompson, W. J.—25 years of age, $21,000. Mr. Thompson is an insurance man who has gained for himself a prominent place for himself among the men of his calling. As a ladies' man Mr. Thompson has no fear and we understand that he will soon be landed by a pretty lady. We await the event with great anxiety.
Connell, Thomas—27 years of age;
$23,000. Here is a plum for some pretty lady to look after. He is a jolly good fellow and holds a responsible position in the Peterboro Hardware Co.
Mr. Connell is a very slippery fellow in all matters in which the ladies are concerned, but we hope to hear that he has been caught in the net before before long.
Constock, Wm.—26 years of age;
$18,000. Keep your eyes on this gentleman ladies for he is one of the young men who we predict will give his wife
a good time. He is one of the rising business men of Peterboro and should have been married long ago as he was looking after his friends have thought for some time that invitations
would be out, but they are as far off
as ever, and his most intimate friends
wear a very forlorn look.
Martin, Robert—25 years of age;
$16,000. Here is one of the slickest young bachelors that walks the streets of Peterboro. He has many times shown signs of being matrimonially inclined, but either the girl won't have him or he won't have her. We think it is time some nice looking young lady should make his acquaintance and later on take charge of the beautiful home
which we understand he is about to erect.
He is a chance in a million.
Jewett, Dixon—27 years of age; $19,
500. Many of the ladies will wonder how the 99 cents in but they should remember that Mr. Jewett's dog sport is a very fond of a cent occasionally and he swallowed one yesterday.
Mr. Jewett will make a model husband and is a gentleman much admired by the ladies. As a sportsman he is well known from Warsaw to Apsley but no farther. We would like to see him enjoying the comforts of a home.
Cameron, James—35 years of age;
$6,000. Here is one of the most popular employees of the Peter Hamilton
Mfg. Co. and is a large, powerful holder. He is a great favorite with
the ladies on account of his winning ways and handsome smiles. He is a good catch for any young ladies and
we are surprised that he has not been married long ago. He is a very thrifty individual. He is in the market for a good wife and will no
doubt be satisfied soon.
Curtis, David—29 years of age; $5,000.
This is a man who should have the immediate attention of all ladies looking for husbands. He is handsome in appearance and witty in character,
and has all the other qualities which
go to make up a perfect husband.
His wife is a large, powerful holder. He is a great favorite with
the ladies on account of his winning
ways and handsome smiles. He is a good catch for any young ladies and
we are surprised that he has not been married long ago. He is a very thrifty individual. He is in the market for a good wife and will no
doubt be satisfied soon.

PETERBOROUGH WON.
The Local Team Beat the Quinte District Champions.
The Peterborough Hockey team has started off well to sustain our reputation as a foremost Hockey team. The Belleville Hockey team, champions of the Quinte district came here last night
to try conclusions with the Peterboro.
They concluded when the game was over that they could not play Hockey around them and it was only by chance that they scored at all. Belleville, King, and Thelen played a corking game on the forward line while Wasson at goal played his usual way and our Papa Hockeyist Montgomery did excellent work for the home team. The Belleville boys made some splendid individual play but their forwards did not support or pass well. That was where they lost the game.
The score was Peterboro, 20; Belleville, 6.
The teams were composed as follows:—BELLEVILLE—Jumieson, goal;
Hulme, point; H. H. Hamilton, cover; Loring, L. Hamilton, Kelsie, Berritt, forwards; Brentnall, umpire.
PETERBORO—Wasson, goal; Montgomery, point; Follingshead, cover;
King, Phil, Davidson, Bellegum,
forwards; W. Stocker, umpire.
Referee—Mr. Miles Hamilton.

ON CHRISTMAS EVE.
BY R. E. YOUNG
When the gate creaked that October night, Marion Hartley, wife of the unsuccessful author-playwright, was torturing her wits afresh for a way to se-cretely induce some theatrical manager to recognize her husband's genius. Her flush faded as she heard admitted a man with a slow voice and a deliberate step.
Both were unpleasantly familiar.
"Good evening," he said, bowing studiously. Tall, broad and perfectly dressed, he possessed a face only spoiled
by its expression. "Is he accessible?"
Ah, yes, I saw his light in there. Afraid
I must disturb his inspiration, then."
"Indeed? He is very busy," she simply said.
"Of course." He sat down. "Ex-
may I ask how the great play progresses?"
No answer. It had come back that morning for the fourth time—declined.
She pretended to sew until the position grew unbearable and then rose.

Free Trial To Any Honest Man

The Foremost Medical Company
in the World in the Cure of Weak Men Makes this Offer.HEALTH AND ENERGY ASSURED.
HAPPY MARRIAGE, GOOD
TEMPER, LONG LIFE.

In all the world to-day—in all the history of the world—no doctor nor institution has treated and cured so many cases of the famous KIDNEY MEDICAL CO. of Buffalo, N. Y.

This is due to the fact that the company controls some of the most powerful and effective medicines known to the whole realm of medical science.

So much deception has been practiced in advertising that this grand old company now for the first time makes this startling offer:— They will send their costly and magically effective medicine and a whole month's course of restorative treatment, postpaid on trial without expense to any honest and reliable man! Not a dollar need be advanced—not a penny paid—till results are known to and acknowledged by the patient.

The Erie Medical Company's appliances and remedies have been talked about and written about all over the world, all over man has heard of them. They restore or create strength, vigor, healthy blood and true life. They quickly stop drains on the system that sap the energy. They cure nervousness, depression and all the effects of evil habits, excesses, overwork, etc. They give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Failure is impossible and age is no barrier. This "Erie Medical Company" offer is limited by the company to a short time, and application must be made at once.

No O. O. D. scheme, no bogus philanthropy nor deception, no exposure—a clean business proposition by a company of high financial and professional standing.

Write to THE KIDNEY MEDICAL COMPANY, BUFFALO, N. Y., and refer to seeing the account of their offer in this paper.

CHRISTIAN SYMPATHY AND KNOWLEDGE

Has been the influence of a living more men and women than all the preachers could possibly do in ten centuries preaching Hell, Fire and Damnation.—Allison.

Dr. Allison's Kidney "Buds" are a really far-fetched Christian Principle, viz.: Honor and Merit and ever ready to help the poor and needy.

When you take Dr. Allison's Kidney "Buds" it simply means a permanent cure from a form of kidney complaint.

Dr. Allison's Kidney "Buds" has the prestige of a great name behind them, which is more than any other of similar kind, or truthful recommendation as of certain value, and has been purchased for the purpose of giving wealth, caring nothing for the user.

Dr. Allison's Kidney "Buds" are an honest remedy sold at a reasonable price.

PETERBOROUGH, DECEMBER 30 1897

A FINAL WORD.

Before another issue of this paper (Saturday being a public holiday, consequently there will be no issue of the Times on Monday) the municipal elections will be over. What the result will be as regards the mayoralty there is no certain way of determining, since the funds of both candidates claim to look forward to success. That the result will be an overwhelming victory for Mr. Davis, we have every reason to believe. Unfortunately methods have entered into the canvass that are not creditable to Mr. Yelland. Ignorance, class-prejudice and appeals to the "poor" man for help on "fraternal" grounds, no doubt will have its effect. But, we regret to say, measures even more despicable if possible are being resorted to create a feeling against Mr. Davis. False and slanderous stories are whispered into the ears of men it is thought will believe them, that Mr. Davis is seeking the position in order to help the Auburn Company, the Real Estate Company or some other corporation. To most men these statements are not heeded, and do no harm, but in some cases they will no doubt turn a vote. Of course it is unnecessary for this journal to contradict them. Mr. Davis has already done that in the most emphatic manner possible. He must indeed be wanting in self respect and in love of his town, and must possess a low conception of the duties of a citizen, who will descend to such despicable methods.

The Times has always endeavored to do its duty, and has fearlessly and independently advocated only such measures as were calculated to benefit the community. It gives its support to Mr. Davis on the present occasion because it believes he is in every way the best man for the position. Believing as we do, we therefore ask the rate-payers of Peterboro to go to the polls and give your vote for Mr. Davis, who is going to work for Peterboro as never a man in similar position worked before.

ABUSE OF CHARITY FUNDS.

Yesterday we received a communication from an influential resident of No. 3 Ward, calling attention to the gross abuse of temporary authority and a position of trust, on the part of ex-Councillor John Sawers, when Chairman of the Charity Committee in the Town Council of '96. Considering the writer's large monetary interests in the community, high social standing and reputation for uprightness and fairness, and our own determination to squelch aspirants to public office whose records are shady, the epistle is well worthy of a place in these columns and would certainly be produced in full, notwithstanding its bulky proportions, had we the space at our disposal.

Mr. Sawers is roundly scolded for what the writer terms a corrupt use of public monies. Funds which were placed at his disposal for charitable purposes were diverted into improper channels and instead of being devoted to the purchase of food for the poor and needy of the town, were recklessly squandered, it is alleged, with a view to influencing votes. This statement is amply proven, our correspondent claims, by the fact that Mr. Sawers—in the three or four weeks preceding the election—issued the astounding number, of two hundred and four, (264) orders for charity—a scheme, which for audacity and originality in conception, simply stands unparalleled in the municipal history of this or any other community in the land.

The true nature of this wholesale distribution of charity, however, was so apparent to the present council that almost one of its first acts was to introduce legislation which effectually precluded the possibility of the recurrence of so scandalous a proceeding. A relief officer with an advisory board comprised of a representative from each of the churches, the Salvation Army, the Christian Alliance and the Hull Poor Trust, now regulate the distribution of charity and during the year just closed have performed their duties in a highly satisfactory manner. All worthy requests for charity have been granted and yet one-half the number of orders has been found ample to cover the period requests having any voice in the distribution of charity, the matter was dropped.

The astute John was saving the plum for bait at the next election, but the "free and independent" twiggled his little game and as a consequence he was given an opportunity of gracing his own fireside instead of the council board.

The electors of No. 3 Ward have neither forgotten nor forgiven Mr. Sawers. In the early part of Mr. Sawers' term of office, a scheme on the lines of the one at present in force was introduced, but owing to the strong opposition of Mr. Sawers, who expressed himself as entirely opposed to the Sawers in this connection, says our correspondent, and on Monday will punish his presumption in again presenting himself as a candidate for municipal honors.

The Times has verified the statement above given as to the number of orders issued and any ratepayer may do the same by calling at the town offices.

UNDER COOPER'S GUN.

Wrenched The Pistol From His Grasp

And Laid the Desperate Dead at his Feet—Marshall Kennard Himself Was Shot in the Head—Mortal Wound and the Woman Fatally Shot.

Vanceburg, December 31.—The second killing within two months occurred here at two o'clock to-day. Ves Cooper and some companions came to town to-day, and, after filling up with liquor proceeded to raise trouble among themselves and all others with whom they came in contact. They went to the St. Charles bar and there were joined by Timman Cooper, a brother of Ves, and who was in a quarrelsome mood. Finally the bartender being unable to quiet them called in Marshall Tom Kennard and told him to quiet them.

OR TAKE THEM OUT
Marshall Kennard ordered them to be quiet or he would arrest him. Ves Cooper quieted down and apologized to Marshall Kennard for being disorderly. Then Timman Cooper, who had threatened Marshall Kennard at another time, interposed and said to his brother: "Don't apologize a d—d bit; he can't arrest us."

Marshall Kennard told Timman to keep quiet or he would arrest him, when Timman reached for his ever ready gun. Marshall Kennard saw the move and struck him with his mace. Timman did not fall, but succeeded in drawing his gun. Kennard was unarmed, and seeing his danger, dropped under the gun and grappled with Cooper. Just then some one struck the Marshall from behind and Timman shot the officer. The Marshall grabbed the gun and it went off again, the bullet grazing his breast.

He succeeded in disarming Cooper, and straightening up placed the pistol against Cooper's left breast and fired. Timman Cooper fell dead, slain with his own pistol, with which he had shot Marshall Kennard but a few seconds before. Kennard handed the pistol to bartender Cottingham and said: "Boys I'm shot; somebody go with me to the doctor."

The first shot fired by Timman Cooper had entered the upper part of Marshall Kennard's head and came out at the base of the skull in the rear, making an ugly scalp wound. It was a narrow escape for Marshall Kennard, as he would certainly have been killed had he not shot Cooper when he did. Cooper was shot just over the heart, the bullet severing the main artery. Timman Cooper was a brother-in-law of G. W. Stamper, President of the Vanceburg Deposit Bank and one of the largest handlers of timber in Kentucky. Marshall Kennard bears a charmed life, it seems, as he has a wound on his head as large as a silver dollar, which was inflicted by a bowlder several years ago, and the scalp over this wound alone covers the brain, the skull being removed. He is not fatally hurt this time, but is able to get about as usual. Timman Cooper leaves a large family.

If you have ever seen a little child in a paroxysm of Croup or if you have been annoyed by a constant tickling in the throat you can appreciate the value of Ransom's Hives Syrup and Tolu, which gives quick relief. 25c.

VIEW OF THE DYING YEAR

1897 a Famous Period for Record-Breaking.

The Great Forward Strides of Science and Many of the Notable Events Are Vividly Recalled.

From the beginning to the end of 1897 progress has been the watchword, and on the banners of men of science, men of business, professional men, leaders in art and literature, church prelates and merchant princes there has been written in robust characters the motto "Excelsior!" Looking down from the heights to which the world has climbed during the last 12 months one sees that giant strides have been made in every direction.

The vast field of engineering science has some sensational developments. The year 1897 has given us the mighty Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, the fastest passenger afloat; it has given us the floating battleship in the world, in the shape of the Japanese fighting craft Yoshima, and the speediest small vessel in existence in the British Torpedo boat Turbini, this last presenting in itself one of the most important advances in steam engineering in that she attains her tremendous rate of speed by means of her steam turbines.

The use of steam as a motive power has been improved upon. Electric rail-roading has been tried and found to be a distinct advance. It is operating successfully on the New Haven Road in Connecticut, and on the overhead railroad in Liverpool in England, while in London it is to make bearable the choking atmosphere of that abomination, THE UNDERGROUND RAILROAD.

Horseless carriages have ceased to be the butt of the cartoonist's pencil and the joke writer's pen. In three great cities of the world—London, Paris and New York—motor carriages have become such a familiar sight as to be an object of curiosity to none but country visitors. The important advancement made by electricity is shown by the fact that in 1897 there were 86 miles of electric railway, while 1897 finds us with 14,000 miles of electric railway, and an increase in the number of electric cars operated from 172 to 37,000.

It has been a great year for the advancement of women. Even in the conservative countries of Europe barriers to the onward and upward progress of woman have been removed. In France this has been especially noticeable, many of the restrictions of the higher education of women having been removed. The attempt to secure for women equal privileges with the male students of the university proved a failure, although the faculty had admitted the women to study with the men, pass the same examinations and beat them when they could, which occasionally has happened.

In the field of sport, as in the field of science, to break records has been the aim of every contestant. The star of the bicycle track has been little Jimmie Michael, the Welsh wonder. On the turf, Hamburg, the mighty son of Hanover and Lady Reel, about whose ownership there has been so much secrecy, stands the undisputed turfing. Football has become a fiercer sport than ever, and in some states the swiftest and deadliest war between Turkey and Greece, which began and ended with surprising suddenness and with so little loss of life that the average man looking back over 1897 for events of interest, may be forgiven if he fails to recall the Turk-Grecian campaign.

The news of the discovery of gold is entitled to take a prominent place among the events of 1897, for it set the whole world agog, is a popular subject, and is liable to get hotter yet in spite of the chilliness of the Alaskan atmosphere.

In foreign events the great jubilee of Queen Victoria takes precedence as the most important. In the minds of Britishers, at least, it was an event that stood out among all others as the chief incident of 1897.

PILE TERRORS SWEEP AWAY.

Dr. Agnew's Ointment stands at the head as a reliever, healer, and sure cure for Piles in all forms. One application will give comfort in a few minutes, and three to six days application according to directions will cure chronic cases. It relieves all itching and burning skin diseases in a day. 35 cents.

TO THE RATEPAYERS

—OF—
Ward No. Four

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

I have again been nominated as a Candidate to represent you in the Town Council, and I therefore solicit your vote and influence in my behalf.

During the time I have been honored with your confidence I have endeavored to represent you to the best of my ability, willingly giving all the time and attention that was demanded and while giving the town interests as a whole careful attention, I have ever kept a watchful eye on the interests of Ward No. 4. I trust my course has met with your approval. If it has I ask for a renewal of your confidence. Wishing you all the compliments of the season, I remain,

Your obedient servant,

J. M. WHITE

TO THE ELECTORS OF WARD No. 2

Your vote and influence is respectfully solicited for

O. W. SAWERS

as Councillor....

Peterborough, Dec. 27th, 1897.

APPEALS TO THE WORKING CLASSES.

The treacherous appeals to the working classes for support is not likely to do Mr. Yelland much good. He knows the people of this town are not divided into classes; that we are a community where special class privileges are unknown and unrecognized. What special privileges should one portion of our number be entitled too that the other portion should not share? Why does Mr. Yelland seek to stir up rancor between labor and capital? Such conduct is not less than petty insult to the working classes, and will meet with the condemnation it deserves at the hands of the electors on Monday next.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

To the Editor of the Times.
Sir,—I have been asked to vote for a straight ticket in No. 2 Ward, of which I understand Mr. Andrew McNeil is the chief promoter. I, of course, declined to have anything to do with any such arrangement for I do not believe in "tickets" as a rule. I do not know the object of the ticket unless it is to accomplish some change in the head of the police force of the town. A word to the wise is sufficient.

By inserting the above you will oblige,

AN HONEST VOTER.

THE TRUE REMEDY.

Wm. Duggan, St. Albans Street, Toronto, says: "We won't keep house without Ransom's Hives Syrup and Tolu for consumption, coughs, colds, croup or bronchial troubles. Experimented with many others but never got the true remedy until we used Ransom's Hives Syrup and Tolu. No other remedy can take its place in our home as in it we have a certain and sure cure for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, etc. We would not be without it in the house." It is also to be experimented with other remedies, even if they are urged as "just as good" as "Ransom's Hives Syrup and Tolu." They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. Avoid substitutes.

THE MAYORALTY CONTEST.

To The Electors of the Town of Peterborough.

Ladies and Gentlemen,—At the request of a large and influential number of citizens, representing all classes of the community, I have consented to become a candidate for the Mayoralty for the coming year. Although I had decided to retire from municipal life this year, yet I could not in the face of the solicitation of so many electors refuse to accept of the nomination so urgently pressed upon me. I felt it both an honor and a duty to accede to their wishes, and now solicit your vote and influence.

The town of Peterborough requires that her legislators must be active, watchful and careful; watchful in placing her splendid natural facilities as a commercial and manufacturing centre before the world; watchful that the ratepayers' money shall be wisely economically and judiciously expended; and careful in carrying out a policy of progress and economy, so that our town may benefit in the race for supremacy without burdening the ratepayers with heavy taxation. Unless a policy of this kind is pursued our town will retrograde, and her mechanics, artisans and laborers be forced to look outside for their livelihood, and eventually move from our midst.

If elected I shall use my best endeavors to advance the interests of all classes of ratepayers. Being in close touch with the business men and manufacturers, I feel that I can look after their interests carefully and intelligently; while at the same time I shall use every effort to promote such legislation as will seek to benefit the working classes, and use every means at my disposal to keep down the rate of taxation.

During my term in Council I supported the advocacy of a fair day's pay for a fair day's work—and nine hours a day for corporation employees. If elected I shall continue to do this, and in addition will favor the insertion of a clause of similar character in all contracts let by the town for public works.

Should time permit, I will endeavor to see you personally and place my views more fully before you, but should I be unable to do so, I hereby respectfully solicit your vote and influence.

Wishing you the compliments of the Season, I am,

Your obedient servant,

A. L. DAVIS.

Peterborough, December 17th, 1897.

TO THE ELECTORS

—OF—
WARD No. 1

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

At the request of many of the intelligent ratepayers of No. 1 Ward to again become a candidate for Councillor, I have consented to do so, and would respectfully solicit your votes and support.

Being a large property holder in the town, my interest in the honest management of municipal affairs should be a sufficient guarantee that I would always favour the most careful economy—at the same time exercising my best judgment in promoting the growth, progress and prosperity of the town.

Yours' respectfully,
Noah T. LePlante

Guaranteed Income Policies

This form of policy has lately been introduced by the

It is the most modern development of life assurance and in the opinion of many comes nearer to perfection than any form of contract which has preceded it. The Guaranteed Income Policy provides for the payment of the sum assured in 10, 15 or 20 equal annual instalments, but it goes further and guarantees that if the beneficiary be still alive at the end of the 20 years, the instalments will continue to be paid to her during the whole of her subsequent life, whether that be long or short.

Christmas Song.

In the darkness of the morning
Shepherds on the eastern plains
Saw a glorious brightness dawning
Heard a joyful, sweet refrain:
"Glory in the highest!
Peace on earth!"

Then before them, wondering, listening,
Came the beautiful angel train,
Came in garments brightly glistening,
Singing clear and strong again:
"Glory in the highest!
Peace on earth!"

Tell to all below the story
Of the wondrous Saviour's birth,
Tell of how he came from glory
To be crowned the King of earth,
Glory in the highest!
Peace on earth!

Sin no more shall close heaven's portals
Open far and wide they swing,
For Messiah unto mortals
Full forgiveness now doth bring,
Glory in the highest!
Peace on earth!

—M. W. Falconer in Chicago Record.

The Treating Habit.

It was Pope Telesphorus, who died before the year 150 A. D., who instituted Christmas as a festival, though for some time it was irregularly held in December, April and May. But for centuries before there had been a feast of Yule among the northern nations whose great enjoyment was in drinking the wassail bowl or cup. Nothing gave them so much delight as indulgence in "carousing ale," especially at the season of short days when fighting was ended. It was likewise their custom at all their feasts "for the master of the house to fill a large bowl or pitcher, to drink out of it first himself, and then give to him that sat next, and so it went around." This may have been the origin of that popular American custom known as "treating." It is certain that upon our Christian observance of this glorious day have been ingrafted habits taken from rude and barbarous people.

The Difference.

First Goose—What's the difference between a Christmas turkey and a Christmas girl?
Second Goose—I dunno.
First Goose—Why, one is dressed to kill, and the other is killed to dress.

Reminder of an Old Custom.

Hundreds of old country people, especially of Irish birth, will remember the Christmas candle which is lighted and placed in the window at midnight of Christmas eve and allowed to burn there on the successive nights until it is all consumed. It is one of the most interesting of all the customs associated with the religious celebration of the Christian festival. It is symbolic, of course, of the "Light of the World," but some hold that with the mistletoe, the holly and the festive practices of the season it goes back to Druid or pagan origin and is derived from some olden symbolism of the returning warmth of the sun. However this may be, it is not generally known that the custom has been preserved in Canada to this day by a few old country people, comparatively speaking, to whom Christmas would not bear its holy message without the tall wax candle shining in their window.

Once upon a midnight dreary, as I pondered weak and weary over all the Christmas presents that a boyish fancy draws, while with sleep I tried to tussle, cried with all my might and muscle, suddenly I heard a rustle, like the noise of Santa Claus. Though with fright I fairly shuddered, for fright I had no cause—it was only Santa Claus. Then I listened more intently to the sound that crept up gently to my chamber, where my wonder almost caused my heart to pause, and I heard the candy spilling, as the stocking he was filling, and I wished I'd left a shilling there for dear old Santa Claus. And the noise I heard so plainly in the room adjoining was only Santa Claus. Anxious now to get a peep, down the stairway did I creep, all impatient for a glance, although against the laws, and it filled my heart with dread, as with sudden fear he fled and jumped into mamma's bed—naughty, naughty Santa Claus! And the stories that we hear each year are as thin as summer gauze. Fraud stupendous—Santa Claus!

A Christmas Gift.

Startling appearance in church on the Sunday after Christmas of Uncle Hiram in the new overcoat his city cousins sent him.

Mr. Toclip—Yes, I am afraid that after all, your wheel is really better than mine.
Miss Spracklet—I am glad to hear you say so, Mr. Toclip, but (regretfully) I can never be more than a sister to you.
Mother—Tommy, if you are not good, I'll send you to bed without your supper.
Tommy—What you goin' to have for supper?

STEPS ON HIS BEARD.

A KANSAS MAN HAS ANDY GILLIGAN BEAT BY SEVERAL BLOCKS.

W. H. White, a farmer near this city, can probably boast of the longest beard in Kansas, if not in the entire country. Mr. White's whiskers measure 6 feet and 4 inches in length.

W. H. White was born at Putney, Vt., in 1833, and began shaving when he was 14 years old. He was obliged to shave three and four times a week. Before reaching the age of 18 he allowed his beard to grow to 2 feet in length. Thirty years ago, on the last time he shaved, but for 20 years he kept his whiskers trimmed off to about 3 feet. Ten years ago he decided to let them grow, but when they reached the ground he had to trim them off occasionally.

Mr. White carries his beard carefully done up inside his clothes, and allows it to hang down his trousers leg all matted together. A World Correspondent asked Mr. White if he would object to showing his beard, but he said he wasn't prepared to do so. He then reached up under his left pant leg and pulled out a handful of hair about a foot in length—the end of his beard.

Until a year ago Mr. White took a great deal of pains with his beard and combed it as regularly as he did his hair, but he says it takes too much time and now only combs the under portion and allows the lower part to look after itself.

Mr. White is 64 years old, and has lived on a farm, which he owns, one mile from Putney, since 1881. He is a painstaking gentleman, and has one of the best improved farms in this section of the state.

When asked why he did not cut off his beard he said: "Oh, I don't exactly know why. I just simply don't like to part with it. It would be just like parting with an old friend."

Thousands of young men are made nervous wrecks, unfit for business, social pleasures or home duties by evil habits in youth, later excesses, or private diseases. W. L. Kennedy and Kergan, O., says: "I read this paper and have seen many reports of remarkable cures made by Drs. Kennedy and Kergan. I decided to treat with them. Indiscretion was the cause of my trouble. I was weak and nervous; no ambition; back weak; pimples on the face; thin and haggard; eyes sunken and cheeks hollow; dreams and drains at night; urinary poor; varicocele and weak parts; irritability; aching spells; aches before the eyes; lack of confidence; no energy; and many other complaints. I had tried fourteen doctors, bought four electric belts, took scores of bottles of patent medicines—all failed. I tried the New Medical Treatment of Drs. Kennedy and Kergan, and it cured me. I am a Man Again. I have gained twenty-six pounds and am strong mentally, physically and socially. It is a wonderful treatment."

MRS. BYRNE,

The Boy and the Pessimist

By BARRY PAINE.

"Well," said Mr. Archibald Bunby M. A., principal of that excellent preparatory school, Redhurst, "there the matter stands. You can take it or you can leave it, and if you leave it I've very little doubt in my own mind that Gibbing will take it—snatch it, in fact. If you take it—you aren't obliging me in any way—you remain at Redhurst during the holidays, and in return you receive your board and lodging free and a £5 note at the end of it. Why, man, you aren't even asked to do any teaching. All you have to do is to keep an eye on the boy generally. And so long as you don't smoke actually in the presence of the boy I will relax the smoking rule. I'd sooner you took it than Gibbing, because I consider you to be the more trustworthy man, but there's no obligation about it. On the contrary, I am offering you an uncommonly good thing for yourself. There's scores of men like you who'd be only too glad to get a holiday engagement on any terms."

Yes, that was true, and Elton knew it. And it was of some detestable importance to him that he should not have to keep himself for seven weeks on his term's salary, but, on the contrary, should find that salary augmented by £5.

"Very well," he said rather despondently—he generally seemed rather despondent—"I accept. Rough on the boy, rather, isn't it?"

"Well, what else is to happen to him? He can't go to his people in India. He can't go to his uncle's house, because they've got the whooping cough there."

It may be said that it, that would mean losing a term's work, and it's most important that he should not lose even a day's work just now. As I said, I don't ask you to teach him anything during the holidays, but still a little grounding in Latin grammar—Latin grammar especially—wouldn't do the boy any harm and might help to pass the time for you."

"Very well," Elton repeated.

Bunby was not quite satisfied. He wanted gratitude. He would always do anything to get gratitude except deserve it. He paced up and down his study, stroking his red beard. "You'll be very comfortable, you know," he reminded Elton. "You'll have the assistant masters' sitting room all to yourself, and Maynam, of course, will play about in the dayroom. Every now and then you'll just see that he's going on all right, of course. As for meals, you'll have them together, and, though there'll only just be you two, they'll be on exactly the same scale as during term time. Ah, I wonder if you know how the undermasters are fed at some private schools?"

Elton bit his lip. It galled him rather to be made to feel like a canary.

"I could give you cases," Bunby went on; "but, however, I'll say no more. It's understood that you stop, and it seems to me that it's a very nice little windfall for you."

Elton gave him the thanks he wanted, feeling that he wouldn't be happy until he got them. He had got into the habit of doing anything he could to please Bunby. He was paid to please Bunby.

Then Elton went back to the assistant masters' sitting room. Gibbing, the English master, was there, making cocoa over the gas. To him Elton related how Bunby had made the offer and he had accepted it.

"Poor devil!" said Gibbing. "Poor devil yourself!" retorted Elton irritably. "When I want your pity, I'll ask for it."

"Kettle's boiling," said Gibbing, unmoved. "Have a cup?"

"No," said Elton, turning his back on him. He was not paid to please Gibbing.

Gibbing explored the bottom of the cocoa tin with a spoon. It turned barely full. "It's just as well you won't," he remarked. "I believe these beastly servants sneak our cocoa when they do the room in the morning."

"They never do 'do the room,' as you call it," replied Elton. There were moments when he realized just as acutely as if it had been perfectly new to him the hopeless sordidness of the life. He had come upon one of those moments now. He felt crushed and yet rebellious, angry and yet humiliated. For the sake of £5 he was going to surrender seven weeks of his independence and become a kind of male nursemaid. And it was for this that one took a degree at Cambridge! He did not at the moment feel well disposed toward Maynam. He relieved his feelings by being distinctly offensive to Gibbing, who drank his cocoa and paid very little attention to the offensiveness.

The morning of the general departure came. Before it was light the heavy luggage carts were crunched the gravel drive. The trunks had all been piled in the hall the night before, surveyed with satisfaction by many small boys as evidence that the holidays had really come at last. There was an exceptionally early train. Then, an hour later, the majority followed, with their coat collars turned up and joy in their hearts and calculations of the amounts that they would save out of their traveling money in their heads. Later still Gibbing also went, having himself conveyed to the station in a shilling fly, because the boys walked, and he thought it well to mark distinctions. Last of all, after many and minute instructions as to Elton, Mr. Archibald Bunby drove off to his favorite holiday occupation of being a bore in a boarding house. There were half a dozen of these establishments in as many seaside resorts that shared in and dreaded his patronage. He liked to collate them. His favorite study was comparative price lists.

CATACOMBS TO DATE.

TOMBS OF CHRISTIAN MARTYRS NOW INSPECTED BY ELECTRIC LIGHT.

The visitor to Italy complains of modern steam tugs on the Grand Canal in Venice, and the new fangled ideas of cleanliness in the streets of Naples and the new quarters in Rome, but the thought of the catacombs seems to have been rescued with the illumination of the catacombs by electric light. No more dim darkness, in which one must take care not to be lost, no more monk guides holding lighted tapers, no more darkness, no more imagination. This being the case, on St. Friday, the catacombs of St. Callistus, where the blessed virgin was buried, were opened to-day for the first time for a general inspection, with thousands of electric globes, illuminating every inch of the underground city. The catacombs are situated on the Via Appia, on the magnificent Appian way, and the entrance is called the "Queen's Road," and leads the visitor to the tomb of St. Callistus. St. Callistus was the only prominent martyr of the early Christian era whose name is connected with this burial place, for the remains of there of several Popes of the third century, as witness the original tombs of St. Antherus, St. Fabian, St. Lucius, St. Cornelius and St. Eusebius, who all rest in the chair of St. Peter.

Thousands of Romans and foreigners have to-day visited this sacred spot. The crowd itself formed a picturesque view, as from below one looked up at the pilgrims ascending and descending the long, steep flight of stairs or at the long processions of robed monks and black-robed nuns, showing in vivid contrast to groups of students of the German College in their scarlet gowns, a garb that causes them to be called the "Little Carmines." The corridors respond in echoes to their chants at the different alters, while there was a subdued hum from the less devout pilgrims. What would be unperceivable by the visitor if he were not preformed by the fact that the five miles of corridors and chapels are not on the same level, but form three different floors, one under the other. The most interesting spot is where St. Cecilia's tomb was found, and where also stands a copy of the statue of the saint, designed by Maderno, representing her after her martyrdom. Next stands a most interesting marble tablet, the inscription on which was originally a pagan one dedicated to Marcus Aurelius. The Christians utilized the tablet by turning it and writing on the back a new epitaph to Pope St. Damasus.

Bones and skeletons of the ancient martyrs are found all along the walls, in three rows, one above the other. The lower room is the most disturbed, as almost every one tries to take something away as a sacred relic. But the electric light on these bones turns the catacombs into a museum.

What does A stand for? When some friend suggests that your blood needs a sarsaparilla treatment, remember that A stands for AYER'S. The first letter in the alphabet stands for the first of sarsaparillas; first in origin, first in record, first in the favor of the family. For nearly half a century has been curing all forms of blood diseases—scrofula, eczema, tetter, rheumatism, erysipelas, blood poisoning, etc. There's a book about these cures—"Ayer's Curebook," a story of cures told by the cured,"—which is sent free on request, by Dr. J. C. Ayer, Lowell, Mass. The book will interest you if you are sick or weak, because it tells not what it is claimed the remedy will do, but what your neighbors and fellows testify that it has done. Will it cure you? It has cured thousands like you. Why not you?

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS.

THEY READ THE PAPERS.

"What place," asked a George-st. Sunday school teacher last Sabbath, "has streets paved with gold?" And every little pupil shouted, "Klondike!"

WHAT YOU CAN SAVE.

You would be surprised at the amount of money you will save by purchasing school supplies at the Times Bookstore. Just drop in and see. Our stock is the best.

Calest's Ale and Porter.

Just received a Special Brewing of Ale and Porter made expressly for Christmas. Call in and try it.

W. OVEREND.

THE BEST PAPER.

This is New Year's day, and you should start right. Begin by subscribing for the Times, Peterborough's popular paper, the Times, and on Monday open the week by another good act by voting for Davis.

LOOK HERE!

Just received fresh Sea Salmon, Halibut, Smelts, Lake Superior Trout and White Fish. Best brands Baltimore Oysters. J. B. Oke.

CHILDREN'S DAYS.

The schools open on Monday, and the Times Bookstore has arranged to give with every purchase a valuable present. Not only do we sell at clear prices than others in town, but we give large quantities of goods away, in presents.

Vote for A. L. Davis and plenty of employment for all classes.

ELECTION POETRY.

There are two of them toing the chalk;
Both Davis and Yelland may talk,
Said Al: "It's a race
But, if you set the pace
Why, I guess I can win at a walk."

COUNCILLOR NEILL'S RESTRAINT

The restraint of Mr. Robert Neill from the Council cannot but be regretted, as he has been an honest and conscientious representative. His sterling record during his brief term as Council member may induce him to be a candidate at some future time.

CHEAP SCHOOL SUPPLIES.

The Times' Bookstore has on hand a splendid stock of School Supplies and is thoroughly equipped for the opening of the schools on Monday. We are large manufacturers of School Supplies, and hence we are in a position to sell cheaper than the cheapest. Every purchaser will receive a valuable present.

THE MISERIES OF OFFICE.

David of old song "The Troubles which Afflict the Just in Numbers be!" This is true to-day, as our Municipal Candidates are learning the discomforts which attend their official positions. Several of them are suffering from swollen arms, the result of the great amount of hand-shaking they undergo. The lucky ones will be forced to continue the pump-handle exercise for some time yet—until the indefatigable office-seeker is satisfied.

MR. SAWERS' CANDIDATURE.

No. 2 Ward has a good new candidate for Councillor in the person of Mr. C. W. Sawers, who has both time and ability at his disposal. Mr. Sawers is just the man to fill the position, as he possesses the legal knowledge necessary to keep the council out of law suits, and has had considerable municipal experience. The Times would therefore like to see him elected, the ratifiers will certainly make no mistake in voting for him.

SOUTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL.

The electors of South Monaghan have returned the old Council by acclamation, and in so doing have made no mistake. Reeve W. H. Hutchinson, Alex. Anderson, Jr., John Buckham, J. W. Dawson and Herbert Perrin will for another year, guide the affairs of the progressive little municipality. The business way in which the affairs of the municipality were conducted during the past year reflected great credit on the council as well as on the excellent and painstaking work of Mr. A. Maccock. The Times wishes the Council and clerk a happy and prosperous New Year.

A TRUE STORY.

We tell a good story about a young and popular bachelor of Peterboro. He was recently staying a few days in Toronto and excused himself to his friends to go to his room to put in clean linen as he was going to see his girl. One of the crowd kept him in conversation while another stepped up to his room and dosed his shirt and clothing with a perfume familiar around hospitals. Our young friend's smelling apparatus is bad, and he never discovered it until his girl shook him and the gun gave him the frozen mit. Since that time he has burned at this clothing, but the odor is still about. This story is probably true, as it is vouched for by Tom Fortye.

CHRISTIAN ALLIANCE NOTES.

Mr. D. Buchanan, who has been travelling secretary of the Christian and Missionary Alliance in Canada for the past eight months, is leaving in a few days for South America as a missionary. He will take the services in Bethany Mission, Water-st., on Sabbath.
Pastor Zimmerman is in Toronto this week attending a Christian Workers' Convention held on College-st.
Miss Louisa Best and her cousin, Eliza L. Best, farewelled in Bethany Bethany Mission Sabbath evening last, and left yesterday noon for the Missionary Training Institute, South Nyack, N. Y. This makes five who have gone from here this fall to this institute of which Rev. A. B. Simpson is superintendent.
Miss M. Quinn, who lately farewelled in Bethany Mission is now on the ocean sailing for China, as missionary to the Chinese.

No. 3. WARD.

To the Editor of the Times.
Sir,—I would like to see Honest Adam Dawson elected in No. 3 Ward. We want a man who is not afraid to speak out and who will do his duty. Mr. Dawson has always been that man, and I appeal to the electors of the ward to mark their ballots for him on Monday next.

AN ELECTOR.

Peterboro, Dec. 31.

A POOR SHOT.

Mr. Snowden, the general proprietor of the Snowden House, tells a story of a joke he worked off on his friend Tom Rutherford. It appears that a party was arranged to go hunting rabbits. All the paraphernalia was secured and each hunter was given his allotment. They divided up as Nimrods do, and in the evening when they came to skin up the spoils it was found that Mr. Rutherford had not killed anything. Mr. Bob Smith, who had been put on to the secret, knew that Tom had no shot in his shells, and whenever a good opportunity arose for the latter to shoot a bird or any object Bob would take great pains in notifying Tom to be cool and careful. And whenever the discharge failed to land the game he would make the planned excuse, "a little too low or a little too high," but not until the day after did Tom discover that he was being trifled with, and the house had a great justification over the failure of Mr. Rutherford because it meant liquid refreshments whoever had the smallest showing.

STRENGTH HAS RETURNED.

"My whole system was run down. I was so weak I could scarcely get around to do my work. I finally began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and after using five bottles I found that my strength had returned and my appetite was better. I now feel as strong as ever." Mrs. Kelley, 9 Wellington avenue, Toronto, Ontario.

THE MAYORALTY CONTEST.

To His Worship Mayor Yelland.
Sir,—I would like to say a few words to the rat payers of the town through the medium of the Times, which everybody appears to read, on the Mayorality question. One would suppose that the ratpayers would be sufficiently alive to their own interests not to need the advice or suggestions of any one, but the matter in hand affects so many that for this reason alone they are likely to be neglected, for it is an old saying that "that which is everybody's business is nobody's business."

I would like to ask you Mr. Mayor, a few plain questions, and hope to be favored with an early reply:
Is it true that there is a general belief that you are after the office of Mayor solely on account of the pittance salary attached to it?

Is it true that although the $250 per year is granted in order to enable the Mayor to discharge his duty, you put the whole or nearly the whole, two hundred and fifty down in your pocket and kept it there?

Is it true that in canvassing for votes you have passed as a workman by donning an old suit of clothes and pointed to this fact as a proof of your sincerity?

Is it true that because one of the jury selectors was unavoidably absent from duty that you proposed the division of his pay among yourself and the others although you had no extra work to perform?

Is it true that when you have work to perform you employ outside labour to do it?

Is it true that you shirked your vote on the street lighting question, which resulted in the town having to pay $65 per year, per street light instead of $57.50?

Is it true that you avowed on the eve of the last election your determination not again to be a candidate for the Mayorality, and have now violated that promise in seeking re-election?

You cannot answer these and other questions without a condemnation of oneself which will only anticipate the verdict of your fellow-citizen on Monday next.

Yours etc.,
RATEPAYER.

RAILWAY NOTES.

The holiday business over the O.P. & Grand Trunk has been immense this year.

The local fire brigade of the G.T.R. are in receipt of $10, being first prize obtained in competition in fire drill between Allandale, Hamilton, and Lindsay in the wet race. There are 38 teams organized on the G.T.R. system, and Lindsay stood eighth in the grand total of number of points obtained. Well done, boys—Lindsay Post.

Conductor Pym, of Lindsay, has been spending a brief vacation with friends here.

The many friends of Conductor Fred Haskill, will be glad to know that he is recovering from his long illness, and is now able to be out.

Severe Headaches

Resulting from Catarrh Cause Great Suffering

The Great Blood Purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures.

Sufferers from any disease caused by impure blood should never be discouraged about taking Hood's Sarsaparilla because other medicines have failed to give relief. Remember Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. Read this statement:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Dear Sirs:—I think it my duty to let you know what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I was suffering with severe headaches daily and also with catarrh. One day a paper was left at my house and in looking it over I read of your great medicine's value to my fellow-sufferers. I reasoned that if it cured them, why would it not cure me, although I must own I had some doubts about it, as I

Had Tried So Many

so-called cures which had failed even to relieve me. At last I procured a bottle and after taking all the medicine the headaches had left me and my catarrh trouble was much better. I continued taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and have derived so much benefit from it that I would advise any one troubled with impure blood to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier. I feel better now than I have for years, thanks to Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. E. GREY, 27 St. Nicholas St., Toronto, Ontario. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier. Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5.

act harmoniously with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

NO PAPER MONDAY.

In order that the employees of the Times can fully enjoy their holiday there will be no issue of the paper on Monday. We will have on Tuesday, however, a specially bright edition containing all the election returns.

FIRE.

Shortly before five o'clock last night an alarm of fire was sounded from the first ward and with great promptness the brigade were soon on the scene. The fire was found to be in a house, near the Canadian General Electric Co., occupied by Armenians. The blaze was put out with a babcock but to see the frightened nature of the poor foreigners was a humorous sight for the onlookers.

GIVE FURS

You cannot help obeying this order if you but choose here! Other things may disappoint. Furs will not. An article of Fur is useful, handsome and always gives delight—moreover by beauty of design, richness of material and workmanship, every piece is invested with a charm of its own, far more subtle and intimate than that of any other form of art or utility, because no other is so closely connected with ones daily appearance and comfort.

This large and splendid equipped Fur Store offers a rare choice of all classes of Furs for the Holiday season.

- A woman's wardrobe is not complete without a Fur-lined Wrap. Rich roomy garments for the opera, party, and out-door wear. From $15 to $50 embraces everything in this department, but a woman's eyes are needed to appreciate the values. The garments are 30 inches and three-quarter length, richly lined and trimmed in the fashionable Furs, plain, twill and broadcloth outside.
- You'll think the price must be a mistake in some of our Fur Caps—$5, $10, $12, $15, $16.50 $22 and $25 buys beauties in Greenland Seal, Belgium Cooney, Coon, Opposum, Astrachan, Electric Seal, etc., 15 inches long to 30 inches, ripple style.
- A few Men's Coon and Black Dog Coats left over from last season, worth $15 to $18, to clear at $10.
- Good Coon and Matselini Buffalo Coats, of fine quality, this year's home make $25, $30 and $35.
- Wombat, Black Corsican Lamb, Marmot Coats, $13.50 to $25.
- "Early for reductions"—of course it is—but our ASTRACHAN JACKETS for ladies are marked that way now, $19.50 buys a very choice one, former price $38.50, $35 buys a $30 one, and so on.
- COON JACKETS are in great demand, $25, $30, $35, and $40 are a sample of prices shown.

The Boy and the Pessimist

BY BARRY PAIN.

Mr. Archibald Bunby had before he left told Elton that breakfast would have to be an hour later during the holidays.

"The servants have suggested it, and if I don't make things as easy for them
as I can while I'm away they'll leave or want more wages or something. So you'll breakfast at 9. And, I say, Elton, don't ring for anything if you can help
it. It's only a few steps from the dining hall to the kitchen, and you can very well go yourself if they've forgotten anything."

Elton now passed this information on to Tommy, with such modifications as self respect demanded.

"I've told the servants, Maynam,
that we won't breakfast before 9. I never do in the holidays myself, and I dare say you won't object to an extra hour in bed."

Here was a further relaxation and another good reason why Tommy should have felt pleased with the way things were going. His uncle had written to him to cheer him up and console him
for his stay at Redhurst during the holidays. The letter had contained a remark that "when things seem bad,
there's all the more reason for making the best of them," which was perhaps sensible. It also contained postal order for £2, which was certainly lavish.
Tommy had naturally a contented disposition. He had also an inventive mind, and for days past he had been devising occupations for his solitude in the holidays.

After tea Tommy went off to the day room. It was a large room, furnished with two long tables, four long benches,
a set of lockers and one chair—all in pine wood. It also contained a piano, in walnut, but out of tune, for the benefit of those boys who took music.
The room was warmed by hot water pipes.
It looked out on the back wall of Mr.
Bunby's stable, and it was not particularly cheerful.

It was lit by gas jets without globes.

ELTON HAD BROUGHT A BOOK.

two as a general rule. The servants had
—by Mr. Bunby's directions—only lit one of them that night. It had been clear to Mr. Bunby's economical mind that where there was only one boy luxury itself could not demand more than one gas jet. Tommy, not having an economical mind, struck a match, got on a chair and increased the quarterly gas bill. Then he took from his locker a copy of "Hymns Ancient and Modern,"
with tunes, and three sticks of plain chocolate. He opened the piano, drew the chair up to it and put the three sticks of chocolate on the lowest octave, because it would be handy there and that octave would not be required for the purposes for which his German maker had originally intended it. Then he sat down, found the tune that he was anxious to learn before Christmas day arrived and set to work. It was only recently that Tommy had "taken music," but he had already found out some important facts in connection with it. He knew, for instance, that it was really the right hand which did most of the work; the right hand did
the actual tune, and if that went wrong
it was of very little use for the left hand to be perfectly correct, whereas,
if the right hand knew its work and made enough noise with it, the left hand might come in gently where it would and as it could. So he began now to learn the right hand part first.
He put the soft pedal down and struck the notes as gently as possible, because he did not want Mr. Elton in the master's room overhead to hear the tune.
It was to be a surprise on Christmas eve—supposing that it could be got in to good going order by that time. As a matter of fact the precaution was needless; the tune in its embryonic state might safely have been audible, as it would certainly not have been recognizable.

At 9 o'clock there was supper, and,
as Mr. Bunby frequently pointed out,
all the best doctors are agreed that this meal, if taken at all, should be as light as possible. After supper Elton read prayers, omitting two somewhat lengthy petitions for "a steady and constant application to our studies"
and for "such pleasant and friendly intercourse with our comrades as may best tend to promote," etc. These were, he considered, only applicable in term time. Mr. Bunby had composed these prayers himself, and, it is greatly to be feared that Tommy regarded their abbreviation as one more of the relaxations that the holidays had brought with them.

Then Tommy went off to his bedroom, read "Treasure Island" for half an hour by the light of one surreptitious
candle, and finally dropped off to sleep.
Elton, in the master's room, sat before
the fire, pondered and pitted himself.

It was going to be terribly lonely for him. In consideration of his board and lodging and a fraction under 1 shilling and 3 pence per diem he had sentenced himself to absolute solitude. There was Tommy, of course, but Tommy did not count, or rather Tommy made things worse. All through the term there were many Tommies. The chief point of the holidays was that they brought with them a complete absence of boys. That point was lost, for he would certainly have to suffer Tommy's presence at mealtimes, and he would also be expected to exercise some sort of slight supervision of his movements during the day. That was what a man of intelligence and education and taste was compelled to endure in order to secure for himself the paltry privilege of being allowed to live. Was it worth while? Emphatically not. He would have preferred to die, but being a victim to the primary instinct he went to sleep instead. He also read in bed, but his book was the English translation of Schopen-hauer, and it was on the floor in ten minutes.

"What are you going to do with yourself?" he asked Tommy on the following morning.

"My old stampbook's come to bits," replied Tommy, "and I've got a better one that was a present. So I'm going to float off all the stamps out of the old one and put them."

"Yes, yes, I see."
"The chaps being away, I can get all the lavatory basins at once for floating
the pages in, and that keeps the stamps from getting mixed. I can have all the basins, can't I?"

"Yes. Don't make any mess, though,
and don't go out until I return."

Then Elton sauntered down into the town, smoking openly the cigarette that in term time was prohibited. He examined the shops with their Christmas cards, Christmas toys, Christmas turkeys, and as he did so a very great idea came to him. He would occupy his leisure during the holidays by the composition of a long, satirical poem, to be called "Christmas Reviewed." By the audacity of its manner of dealing with a sacred subject, by its fierce and concentrated bitterness, by its exquisite finish
and by its exquisite finish

BECOMES A HERO

HIS GROWING POPULARITY WITH THE SPANISH MILITARY CAUSES UNREST IN SPAIN.

Marriz, Jan. 3.—Gen. Whyler a great and growing popularity with high military officers is causing uneasiness. In Spain military questions frequently lead to grave squels. In order to escape the censorship, the National Gen. Whyler's organ, has published a defiant article, pointing out that although the Government has seized the General's protest, it could not prevent it being read in every barracks-room.

The National attacks President McKinley and the U.S. Minister at Madrid, in unmeasured terms. The National has twice been confiscated, but the manager of that paper is a deputy, and, therefore, cannot be prosecuted.

Besides the 10,000,000 pesetas required for the war, 20,000,000 pesetas monthly are necessary to pay arrears.

Besides the projected issue of 100,000,000 pesetas of Cuban bonds, now held by the bank of Spain as a guarantee, the Minister of Finance proposes to issue 200,000,000 pesetas in Spanish bonds, the security being the customs.

WONDERFUL INDEED

The Queen Bee Is the Most Wonderful of All Insects.

The study of bee life is always an interesting matter to the beginner and of all bees the queen is the most wonderful product in insect life. In the first place she is the product of all the bees themselves. A common worker egg is taken and fed a certain kind of food and a fully developed female is produced from an egg that in the natural course would have been imperfect.

As soon as she has become fully grown the queen bee sets out to find a mate, and after her return from this wedding trip never leaves her home again unless it is to seek another and more commodious one, for it is always the old queen that leaves with the swarm instead of a younger one.

The queen bee lives four or five years and is capable of laying from 2000 to 3000 eggs a day during all this time. As the ordinary worker lives less than six weeks in the working season and only six or seven months under the most favorable circumstances, the queen rears many generations of her children come and go. No queen ever had any work subjects than those of the queen bee, and they will die in defense of her and their home at any time. If a strange queen is introduced into a colony, the members of it pounce upon her and unless their old queen is removed, in which case the stranger is usually given a warm welcome.

If a surplus of queens is hatched in a hive, the extra ones are killed at once, and after the old queen becomes useless for the purpose of laying more eggs to keep up the strength of a colony, her children kill her and cast her out and raise up a new one to succeed her.

Help For Threshing.
When threshing is done by steam power, it is the constant effort of those who run these threshers to have the work of threshing in each neighborhood hurried through in as short a season as possible. Their own expenses are quite heavy, and the threshing business will not pay unless they can get steady work while the season lasts. It is the farmer's interest on the other hand, to postpone grain threshing until fall work is well out of the way. The grain is in better condition for threshing then, and what is quite as important it is not so difficult to secure the help needed. To keep a steady flow of grain in the straw from mow or stack to the machine requires three, four or five men, according to the distance the bundles have to be pitched. All are needed that can work without being in each other's way. It is the hardest work that is now left to be done on the farm, and is also the dirtiest.

Barryard Manure.
Conclusions reached by a German authority are that the manure pile must be carefully constructed and protected from extremes of moisture and sunshine. It should be kept moist, but not too wet. It is well to turn cattle in upon it occasionally to tramp it down, and thus exclude excess of air. When the pile is completed, it should be covered with earth. If these precautions are observed, the use of preservatives may be dispensed with.

A Titled Woman Bagniped.
Inventory Pipe Band, the distinguished combination of brasses which created a sensation by going to Glasgow in charge of Lord Archibald Campbell, walked abroad in inventory the other day, headed by a young lady, who has the public with all the dexterity and success of a prize bagniper at Oban Highland games. This was Lady E. Campbell, Lord Archibald's hand-some daughter. She is an expert piper, and has done a good deal to make the dreaded instrument popular in fashionable circles.—The Westminster Gazette.

VOICES OF THE NIGHT.
Not from any heights descending
When the lightning altitudes fall;
Not with mournful accents bidding
With the owl's lonely call;
But within my lowly dwelling
When I quench the glimmering light;
Clearly through the silence welling
Rise the Voices of the Night.
Ah! I still my heart's quick beating,
And some prayer I mutter o'er,
Vainly for response entreating,
Vainly for they come once more;
"Henry, some one's in here, surely,
There's a smell of smoke, I think;
Did you bolt that door securely?"
Papa! papa! Want a drink!

HOLIDAY HYMENEALS IN OTONABEE

The Thorne-Graystock Nuptials on December 29th.

On Wednesday evening, Dec. 29th, 1897, the residence of Mr. Martin Graystock, of Graystock, Otonabee, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when his daughter, Minnie, was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. Thorne, son of Mr. Thomas Thorne, South Monaghan. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. L. Baynes Reed in the presence of a large number of guests, comprising principally relatives and family friends. The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Rosa Graystock, and the groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Thomas Thorne. There was a large array of elegant wedding gifts. The bride has been for some time organist of St. Mark's church, Graystock, and her absence will be a distinct loss to the congregation, and Mr. Thorne was a prominent church worker. After the usual wedding banquet, Mr. and Mrs. Thorne left by the evening train for Lindsay, en route for Opa, where a comfortable home, built and furnished by Mr. Thorne, awaited the arrival of its new occupants, who are followed to their new home by the hearty congratulations and good wishes of a very wide circle of friends.

CLIMAX TO A ROMANCE

PROFESSOR BELL MARRIED TO MRS. HARRIET C. SHIBLEY IN NEW YORK.

(Special to the Times.)

New York, Jan. 3.—The climax to a romance was reached at ten o'clock Saturday in a private parlor of the Park Avenue Hotel, when Professor Alexander Melville Bell married Mrs. Harriet C. Shibley. Professor Bell, the father of Graham Bell, of telephone fame, and himself a scientist of world-wide renown, is seventy-eight years old. His bride is twenty-five years younger. Two months ago the aged professor was not aware of the existence of Mrs. Shibley. He saw her photograph and fell in love with the picture portrayed there.

MET HER IN ONTARIO.

This happened when Professor Bell was a guest of Dr. Kennedy, of Perth, Ontario. He came across the photograph by mere chance and inquired eagerly whose it was. The image was with him every hour of the day, and at last he confessed to his host his earnest desire to meet the lady of the picture. He learned with delight that she lived at Harrowsmith, a town only sixteen miles away, and one day Dr. Kennedy drove with him to her house.

Mrs. Shibley has been a widow for three years. Professor Bell's first wife died about fourteen months ago, and his regard for her is best shown in the concluding stanza of some verses he inscribed after her death:

Dear, sainted wife, your memory
Shall be forever green;
Even though another's love shall come,
It shall not step between.

One of the first persons to be notified of the marriage was the Rev. Dr. Patterson, of Birmingham, N. Y. Dr. Patterson studied under Professor Bell in Edinburgh University, and is his oldest living pupil.

LEITER AFFECTS CANADA

MANIPULATION CAUSES A DECLINE IN RATES ON THE G.T.R.

(Special to the Times.)

The Leiter deal is making itself felt in Canada, if the statement of a prominent railway man is to be relied upon. This morning the G. T. R. announced a rate of fourteen cents per one hundred pounds on grain and grain products from all stations on the system to New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore, via Niagara frontier. The new rate is a redemption of about three and one-half cents on the previous rate. It will only be in force, however, until January 9th, after which it will be increased to fifteen and one-half cents. The railway man in question informed the Times that these changes had been brought about by the action of the M. C. R. in lowering the ordinary rate on grain to the seaboard, thus compelling the G. T. R. to follow suit. It was further said that the lowering of the M. C. R. rates was the result of manipulation in connection with the Leiter deal, as vast quantities of wheat of the December delivery had to be sent to the coast for export and a lower rate would naturally be an advantage. The advantage to the G. T. R. lies in attracting this traffic through Canada in preference to allowing it to go over American lines.

MITCHELL TO MCCOY

CHARLIE CLAIMS THAT HE IS NOT A "HAS BEEN" AND WANTS A MATCH.

(Special to the Times.)

New York, Jan. 3.—Following is a letter from Pony Moore, the father-in-law of Charlie Mitchell, who desires to correct the impression that the Englishman ever declined to meet Kid McCoy. With the letter is a challenge from Mitchell to McCoy:

London, Dec. 20, 1897.

As Kid McCoy has beaten Creedon and as he says Charlie Mitchell would not fight him while he was in England, you will oblige by inserting the following challenge in your valuable paper, just to show the sporting public who faked out of a match. Yours sincerely, Pony Moore.

The following is Mitchell's challenge:

To Kid McCoy: Charlie Mitchell hereby challenges Kid McCoy to fight him for any sum from £500 upward and the best purse offered. The Olympic Club of Birmingham in England, will give a purse of £1000 for the match, to take place on February 21. This must be good enough for me, and should also suit McCoy. If McCoy will accept this challenge, and come to England at once, I remain, yours truly Charlie Mitchell.

I will allow McCoy £100 expenses.

M'GOWAN'S WOE

THE FORMER MILLIONAIRE PAYS BITTERLY FOR HIS MORAL LAPSE.

(Special to the Times.)

Trenton, N.J., Jan. 3.—While the wind was blowing a gale, and the thermometer registered only a few degrees above zero on New Year's morning, ex-Mayor Frank A. McGowan and Mrs. Frances McGowan were put out of the American House into the street.

Dressed in a light summer suit Trenton's former Mayor approached the line of cabmen standing before the hotel and asked to be driven to the different hotels. Each cabman appeared to decline to move until he first received his pay and McGowan soon learned that the men had formed a combination against him to obtain back fares.

After appealing to all the hotels of the city to shelter him and his wife, the management of the Raritan took the pair in on condition that they pay Trenton's board in advance and leave the hotel at the end of 48 hours. This McGowan agreed to do. The former Mayor had difficulty in borrowing the money to pay the two days' board demanded.

Nervous Prostration

Sick Headache and Dizziness—All Cured.

Little Girl Has Crown Plump and Rosy Since Taking Hood's.

Nervous mothers and sickly children endure a vast proportion of the suffering which is caused by impure and impoverished blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives relief by purifying and enriching the blood. Read this statement:

"I was bothered with sick headaches and dizziness. I also had nervous prostration and weakness in my stomach, which made me feel very ill indeed. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, which was highly recommended by many, and by the time I had taken four bottles I was in perfect health. About a year ago my little girl, then six years old, had bronchitis and chicken pox. We were told that her

was the careful treatment she might receive at the hospital. We took her there and for eight days they had no hope of her recovery, but later she had a change for the better. Her sickness, however, left her very delicate and weak, and she did not grow any for a year. It was then I thought I would try Hood's Sarsaparilla, inasmuch as I had used it for myself and found it such a good medicine for building up a constitution. She had not taken two bottles before she had improved wonderfully. She has grown rosy and plump and is quite herself again. I have great faith in Hood's." Mrs. M. HICKERSON, 938 Bloor Street, West, Toronto, Ontario.

FIGHTING FOR DURRANT

HIS ATTORNEY STILL THINKS HE WILL ESCAPE THE GALLOWS.

(Special to the Times.)

San Francisco, Jan. 3.—Theodore Durrant's attorney will again seek to obtain the aid of the federal courts, and will ask Judge Morrow for a writ of habeas corpus. While his legal consent is being conducted another appeal to Governor Budd will be perfected in the hope that he will be induced to grant Durrant a reprieve until all the legal points at issue have been fully determined. In one effort to save Durrant fail, which is expected his father will be at the foot of the gallows to bear his son's last words and to witness his death. Mrs. Durrant will be with her son until half an hour before the end. She will not witness the closing scene.

PETERBOROUGH, JANUARY, 5 1897

THE WHITE PLAGUE.

A rumor that cholera or smallpox has broken out in Europe and may affect a landing in Canada is all that is needed to create grave consternation, says the Ottawa Citizen. The authorities take extraordinary measures to prevent so dire a calamity, and the people breathe freely only when all danger has passed. But consumption continues to do business in Canada year after year, making homes desolate and filling the graveyards. Typhoid fever and diphtheria are quarantined, but no such measures are taken to prevent the more dread infection of tuberculosis.

Dr. P. H. Bryce, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health who some time ago startled the community by his statistics regarding the terrible effects of tuberculosis in this country, is now preparing a statement of additional facts concerning the disease commonly known as consumption. He now asserts that since the publication of his last report, 3,000 citizens of Ontario have been carried off by tuberculosis and that this disease, on a matter of fact, annually destroys more lives in this province than all other diseases put together.

In describing the matter in which the infection spreads, the doctor asserts that when consumptives talk laugh or cough they throw diseased fluid particles into the air and that these will float about a room for six hours before settling. These moist particles are more dangerous to the health than the dried sputum of consumptives which floats about in the shape of dust.

It has taken medical science a long time to discover, or rather to agree, that consumption is infectious and to insist that the spread of the disease be prevented by the strictest quarantine. Dr. Bryce, it is said, will advise the Ontario Government to adopt measures to deal with the dread disease as a provincial question of paramount importance. In doing so he will be doing a public service that has been only too long delayed.

TORONTO JUNCTION COLLEGE OF MUSIC AND SCHOOL OF ART.

Classes open at the above institution on Monday, January 3rd. Instructions point to a great increase for the winter months. To those intending to leave home for an education in Music and Art, a few facts concerning Toronto Junction and its College of Music may be of practical importance. The staff of the College is composed of artists who teach in the largest and best schools in Toronto. In every department, instruction is given at lower rates than in Toronto, because expenses are less, and less percentage is exacted from teachers. Toronto Junction is noted for its health-giving qualities and offers every advantage in the way of churches, while its proximity to the city gives its residents every privilege in the way of shopping, concerts, etc., without the expense of living there. By special arrangement of the Director of the College, pupils are allowed to attend the b.s. concerts at a reduction. The Junction is connected with the city by electric car service, a five-cent taking you to any part of the city. Pupils recitals are given frequently, at which students are expected to appear as soon as capable. The Theory department is under the control of Miss M. L. McCarroll, who has passed more pupils at examinations than any other teacher at present in Toronto. The winter months are specially adapted for study, and now is the best time to enter. Several scholarships are offered this year, and there are many free advantages not usually given by schools. The success attending the institution since its commencement in September has been a matter of surprise to all concerned. The secret of its success has been, a capable staff, a high standard of proficiency, and thoroughness of work. Send for prospectus to box 324, Toronto Junction.

CAN YOU DO IT.

"It is claimed that no one has yet been found who, without consulting a dictionary, can pronounce all these words correctly at first reading. 'A sacrilegious son of Ishai, who suffered from bronchitis, having exhausted his finances, in order to make good the deficit, resolved to ally himself to a comely, lenient and docile young lady of the Malay or Caucasian race. He accordingly purchased a calypso and a coral necklace of a chameleon hub and securing a suite of rooms at a principal hotel, he engaged the head waiter as a coadjutor. He then dispatched a letter of the most exceptional calligraphy extant inviting the young lady to a matinee. She revolted at the idea, refused to consider herself sacrificable to his desires and sent a polite note of refusal; on receiving which he procured a carbine and a bowie knife and that he would not now forge letters hitherto with the queen, went to an isolated spot, severed his jugular vein and discharged the contents of the carbine into his abdomen. The debris was removed by the Coroner, who remarked: 'The most fearful aquarior could not so enervate a man. He was a malefactor.'"

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, JANUARY 5 1898

WAS'N'T FUNNY TO HER.

Shadow pictures are an old device for funmaking, but while passers-by on a well-travelled street last night enjoyed silhouettes on a window curtain, one woman in the group of spectators which soon gathered did not see the humorous side of the representations. "Oh, my!" she gasped. "Why, that's my husband. Of course, the scene that followed made the silhouettes look silly."

A NEW "GIBSON GIRL."

A new "Gibson Girl," drawn by the famous society artist, C. D. Gibson, will make her debut in print as the cover design for the February Ladies' Home Journal. The new "girl" is the artist's own little daughter, who at one year of age, will be shown as drawn by her clever father. The alleged under the picture is "My Valentine."

TALE OF A SHIRT.

"Well this is a tale of a shirt," said a well-known man the other night to a number of jolly companions who were imbibing New Year cheer at a near by hotel. "Let me tell you the story: For a long time past I have had an old worn-out white shirt that I used for supplying of unlimited bandages for tying up cut fingers, sore toes and cuts of all descriptions. Just kept the old shirt handy to tear off strips when wanted. I was sitting at the store last night when the laundry boy came in and asked for my weekly bundle of wash. I went up stairs and in the dark got my washing and after wrapping it up in paper delivered the bundle. About two hours after the boy returned with the bundle and said: 'Mr. Atkins we can't do anything with this shirt, it's too dilapidated.' As I had only purchased some new shirts a few weeks before I felt alarmed, but on opening the bundle there was my old 'bandage-mine' nothing left but the bosom and a few strings hanging from the neck. I had to treat the crowd for the laugh was on me sure."

IT REQUIRES NO ARGUMENT

To convince one that the Times-Publishers are the right place to procure Holiday Presents. We believe that our prices are nearly one-half the prices of other concerns. We have all the latest novelties in holiday presents. Be sure and give us a call before purchasing elsewhere.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

—Police court.
—Market day.
—Several local men will leave for the Yukon country shortly.
—Don't forget to change the date start your letters "98."
—The sidewalks need another dose of sand.

—There is no likelihood of New Year calling becoming obsolete so long as municipal elections are held in January.

—The Times dishes up its advertisements in tempting style. They are all worth reading, and advertisers are always worthy of patronage. A perusal of our advertising columns will help the shopper to decide perplexing questions.

PERSONAL.

Mr. W. A. Shaw has just returned to town after a very successful business trip east. One of the sales effected was a magnificent Newcomb piano to Argyle Lodge, I. O. O. F., Napamoo.

Mr. Wm. O'Brien, the popular Clerk of Douro, was in town yesterday.

Mr. John Gilchrist, who has for some time represented the Campton Cornet Company, spent the holidays with his family in town. He left for Montreal last night on a business trip.

Port Hope Guide: Miss Finley, Peterboro, spent New Year's and Sunday with Mrs. W. R. Young at the Methodist Parsonage.

THE TRUE REMEDY.

Wm. Duggan, St. Albans street, Toronto, says: "We won't keep house without Ransom's Live Syrup and Tolu for consumption, coughs, colds, croup, bronchial troubles. Experimented with many others but never got the true remedy until we used Ransom's Live Syrup and Tolu. No other remedy can take its place in our home as in it we have a certain and sure cure for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, etc. We would not do without it in the house."

It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged at you as "just as good" as Ransom's Live Syrup and Tolu. They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. ents. Avoid substitutes.

PETERBOROUGH FIRE BRIGADE

The Annual meeting held and Officer, Elected.

The Peterboro Fire Brigade have like other well conducted bodies started off on another successful year. They held their annual meeting last night in the brigade rooms and their business was put through in a prompt and business-like manner.

The following officers were elected: Mr. J. D. Craig, assistant chief; Mr. J. H. Yelland, secretary; Mr. C. Rutherford, treasurer; Mr. J. Hayen, 1st Lieutenant; Mr. W. Turner, 2nd Lieutenant; Messrs. J. Metcal, W. Turner and J. Gibbs members of the Finance Committee.

The brigade have done good work during the past year. They responded to twenty-eight alarms and the losses sustained were comparatively small.

Highest Cost of a Telegram.

Sixteen thousand dollars is the record price paid for a telegram, that price having been paid for a message sent by Mr. Hanniker Heaton to Australia in behalf of the British Parliament. Reuter's account of the murder-deepening's trial, 4,000 words, cost $8,000. An 1,800 word despatch from London to Argentine cost $7,500. The most expensive private message so far is sent by the King of Italy to the Duke of Abruzzi at Rio Janeiro, informing him of the death of his father, the late Duke of Aosta, which cost $2,670.—New York Sun.

COUNTY COUNCIL

A Special Session Held Yesterday to Appoint a Nominating Officer.

A special meeting of the County Council was called yesterday morning to appoint nominating officer for the Otonabee division for an election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Mr. John Burnham, Q. C. Mr. J. M. Drummond of Otonabee was appointed the officer.

After several councillors had spoken regretting the death of their fellow-councillor, Mr. Pearce proposed, seconded by Mr. Casement, the following resolution:

That this council most fully concur with the remarks of the warden and deeply deplore the irreparable loss, not only to this council, but to the whole community at large, sustained by the death of our esteemed colleague, the late John Burnham, Q. C., member of the Otonabee County Council Division who proved himself a man much above the ordinary abilities, and whose worth we so much appreciated, and that the warden and Messrs. Casement, Pearce, Brown and Middleton be a special committee to draft a memorial expressive of the Council's sympathy with the widow and family of the deceased. The resolution carried unanimously.

PROOF.

"Trouble with—hic—you, Jenkins, is you're full?"
"I'm full! Nonsense! What makes you think so?"
"Well, if—hic—if you were sober, you'd know it wasn't any good trying to get me to go home."

STUMPED.

Mrs. Malden—What are you going to give your husband for Christmas?
Mrs. Atkins—Really, I don't know what to give him. I've been looking through the house this morning, and I can't think of a thing we need in the way of furniture or decorations that is within our means.

Moments are useless if trifled away, and they are dangerously wasted if consumed by delay in cases where Ransom's Hives Syrup and Tolu would bring immediate relief. 25c.

Ottawa's Big Fire

UNIVERSITY OF OTTAWA AT- TACKED BY A SERIOUS CONFLAGRATION.

A Loss Of $150,000—New Route To The Klondike—Not A Murderer—Durrant Hopeful—The War Feeling—A Mad Millionaire—Living Or Dead—Bad Tomatoes—Freight Rates Lowered.

(Special to the Times.)

Ottawa, Jan. 5.—A disastrous fire is raging in the University of Ottawa today. Already the east wing has been destroyed and the fire is spreading to other portions of the building. At non
the building was still burning, but it was thought the flames would be checked. The loss will be between $100,000 and $150,000. The fire started about nine o'clock in the fourth flat,
in the sleeping apartments of the seminary. It extended along this flat the full length of the wing and burned down to the flat beneath, on which is the class-rooms for seminarians, and finally to the second floor, on which is located the University chapel.

In the Eastern wing was the seminary, the dormitory, a class-room for seminarians, the chapel and vestry, and the sleeping apartments of the seminarians. This was the oldest portion of the building, having been erected in 1847. The chapel was fitted up in 1887 at a cost of $50,000 and is claimed to be the finest university chapel in America.

The University was to have reopened on Friday next after the Christmas holidays. Fortunately only about 35 of the 400 boarding students which come from all parts of Canada and the United States had arrived, or many of them would have been deprived of all their belongings.

The insurance will cover the loss by fire. The insurance totals $200,000 distributed among the various companies
as follows: Quebec Fire Insurance Co.
$50,000, Agricultural Fire Insurance Co.
$5,000, Phoenix Company, of London,
$5,000, North British & Mercantile $15,000,
Connecticut Fire Insurance Co.
$5,000, Scottish Union & National Insurance Co. $30,000, Insurance Company of North America $20,000, Insurance Co. of Hartford, Conn. $10,000, Northern Assurance Co. $20,000, the Manufacturers' Life Assurance Co. had just completed a loan of $100,000 on the building.

Later.—The fire is now under control. It is confined to the east wing and the two upper stories are entirely ruined and the ground floor is badly damaged. The chapel, which was of the finest workmanship in the city, is badly destroyed. The loss of this alone is estimated at $50,000. The entire loss by the fire is put at $70,000.

CANADA'S POULTRY.

A BIG DEMAND FOR THEM IN THE OLD COUNTRY MARKETS.

(Special to the Times.)

Kingston, Jan. 5.—An export company has been formed here for the purpose of supplying the demand of the English market for Canadian poultry. The farmers hereabouts will be urged to raise the best table fowls. The company is confident that a large business can be done and much money secured to the farmers.

THE WAR FEELING.

DECIDED IMPROVEMENTS IN THE SITUATION IN THE EAST.

(Special to the Times.)

London, Jan. 5.—There is a general feeling in England and it is reflected on the Stock Exchange, that the situation in the far East is improving. It is believed the proposed Chinese loan of £15,000,000—$39,000,000 will be guaranteed by the British Government, although the final decision is not likely to be reached until the meeting of the Cabinet on Monday next.

The Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon refers to the "ascendancy of money
over the mailed fist" and says:
"Great Britain's vessels are anchored off Chemulpo and at Port Arthur. This is quietly implying that Great Britain will have a voice in the future arrangement. Further, the latest telegram clearly indicates she has plenty of friends."

DURRANT HOPEFUL.

NOW THINKS HE HAS A CHANCE OF SAVING HIS NECK.

(Special to the Times.)

San Francisco, Jan. 5.—Theodore Dur-rant has renewed his hope of escaping
the gallows, since the Federal judges
have taken his latest petition for a writ of habeas corpus under advisement. He seems to have shaken off the despondency
that was first bringing him to a state of nervous collapse. Strong pressure is being exerted to induce Governor Budd to either commute the sentence or grant a reprieve. Chief Justice Brady, of the Supreme Court, who dissented
from the decision of his colleagues against Durrant, visited the Governor yesterday but the result of the conference is not known. Scientific men who are interested in the pathological features of Durrant's case are gravely disappointed at the prospect that no

autopsy will be allowed on the remains.
The fact that Durrant having been well advanced as a medical student should have made a positive request that no examination be made of his head or face
after death is commented on as significant. It seems that no measurements of Durrant's head have been made.

BAD TOMATOES.

FAMILY IN OTTAWA POISONED BY EATING THEM.

(Special to the Times.)

Ottawa, Jan. 5.—The family of Wilfred Charbonneau, a Sparks street barber, ate canned tomatoes for supper last evening as a result of which Mrs. Charbonneau and her six children were almost recovered under medical attendance, but Mrs. Charbonneau's condition is yet very critical.

Chaudiere lumbermen are taking a keen interest in the proposal to utilize the sawdust of their mills for the manufacture of acetylene gas, and claim that before many months this scheme will be carried out. The proposal is a well-come one, for it will save the lumbermen the cost of building incinerators to burn the sawdust, the Government having prohibited the dumping of sawdust
into the Ottawa River, as has heretofore been done, after May 1st next.

ZANOLI NO MURDERER.

NEW YORK BARBER NOT SO BLACK
AS HE HAS BEEN PAINTED.

(Special to the Times.)

New York, Jan. 5.—The case of the people against Charles Zanoli on the charge of killing his fourth wife, Jennie Sumner, has, it is said, fallen to pieces. It was reported in the District Attorney's office yesterday on good authority that the alleged insurance swindler now in the Tombs will not be placed on trial for homicide. The licensed analysis made by Dr. Witthaus on the parts of Jennie Scher's body shows that nothing in the way of evidence against the prisoner was found in the woman's body with the exception of a fluid containing arsenic, which, it is believed, is probably the product of arsenous acid from the em-bilming fluid.

THE ONUS OF PROOF.

IN A CALIFORNIA INSURANCE
CASE.

(Special to the Times.)

San Francisco, Jan. 5.—A decision of great interest to insurance men generally has been rendered by Judge Sea-
well, of the Superior Court of this city.
Geo. D. Crosbie, a young Englishman residing in Mexico took out a $10,000 policy in the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company. Two months later he went on a hunting trip with two companions. He was found one day with a rifle bill through his breast and died after making a statement that he shot himself by accident. The company refused to pay the policy, contending that there was no proof that the shooting was accidental, and also claiming that Crosbie had willfully gone into danger. Judge Seawell decided in favor of the company. His opinion sustains the company's contentions. It declares that in such a case
the burden of proof rests on the plaintiff, and the latter failed to prove his claims.

A MAD MILLIONAIRE

DENOUNCES IN HIS WILL ALL RE-LIGIOUS AS SHAMS AND LEAVES
$1,000,000.

New York, Jan. 5.—One of the most remarkable wills ever filed in the office of the Surrogate is that of Henry Morehouse Taber, offered for probate yesterday. In spite of the fact that Mr. Taber was president and treasurer of the Board of Trustees of the First Presbyterian church, in the opening clauses of his will he denounces all religion as shams, and as having its origin in superstition. He requests that no services be held over his body, and that it be cremated. Mr. Taber died on Christmas Eve, at the age of 73 years. Two children survive the testator and to them the entire estate, valued at over $1,000,000, is given absolutely.

MRS. RIGBY, OF EASTERN ONTARIO
CLAIMS TO HAVE SEEN HEAVEN AND HELL IN A VISION.

(Special to the Times.)

Kingston, Jan. 5.—The Whig's correspondent at Kildand, a small place in Northern Addington, writes of a startling event there.
Mrs. Rigby, ill some time, was taken speechless one morning, and did not speak until after ten o'clock the following morning. When she came to herself she said she had seen heaven
and hell, also the Saviour with a lamb
in His arms, and Herbert Keller, who was killed on the track over a year ago.

No persons need doubt her word, as she is a good Christian woman.
She warns the people very earnestly
of a certainty of heaven and hell.

TO FLOG THEM.

MUTINOUS CONVICTS IN ST. VIN-CENT DE PAUL WILL BE GIVEN A TASTE OF THE CAT BEFORE
BEFORE THEIR FELLOWS.

(Special to the Times.)

Ottawa, Jan. 5.—It is understood that Acting Warden Foster
at St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary has suggested to the Minister of Justice that flogging should be permitted to put down the rioting in that institution.

Mr. Mills has permitted this to be done. The idea of Mr. Foster is to take some of the ringleaders and flog
them in the presence of the convicts.
This, he thinks, will have the effect of putting down the trouble.

Judge Dugas of Montreal and Frank Pedley leave for the West on Monday next. They go to investigate charges preferred against the contractors on the Crow's Nest Pass Railway.

Statement of the Condition of the Injured Yesterday

The Funeral of Three of the Victims Will Be Held Yesterday—The Other Inter-
ments Will Take Place To-day.

London, Ont., Jan. 5.—The fearful calamity which visited London Monday evening is only coming to be realized in the full extent of its awfulness. The list of killed has happily decreased from the total first published, in place of an increase. The death roll number twenty
now. It may be augmented, but hopes are entertained that all the injured will recover. The list of injured grows hourly. Where so many men and boys were injured and not a few very seriously is a matter for surprise and thanksgiving that the death roll is not double the present awful figures. Moreover, when all the circumstances are understood it is hard to understand that more of the hundreds who were swept into the great maelstrom did not meet death. The fact is well authenticated that men and youths were piled twenty and thirty feet deep in the pit formed by the dropping of the floor timbers.

THE INJURED.

The condition of Walter Beecher, of 124 Center street, London West, is very serious and it is doubtful if he will recover.

Albert Joyce, of 316 Grey street, received more serious injuries than was at first supposed and his recovery is reported to be doubtful.

Abraham J. Marsh, of Chesley avenue, received very severe injuries and it was at first considered unlikely that he would pull through. He is reported to be somewhat improved.

The condition of Ald. Cooper is very serious and recovery doubtful.

It has been ascertained that neither James McLean nor John Fellows were the expression of love; the time upon which it lives, Britain, and has its being in love; the object for which it exists—indeed, the only reason why
it should exist at all—is love; the motivating force of all its activities is love.

"We have arrows ourselves. In the United States one of my sons has parted himself from me and is working in his own way. I bear him no ill-will. I think he is wrong; he is still my son.

"As to controversy or dispute I will have none of it. I am a friend to all men, whether they use me well or ill, better or worse than my Master, the enemy of none.

"(Signed) WILLIAM BOOTH, General of the Salvation Army."

General Booth will address a great farewell meeting at Albert Hall in London to-morrow night. The gathering will be representative of the army, not only in Great Britain, but on the continent. He will speak under the flag of the army and the Stars and Stripes draped together. Although the largest hall in Great Britain has been taken the army has had 5,850
more applications for tickets than could be accommodated.

LIVING OR DEAD.

SUIT FOR INSURANCE OVER A MAN WHO LONG AGO DISAP-PEARED.

Special to the Times.

Kingston, Jan. 5.—Relatives of the late Alex. Sutherland, shoe merchant, have filed a claim against Court Frontenac, No. 59, I.O.F., for $3,000, being the amount of insurance held by that order on the life of A. J. Sutherland.
His relatives claim he is dead, and the Order is making searching enquiries to substantiate the claim. The last hearing of him was in 1888. On the 12th of Sept. of that year he left Hamburg,
Germany, for New York on the ship
Theodore to the Rand.

PETERBOROUGH, JANUARY 6 1898

BET-ROOT SUGAR.

The promoters of the proposed beet-root sugar factory at Owen Sound say: "We now import all the sugar we use (100,000,000 lbs. three quarters of this is beet sugar) costing about $12,000,000 per year. The greater part comes from Germany's four hundred factories and we pay for it all in hard cash. We send our cheese, butter, beef and mutton to England and send the money we get for them to Germany for sugar that we can grow and make as well at home, and keep our money here. Our beets are fully as rich in sugar as the German's, and we maintain that we Canadians are as intelligent as the people of any other country. Then why should we allow the Germans to grow and boil twelve million dollars' worth of beets into sugar for us?"

In view of these conditions, it is to be hoped that the beet root sugar factory at Owen Sound will soon be established and that before long Canadians will not need to import any sugar. Dr. Wiley, chief chemist of the United States Department of Agriculture, in an address before the Broom, N.Y., county farmers at Binghamton last week, stated that he was certain the time has come when the United States will arrange to produce its own sugar. He said that one million acres of beets properly cultivated will produce enough sugar to supply the country. Such an industry in Canada would be of "double-benefit" advantage to Canadian farmers.—Ottawa Citizen.

FEAR OF BRITAIN.

A Russian paper, the Moscow Vedomosti, recently expressed the following opinion on England's present position among the powers:

"When we consider what straits England is now in with her small, impotent home army; how she has had to bring out the whole of her Indian troops to subdue a few rebellious hill tribes, while she is at a loss to find soldiers to fight against her foes in Africa, we need not be surprised at her sudden turn of front. It is to be hoped that France will not be deceived by her hypocritical assurances of her desire to keep the peace. It is only because she cannot make war that she has adopted this conciliatory tone, so it would indeed be a pity if any one were to listen to her empty words. When she has the means to do it, England can kill, slay, burn, pillage, and commit all sorts of dastardly outrages, but when she is beat for means to carry out her sordid, selfish plans, she quite suddenly recollects that her whole thoughts are wrapped up in the advance of civilization."

If Britain were not feared, other nations would not bother to asperse her character. The virulence of the attacks of Russian, German and French papers is an excellent proof that Britain is felt by them to be the strongest of the lot. When foreign critics become silent about Britain's alleged greed, it will be because Britain has lost the power to take what she wants, as she can—from the maws of Russia or any other power.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Peterborough first, last and all the time should be the motto of our new Council.

The German Emperor is going to civilize the Chinese if he has to kill them in doing so.

And now, ladies and gentlemen, the next piece on the programme is grand chorus by Messrs. Davis, Best, White, Robertson, Denne, Hamilton, Mel-drum, White and Langford, entitled, "We're the boys for '98."

Once more the Times calls attention to a building on Water street, which is notoriously unsafe. The building referred to is used by a certain society, and is liable to tumble in almost at any time. Of course when weighted down with a crowd of humanity in where a catastrophe will occur, there is no way of having this and other similar buildings inspected, at regular periods, or, are we to wait a horror similar in London before making a move? It is plainly the duty of the Council to do something at once.

The First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston, now has the distinction of being the largest church of any denomination in the United States, its membership being about 10,000. During the last year, or rather, during the last six months of the year, the membership was increased by 3,800, of whom 1,400 joined in July and the remainder last Sunday. At the services on Sunday the entire seating capacity of the edifice was fully occupied and at least 400 persons stood throughout the service. A message was read from the Rev. Mary Baker Eddy, founder of the church, suggesting a change of the Communion Sunday from the first Sunday in July and January to the first Sunday in June and December, so that Communion might be separated from the holiday excitement.

THE PREM-EE-AY.

Alr—debonair,
Dark bushy hair,
A white patrician hand,
A flattering tongue
His friends among,
A smile serene and bland.

No depth—no wit,
Don't speak of it,
No use for that to-day
When classic brow
And courtly bow
Will make a Prem-ee-ay.

No need for truth,
Not it—forsooth,
The time for that's away,
A will that bends,
To cunning friends
Best helps the Prem-ee-ay.

The practiced grip
Of statesmanship
Is only in the way
For attitudes
And platitudes
Now mark the Prem-ee-ay.

In foreign ports
And lordly courts,
The leader now holds sway,
Oh! fiddlersicks
On politics
Orises out the Prem-ee-ay.

A CROUP Cure

is what many a mother is looking for; something absolutely safe and reliable, that will disarm her terror of that dread rattling, strangling cough, so fearful to the mother, so fatal to the child. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is a croup cure that can be relied on. Thousands say so.

Mrs. W. J. DICKSON ("Stanford Eveleth") writes from Truro, N.S.:

"That terror of mothers, the startling, croupy cough, never alarmed me so long as I had a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house."

"We have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in our family for years. Once when our boy had a severe attack of croup, we thought that he would die. But we broke up the attack by using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral." R. H. COX, Plancherville, La.

The Boy and the Pessimist

BY HARRY PAINE.

A starving family not a religious order,
but merely a wretched boy, for the first time in his life refused a second help.
And then came a rice pudding and more silence. It is an authenticated fact that some whole nations have almost entirely on rice. It is singularly nutritious.
Then Tommy rose and said, with fair staidness: "May I go, sir?" "I'm not well."

"Certainly," said Elton. Of course Tommy's people must see him a hour per, and the boy had eaten too much rice. Well, it was all a suggestion for "Christmas Renewed."

Elton finished his dinner leisurely and then supposed that he would have to go and look after the disgusting little beast. He found him in the day-room.
The disgusting little beast was sitting with a book in front of him, at the far ther end of the table. His head rested on his hands, and when Elton entered
he turned away as much as possible.

"Well, Mayham, what's the matter?"

"I'm all right now, sir," said
Tommy.

It did not sound like the boy's natural voice. Elton came farther into the room and then saw that Tommy was crying. He went up to him and took him by the shoulder.

"Why, Mayham," he said, "this doesn't look as if everything was all right."

"I wish it wasn't Christmas," said Tommy and continued crying. "But I'm all right," he added.

Slowly and incoherently, in reply to Elton's questions, he told what was the matter. He spoke of what he had been used to do at Christmas. It was lunch and neglect and unfriendliness, amounting to contempt and even cruelty.
Tommy did not accuse Elton of any of these things. He did not seem to think Elton had behaved badly to him, but Elton was sufficiently intelligent to make deductions.

"Well," said Elton, "I'm glad you're not really ill, because I wanted you this afternoon."

"Wanted me?"

"Yes, I've had a lot of work on hand
these last few days. But I shan't work on Christmas day, and, besides, I'm sick of being alone always. If you're not too keen on your book, what I should really like would be a game of draughts, only I haven't got a board."

"I have," said Tommy. "Shall I get it?"

"Do."

"It's in my room. I'll be down with it in a minute."

"Oh, we won't play here," said El-
ton. "This room isn't very comfortable.
Come to my sitting room."

The master's sitting room was not luxurious, but it was a paradise compared to the day-room. It was a paradise which no boy at Redhurst had ever yet been allowed to enter. Here was an invitation that was honor indeed.
Tommy was effusive in his thanks. It took Tommy two minutes to find that draughtboard. During these two minutes Elton had time to get to his room,
fish Tommy's card out of the waste paper basket, discover that it would just fit the frame that now held a photograph of Gibbing's sister, remove the photograph and substitute the card and place it in the center of the unattractive piece. Tommy's eyes lighted on it as he came into the room.

"Why, that's one!" he exclaimed.

"Yes, we've given you the place of honor. Wonderful, that first effect!"

"And it's just done with glue and powdered glass," said Tommy. "I could do it myself."

"But you can't beat me at draughts.
Come along with you now."

Elton intended to let Tommy win the first game. Tommy saved him the trouble by taking it. Then Elton decided to win the second game himself, played carefully and lost it.

"Why shouldn't we have tea up here?" suggested Elton. "Run down stairs and fetch the things up, and we'll make a picnic."

This was the sort of thing that Tommy liked. Any boy prefers an irregular to a regular meal. Tommy, rather shyly and apologetically, added a cake, "which they sent me, and it isn't half bad really, sir, if you'd try it." Elton tried it and was enthusiastic.

"Are we going to have any waiters tonight?" asked Elton, smiling, just before supper. "Come, Tommy, let's have the performance now, at a reasonable time."

So the time came in seasonably after all, and if the left hand did omit the more difficult chords and play the easier
ones wrong, neither Tommy nor Mr.
Elton seemed to consider that this at all detracted from the general effect.
Tommy went to bed radiantly happy.
It had not taken very much to make him happy.

When Tommy had gone to bed, Elton
so far disregarded Mr. Elton's directions as to ring the bell and ask for the cook. She came, astonished, somewhat flustered.

"Cook," said Elton, "we must have a turkey for dinner tomorrow."

Cook was sure that they ought to have it too, only Mr. Bunby wouldn't bear of it, and if he saw turkey in the dinner book—well, there! Let alone Orley, the poultryer, being about on bank holiday. She was sorry, too, she was But Mr. Elton knew what Mr. Bunby was—oh, most careful, and—well, there!

"Look here, cook," said Elton, "this is a sovereign. Mr. Bunby need not pay for the turkey, and Orley will not risk losing your custom for 20 bank holidays. Get the turkey, keep the change for a Christmas box, and the compliments of the season to her." When the turkey arrived all right. In the dinner book the cook made the simple entry: "Turkey, 100 lbs., and hoped that it was not acting of a hee—which, however, it was."

Elton found that he had not had the latter part of that day to himself, but he did not mind. He was a well-known citizen, in a critical condition from a dose of laudanum taken with suicidal
intent.

The young lady was to have been married, and every preparation had been made for the wedding. The guests were assembled and the bride elect was dressed for the occasion. The hour for the ceremony approached and passed, but the groom did not appear.
Finally the guests departed in wonder,
and all kinds of rumors were circulated as to the cause for the nonappear-ance of the young man.

The neighborhood was soon alarmed
with the information, however, that Miss Benson had committed suicide,
and the truant groom was forgotten in
the excitement, and has not since been heard from. Prompt medical attention was rendered Miss Benson, but it is doubtful if she will recover.

Special to the Times.

Blackburn, Ga., Jan. 5.—Miss Emma Benson, the seventeen-year-old daughter of L. H. Benson, a well-known citizen, is in a critical condition from a dose of laudanum taken with suicidal
intent.

The young lady was to have been married, and every preparation had

THE TRUE REMEDY.

Wm. Duggan, St. Albans street, Toronto, says: "We won't keep house
without Ransom's Hives Syrup and Tolu
for consumption, coughs, colds, croup or bronchial troubles. Experimented with many others but never got the true remedy until we used Ransom's Hives Syrup and Tolu. No other remedy can take its place in our home
as it we have a certain and sure cure for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, etc. We would not let it out of the house."

It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged
as "just as good" as "Ransom's Hives Syrup and Tolu." They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy.
Beware of substitutes.

NEW ROUTE TO KLONDIKE.

Proposed Stage and Telegraph Line
1500 Miles in Length

New Charter Asked For, Promoted by Well-known Men, including several Popular Frontiersmen.

Ottawa, Jan. 5.—A Toronto deputation consisting of James B. Brady, S. R. Wicket, Charles Riddard, J. B. Barber, Hector Lamont, and J. B. Powell, is here to-day to interview the Government with the view of establishing a new route to the Klondike. They represent the Development Mining Company, composed of leading Canadian and British capitalists, which is now applying to Parliament to have the name of their company changed to the Great Commonwealth Transportation and Trading Company.

They want the Government to extend their charter, which at present only applies to British Columbia, to all Dominion territory, thus enabling the company to build their route through the Klondike gold fields. Mr. J. B. Powell, chief engineer of the company, stated that they would build a through stage and telegraph line via St. John, Halfway River and the Chasner Plains to the Forks of the Liard River. The line will pass 600 miles through B. C. territory and 900 miles through the North West Territory. It is 1,500 miles in length, 60 miles of which is water navigation. The company will at once cut a road through the snow and complete their line to Winter. Two of the principal Toronto shareholders are S. F. McKinnon, wholesale merchant, and J. R. Barber, of the Toronto Paper Mills. The deputation will see the Government this afternoon.

ILES! PILES! ITCHING PILES.
Symptoms—Moisture intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate and become very sore. Swann's Ointment stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. All druggists or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swann & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman Ross & Co., Montreal, wholesale agents.

GOSPEL MEETING.

In the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. commencing on Friday evening, the Gospel meetings will be held in class room No. 2.

FIRST OF THE SEASON.

The first of the series of a game of basketball with outside associations will take place in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium on Thursday evening, Jan. 13th. The Belleville Association team will play. The game will be a good live one and all citizens should witness it.

A FLAT-IRON

ALSO HER HUSBAND'S REVOLVER IN A DESPERATE BATTLE WITH A BURGLAR.

Special to The Times.

Quincy, Ill., Jan. 5.—Mrs. Andrew Scherneck, the wife of a grocer at Fourth and Cedar streets, this city, is the heroine of a fierce battle with a burglar, who attempted to rob her home last night.
Mr. Scherneck and his eldest son were away from home, leaving Mrs. Scherneck alone with four children.
About midnight Mrs. Scherneck was awakened by the furious barking of a dog, and at once suspecting the presence of burglars she jumped out of bed and hastily thrust the family store of money into the empty stove. Hardly had she returned from the stove when the bedroom door was broken in by a masked man, who fell her to the floor with a snatching.
Mrs. Scherneck recovered consciousness to find the burglar still ransacking the bureau drawers for valuables. She seized her husband's revolver, and using it as a club attacked the burglar, and, after a fierce battle, succeeded in half pushing, half throwing him downstairs. Quickly following, she turned on the electric light, and seizing a flatiron she struck the burglar a heavy blow full in the face, just as he was preparing to renew the conflict.

The man fell like a log, and, believing he was dead, Mrs. Scherneck faintly. Upon coming to she tried to telephone for the police, but was so excited that it was some time before she could do so, and a minute before the patrol wagon arrived the discomfited burglar regained his senses and escaped from the house. Mrs. Scherneck being too exhausted to prevent his escape.

Moments are useless if trifled away; and they are dangerously wasted if consumed by delay in cases where Ransom's Hve Syrup and Tolu would bring immediate relief. 25c.

FROZEN TO DEATH.

A LAD OVERCAME BY THE COLD WHILE ON HIS WAY TO CHURCH IN QUEBEC.

Special to The Times.

St. Jean, Port Joli, Que., Jan. 5.—Pierre Legace, a ten-year-old boy, residing at Ste. Petrus, left his home on Sunday en route to church. His body was yesterday found in a field about one mile from the church. He had been frozen to death.

LIBERALS SCORE.

THE PERILATES WILL NOT ISSUE A COLLECTIVE LETTER WITH THE ENCYCLICAL ON SUNDAY.

Special to The Times.

Montreal, Jan. 5.—The conference of Archbishops and bishops broke up this morning, and the majority of the visiting prelates have left for home.
It is semi-officially announced that they came to the decision not to issue any collective letter with the Papal encyclical. The document will be read in all Roman Catholic churches in Canada on Sunday next, without any authorized comment.
Should, however, any archbishop or bishop prefer to comment upon the encyclical individually or to allow the clergy to do so, they will be allowed to do so, but any such expression of opinion must be regarded as simply the views of an individual and not the collective bishops of the church.
This is regarded by the Liberals as a decided victory, as they will now be able to claim that if the encyclical had completely condemned the policy of the Government it would have been accompanied by a collective mandament.

FREE TO WED.

A RICH BRAZILIAN PROCURES A DAKOTA DIVORCE—HIS WONDERFUL MANSION.

Special to The Times.

New York, Jan. 5.—Don Eugenio Teixeira, the Brazilian of fabulous wealth who recently came to this city, procured a divorce from his wife in South Dakota, yesterday, on the grounds of desertion.
When the Don first arrived in town with his mother, Maria Louisa Teixeira, and his three children, it was generally understood that he was a widower. It was then said that his wife had died two years ago.

Their presence in this city was not made known until the mother began buying large blocks of upper west side realty, and then it was noised about that she intended investing $5,000,000 in real estate of that class.
Later the Don, who is but 32 years of age, secured an abundance of notoriety by the alleged efforts of W. B. Turnbull and E. Gould to blackmail him out of a considerable sum.

The Teixeiras—mother, son and children—live in a magnificent house on the southeast corner of West End Avenue.
The house is to have its own electric plant and the entire first floor is to be converted into a private museum and a theater. In the latter plays and operas are to be presented by amateurs and the best professional singers and actors in the stage world.

SWEET OIL FOR THE TOILET
MANY EFFECTIVE USES TO WHICH IT MAY BE PUT DAILY.

Did you ever suffer torment from a shoe tight in one spot? Here is a remedy for it. Apply sweet oil to the stocking where the rub comes. It is better than applying it to the foot, because it softens the inside of the boot where it is needed, instead of the outside. Sweet oil is an excellent household companion. It heals burns or bruises. Used in the form of bath it feeds the skin, prevents colds and gives flexibility to the muscles. Delicate people derive the greatest benefit from being rubbed with olive oil, and for fragile children it is invaluable, especially when there is any tendency to weakness of the chest.
A soft corn can be cured by placing a tuft of cotton wool, saturated with olive oil, between the toes and renewing it every day. The corn will very soon disappear. When the hair is dry and brittle and easily breaks off when brushed, a little olive oil well rubbed into the scalp every night will give nutriment to the hair glands and strengthen and increase the growth.

CANADIAN EXCISE DUTIES

Taxation of Spirits, Tobacco, Snuff, Etc by the Dominion Government.

Mr. Hall, Collector of Inland Revenue has received a circular from Ottawa showing the advances in duties on spirits, malt liquor, tobacco, cigars, cigars, snuff, petroleum, vinegar, methylated spirits and acetic acid. Spirits.—In 1850 the duty was 6 cents per wine gallon proof; in 1897 the duty was $1.00, $1.02, and $1.03 per Imperial gallon. The test for duty at closed spirits receiver was changed from gauge to weight July 1st, 1891. The gallon was determined by weight for warehousing and ex-warehousing of spirits January 1st, 1875. Malt.—1867 the duty was 1c. per lb. in 1897 the duty was 1 1/2c. per lb. at which it remains at present. Malt liquor.—In 1867 the duty was 3 1/4c. per wine gallon; in 1891 the duty was raised to 10c. per Imperial gallon, which is the present tariff. The duty on tobacco made from foreign leaf was 10c. per lb. in 1867; in 1891 the duty was made 25c. per lb. irrespective of size of packages at which rate duty now remains. On Canadian tobacco no duty was specifically imposed until 1880 when one of 14c. per lb. was levied. In 1889 the duty of 14c. per lb. was reduced to 8c. and in 1893 still further reduced to 2c. In 1895 the duty was increased to 5c. per lb. which is the present rate. In 1867 the duty on Canadian twist was 5c. per lb. at which figure after sundry variations during intermediate years it stands at the present time. On cigars the duty in 1867 was $1.50 per M. if weighing not more than three pounds per thousand and below the present rate of domestic leaf tobacco, 83 per M. if being the product of foreign leaf tobacco, and 88 per M. whether the product of foreign or domestic leaf tobacco, and nothing more than three cents. In 1867 the duty on cigars made from foreign leaf was $1 per M. if not over $10 per M. in value. In 1888 the duty was $6 per M. and when in packages of less than ten cigars, 87 per M. This is the tariff at present. Cigars made from domestic leaf duty in 1880 70c. per lb.; in 1895, 83 per M. which is in force at present. Snuff.—Duty 10c. per lb. in 1867; increased to 18c. and 25c. per lb. (according to percentage of moisture) in 1891. Petroleum.—In 1868 a duty of 5c. per wine gallon was imposed; in 1877 the duty was taken off and has not since been levied. In 1879 the duty was 3c. per proof gallon; in 1897 the duty was 4c. per proof gallon now in force. Methylated spirits.—The duty in 1870 was 10c. per gallon proof. In 1888 all methylated spirits were excluded by the department and the duty of the spirits in hand withdrawn. In 1897 the duty on acetic acid was 4c. per gallon (proof) except that acid used in the mechanical arts and manufacture may be exempted by regulations to be made from such duty.

ARRESTED IN QUEBEC

The Chief of Police leaves for Quebec where a man named Legare is in custody awaiting his arrival. The facts of the case are that about the middle of Dec., Legare, then a boot and shoe traveller registered at the Oriental. His business required him to go to Roberval and he borrowed a pair of gauntlets and an overcoat from Mr. Graham for the journey. He never came back and the matter was placed in the hands of the police. The boot and shoe firm were corresponded with and it was learned that Legare had been dismissed. Yesterday afternoon the Chief received a message from Quebec informing him of the offenders arrest and that the articles mentioned were found in his possession.

On Christmas day Mr. Robt. Leary hired a horse to a young man named Thos. McWilliams for the day and while the horse was in the latter's possession it was most cruelly abused. An information was lodged against him and the case came up in the police court yesterday morning and the evidence heard. It was established beyond a doubt that the young man had unnecessarily abused the animal and the Magistrate sent him to goal for fifteen days without the option of a fine. This will act as a warning to persons who hire horses not to abuse them.

CARD OF THANKS.

To the Electors of Peterboro:
Ladies and Gentlemen:—I wish to take this opportunity of most cordially thanking the electors of the town of Peterboro generally for the very liberal support given to place me in the honorable and responsible position of Mayor of the town for the year 1898. I recognize the great weight of responsibility and will use every legitimate means that presents, to justify the flattering confidence the people have reposed in me. I shall do all in my power to guard, foster and promote the interests of the town.
I would also thank my many friends who rendered such active and effective assistance in successfully promoting my candidature.
I respect the wishes of those who felt it their duty to oppose me, but regarding myself as representative of the entire body of the electorship, it shall be my earnest endeavor to mete out even-handed justice to every class and interest of the community, irrespective of considerations of opposition or support.

I have the honor to be,
Your obedient servant,
A. L. Davis.

A BUILDING INSPECTOR

To the Editor of The Times:
Sir,—Everybody read with horror the terrible calamity which occurred in London on Monday evening, and wondered why such a building was allowed to be used for such a purpose. I will venture to say, Mr. Editor, that there are one or more just such structures in Peterboro, when people meet in large numbers, and which are liable to collapse at any moment. I refer particularly to a certain building used as a lodge room of a certain secret society, not far from the market square. This building is in bad shape, and may fall of its own accord some day. It is certainly very unsafe.
I would suggest Mr. Editor, that the Council take steps to protect the people from danger in this regard, by appointing our efficient Street Inspector also Building Inspector, and have him issue permits for the buildings after plans have been submitted, as is done in Toronto, and also have him inspect all public halls, lodge rooms and places where people meet, at least once each year and report to the Council. This could be done in the winter season when street work is not taking up much of his time.
Something along this line should be done quickly. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am, yours truly, PUBLIC PROPERTY.
Peterboro, Jan. 5, 1898.

Give to please for years to come!"

GIVE FURS

You cannot help obeying this order if you but choose here! Other things may disappoint. Furs will not. An article of Fur is useful, handsome and always gives delight—moreover by beauty of design, richness of material and workmanship, every piece is invested with a charm of its own, far more subtle and intimate than that of any other form of art or utility, because no other is so closely connected with ones daily appearance and comfort.

This large and splendid equipped Fur Store offers a rare choice of all classes of Furs for the Holiday season.

- A woman's wardrobe is not complete without a Fur-lined Wrap. Rich roomy garments for the opera, party, and out-door wear. From $15 to $40 embraces everything in this department, but a woman's eyes are needed to appreciate the values. The garments are 30 inches and three-quarter lengths, richly lined and trimmed in the fashionable Furs, plain, twill and broadcloth outside.
- You'll think the price must be a mistake in some of our Fur Caps—$5, $10, $12, $15, $16.50, $20 and $25 buys beauties in Greenland Seal, Belgium Coney, Coon, Opposum, Astrachan, Electric Seal, etc., 15 inches long to 30 inches, ripple style.
- A few Men's Coon and Black Dog Coats left over from last season, worth $15 to $18, to clear at $10.
- Good Coon and Metis Buffalo Coats, of fine quality, this year's home make $25, $30 and $35.
- Wombat, Black Corsican Lamb, Marmot Coats, $12.50 to $25.
- "Early for reductions"—of course it is—but our ASTRACHAN JACKETS for ladies are marked that way Now, $19.50 buys a very choice one, former price $25.00, $25 buys a $30 one, and so on.
- COON JACKETS are in great demand, $25, $30, $35, and $40 are a sample of prices shown.
- Storm Collars, Baby Carriage Robes, full sized Blouse Robes, and a great host of other goods in too great variety to be enumerated.
- Persian Lamb Jackets, in the latest 24 to 30-inch lengths, of choicest grade, German-dyed skins $25 to $100.
- If you have $175 to $200 to spend for a choice Alaska Seal Sarcos or Jacket, ask to see our specially fine goods at these prices.

- Here's a lot of dainty warm Fur Buffs, with heads and tails, comprising Sable, Mink, Grey Lamb, Opposum and Black Martin. From $4, $4.50, $5, $6, $7.50, and $10.
- Eleven designs in Collarettes—Electric Seal, Grey Lamb, Coon, Opposum, Mink, Persian Lamb and Seal Combination, Chinilla and Seal Combination, etc., $4.50 to $18.00.
- A few Choice Sable and Persian Lamb Collarettes at $20.00, $25.00, and $30.00.
- We cannot keep Fur Gauntlets in the back ground, they are in ever increasing demand—and such values—$1.25 buys a Grey or Black Lamb Imitation. $2.50 to $4.00 buys a serviceable Astrachan or Electric Seal Gauntlet, for lady or gentleman.
- Children's Grey Gauntlets in Imitation Lamb 75c; the real Grey Lamb costing $1 but $3.00 to $4.00.
- We show Gauntlets in Persian Lamb, Seal, Beaver, Otter, Coon and Matsine Buffalo at special prices for Xmas shoppers.
- Then Caps are always very valuable, showing good judgment in the purchase and giving comfort to the wearer: $1.50, $2.00, $2.75, $4.00, $5.00, $6.00 and $7.50 buys beauties in Baltic Seal, Nutria, Wombat, Astrachan, Grey Lamb, Beaver, German Otter and Persian Lamb.
- Ladies' delight in Muffs. It is not often one gets such values in these handsome articles—an extra large Siberian Bear Muff for $2.00, a quantity of commerce sort at 75c to $1.25.
- Some extra choice Sable and Brown Bear Skins have contributed to the making of a quantity of fine Muffs which cannot be procured anywhere—$6.00 to $11.

Call and see us and you will find that your money is best spent in giving good serviceable Fur Goods—that will ever be "A thing of beauty and joy forever."

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

So many children not going to school indicated in these cases the compulsory education statistician is abroad, rather than the schoolmaster.

Just now bargains are prevailing in the stores. Looking at it carefully about it.

There certainly does not seem to be much the matter with the way Lord Salisbury handles Britain's foreign affairs.

If Ned Hanlan makes as good a record as a Toronto alderman as he did as an oarsman, Toronto has struck something rich.

A GRAVE BLUNDER.

The Government at Ottawa has a hard question to answer when it is asked to say why the publication and sale of a blue-book is given into the hands of a business institution. But if the Government Printing Bureau is not equal to the task of getting out the work, the job should certainly have been thrown open to public competition, and every publishing house in Canada has a right to resent the Government's action in not calling for tenders.

The Liberal party posed in opposition as a party of public purity and denounced the then Conservative Ministry for acts similar to that which has just given a Liberal business firm in Toronto a good fat job without competition, a contract which will bring it in a little fortune.

Even so popular a Government as that at Ottawa cannot safely commit as grave a blunder as this one, especially after its condemnation of similar misdeeds on the part of others.

HIS HUMOR EXPENSIVE

STEAMSHIP CLERK UNDERTOOK TO RE-CHRISTEN STEERAGE PASSENGERS—OTHER DISPLAYS OF WIT.

There is a Scotchman in the Glasgow office of the Anchor Line Steamship Company who will change his opinion of his own smartness within a week or so. That will be when he receives notice from the president of the company that the sum of £10 has been ordered deducted from his salary.

The $50 is the amount of a fine imposed on the steamship company by the Board of special inquiry of the United States Immigration Bureau for failure to obey the rules in regard to the furnishing of a true and accurate list of all storage passengers brought into this port.

In accordance with the laws of this country all agents forwarding passengers to the United States are required to make an accurate list of all passengers. Great care must be taken to enter on the manifest of the vessel the exact names, with all the details of age, color, condition and previous conditions.

In this instance a cute Scotch clerk thought it would be funny to give five of the passengers in the list good American names. The passengers in question were Lithuanians with names which appealed to the clerk as unpronounceable. So, as these subjects of Russia marched up to his desk Clerk Smith put them down on his paper as David Mitchell, Nicholas Muller, H. Maitland Kersey, Richard Croker and Grover Cleveland.

The clerk was also humorous about the way he registered the age of his passengers. Richard Croker, who is really 36 years old, was credited as 18 summers.

The manifest sheet was submitted to Capt. McKinstry and to the surgeon of the vessel, who according to requirements swore to its correctness before the United States Consul at Glasgow. If they read the list of names they evidently thought the clerk's joke was an excellent one and did not compel him to change the list.

In good time immigrants reached this port and were conducted before Chief-Registry-Clerk John Lederhiller in the Registry office. "David Mitchell," called out Lederhiller. There was neither a reply nor an intelligent look from any of the five.

"H. Maitland Kersey—what's that?" exclaimed the chief clerk rising from his chair.

And Richard Croker, and Grover Cleveland? What does this mean? What's the matter with this thing?" Then Lederhiller began to question the five men in their own language and soon saw what the trouble was. He took down the correct names of the five Lithuanians and baled them before Commissioner Stump and his associates in the Board room. There the correct names with their aliases were written down in a big book as follows: David Mitchell, David Mitchell, Joseph Lukoschis, Richard Croker, Stanislaus Schuerbols, Grover Cleveland, Stanislaus Michelanis, H. Maitland Kersey, and Ignatz Schtrowsky, Nicholas Muller of Staten Island.

After hearing the report of Clerk Lederhiller, Commissioner Stump turned to his colleagues and said: "Gentlemen this should be no laughing matter. The laws of the United States Immigration Bureau have been grossly insulted. I think that we ought to punish the offenders as severely as we can. Section 4 of the laws of 1893 provides for a $10 fine for each offence of this kind."

The board agreed that a fine should be imposed, and the steamship company was accordingly ordered to pay into the United States Treasury the sum of $10 for each man, or $50 in all. Notice to that effect was sent to the Anchor line's agent in this city.

Deputy-Commissioner-of-Immigration McSweeney says that as far as he is aware there is but one previous instance of the imposition of a fine for such an offence on a steamship company. That one was imposed on the Atlantic line, and was a much heavier fine than the one imposed on the Anchor line. That company brought 200 Italian immigrants here, and when the vessel's manifest was examined, it was found that 117 of the names had not been entered on the list.

In place of the names the clerk had simply scrawled along the lines where the names should have been written. The company was fined $1170 and paid it.

"That clerk," Deputy-Commissioner McSweeney explained, "thought the manifest would not be examined over here."

Mr. McSweeney said that the Anchor line agents would probably pay the fine without a contest.

Prevent Pneumonia

Prevention is always better than cure, even when cure is possible. But so many times pneumonia is not cured that prevention becomes the natural act of that instinct of self-preservation which is "the first law of nature." Pneumonia can be prevented and is often cured by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"Some years ago I had a severe cold and was threatened with pneumonia. I could neither eat nor sleep, and was in a wretched condition. I procured a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and took it according to the directions, and at the end of fifteen days as well and sound as before the attack. I have recommended it in many cases of pneumonia since, and have never known it to fail in effecting a cure."

JOHN HENRY, St. Joseph, Ia.

"I was attacked with a cold that settled on my lungs, and defied the skill of my physicians so that they considered me incurable. At last I began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and was entirely cured after having taken two bottles."

CREED CRY ONCE MORE

Sectarian Issues Raised Over the Educational Reforms in Quebec.

Protestants not Alarmed—Quite Satisfied That Fair Treatment will be Given Under the New Measure—The Bill Before the House.

Quebec, Jan. 6.—The bill introduced by the Marchand Government to abolish the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction and appoint in his stead a Minister of Education, as well as to provide for some small reforms in the educational system of the province passed its third reading in the Legislative Assembly early this morning, and was sent to the Legislative Council.

FIGHTING FOR PROTESTANTS.

During its discussion the remarkable spectacle was presented of Roman Catholics clamoring for the preservation of the rights guaranteed to the Protestants declaring that those rights were not affected by the bill. Messrs. Hackett and Leblanc, both of whom are Roman Catholics, and were members of the last Conservative Government, declared that substitution of a Minister for a Superintendent of Instruction was but the thin edge of the wedge which, once inserted, would impair the rights guaranteed to a Protestant minority in Quebec, and the ground that under the new system educational matters being transferred to the domain of politics, it was quite possible that a time might come when an attack would be made on the rights of the Protestants.

THE CREED CRY.

It is asserted are believed to assume considerable significance, as a number of Quebec politicians are secretly in favor of curtailing the Protestant privileges in Quebec, unless Catholic privileges are restored in Manitoba, although publicly they deny such an idea.

PROTESTANTS NOT ALARMED. Protestant members of the Quebec Assembly, however, do not apparently fear any such contingency, for the majority of them in this parliament are on the Liberal side of the House, and, one by one, got up in their places and stated that they were perfectly satisfied with the Government's measure, the Protestant rights were not in danger at all, and that the Catholic Conservatives were beating a dead horse in endeavoring to prove that they were.

BIG FIRE IN MICHIGAN.

SERIOUS BLAZE ON THE SAGINAW LUMBER DOCKS AT CROW ISLAND.

(Special to the Times.) Saginaw, Mich., Jan. 6.—Eight million feet of lumber was burned on the docks of the Saginaw Lumber and Salt Company at Crow Island, three miles below the city, early this morning, causing a loss of about $120,000. The docks held about 16,000,000 feet and a large quantity of lumber was piled in the mill yard, which the flames did not reach. The mill and salt block were saved with difficulty. The docks and one wall house were destroyed. As nearly as can be estimated, three fourths of the loss will be covered by insurance.

A CONVICT BRIGADE.

Sing Sing, N. Y., Jan. 6.—One of the keepers in making his rounds early this morning discovered a fire in the part of the mess room where the boiler is located. Gas from the furnace had set the room on fire. Many convicts who were in charge of the mess room set to work fighting the flames instead of trying to make their escape during the excitement, and in a few minutes the convict firemen had extinguished the fire.

Moments are useless if trifled away; and they are dangerously wasted if consumed by delay in cases where Ransom's Elve Syrup and Tolu would bring immediate relief. 25c.

FATAL FIGHT OVER CARDS.

MESSANGER BOY.

HAD A LITTLE INFORMATION TO RED AWAY AND IT SAVED THE MAN.

"Oh, sit down" she said. "I've been wishing for some one come play with me; I know the loveliest game. Here's a pencil and paper."

"Game," he ejaculated. "I didn't know that people in good society ever played games. I thought they were only of Sunday-school picnics and family reunions. Besides, I'm sure you won't enjoy playing with me; I always win everything." But despite protestations, he was soon seated, pencil in hand, awaiting explanations.

"It's this way. We choose a letter in the alphabet, and then each one writes down as many names, beginning with that letter, of eminent persons that he can think of in five minutes. Let's take C. Now begin."

The girl wrote madly while the man was searching in the dark recesses of the mind for one respectable eminent being whose blessed name began with C. Finally he got down "Cheiro" just as the girl called time.

"I forgot to say that you have to be able to tell for what each person is eminent," she said.

Of course, the girl scored an easy victory, and wanted to try another letter immediately. The man was piqued to resolve on desperate means the next time. As they were about to begin the front door was opened and some one shuffled into the hall.

The man gasped at the name. "Some one is coming," he said. "Hurry! we better stop!"

"Oh, no, it's only father's messenger boy; he'll be waiting in the hall for some time."

"Couldn't we ask him to play, too?" "You know he—"

"Absurd!" she sniffed; now we're going to begin."

The letter was W, and this time the man had quite a long list. In fact, it was rather too long, for the girl began to be suspicious and challenged him from time to time. Finally the answer was so-and-so was a famous Governor or Mayor or Senator failed to quiet her, and when the man read the name of Walters she stopped him and declared that she believed he was improving. His assertions to the contrary were of no avail.

"Give me his dates and tell me what he did," she insisted.

He was fairly caught, he began to fear, for the name Walters had no meaning to him beyond that it began with a W. "Walters" he began, "why, Walters—"

Here a voice from the hall piped in: "I am for Governor of New York in the seventies and was defeated."

The man's honor was saved and he had sufficient decency to give the messenger boy a quarter.

ON SUSPICION.

OF CONNECTION WITH THE ERRETT MURDER FIVE MEN ARRESTED.

Special to the Times.

Hudson, Ohio, Jan. 6.—Last night five men, who gave their names as Joseph Whigman, Frank Kennedy, Charles Martin, Arthur Marshall and Robert Walker were arrested in the railroad yards at this place on suspicion of being connected with the gang of tramps who murdered Conductor Errett at Borta last week.

One man answered the description of the man who stayed at Akron for several days after the murder and then suddenly disappeared. While there he was continually talking of the murder and at one time said he was in Berea on the day of the crime was committed.

The men were taken to Cleveland by Detective Stone, of that city, and will be held until an investigation can be made.

BABY HAS GONE TO SCHOOL.

The baby has gone to school. Ah me! What will the mother do, With never a call to button or pin Or tie a little shoe? How can she keep herself busy all day With the little hindering thing away?

Another basket to fill with lunch, And "Good-by" to the baby, And mother stands at the door to see Her baby march away, And turns with a sigh that is half relief And half a something akin to grief.

She thinks of a possible future morn When the children one by one, Will go from their home to the distant world.

To battle with life alone, And not even baby be left to cheer The scattered home of that future year.

She picks up garments here and there Thrown down in careless haste, And tries to think how it would seem If nothing were displaced.

If the house were always as still as this How could she bear the loneliness?

WITH THE CHILDREN.

The Annual Christmas Entertainment of St. John's Sunday School.

The pupils of St. John's Sunday School will long remember last night's at their Sunday school. It was the annual festival of the school children and not a vacant seat was to be noticed. The pupils obeyed every order with the greatest of willingness, for they were before them a huge Christmas tree on which were hung the prizes for the year as well as innumerable bags of sweets.

The entertainment opened with a minstrel show by the church boys' brigade, and was splendidly conducted. The songs and choruses were all new, while the jokes sprung were general as well as local, and caused much laughter.

The prizes were then distributed to the pupils who had gained record marks for attendance, and special prizes were given for church attendance.

The entertainment closed by a beautiful rendition of the Mother Goose choruses by the members of the Mission Band, under the direction of Miss A. McCallum. This last number was an entertainment in itself and was much appreciated by the order people present.

A PRETTY WEDDING.

The Marriage of Dr. Court Poussette and Miss Annie Sherwood.

St. John's Church was yesterday the scene of a very pretty wedding when Dr. Court W. Poussette of Chicago, was married to Miss Annie L. Sherwood, daughter of Mrs. W. E. Sherwood, of Gilmour street. The pleasing ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. C. Davidson in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. The bride who was one of Peterborough's charming young ladies, was dressed in a beautiful travelling suit of broadcloth while her hat was of handsome purple velvet trimmed beautifully with wings and sable. The bridesmaid was Miss Marion Sherwood, sister of the bride. The groom was assisted by Mr. M. Poussette.

The service was a choral one the whole of St. John's choir being present. The bride was given away by her brother Mr. W. J. Sherwood. Mr. and Mrs. Poussette left on the noon train yesterday for Chicago, where Mr. Poussette has purchased a splendid practice.

The municipalities are being approached with a view to expunging this clause from the agreement. By the construction of this road Peterborough will have another route to the back country, as Cobourg is now regarded by its more progressive neighbours.

THE O. P. RAILWAY.

The prospects for the construction of a railway from Cobourg around the foot of the lake, to Campbellford, connecting with the C.P.R., are not as favorable as they might be. The by-laws, under which large bonuses were granted to the road, called for an expenditure of $150,000 before the end of 1897. This has not been done. The municipalities are being approached with a view to expunging this clause from the agreement. By the construction of this road Peterborough will have another route to the back country, as Cobourg is now regarded by its more progressive neighbours.

Is caused by torpid liver, which prevents digestion and permits food to ferment and putrify in the stomach. Then follow dizziness, headache, insomnia, nervousness, and, if not relieved, bilious fever or blood poisoning. A GOOD JOKE.

A peculiarly shaped egg owned by an uptown lady, has been causing much comment in that neighborhood. Young Jack S— owns a small poultry yard, which is situated in the rear of their dwelling, and there he spends much of his spare time. The lad is of an experimental disposition, and is constantly discovering curious things. Although used to her boy's oddities, Mrs. S— was much astonished recently at the queer egg which he brought in from the poultry yard. The egg somewhat resembled a dumb-bell, in shape, and the strange part was that the depression in the middle was caused by a ring which encircled it. Closer examination proved the ring to be one owned by Mr. S—, and this served to heighten the mystery. The curio was shown around among the neighbors and the common conclusion arrived at was that the chicken had swallowed the ring. A veterinary surgeon, who lived close by, said this was impossible, and developments proved him to be correct. Yesterday in a burst of confidence Jack told his mother that he had read in a paper that egg shells might be made flexible by soaking in vinegar. This suggested a joke so he secured a long, slim egg, and after softening it in vinegar had carefully slipped the ring on. After this he buried the doctored egg in slack lime, and in a few hours it had regained its natural hardness and color.

PILES! PILES! ITCHING PILES.

Symptoms—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate and become very sore. Swayne's Ointment stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. All druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman Sons & Co., Montreal, wholesale agents.

Running sores, indolent ulcers and similar troubles, even though of many years standing, may be cured by using Trask's Magnetic Ointment. It soothes, strengthens and heals. It is the great pile cure. 25c.

Those Silly Yanks

Their Funny Law In Re- ference To Sealskin Coats

The New Regulation Causes Much Inconvenience—Yukon
Gold—Wanted In Toronto—Killed By A Tree—Two Men Killed—Ice House Collapses—Choked To Death
A Luxurious Jury—Paid The Penalty—An Explosion
—Other Despatches.

Windsor, Ont., Jan. 7.—Residents of Windsor are very indignant over the order in regard to sealskin garments.
Yesterday afternoon several ladies went to Detroit and were informed at the dock that in future they would not be permitted to wear their sealskin coats to Detroit unless they had a certificate stating where the coats had been manufactured, in what year, and whether the fur was that of a male or female seal. This was soon known in Windsor and the order was the subject of much adverse criticism. One fur merchant said that he had been selling this class of furs to the ladies of Windsor for years, and that it would be utterly impossible to answer the questions demanded by the United States Customs officials.

SEEKING CERTIFICATES.
Two ladies were turned back last night with their coats. They were told to go to the United States Consul in Windsor and secure the necessary certificates, if they wished to wear their furs to Detroit in future. One lady said that she had purchased her coat ten years ago, and as it was impossible for her to find out the manufacturer of the coat she would be forced to leave it at home when going to Detroit.

DERING A YOUNG WIDOW AT

which O'Neil paid the penalty to-day

McCloud, a young widow of Shelburne Falls, on the night of Jan. 8, 1897.

the head of one horse was all that was found. Considerable damage was done to property in the vicinity.

of James Ellis, Vine, about six miles south of here, was instantly killed
at Anderson's lumber camp near Gravenhurst, on Monday, and was buried in the cemetery near his home yesterday. He was felling a tree, and upon looking up was struck in the forehead
by a falling limb and instantly killed.
He went to the camp about five weeks ago, and three weeks ago injured his back and came home for a few days and then went back. He was thirty years of age and unmarried.

TWO MEN KILLED.
OPEN SWITCH ON THE G. T. R. CAU-SES DAMAGE AND LOSS OF LIFE.

(Special to the Times.)
Chicago, Jan. 7.—An open switch on the Grand Trunk Railway threw a freight train into a siding at Harvey shortly after midnight and caused a wreck that fatally injured two men, hurt another seriously and resulted in the burning of an engine and a passenger coach and the demolition of twenty loaded freight cars and their contents.
The injured:
Edward Bancroft, of Battle Creek,

Mich. fireman; jumped from the engine and was internally injured. Will die.
F. Spalding, head brakeman, fatally injured in jumping from the engine.
C. W. Glysson, engineer, seriously injured; jumped as the engine struck the switch.

tery.

which was not properly masticated,

mediately in terrible agony.

MGR. BRUCHESI COMING.

(Special to the Times.)
Montreal, Jan. 7.—Archbishop Bruchesi leaves to-night for Toronto, where he will spend a few days at St. Michael's Palace as the guest of His Grace Archbishop Walsh.

The Montreal prelate will probably officiate at high mass at St. Michael's Cathedral on Sunday.

A LUXURIOUS JURY.
THEIR WINE BILL IN THE THORN MURDER CASE IS PRETTY STEEP

(Special to the Times.)
New York, Jan. 7.—The wine bill for the jury that convicted Martin Thorn
of the murder of Goldensuppe amounted to $239.95 for nine days. The Journal and Advertiser quotes Thorn's lawyer, Mr. Howe, as saying, "I shall press this matter before Judge Maddox. I shall urge that the debauchery of this jury made them utterly unfit to determine the solemn issue of that trial.
It is not possible for men to live as that ill-fated jury did during the solemn period of their deliberation on the case and to remain in the right
state of mind to decide the great issue of a man's life. They should not have been permitted to have a single drink."

WILL NOT HANG.
THE SENTENCE OF DEATH ON TROY THE NAPANEE MURDERER COMMUTED BECAUSE HE IS IN-SANE.

(Special to the Times.)
Ottawa, Jan. 7.—Lord Aberdeen approved of an order-in-Council to-day,
commuting the death sentence passed on John F. Troy for the murder of Mc-Leod, of Napanee, to imprisonment for life. The reason for commutation is that the prisoner has become insane,
and the law does not permit an insane person being hanged.

The prisoner confessed to the murder of McLeod. Troy was sentenced for burglary in Kingston Penitentiary.
While his isolation in prison he made a confession that he murdered Angus McLeod in Sept. 1893, in the course of a burglary he was committing. Detective Rogers was put on the case with the result that he secured corroborative evidence of the murder. Troy implicated a convict named Hughes,
but Hughes was tried and acquitted.

No plea of insanity was put up at the trial of Troy, but since that time
he has been examined by medical experts, and pronounced insane. Dr.
Clark, of Toronto, was one of those who examined him.

Troy was sentenced to be hanged
on Jan. 14.

are living to-day because of South American Kidney Cure.

Thousands verify what is claimed of South American Kidney Cure. Great rest, safest, quickest action, permanent results. A specific for kidney diseases in young or old, male or female.
It enjoys the distinction of a hearty recommendation by most eminent physicians. It relieves distressing kidney discharges in six hours. Never fails to cure if persisted in. Acts directly on the circulation and eradicates from the system all solids and foreign substances which clog up these sanitary organs of the human anatomy. You test what others have proved. These words from a letter received to-day:
"I despair of recovery until I used South American Kidney Cure."

ROW IN A POSTOFFICE.

FRICTION BETWEEN DEPUTY AND CLERKS ARISES OVER IRKSOME ORDERS.

(Special to the Times.)
Kingston, Jan. 7.—There is trouble
in the post office in view of a regulation issued that the clerks must obey orders, must not solicit aid of friends to interfere, and that grumbling and disobedience will merit punishment.

The trouble is between the deputy
and the clerks in regard to the disposition and assignment of work. Chief Inspector Sweetman has been here twice but his decisions have not smoothed out matters.

A RECORD IN THE SNOW.
MEYERS OF KINGSTON, ADDS AN-OTHER TO HIS LIST OF UNIQUE ACHIEVEMENTS.

(Special to the Times.)
Kingston, Jan. 7.—F. O. Meyers made the first century for 1898 yesterday,
covering the course from Fort Hope
to Kingston in 9 hours and 40 minutes.
He will not do any more riding until Spring. He said he rode through snow at times, and had to almost ride a chalk line to keep in the beaten path made by sleighs. Along the way acquaintances made him stop to give him the glad hand. From Napanee to Kingston was covered in under two hours,
through a heavy storm of rain and sleet. He was drenched to the skin.
Last year the first century in Canada
was made in April.

MAY STRIKE.
STILL THE TELEGRAPHERS DIFFI-CULTY IS NOT SETTLED—A CRISIS IN THE AFFAIR.

(Special to the Times.)
Montreal, Jan. 7.—The possibility of another strike of the telegraphers of the C.P.R. grows greater hour by hour.

Although both the railway company
and the operators keep their mouths
as closed as possible, it is no secret that both sides fear the worst.

Grand Chief Powell, of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, has been telegraphed for, and may reach here on Sunday. A final attempt will then be made to settle the dispute by bringing it before the board of directors of the C.P.R., which is to meet on Monday.

Should the resort fail, a strike will surely follow.

AN OUTBREAK FEARED.
FOUR HUNDRED CONVICTS TO FORTY GUARDS—DANGER AT THE MONTREAL PENITENTIARY.

(Special to the Times.)
Montreal, Jan. 7.—Acting Warden
Foster, of St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, has returned from Ottawa,
where he went to lay before the Department, the state of affairs at the penitentiary. It is reported that he has admitted that the flogging of eight ring-leaders of rebellious convicts will take place at an early date, but when has not transpired. Among those to be punished are: Choquet, Donpiere, Coriveau, Chaput, Dunn and Roussel,
who are charged with disorderly conduct and insulting officers.

GUARDS IN TROUBLE.
This morning three guards were reported to the warden as having conspired against the institution, and encouraged convicts to be disorderly.

It is usual for flogging to take place in the underground room, especially prepared for the purpose, but as there are eight at least to be punished in the presence of all the convicts it is stated that the flogging will take place in the prison yard. There being only forty guards at the penitentiary, and about 400 prisoners, there is, of course, grave anxiety about the success of the attempt to flog and grave fears that the prisoners will make a concerted break for liberty.

As far as can be learned, the only extra precaution taken so far is that a few guards have been ordered from Kingston to assist, but even these cannot do much in the presence of so many desperate criminals. It is rumored, however, that more than likely the militia will be called out to a point where they can be available at a moment's notice.

The prisoners have not ceased their nightly yelling.

POST OFFICE LOOTED.
Hyattsville, Md., Jan. 7.—The Post office here was entered by burglars
during the night, the safe blown open and looted of $700 in currency and stamps. The post office is in the grocery store of Geo. Tise, located in the thickly part of the town but the burglary was not discovered until morning. There is no clue to the robbers.

Lord Douglas Returns
Southampton, Jan. 7.—The American line steamer St. Paul, which sails from this port for New York to-morrow, will take among her passengers Lord Douglas of Hawick, eldest son of the Marquis of Queensberry, and his family.

BREATHEN FATE.
Hartford City Ind., Jan. 7.—While hunting Daniel Sleicher accidentally shot Geo. Phillips in the bowels with a rifle. Phillips died this afternoon.

JUSTICE IS SATISFIED

Murderer Durrant Pays The Penalty Of The Law

HIS TERRIBLE CRIME

A Complete History of the Case and the Appeals

(Special to the Times.)
His Life Sacrificed for the Murder of Two Girls—He was a Model Youth, but He came Wayward in Middle Life, and Wound up His Career With Murder.

Sun Quentin Prison, Jan. 7, 10:35
a.m.—Theodore Durrant was hanged
here this forenoon. Death was easy, apparently.

DURRANT'S CRIMES.
History of the Case That Led Him to the Gallows.

William Henry Theodore Durrant,
who was hanged at the State Prison
at San Quentin to-day, gave his life in exchange for the lives of two young women, who were members of the church to which he belonged. While Durrant was convicted of but one murder under the law, he was held responsible by public opinion for the murder of both Blanche Lamont and Minnie Williams, and it is felt that his death
expiates one crime as much as the other.

A PIOUS MURDERER.
Durrant's crimes were peculiar in their atrocity from any point of view.
He was reared in a Christian home,
and until the time of his arrest was regarded as a model young man of industrious habits, who was trying to work his way through a medical college. The only characteristic that seemed marked in his nature was his piety.
He had been a prominent member of the Emanuel Baptist Church for several years, and for a year previous to his arrest had been assistant superintendent of the Sunday school. In this capacity he made the acquaintance of Blanche Lamont and of Minnie Williams, both of whom were destined to be murdered by him in the church
where they worshipped together.

THE FIRST MURDER.
Blanche Lamont disappeared on April 3rd, 1895, and was never seen alive afterwards. She left the home of her aunt, Mrs. C. G. Noble, on that day to go to school, and for ten days no trace of her could be found. Many members of Emanuel Church assisted in the search for the missing girl, and among others was Theodore Durrant,
who had often acted as Miss Lamont's escort. He seemed greatly distressed on account of Miss Lamont's disappearance, and at length expressed the belief that she had joined the ranks of fallen women. This theory seemed plausible to the police, and a search was made among the places where it was believed the lost girl might be found.
Durrant assisted in the inquiry, which came to naught. Ten days had passed since Miss Lamont disappeared, and her friends had almost given up hope of ever knowing her fate when a discovery was made which led to the finding of Miss Lamont's body.

THE BODIES FOUND.
The ladies of Emanuel church were engaged in decorating the propa-gatory to the celebration of the Easter Sunday services, when the mangled body of Minnie Williams was found in the library. A number of ugly knife wounds and some rags that had been forced down the young woman's throat told of the unequal struggle she had made to protect her life. Miss William's body was discovered in the afternoon, and late the same night the first clue to the murderer was found. From some of the young woman's friends
it was learned that she had been seen
the evening before with Durrant, and although there was nothing else to show that he had any connection with the crime, the police decided to arrest him.

woman met her death. When Durrant was brought to San Francisco, such was the rage of the people that it was feared he would be lynched. Thousands of men gathered around the station. The police were prepared for an outbreak, however, and two companies of armed men were present. Durrant was placed in a closed carriage surrounded by fifty men armed with Winchester rifles and driven to the city prison. He loudly protested his innocence, as he did to the hour of his death, but the evidence against him accumulated rapidly and on April 21st an information was filed against him by District Attorney Barnes, charging him with the murder of Blanche Lamont.

THE MURDERER CONVICTED.
The trial which began on July 22nd and lasted until November 1st, was one of the most celebrated in criminal jurisprudence. Nearly 1,200 witnesses were examined before a jury was secured, and six weeks passed before the taking of testimony was begun. The evidence throughout was circumstantial, but when taken together formed a chain so strong as to admit of no reasonable doubt. The case was submitted to the jury on the afternoon of November 1st, 1896, after having been on trial over three months. Twenty minutes after they left the court-room the jurors returned and rendered a verdict of guilty in the first degree. Judge Murphy a few days later sentenced Durrant to be hanged on February 1st, 1896.

FIGHT FOR DELAY.
Then began a fight for delay, vigorously maintained for almost three years, not even ceasing with the execution of the death sentence. Appeals were taken to every court in the State, exceptions were taken to judge's decisions on technical points, writs of habeas corpus were asked for, and in fact every possible thing that the wisest and shrewdest lawyers in California could think of was done to save off the fatal day.

FOUGHT NEARLY THREE YEARS.

When, at last, it was by the condemned man's friends, nothing could be done through a writ, an appeal for clemency was made to Governor Budd. This, however, was refused, and the sheriff was ordered to carry out the verdict of the court rendered two years and nine months ago.

Durrant was never tried for the murder of Miss Williams, but the evidence of his guilt was as conclusive as in the Lamont case.

The theory of the prosecution has always been that Durrant murdered Miss Williams to conceal the murder of Miss Lamont. The two young women were acquaintances, and Durrant suspected that Miss Williams believed he knew something about the disappearance of Miss Lamont.

DURRANT'S LAST WORDS.

Proclaims His Innocence and Says He Will be Justified.

San Quentin Prison, Cal., Jan. 7.—At the request of Theodore Durrant, an Associated Press staff correspondent was brought last night to the cage-like structure surrounded by a close wire netting in which the condemned man is confined. His mother sat on one side, conversing with her son in whispers. Durrant looked well, but his eyes were red with weeping and his lips were parched. The failure yesterday of the various moves in his behalf was referred to.

"It was a great surprise, but I am prepared for it," replied Durrant. "How do you feel?"

"Hopeful, buoyant, and ready to meet my Maker," answered the condemned man. "I know the Lord is with me. No one knows what faith is until tried. I am going to a Judge who has never committed a wrong and who cannot. My faith is so strong that I have kept up and will be sustained to the end."

Then turning to his mother he said: "Mother, I have come to the conclusion that it needs trial to know God. And you may say that to the world," he added. A sudden thought seemed to strike Durrant, for he added in a voice different from the earnest, religious accents of his previous remarks: "I have had offers of remuneration for a talk with me from the East. I have had three or four telegrams."

"All of his words are of great value," interrupted his mother. No offer of compensation having been made, Durrant was promptly cautioned to talk no more. He was willing to comply, but his mother being called away for a moment he resumed in his former strain: "I will make no reference to the past. All will be made clear; if not in this world, then in the next. I feel that I am perfect in Christ."

"What will you say at the last?" he was asked.

The answer was quick and in a firm voice than he had been using. "I shall only proclaim my innocence loudly and strenuously," answered Durrant. "Make this as strong as you please. I will not falter at the end. I will die bravely, knowing I am going to a better world. I thank God my hands are clean not stained with blood, but the fair name of California will stand stained with a crime that can never be wiped out—the blood of an innocent man."

A CRIPPLE IN PAIN.

Tortured and Tormented with Rheumatism and Sciatica—South American Rheumatic Cure Works the Wonder.

Mrs. John Fisher, Woodstock, N.B., writes: "I had been suffering for over three years from muscular rheumatism and on one occasion I had a very acute attack of sciatica. For several weeks I was unable to walk or attend to my household duties. I tried several remedies, and physicians failed to give me relief. I saw South American Rheumatic Cure advertised and bought a bottle. It did me a wonderful lot of good. Four bottles effected a perfect and permanent cure."

—The Times believes in one kind of advertising and only newspaper advertising. It has no use for sand-wich men, hotel registers, score cards, street cars, bill boards, barn roads or any of the hundred and one traps that men use to catch the unwary business man.

To heal the broken and diseased tissues, to soothe the inflamed surfaces, to instantly relieve and so permanently cure piles is the mission of Task's Magnetic Ointment. 25c.

A LONG WAY ROUND.

He was born in Peterborough, and traveled half his life.

To find a fitting lady whom he could make his wife.

He went to California one summer in great haste.

But returned because he could not find one suited to his taste.

One winter he went 'way down South and met some beauties there.

Who if what he declared was true, were fairer of the fair.

But when he got back home again his neighbors only sighed.

Because he did not bring with him a young and blushing bride.

He journeyed north to Lindsay, and then crossed over to France.

Where women are so beautiful they all the men entrance.

He traveled next thro' England, and when his trip was o'er,

He came back and was wedded to a girl who lived next door.

THE AMERICAN CUSTOMS.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The ways and means committee will give early attention to the customs administration law, with a view to presenting a bill embodying numerous reforms. The present law went into effect with the McKinley tariff law, and the recent Dingley tariff law, while revising tariff rates did not go into the question of administering the tariff laws. It is felt to be desirable, however, to change the law in many respects, the chief change being to prevent frauds on the treasury by under valuation of goods.

SEVERAL EXPLOSIONS.

Glasgow, Jan. 7.—During a fire today at Mackie's Chemical Works, an explosion which killed four firemen and injured a number of other people took place. The damage done is estimated to amount to £20,000.

The claim is made by the contestant
that his brother had no right to devise forward his father's will in substantiation

of this position, and quote that part of which reads: "And it is my express desire that my said son, Charles M.
Pond, will not alienate or sell my farm known as the 'Prospect Hill Farm,' but that the same may descend and be from time to time devised to my lineal descendants."

Among the testimony already introduced is that of Mrs. Frank A. Porter, a -sister of the Pond, which it is said showed the deceased brother to be an extraorinary and eccentric person.

In his public career Charles M. was only as a man of rare judgment illiant parts, but it seems that for me previous to his death his mind
suffered or weakened by dissipation, as displayed oddities of intellect that entirely at variance with his character as the public and all but his intimate knew it.

According to Mrs. Porter's statement, of the evidence that was to be introduced and valuable as corroborative
of has been deliberately destroyed.
of destroyed evidence consisted of works
of Spiritism and the several Ouija boards
that were the property of Charles M.
Pond, and were used by him. It is said that the dead man was a firm believer in Spiritism and was an easy dupe of medi-thoroughly fooled by Miss Do Bar than he was by the men and women who pretended to be able to rematerialize those who had passed to the shining shores.

After the death of his wife, it is said,
he was almost constantly under the influence of mediums. He had impudence in the peculiar qualities of the of planchette. In the latter case the

Charles M. Pond had several of these

EXTREME NERVOUSNESS.

The Usual Outcome of Too Little Blood—Nervousness Often Brought to the Verge of Insanity.

From the Smith's Falls News.

Many cases have been reported of how invalides who had suffered for years, and whose cases had been given up by the attending physician, have been restored to health and vigor through the now world-famed medicine, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills,
but we doubt if there is one more startling
or convincing than that of Miss Elizabeth Minshull, who resides with her brother,
Mr. Thos. Minshull, of this town, an employee in Frost & Wood's Agricultural Works. The News heard of this remarkable case, and meeting Mr. Minshull, asked him if the story was correct. He replied:—"All I know is that my sister had been given up as incurable by two physicians. She is now well enough to do any kind of housework, and can go
and come as she pleases, and this change has, it is my honest conviction, been brought about by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills." Mr. Minshull then related the following story to the News:—"My sister is twenty years of age. She came to Canada from England about ten years ago, and resided with a Baptist minister, Rev. Mr. Cody, at Sorel, Que. In April of 1896, she took ill and gradually grew worse. She was under a local physician's care for over five months. The doctor said that she was suffering from a complication of nervous diseases, and that he could do little for her. The minister with whom she lived then wrote me of my sister's state of health, and I had her come to Smith's Falls, in hope that a change and rest would do her good.
When she arrived here she was in a weak
state, a local physician was called in to see her. He attended her for some time, but with poor results, and finally acknowledged that the case was one which he could do very little for. My sister had by this time become a pitiable object;
the slightest noise would disturb her,
and the slightest exertion would almost make her insane. It required someone to be with her at all times, and often after a fit of extreme nervousness she would become unconscious and remain in that state for hours. When I went home I had to take my boots off at the doorstep so as not to disturb her. When the doctor told me he could do nothing for her, I consulted with my wife, who had great faith in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as she knew of several cases where they had worked wonderful cures, and I concluded it would do no harm to try them anyway, and mentioned the fact to the doctor, but he did not oppose their use,
but said he thought they might do her good, as they were certainly a good medicine. In September of last year she began to use Pills, and before two boxes had been used, she began to show signs of improvement. She has continued their use since, and is to-day a living testimony of the curative power of Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills."

BLOOD THIN AND POOR.

Mrs. John O'Connor, Broad Cove, N. S., makes the following statement:—"I S, I have been suffering from what doctors
call general debility. My blood was thin and poor. I had constant, and at times violent pains in my hips and knees, and frequently passed sleepless nights. I had tried several remedies said to be sure cures, but without success. Then a lady friend, who was very enthusiastic concerning Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, urged me to try that medicine. I used several boxes before I found much benefit, then the change came and I speedily recovered. The pains left me. I could sleep and eat well, and am quite strong and hearty. It is now more than six months since I used the pills, and have not been sick a day since I stopped taking them.
I am now quite as enthusiastic over this medicine as my friend was, and will always recommend it."

INSOMNIA CURED.

Mr. Wm. Thomas, a teacher of vocal music, well known throughout Eastern Ontario, says:—"I was greatly troubled with insomnia, and for over two years I believe I existed with less sleep than any other individual ever did. The strain on my nervous system was something terrible, and each day found me less able to perform my duties. My digestion was impaired, my complexion was sallow, appetite very fickle, and my whole condition one of the most unenviable. I had tried many remedies without avail, and finally as a result of reading so much about them I decided to try Dr. Williams'

QUEER ADVERTISEMENT THAT BROUGHT OUT STRANGE FACTS

Eight People in the City Found Who Have Been Contemplating the Taking of Their Lives.

Cincinnati, Jan. 7.—A novel experiment made by a gentleman of this city in the way of an advertisement has brought to light a fund of startling information which is enough to bring tears to the eyes of a stoic. Some days ago the gentleman in question proposed inserting in the Enquirer a small
"ad" of a very curious nature, and his friends were strong in the faith that it would receive no response. Here in the advertisement as it appeared in the want columns of this paper:

A—Efficient Persons With Suicidal Intents being unable to find work can have profitable employment. Address G. 46, Enquirer Office.

The idea that there could be people living in the city whose circumstances
had made them sufficiently desperate as to admit that they were contemplating suicide struck the frames of the
ad. as being rather preposterous, but it was printed, and to the surprise of all who knew about it eight answers were received. Such answer was a wall from the regions of despair. "I one was a sob, and told of disappointments that had given the heart and left

Too Little Blood.

Too little blood! That is what makes men and women look pale, sallow and languid. That is what makes them drag along, always tired, never hungry, unable to digest their food, breathless and palpitating at the heart after slight exertion, so that it is a trouble to go up stairs. They are "Anæmic," doctors tell them; and that is Greek for having "too little blood." Are you like that?

Are your gums pale instead of being scarlet?
Pull down your eyelid—is the lining of it bloodshot and pale? That is where
"too little blood" shows.

More anæmic people have been made strong, energetic, hungry, cheerful men and women by

than by any other means. They are the finest Tonic in the world; they have cured more people than any other

Pink Pills. In the course of a few weeks it was plainly manifest that they were helping me. It took some months to restore my old time health, but Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did it, and I am now feeling like a new man. When I retire to my bed I am sure of a good night's rest. I have a good appetite, a good digestion, a general feeling of renewed health, for all of which I am deeply grateful to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

ST. VITUS' DANCE.

Mr. Jacob Snyder, jr., of Bloomingdale,
Ont., says:—"About three years ago
Adeline Webber, aged eleven years, an orphan adopted by us, showed symptoms of St. Vitus' dance. At first we did not realize what the trouble was, but as she was growing worse we consulted a doctor, who told us what was the matter, but did not seem to help her. In fact she was growing worse and her limbs twitch-ed and jerked terribly. We then consulted another doctor under whose care
she remained for about a year, and although he was very attentive, she was steadily growing worse. Her limbs became so matted that she could not walk,
and she had wasted away to a skeleton,
and we had no hope of her recovery.
One day while in conversation with Mr.
Martin Simpson, of Berlin, he told me that a daughter of his who had suffered in the same way had been cured by Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills, and advised that they be tried. After she had used two boxes there was considerable improvement, and after the use of four boxes
more, all the symptoms of the disease had left her, and from that she steadily regained her former strength. Her case seemed to us a desperate one, and we believe that it had not been for Dr.

Williams' Pink Pills, she would not have recovered.

PALE, TIRED AND LISTLESS

Miss Eva Hodgson, daughter of Mr.
Wm. Hodgson, a well known farmer living near Proton Station, Ont., is another of the many young girls who owe health and strength to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She says:—"My illness came on very gradually, shortness of breath

after the smallest exertion, being the first symptom I noticed. Then I became very pale, was attacked with a pain in the side and a hacking cough. At first only home remedies were used, but as they did me
no good a doctor was consulted and I was taking his medicine for nearly a year. I did not derive any benefit from it, however, but seemed to be getting weaker all the time. The pain in my side grew more severe, and I had wasted away almost to a skeleton. At this stage a friend strongly advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. By the time I had used three boxes
I could feel an improvement, and then I began to gain steadily in health and strength. I took the Pink Pills for a couple of months longer and at the end of that time was completely cured. I consider Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a blessing to suffering humanity and will always strongly recommend them."

to paint a picture that would cause
the teeth to chatter and the eyes to rain tears. Nothing is said as to whether the little one is pretty, or whether the "dear wife" had ever parted her crimson lips with the sweet speeches of love and hope. No hint as to the weary rounds of the town that had been made by the man with an aching brain, until his arms were raised down against the rain and snow, and little heads have been bared for the
sk. It is not plain as to whether two little stockings were pinned up on Christmas Eve, only to be stared at on Christmas morning by a hollow-cheeked woman as they hung—the ghosts of happiness that had visited her
in childhood come back to jeer.
This one is a trifle more terse and to the point, but issues from the same source:
"Your advertisement strikes me exactly. If I don't get work soon will try another world." And so they trudged along over the rough roads of adversity. The gentleman who inserted the advertisement says that he succeeded in putting hope into these hearts and money into their pockets. It is hoped that he has.

UNIQUE CHARITY.

CHRISTMAS DINNER GIVEN TO DESTITUTE WOMEN, ONCE WEAL-THY.

Saturday witnesses the strangest Christmas dinner that has ever been given in New York. Never before was there a charity dinner given to 200
well-dressed, refined, educated women.
This dinner was given at 52 West

Eighteenth street by Mrs. Minnie L.
Cummings, President of the Woman's Protective League. Two weeks ago the printed invitations were sent out, invitations to "educated women of gentle birth, destitute and alone," and Saturday 200 of them sat at a well-spread table in the dining room of the new house Mrs. Cummings has taken.
There were women with sweet faces
and white hair, women with tired, careworn faces and dark hair, and some young girls with a look of melancholy
in their eyes who passed before the hostess from the drawing room into the dining room. But they were all well dressed. Some of the dresses and hats were a bit old-fashioned and the material not absolutely new, but it was expensive.

It was a many course dinner. There were soup and turkey and oysters and mashed potatoes and salad and plum pudding and all the other accessories of a Christmas dinner. Those who were not too weak to eat, ate their fill and departed. Some gave their names to their hostess. Others shook hands anonymously. But they were not all unknown.

Some of them had once been society
boles, and presided as hostesses over coolly dinner tables. A few years ago the husbands of numbers of them were among New York's largest taxpayers.
Some were strangers in New York from other cities. One woman, with white hair and sweet, sad face, had been the owner of many slaves in the South "before the war." One was the daughter of an honored Judge, some years dead;
another was the wife of an absconding
defaulter who had fled the country.
At the diners of the newshy and the street gamins and the tramps and beggars the "guests" grew happy and

ORIPPLED WITH RHEUMATISM.

Could Not Raise Either Hand or Foot and Had to be Fed and Dressed—Doctors said
a Cure Was Impossible.

From the Milbrook Reporter.

Rheumatism has claimed many victims and has probably caused more pain than any other ill affecting mankind. Among those who have been its victims few have suffered more than Mr. G. W. Coon, now proprietor of a flourishing bakery in Hampton, but for a number of years a resident of Pontypool, where his severe illness occurred. To a reporter who interviewed him Mr. Coon gave the following particulars of his great suffering and ultimate cure:—"Some seven or eight years ago," said Mr. Coon, "I felt a touch of rheumatism. At first I did not pay much attention to it, but as it was steady-
ly growing worse I began to doctor for it, but to no effect. The trouble went from bad to worse, until three years after the first symptoms had manifested themselves I became utterly helpless, and could do no more for myself than a young child. I could not lift my hands from my side, and my wife was obliged to put my food and feed me when I felt like eating,
which was not often considering the torture I was undergoing. My hands were swollen out of shape, and for weeks were tightly bandaged. My legs and feet were also swollen, and I could not lift my foot
two inches from the floor. I could not change my clothes and my wife had to dress and wash me. I grew so thin that I looked more a skeleton than anything else. The pain I suffered was almost past endurance and I got no rest either day or night. I doctored with many doctors, but they did me no good, and some of them told me it was not possible for me to get better. I believe I took besides almost everything that was recommended for rheumatism, but instead of getting better
I was constantly getting worse, and I wished many a time that death would end
my sufferings. One day Mr. Perrie, storekeeper at Pontypool, gave me a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and urged me to try them. I did so somewhat reluctantly as I did not think any medicine could help me. However, I used the pills, then I got another box and before they were gone I felt a trifling relief. Before a third box was finished there was no longer any doubt of the improvement
they were making in my condition, and before I had used three boxes more I began to feel, in view of my former condition that I was growing quite strong, and the pain was rapidly subsiding. From that out, there was a steady improvement, and for the first time in long weary years I was free from pain, and once more able to take my place among the world's workers, I have not now the slightest pain, and I feel better than I felt for seven years previous to taking the pills. I thank God that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills came in my way as I believe they saved my life, and there is no doubt whatever that they rescued me from years of torture."

IN A DECLINE.

Mrs. W. Goodwin, Argyle Sound, N. S., says:—"After the birth of my first child
I was in poor health and unable to recover my strength. I had a severe pain in my left side and lung, which almost made it impossible for me to breathe. I had a bad cough day and night, and was troubled with night sweats, and on awakening found myself very weak. My complexion was sallow, and my appetite entirely gone. All my friends believed me in a decline. Our family physician attended me for a long time but I got no better.
Then a friend advised me to try Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills. Acting on this advice I bought a supply, and continued
their use until my health was fully restored. I am sincere in saying that I believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my life."

CONSUMPTION OF THE BLOOD.

Mr. J. N. Gordon, Cataract, Ont., says:—"If I could not have got Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills I do believe I would not be in the land of the living. I had what one of my physicians called a number-called consumption of the blood. I was wasted away to a shadow, and my hands were literally transparent.
I had a hacking cough, could not sleep and could scarcely eat. Doctors having failed to help me, I determined to try
Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and was soon gratified to find that they were helping me. I continued their use for several months, and am thankful to say that they have fully restored my health. I consider Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a blessing to humanity."

jolly as they became well fed. But these guests did not become jolly and happy. Meat and drink could not make them so.

Everything was provided for their comfort. The room was warm, the table well spread, the hostess amiable
—never was a hostess more glad to see her guests; they ate and drank, but they did not become merry; though on the morrow many of them might die.
This latter consumption was one for which, many of them ardently wished.
Then they went away—these grand dames of bygone time. What is to become of them—the poor gentlewomen of New York? They have been reared in luxury, and suddenly their means have been taken away from them. They want work—not charity
—and work for white-haired women, luxuriously reared and suddenly left penniless, seems the hardest thing in the world to get.

Mr. T. Smith, representative of the Retail Merchants' Association, of Toronto is in town in the interests of his association. He has interviewed the leading business men of the town and a meeting has been arranged for Tuesday evening in the council chamber for the purpose of organizing.

The percentage of taxation increases with the increase of business. The association have a bill before the local houses at present and they have every hope of its passing.

EXTENDING ITS OPERATIONS.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Peterborough Navigation Company held to take the steamer Eclipse off the lower route and place it on the upper held at the office it was partly decided. She will probably ply between Cobocok and Lindsay, making daily trips passing through the magnificent new locks at Fenelon Falls en route. It is possible that other steamers on the upper waters may be secured and that by the time the canal is in operation between Lakefield and Peterborough the company may practically have the control of the principal boats plying on these waters.

Almost Distracted

Dreadful Suffering by a New-market Woman.

The Bones in the Nose Affected—Face Would Swell Until Her Eyes Were Closed—Now Relieved.

NEWMARKET, ONT.—"I have had a good opportunity of noting the great medicinal powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla. My wife has been a sufferer from catarrh for the past four years, and the disease had gone so far that the bones of the nose had become affected and particles had come away through an opening in the left side. Her eyesight was also affected to the extent that for nearly a year she was unable to read for more than five minutes at a time. She suffered and at times was almost distracted. She was treated by four different doctors, one of whom was a specialist. They all said they could not do anything for her, as the disease had gone too far. Her nose would swell about every three days until her eyes would almost be closed. Then it would break through and the swelling would subside for a day or two. About Christmas she commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and since that time has steadily improved. She has not been troubled with any swelling since, and the sore on the side of the nose has all healed. She is on the road to a complete cure. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I cheerfully recommend it to any person who is suffering with catarrh."

To Give Gracefully

Select Thoughtfully

Some one has said: if we listen we can hear the Christmas Chimes saying something, just as Whittington heard the Bells of London. Listen

"Give, Give, Give to Please! Give to please for years to Come!"

You cannot help obeying this order if you but choose here!

Other things may disappoint. Furs will not. An article of Fur is useful, handsome and always gives delight—moreover by beauty of design, richness of material and workmanship, every piece is invested with a charm of its own, far more subtle and intimate than that of any other form of art or utility, because no other is so closely connected with ones daily appearance and comfort.

GIVE FURS

This large and splendidly equipped Fur Store offers a rare choice of all classes of Furs for the Holiday season.

A woman's wardrobe is not complete without a Fur-lined Wrap. Rich roomy garments for the opera, party, and out-door wear. From $15 to $50 embrace everything in this department, but a woman's eyes are needed to appreciate the values. The garments are 30 inches and three-quarter lengths, richly lined and trimmed in the fashionable Furs, plain, twill and broadcloth outside.

You'll think the price must be a mistake in some of our Fur Cape—$5, $10, $12, $15, $18.50 and $35 buys beauties in Greenland Seal, Belgium Coney, Coney, Opposum, Astrachan, Electric Seal, etc., 15 inches long to 30 inches, ripple style.

OODON JACKETS are in great demand, $25, $30, $35, and $40 are a sample of prices shown.

YUKON GOLD.

TO USE FORCE IN COLLECTING ROYALTY IN THE KLONDIKE

Special to the Times.

Ottawa, Jan. 8.—The increasing of the Mounted Police force in the Yukon from 90 to 250 men seems to indicate that the Canadian Government intends to depend upon force rather than justice in the collection of royalty in that region. The cost of supporting this number of men will be enormous, for the first year or two not less than $2,000 per man, or a round half million dollars annually.

Calculating the yearly output at $50,000,000, which is the figure conceded by the Government, the cost of maintaining Mounted Police would alone absorb 10 per cent. of this amount. Without an effort to get the royalty the police would not be necessary in such numbers if the history of the mining regions of British Columbia is to be considered as any guide in the matter. Even with 250 men the royalty cannot be collected, and there is the probability of more police and more cost to the country.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 29, 1897.
I have used "Pond's Extract" for many years and always insist upon my patients getting "Pond's," not the ordinary Extract, which is often a very poor article. W. K. BROWN, M. D.

I use Pond's Extract a great deal in my practice. I think it very valuable in all venous enlargements. J. L. BRADFORD, M. D.

I have been using Pond's Extract in my practice for twenty years. I frequently have the experience you mention of druggists insisting they can put up as good as yours. I don't believe it. HE WAS COMMITTED.

Delphic Legare to be Tried for Stealing the Coat and Gauntlets.

Chief of Police Rozzel brought back the prisoner Delphic Legare from Quebec on Saturday, and he appeared before the Magistrate on a charge of stealing a fur coat and a pair of gauntlets from Mr. G. N. Graham of the Oriental. The prisoner through his counsel Mr. D. O'Connell, elected to be tried by jury and pleaded "not guilty." The evidence was taken showing that the prisoner had got the articles from Mr. Graham for the purpose of going to Roby's, promising to return them the following Tuesday. He never came back and was next heard of in Quebec, where he was arrested at the request of Chief Rozzel. Legare stated that he had intended returning the coat and gauntlets but had not at the time sufficient money to pay the express charges. The Magistrate sent him up for trial and at the same time gave him a few words of advice as to his negligent conduct.

WITH THE HOCKEYISTS.

Several Important Games will be Played Here This Week.

The members of the Hockey Club turned out in force on Saturday night held a splendid practice and their work would lead an independent man to the conclusion that Peterboro will be the "whip" of this year. To-morrow evening there should be a large crowd at the rink to witness the first O. H. A. game in the junior series when Norwood will come up and play Peterboro's second team. The local boys are in to win and a hot match is to be expected. The game will start promptly at eight o'clock. Mr. Miles Hamilton will referee.

On Friday evening next the senior team will play their first game in the senior series with the T. A. C. team of Toronto. The visiting team will be represented by their strongest seven and although the Toronto papers treat them lightly they will no doubt do their best to keep Peterboro's score down. The return match will be played in Toronto during the following week. It is expected that the Winnipeg team will play here about the 18th inst. They have been wired a guarantee, but have not as yet replied. Silence is usually taken as consent.

The First Meeting of the Town Council will be Held To-day.

At eleven o'clock this morning the new council will hold their first meeting in the council chamber. At this meeting the declarations of qualifications will be read by the Town Clerk and the auditors will be appointed for the year. When this business is over the council will go into committee and select the standing committees for the year.

As to who will provide over the different committees many would like to know. The Times is inclined to the opinion that the following will provide over the chief committees.

MARK STREET CHURCH NOTES.

The pastor took as his Sunday morning text, Hebrews 12:25. "See that ye refuse not him that speaketh: for if they escaped not him that refused him that spake on earth, much more shall not we escape if we turn away from him that speaketh from Heaven." The subject of the sermon was "A voice from Heaven." and on this topic Mr. Moore gave an excellent discourse, to a large congregation.

His evening subject was "Begetting sons" and his text was Hebrews 12:1 and 2.

He gave a very interesting and helpful sermon, based on these verses, to the large congregation which was present.

Every Sunday large congregations are present to listen to Mr. Moore's earnest gospel sermons.

Mrs. (Rev.) Moore takes the topic at the League this (Monday) evening at 8 o'clock.

On Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 a meeting of all ladies interested in forming a Ladies' Aid Society, will be held at the parsonage.

The regular church prayer meeting will be held on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

The annual S. S. meeting will be held on Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock. Everybody is welcome whether members of the school or not, if interested.

On Friday evening the Cottage Prayer Meeting will be held of Mr. McGrigor's on Douro street, and will be led by Mr. Cummings.

The Mark street church choir will hold a concert in the new town hall on Friday evening, Jan. 21, with a view to purchasing a new organ.

Next Sunday evening there will be an "Old People's Service." All over 50 are specially invited, and will occupy the centre seats of the church. Others, under 50, will occupy the side seats.

If you have ever seen a little child in a paroxysm of Croup or if you have been annoyed by a constant tickling in the throat you can appreciate the value of Ransom's Hives Syrup and Tolu, which gives quick relief. 25c.

Rev. J. C. Symonds of St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, has distributed a number of very pretty and artistic scriptural calendars among his congregation.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. J. C. Sullivan, of Ashburnham, is confined to her room with illness.

Mr. Geo. Halpin, leaves town to-day to take a situation with a Toronto drug firm.

Mr. L. Dobbin, late of Adam Hall's, will leave this morning to take a position in Perth.

Messrs. Ozias LaPlante and A. White leave to-day to resume their studies at Osgoode Hall.

Miss Edith McDonald, of Lindsay, is visiting with her aunt, Mrs. Dr. Butler, Queen street.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB.

The regular meeting of the Fortnightly Club will be held to-morrow evening in the Y.M.C.A. building, when a very interesting paper on "King Lear" will be read by Sheriff Hall.

WHAT YOU CAN SAVE.

You would be surprised at the amount of money you will save by purchasing school supplies at the Times Bookstore. Just drop in and see. Our stock is the best.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The annual meeting of the Horticultural Society will be held on Wednesday evening next in the town council chamber. As the Society has full charge of Victoria Park the citizens should be generally interested, and a large attendance will doubtless be present at the meeting. Directors for the year will be elected.

WARDS TO BE DIVIDED.

It is quite probable that this year's council will consider the project of dividing several of the wards up for municipal election purposes. It is now almost impossible to poll the votes in the first ward and we understand that it is against municipal law to move that a large number of voters for each division.

GREAT SLAUGHTERING SALE.

of Groceries, Provisions, etc. Having purchased the grocery stock of the T. W. Robinson Co. at great sacrifice, we will sell the entire lot at less than wholesale prices. The stock is perfectly new and fresh, and consists of finest grades Teas, Coffees, Spices, Canned Goods, etc. Sale to commence on Saturday morning, 8th instant, and will be continued from day to day until the entire stock is disposed of. This presents a rare opportunity for housekeepers and others to lay in provisions, as the stock must be cleaned out at once regardless of what it will bring.

Buyers are advised to come early before the goods are picked over. Remember the place, T. W. Robinson & Co's stand, at the head of George-st., (Corner Smith and George). Telephone No. 386. E. F. Mason & Co.

AN OLD PIONEER GONE.

One of the early settlers of the district, the person of Mr. James Gillespie, died at his residence in Ontario on Saturday last, at the good old age of 69 years. Mr. Gillespie settled originally in South Monaghan, and about thirty years ago purchased a block of 400 acres in Ontario, which he has occupied ever since. Mr. Gillespie was a life-long and consistent Methodist, attending Zion Church. The deceased gentleman has been in poor health for some two or three months and died as he lived—a consistent Christian. He leaves a family of four daughters—Mrs. Joseph Stewart and Mrs. Robert Hull, Peterboro; Mrs. Andrew Kent and Mrs. James Walker, Ontario. The funeral will leave the late residence of the deceased to-day, Monday, at 1.30 p.m., and proceed to the Little Lake Cemetery.

WAS OUT OF SORTS.

"I was all out of sorts with loss of appetite and loss of sleep. I could not dream myself without sleeping to rest. My kidneys were affected. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. I now have a better appetite and am able to sleep soundly." Mrs. Margaret Bird, 562 Bethune street, Peterboro, Ont.

NEARLY FOUR MILLIONS.

ALLEGED CAUSES OF THE RECENT CRIPPLEGATE FIRE IN LONDON.

(Special to the Times.)

London, Jan. 8.—It has been ascertained that the loss resulting from the recent Cripple-gate fire amounts to £750,000. The enquiry is dragging, the evidence obtained being directed towards proving the fire of incendiary origin and in the direction of demonstrating that the fire brigade is inefficient.

Running sores, indolent ulcers and similar troubles, even though of many years standing, may be cured by using Trask's Magnetic Ointment. It soothes, strengthens and heals. It is the great pile cure. 25c.

Dogs for the Yukon

Ottawa, Jan. 8.—Three hundred husky dogs from Newfoundland are at the C.P.R. depot to-day awaiting transportation to Calgary and Vancouver. They are owned by H. Campbell and Graves Bros., Vancouver, and have been purchased from the fishermen of Labrador and Newfoundland for use in the Klondike. The canines are fed on smelts and dog biscuits and were brought for $8 each.

Moments are useless if trifled away; and they are dangerously wasted if consumed by delay in cases where Ransom's Hives Syrup and Tolu would bring immediate relief. 25c.

A Society Rages.

Paris, Jan. 8.—Living tortoise, with their backs covered with jewels, attached by a gold chain to ladies' dresses, are the rage in Paris. They cost about £16. The Society for the Protection of Animals is agitating the matter.

The "Bicyclist's Best Friend" is a familiar name for Trask's Magnetic Ointment, always ready for emergencies. While a specific for Piles, it also instantly relieves and cures cuts, bruises, salt rheum, eczema and all affections of the skin. It never fails. 25c.

To Give Gracefully Select Thoughtfully

Some one has said: if we listen we can hear the Christmas Chimes saying something, just as Whittington heard the Bells of London. Listen

"Give, Give, Give to Please!
Give to please for years to come!"

GIVE FURS

You cannot help obeying this order if you but choose here! Other things may disappoint. Furs will not. An article of Fur is useful, handsome and always gives delight—moreover by beauty of design, richness of material and workmanship, every piece is invested with a charm of its own, far more subtle and intimate than that of any other form of art or utility, because no other is so closely connected with ones daily appearance and comfort.

This large and splendid equipped Fur Store offers a rare choice of all classes of Furs for the Holiday season.

- A woman's wardrobe is not complete without a Fur-lined Wrap. Rich roomy garments for the opera, party, and out-door wear. From $15 to $50 embracing everything in this department, but a woman's eyes are needed to appreciate the values. The garments are 30 inches and three-quarter lengths, richly lined and trimmed in the fashionable Furs, plain, lined and broadcloth suitcases.
- You'll think the price must be a mistake in some of our Fur Caps—$5, $10, $12, $15, $16.50, $20 and $25 buys beauties in Greenland Seal, Belgium Coney, Coon, Oppossum, Astrachan, Arctic Seal, etc., 15 inches long to 30 inches, ripple style.
- A few Men's Coon and Black Dog Coats left over from last season, worth $15 to $18, to clear at $10.
- Good times and Material Buffalo Coats, of fine quality, this year's home make $25, $30 and $35.
- Wombats, Black Corsican Lamb, Marmos Coats, $12.50 to $25.
- Early for reductions!—of course it is—but our ASTRACHAN JACKETS for ladies are marked that way now, $10.50 buys a very choice one, former price $22.50, $24 buys a $30 one, and so on.
- COON JACKETS are in great demand, $25, $30, $35, and $40 are a sample of prices shown.
- Storm Coats, Baby Carriage Robes, and a great host of other goods in too great variety to be enumerated.
- Persian Lamb Jackets, in the latest 24 to 30-inch lengths, of choicest grade, German-sheep styles $25 to $40.
- If you have $175 to $200 to spend for a choice Alaska Seal Sack or Jacket, ask to see our specially fine goods at these prices.

The Date Settled

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS TO TAKE PLACE FEBRUARY 22.

The Queerest on Record—Edgar at Washington—Three Brutally Killed—Escaped Death—River Pilots Commission—The Murderer's Grave—Other Important Despatches.

(Special to the Times.)

Toronto, Jan. 10.—The best informed Liberal politicians say that the general elections in Ontario will take place on either Feb. 15 or Feb. 22.
This would mean a Tuesday election which politicians consider the best possible, as it usually gives one clear day without public meetings, for preparation and one day for rest after the Saturday night wind-up. All the important elections of recent years have taken place on Tuesday.

FRANK ARNOLDI IN POLITICS.

In Toronto a new name is mentioned for nomination in the Conservative interest in the person of Frank Arnoldi, Q.C., the former partner of O. A. Howland. It is said that J. J. Foy, Q.C., will not accept nomination. John Grier can have East Toronto if he wants it in the opinion of most.

THREE BRUTALLY KILLED.

THE LOWING OF UNFED CATTLE
TELLS A TALE OF MURDER.

(Special to the Times.)

Worcester, Mass., Jan. 10.—News of a triple murder of which Francis D.
Newton, a prosperous farmer, of Brookfield, his wife Sarah, and their ten year old adopted daughter, Ethel, were the victims, reached this city at an early hour this morning. The family had been killed in their house about two miles from Brookfield Center. The crime was discovered by neighbors who heard
the howling of the unfed cattle and made an investigation. The three members of the family were found in their blood
soaked beds, having been horribly killed
with an axe.

A hired man who has been employed by Newton is missing and the authorities are making a sharp search for him.
He was known only by the name of Paul. He was last seen Friday night just before midnight, by a neighbor. He was then more than a mile from the Newton house and was going in the direction of Brookfield. Two young men also saw him at about the same time, going in the same direction. The man turned his head away from them
as he passed. From this it is believed that the murder was committed between 10 and 11 o'clock Friday night.

ESCAPED DEATH.

A WOMAN AND THREE CHILDREN OVERCOME BY THE FUMES OF GAS.

(Special to the Times.)

Ottawa, Jan. 10.—Mrs. Brown, a widow, and her three children, residing on Bay street, narrowly escaped asphyxiation by gas Saturday. Fortunately they became ill before retiring to ascertain who the person was who entered his way, and, when he failed to obey, fired a shot through the door. Shortly afterwards the intruder returned and began knocking on the window.

Thinking it was a burglar, Potts
fired a second shot through the window, and the man fell with a groan.
Upon investigation it was found that
J. A. King, an aged citizen of Dolomite near here, who recently became insane and wandered away from home,
had been shot through the head. King soon afterward, before dying, stated that he was seeking shelter from the cold when shot.

Potts was exonerated.

CLUB USED.

TO CRUSH THE HEAD OF AN OLD AND WEALTHY MAN.

(Special to the Times.)

St. Louis, Jan. 9.—John Doring, aged 70, a highly respected and wealthy citizen of Belleville, Ill., was found dead in bed to-day, his head having been crushed in with some blunt instrument in the hands of robbers, who ransacked the house for valuables and who then escaped without leaving a clue to their identity.

Mr. Doring lived alone in his house,
and, as he did not appear at the usual time this morning, neighbors notified his son, who investigated and found his father dead. A club had evidently been used by the robbers, who crushed
Mr. Doring's face into an unrecognizable mass. It is not yet known whether they secured any great amount of money or not.

Doring's head was almost severed
from the body with a butcher knife, which lay near the bed covered with blood.

A suspicious looking man was arrested in the woods near Belleville and placed in jail.

It is thought he was connected with the murder or knows something of it.

To heal the broken and diseased tissues, to soothe the irritated surfaces,

netic Ointment.

WRITHING

IN AGONY A STRANGER WAS FOUND—HE POISONED HIMSELF IS DEAD.

(Special to the Times.)

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 9.—A strange man, about 35 years of age, fairly well dressed and wearing the garb of a minister, took 35 grains of morphine,
with suicidal intent, at Lagrange yesterday afternoon, dying about two o'clock this morning.

The stranger gave his name to the few persons to whom he spoke as A.
Anderson, and said he had been doing mission work for several years. He said he was a native of Kentucky,
having been born and reared in Boyle County, Kentucky, a few miles from Danville. He said he had met with misfortunes and had been barely able to eke out an existence for the past few months, and was en route home to secure aid.

He was an entertaining conversationalist, though seemed greatly depressed and nervous. When last seen, just after noon yesterday, he was near the L. and N. Depot in Lagrange, and he must have swallowed the deadly dose about that hour. Passers-by discovered him lying near the railroad station, writhing in agony and near a state of unconsciousness. He was taken to the County Jail and medical aid summoned, but the physician's efforts were in vain, and he died this morning.

VERY QUEER DECISION

The French Government Will Not Reopen The Case

APPLICATION REFUSED

French Court Refuses to Hear Any Testimony in His Behalf

(Special to the Times.)

Wardville, Jan. 10.—Frank Davis, of this place, met with perhaps the most peculiar accident on record while out hunting in the woods. Davis had succeeded in wounding a rabbit which endeavored to escape by crawling into a hollow saw-log. As the hole ran only part way through the log Davis crawled in the aperture after it.

The log happened to be on a side hill
and being disturbed from its resting place by the hunter's efforts to capture the rabbit, it began to roll, sliding down against a bank and blocking Davis' only means of exit. The prisoner immediately began a most desperate fight for freedom, kicking and screaming and using every other means in his power to attract attention.

He remained confined inside of the log for 24 hours, but finally a Mrs.
Till, attracted by his cries, came to the rescue and succeeded by means of an axe and spade in releasing him.

THE MURDERER'S GRAVE.

CAN'T FIND A RESTING PLACE FOR THEODORE DURRANT'S BODY.

(Special to the Times.)

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 10.—There seems to be no place for the body of murderer Theodore Durrant. Both cre-matoriums here have absolutely refused to handle the remains and no cemetery has yet consented to receive them.
They are still at the Durrant house
and it looks as though they would stay there for some time. The elder Durrant said yesterday: "My efforts to carry out the last wishes of the dead boy have been unavailing. The crematoriums refuse to take the body
and cemeteries are likewise reluctant.
We may ship the remains to Los Angeles and have them cremated there,
or we may take the body and bury it at sea. We don't know yet what we can do.

MRS. DREYFUS IN COURT.

Amongst those who filled the hall were Mrs. Dreyfus, wife of Alfred Dreyfus, the former captain of French army, who was undergoing imprisonment for life after having been convicted of selling important French military
plans to agents of a foreign power, with which affair Esterhazy is said to have been connected; the brothers of Mme. Dreyfus, Senator Trarieux, the former Minister of Justice, who last week wrote a letter asking for the postponement of the court martial on the ground that to try the case in its present shape only means asking the court to confirm the guilt of Dreyfus and many officers and deputies. Count Esterhazy appeared in uniform and escorted by Republican Guards.

ALL APPLICATIONS REFUSED

The clerk of the court said the court martial was held in order to end the contradictory rumors which had been spread by the excited public and thereupon Maître Laborie, counsel for Mme.
Dreyfus, asked permission to take part in the arguments. Counsel for the Government opposed the application, declaring the court would not re-open the case of Alfred Dreyfus, who, he added,
had been justly and legally condemned.
The Government counsel who opposed the application of counsel for Mathieu Dreyfus, brother of the prisoner at Devil's Island, to appear during the proceedings. The court rejected both applications, and the taking of testimony commenced.

After an hour's discussion the President announced that it had been decided by a majority of five to two that the trial should be public until the moment when publicity might appear to prejudice national defense.

ESTERHAZY WHITEWASHED

The report of the investigating officer, Major Ravary, was then read. It completely whitewashed Count Esterhazy, who was generally regarded as being a serious indictment of Colonel Picquart, whose arrest, when the trial
is finished, is anticipated.

Col. Picquart, according to the interrogation, was sentenced to thirty days' detention in a fortress. He was an officer summoned from Tunis to Paris in connection with the Dreyfus affair and his statements were reported to be the basis of the accusation against Count Esterhazy.

EDGAR AT WASHINGTON.

MONS TALKING TRADE AT THE

(Special to the Times.)

Washington, Jan. 10.—J. D. Edgar,
Speaker of the Canadian Parliament,
who has been at Fort Monroe, is expected in Washington in the course of a day or two. He will be entertained by some of the officials here, and it is believed that his visit will be utilized
by him to talk over the general subject of relations between the United States and Canada.

New Council do.

The Inaugural meeting of the new Council was held in the Council Chamber yesterday morning when there were present His Worship Mayor Davis, Councillors Best, White, Robertson,
Denne, Hamilton, Dawson, Cobb, Mc-Williams, Langford, Mildrum and White.

The reading of the minutes were dispersed with.

THE MAYOR'S ADDRESS.

On taking the chair Mayor Davis congratulated the members on their election to seats at the Board and in remarking on the affairs of the town he urged that the estimates be brought down at the February meeting of the Council in order that a clear understanding might exist as to the position in which the finances stood. There was no reason why the rate should be any higher this year than last. Concerning the sewer system the mayor explained that about half the contract work was now finished and he advised that new work be not forced, but rather that it be undertaken at present unless petitioned for by the ratepayers concerned. In reference to the streets
he stated that as was known there was a large quantity of broken and unbroken stone on hand. It would be the duty of the Street and Bridge Committee to consider the disposition of this stone in order to give employment to labour and at the same time to use
the material in such a way as to guarantee the work done as permanent as possible. The caterpillar pest of last year was referred to, and the mayor thought that if dealt with at the proper time the nuisance could be greatly abated at a small expense. The charity given by the town, he hoped, would be administered in a similar manner to that of last year. Personal mention was made of the Central Board, which handled the funds so capably. The Market Committee during the year
would have to make some amendments to the by-law in order to protect the market more fully. Peterboro was most advantageously located for the location of manufactures, as being a smaller town than the large manufacturing centres, capitalists would escape much trouble from strikes by coming here. There had been too much dillydallying over the question of the erection of a Home of Home for the aged poor. Some investigation had been made into the matter but grossly undereceived were almost appalling regarding the cost of erection and maintenance, and the town was not in a position to look at it. At present however, there were only six of these unfortunates in the gaol and surely something could be done at a small outlay to do a little for them. It was a disgrace to think that in a Christian community they would have to end their days in gaol. He suggested that a committee composed of two members of the Council, Jas. Kendry, M.
P., J. R. Stratton, M. P., J. J.
McBain, Peter Hamilton and George Webster be appointed to devise some scheme for the approval of the ratepayers, so that the matter might be wiped off the slate. In conclusion he hoped that in the year on which the Council was now entering, that the members would have sight of all selfish aims and have an eye only for the benefit of the town and the interests of the ratepayers.

The Town Clerk read the report of the gentlemen who had taken the oath
of qualification of the Town Council.

PETERBOROUGH, JANUARY, 10, 1898

THE PIGGERY SCANDAL.

The enquiry into the affairs of the Humber piggery, now going on before the public accounts committee, has forced upon the public mind the fact of the complete unfitness of that body as a means of impartially investigating a public question. Instead of going in a systematic manner to work to find out first whether the statements made by Mr. St. John are true, and secondly, if true, on whom the blame should be placed, each side is struggling to make political capital out of the question.

Conservative members seem to have firmly made up their minds that all the charges made by Mr. St. John in connection with the expenditure on the piggery are true, and that the Government, through its agents, caused diseased meat to be sold to the citizens of Toronto. They act on the assumption that these charges are true, before they have been conclusively proved so, and are trying to fasten the odium of them upon the Government. The Reformers on the committee are determined that the Government must not have its prestige sullied by any disclosure of ignorance and incompetence on the part of its agents, and so use every means to prevent Mr. St. John verifying the statements he has made so often throughout the province.

As the Government supporters are in the majority in the committee and can therefore control the method of procedure they are making the way of Mr. St. John anything but smooth.

As the matter stands now the Opposition witnesses, the butchers' who killed the pigs swear that they dressed and sent out pigs visibly infected with the disease.

Warner the caretaker at the piggery, and a Government employee of course, swears that he caused all the diseased pigs to be burned. Each swears exactly as his side desires, and with such witnesses, and with judges biased before hearing the evidence the whole thing is a farce, and the decision will be worth nothing.

THE WARD SYSTEM.

Commenting on the fact that Chatham has voted to abolish the ward system, and elect its aldermen by general vote from the city at large, the Windsor Record says:

There is no doubt that there are many evils and disadvantages connected with the ward system. By it local jealousies are created and encouraged; inferior men are often elected simply because they belong to the ward and ward combinations frequently stand in the way of necessary public improvements. The question of doing away with the wards is worth considering.

And the Galt Reporter takes up the tale as follows:

The ward system is promotive of sectional disputes, of brawling and narrow-gauged administration. It has a dampening effect upon the ambitions of thorough-going business men who would go to the council board but for the fact that custom demands an appeal, personally and otherwise, to a section of the voting population. For these and other reasons the ward system is falling into disfavor in live towns. The manner in which Chatham has treated it should stimulate a like movement elsewhere—in Galt, for instance. The reform is bound to come.

There is little doubt but the reforms will be accomplished some day, and the sooner the better. If one of our new councillors would bring the matter up in the council and have a vote of the citizens taken, the result, we believe, would show that the mass of the Peterboro voters and taxpayers are in favor of the reform.

PECULIAR EXPERIENCE OF A PENNSYLVANIA FARMER.

John Walls, a farmer of Prime Hook Neck, was out in the marshes looking for ducks yesterday afternoon, when he saw a large hole in the ground, and, seizing a long pole, he thrust it into the ditch. Instantly the earth beneath the farmer caved in, and before he realized what had happened Walls was in a den of wriggling, squirming snakes.

There were about 500 of the slimy reptiles altogether, and they began attacking Walls in every direction. Some of them, emitting a frightful, hissing sound, came at him with their mouths wide open and attacked him with their venomous tongues. Others coiled themselves about his legs until the farmer was a wriggling mass of serpents. The only weapon he had in his hands was a gun. He was unable to successfully combat the snakes with the weapon, and his cries for help brought several other farmers to his assistance. They threw him a rope and Walls clung to it, while the men at the top hauled him from his perilous situation. He was half unconscious when he landed from the reptile den and was weak from the loss of blood. He was taken to his home, where a doctor was summoned, but Walls is still in a critical condition. The reptiles were of the blacksnake, moccasin and water variety, and were the largest den of serpents ever found in Sussex County. An effort will be made to saturate the den of snakes with coal oil and burn them alive.

BACK TO PRISON.

AN ESCAPED CONVICT FROM KINGSTON RECAPTURED AT WATERDOWN.

Hamilton, Jan. 10.—Louis Lawrence, an escaped convict from the Kingston Penitentiary, who was serving a three year term for burglary, has been at Burlington, his old home, and in this city within the past few days, and he was re-captured at Waterdown on Saturday night. He was brought to the city after midnight and locked up. Lawrence is regarded as a desperate character, and, it is said, the county constables were reluctant to cope with him single-handed. A reward of $50 was offered a few weeks ago, when he broke away from the penitentiary, for his recapture. He had still 18 months to serve in order to finish his term.

La Grippe Cured

This modern malady has become dreaded not more for its direct fatality than for the weakness of body and mind it leaves behind it. Prolonged debility, permanent prostration, melancholy and suicide follow La Grippe. For this disease there is no remedy superior to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"The best remedy for La Grippe that I know of is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."
Rev. JOHN E. CHASE, South Hampton, N. H.

"My wife and five children were taken down with La Grippe, while the disease was so widely prevalent. I dosed them with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and before using quite two bottles my family was restored to health. I know of several obstinate cases of the same complaint which were also cured by this remedy."

A WORLD'S WONDER

THE ESCURIAL, BUILT BY PHILIP II.
OF SPAIN IN 1563.

A Temple, a Palace, a Treasury, a Tomb and a Museum—Here are Buried the Rulers of Spain and Their Children—The Builder Lived Here Like a Monk.

The Escorial, built by Philip II. of Spain, between 1563 and 1584, was called "the eighth wonder of the world." It was at once a temple, a palace, a treasury, a tomb and a museum. That is to say, all these were included in the huge building which Philip erected on the slope of a spur of the Guadarrama range, thirty-two miles northwest of Madrid. The builder's object was to carry out the will of his father, Charles V., by constructing a royal burial place, and also to fulfil a vow he had made during the battle of St. Quentin, when he implored the aid of St. Lorenzo, on whose day (August 10, 1557) the battle was fought. A correspondent of the Boston Herald writes from San Sebastian describing this eighth wonder:

The edifice stands about 8,000 feet above the sea, facing the mountains, with its back toward Madrid. It is a rectangular parallelogram, 740 feet from north to south, and 590 from east to west. On the east side is an advanced portico which breaks the facade. This gave rise to the vulgar impression that Philip's idea was to make the building in the shape of a gridiron, an allusion to the manner of St. Lorenzo's martyrdom, he having been boiled to death on a slow fire in the reign of the Roman Emperor Valerianus, A. D. 261. There seems to be no other ground for the fanciful invention.

The building covers 600,000 square feet of land, or nearly 19 acres. It has 18 courts, 36 staircases, 15 cloisters, 39 fountains and 8,000 feet of painted fresco. The church, which occupies less than a sixth of the whole space, is 330 feet long, 390 feet wide and 230 feet high to the top of the cupola. The redeeming qualities of the enormous structure are size, simplicity and situation. It seems to be a part of the mountain on the slope of which it rises. It still looks grand even among mountain buttresses. Otherwise, it is disappointing. Its architecture has little in form or color to commend it. It lacks the prestige of antiquity, and it does not express any religious sentiment. It might be a vast manufactory. Its cold granite walls, blue slates, leaden roofs and small windows give it a commonplace appearance.

Of course, it is now little more than a skeleton of what it was. The living monks who swarmed in its courts are here no longer. The revenues on which they lived have been taken away. The French soldiers stole and carried away many of its golden ornaments in 1808. Its best pictures have been removed to Madrid. The building has suffered from neglect, exposed to hurricanes and winter snows. Better care has been taken of it in later years. It is now used as a seminary, where about 300 youths receive a secular education. The fanatical Philip lived here, half king and half monk, for fourteen years after the building was completed. His last end was miserable, for he was harassed by doubts as to whether his seal in burning heretics would secure him a passport to heaven.

The family vault under the high altar, as built by Philip, was severely plain, at once impressive and instructive. His successors, Philip III. and Philip IV., built the gorgeous subterranean chambers which have become the Spanish Pantheon. Here repose the remains of kings and queens who have really reigned, and the severe etiquette of the Spanish court does not stop at death. The chamber, in which we descend by some sixty steps, the stairway lined by green and yellow-colored jasper, is an octagon thirty-six feet in diameter and thirty-eight feet high, terminating at the top in a pointed dome. The materials of which the walls are composed are dark polished marbles and gilt bronze. There are twenty-six niches hollowed in seven of the eight sides, the altar occupying one, with black marble sarcophagi, all exactly alike. The reigning sovereigns are on the right of the altar and their consorts on the left. The names of the occupants are written on the urns, beginning with Charles V. Several are empty, awaiting future kings and queens. The last to receive a tenant was that of Alphonso XII., who died in 1885. An empty one awaits his wife, now Queen Regent, and another his son, the present boy king, not yet ten years of age.

Perhaps the most interesting part of this huge pile is the suite of humble apartments where Philip lived the monk-like life which he preferred, reserving all luxury for the temple. He was one of the most powerful monarchs of his age. His armies carried the flag of Spain half over Europe. Rich armies brought to his ports the treasures of the new world. He lived here a slave to bigotry, and in his reign were sown the seeds of death, from which may be traced the sad decay of one of the great powers of the earth. We are shown in the small, dark chambers where he carried on the business of "Most Catholic King," the desk at which he wrote on little scraps of paper for he had his pet economies, the chair in which he sat, another in which he rested his gouty leg when he gave audience to his ministers and foreign ambassadors, and some of the utensils he used. From his dismal sleeping room a door opens into a small chamber which overlooks the high altar of the church. To this he was carried in his last illness and here he died after languishing long with a loathsome disease.

After seeing all worth seeing in the interior and wondering at the maze of chambers, cloisters and courtyards in which a stranger might easily get lost, we went outside on a grand terrace, the whole length of the building which overlooks toward the south formal gardens and fish ponds. The slopes below are well planted, the fine elms having been brought from England. The view extends over the rolling plain, which looks level in the distance, as far as Madrid. We then ascended a neighboring height, one of the spurs of the mountain range, the summit of which are white at this season, to take in the grand building as one view. In spite of the defects I have noted above, it is a very impressive pile, being one of the largest of human constructions. The gray-stone village clustered beside it, and climbing by steep streets up the slope above it, contains a population of about 1,500. Pure streams of sparkling water flow impetuously down the vines which mean the mountains, making the fields below fresh and verdant.

THE POPULAR SONG.

I never was naturally vicious,
My spirit was lamblike and mild,
I never was bad or malicious,
I loved with the trust of a child,
But hate now my bosom is burning,
And all through my being I long
To get one solid thump on the head of the chump.

Who wrote the new popular song.
The office boy hums it,
The bookkeeper drums it,
It's whistled by all on the street,
The hand organ grinds it,
The music box winds it,
It's sung by the "coop" on the beat,
The newsboy, he spouts it,
The black and white, he shouts it,
The washwoman sings it all wrong,
And I laugh and I weep,
And I wake and I sleep,
To the tune of that popular song.
Its measures are haunting, dreaming,

I rise at the breakfast bell's call,
To hear the new chambermaid screaming.
The chorus aloud through the hall.
The landlady's daughter's piano,
Is helping the chorus along,
And my molars I break on the tender-join steak.

As I chew to that popular song.
The orchestra plays it,
The German band brays it,
'Tis sung on the platform and stage.
All over the city
They're chanting the ditty,
At summer resorts its rage.
The drum corps, it beats it,
The echo repeats it,
The brass drummer brings it out Strong.

And we speak and we talk,
And we dance and we walk
To the notes of that popular song.
It really is driving me crazy,
I feel that I'm wasting away,
My brain is becoming more hazy,
My appetite less every day.
But, oh, I'd not pray for existence
Or struggle my life to prolong
If up some dark alley with him I might Dally.

Who wrote that new popular song.
The bone player clicks it,
The banjoist picks it,
It livens the clog dancer's heels
The brass viol moans it,
The bopper drones it,
They play it for waltzes and reels.
I shall not mind quitting
The easy and fitting
A maid the heavenly throng
If the mourner's who come
To my grave do not hum
That horrible popular song.
—Joe Lincoln.

THE TRUE REMEDY.

Wm. Duggan, St. Albans street, Toronto, says: "We won't keep house without Ransom's Five Syrup and Tolu for consumption, coughs, colds, croup or bronchial troubles. Experimented with many others but never got the true remedy until we used Ransom's Five Syrup and Tolu. No other remedy can take its place in our home as in it we have a certain and sure cure for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, etc. We would not do without it in the house."

It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged as "just as good" as "Ransom's Five Syrup and Tolu." They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. Avoid substitutes.

LAUGHTER ADDS TO BEAUTY.

Laughing is said to produce small wrinkles about the mouth, but no one need have any anxiety about wrinkles thus formed, for they are rather pleasing than not, and often add to the attractiveness of a face, for they show a light and merry heart. With mirth and laughter let old wrinkles come," as Shakespeare says.
Cheerfulness and bright, happy looks always adds to beauty, so laughing should certainly add to beauty, even at the expense of a wrinkle or two. It is the lines that come from a peevish, discontented frame of mind that disfigure the face, and have to be fought against.

On a motion of Councillor Meldrum Councillors Best, Denne, Cobb and J. M. White were appointed to strike the standing committees for the year. The Council adjourned till eight o'clock last night.

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough.

2. That the usual grant of $250 be made to the Mayor to meet the contingent expenses of his office.
All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. H. MELDRUM, Chairman.

Councillor McWilliams stated that the report bore out what he had been told during the past week. He had the opposition of several of the companies for his independent stand last year. He took the report of the committee as an insult to himself. He thought it queer for the committee to hold a whole in corner meeting.

Councillor Meldrum said that as far as he was concerned and the company he represented the statements made by Mr. McWilliams were untrue. He had learned that a slate was going to be brought in and that was his reason for voting for the standing committee to select the standing committee.

Councillor Cobb had never been button-holed in the matter.

Councillor McWilliams said that the members of the committee had put themselves back in their old positions and that was sufficient proof for him. Council of last thought Mr. McWilliams statements were cowardly. He had taken his old position for the simple reason that there was an unfinished contract which he knew all about.

Councillor Langford wanted to say something also. Mr. McWilliams had issued a circular during the late elections and it contained false assertions. It stated that last year there was less money spent in his department than in any year before. There was over $2000 to come in to be paid for on the account yet, and without this $14,000 had been expended. Comparing this with 1896 when he was chairman there was a good deal of difference and the facts spoke for themselves. Last year no sidewalks had been built and those that were repaired were poorly done. He thought the money last year could have been expended more efficiently. He would take the chairmanship of the committee if it was given to him, but was not anxious for it as there was a lot of work in the way with it.

Councillor McWilliams said the figures he gave in his address were got from the Town Treasurer. He believed them correct. There were some accounts to come in then but the treasurer had included them. He would be only too glad to put anything that was wrong, correct.

Councillor Denne was not to be button-holed in the matter at all, but he had been asked in the afternoon by a member of a well known company to support Mr. McWilliams for the chairmanship of Streets and Bridges.

Councillor Dawson was not seeking the position and he would be only too glad to be relieved of it. No person had tried to button-hole him nor had he asked anyone to support him for the position.

The report was adopted.

SEVERAL APPOINTMENTS.

A By-law was passed appointing Messrs. P. Hamilton and Henry Denne, High School Trustees and Messrs. Dr. Hamilton and Dr. McGrath as members of the Board of Health.

HAVE WE A DEFICIT?

It was moved by Councillor Best, seconded by Councillor W. H. White that the Finance Committee of 1897 at the first regular meeting of the Town Council shall report upon the amount of the outstanding liabilities created in 1897 by Streets and Bridges and other controllable expenditures and not paid out of 1897 current income.

Councillor Best said that there were certain accounts held over from last year which would have been paid out of current expenditure. They had a deficit instead of a surplus last year. The Council should hold themselves in mind of the Revenue.

Councillor Denne gave a good explanation of the position of the town in the matter referred to. Mr. Kelly's cheque had been allowed for in the financial statement of Dec. 15th. They had to date it ahead because the Street and Bridge estimate last year had been exceeded. They had a surplus all right.

ANOTHER MOTION.

Councillor Best moved seconded by Councillor W. H. White that the proceedings of all committee meetings shall be kept by the Town Clerk recorded in a minute book to be provided for that purpose by the town upon which reports of committees shall be based for presentation to Council.

BROKEN STONES.

Councillor Denne moved, seconded by Councillor McWilliams that the chairmen of the Street and Bridge Committee be instructed to employ labor to break the stones now in possession of the town and that the rate paid be the same as before.

THE MOTION CARRIED.

The Council then adjourned.

EYE DON'TS.

Don't read facing the light.
Don't think because you have good eyes that they will bear all kinds of abuse.

Don't use the eyes continuously at close work, without occasionally resting them by looking off in the distance.

Don't hold the book nearer than is necessary for clear, sharp vision.

Don't make a practice of reading type too small to be seen readily at eighteen inches.

Don't attempt to read in a car or other jolting vehicle. It is a strain on the directing muscles of the eye.

Don't keep the eyes straining down. It causes an unusual strain on some of the external or directing muscles.

Don't read in the twilight or in badly lighted rooms.—Pacific Health Journal.

WINNIPEG COMING.

They will Play Here a Week from To-day—Their Record.

The greatest hockey attraction Peterborough has ever had in years will be the visit of the Winnipeg hockey team, one of the fastest aggregations in the world. They will be here next Tuesday evening when they will meet the local team.

This team is in a tour of Eastern Canada and have visited Ottawa, Cornwall and Quebec, and will play in Montreal, Toronto and Peterborough before they return to the West.

The rink should be packed on the night of this match. The team is being brought here at a great deal of expense and the hockey club should be supported by the presence of an immense crowd.

Y.M.C.A. ATTRACTIONS.

The game of basket ball between the Peterborough and Belleville Association teams in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium on Thursday evening will be interesting. There will be an exhibition between the halves of the game.

The first concert of the season under Y.M.C.A. auspices will be held in Association hall on Tuesday evening, Jan. 25th. The artists will be Miss Teresa McCallum, elocutionist, and Miss Taylor, soprano.

On Sunday Rev. A. T. Dykeman gave a practical address at the men's meeting on the subject, "The Evidence of Conversion."

In the boys' department a pop corn social will be held on Friday evening. It will be for members only.

A new feature in connection with the Saturday evening meetings will be introduced this week, and will be continued at all future meetings. (The practical points of the Sunday school lesson for the following Sunday will be discussed by different leaders.

The Secretary's Sunday Bible class will also have a new feature next Sunday in the form of a "question box."

ST. JOHN'S SUNDAY SCHOOL BOYS' CONCERT.

St. John's Sunday School room was crowded last night by a very appreciative audience to hear the minstrel concert given by the boys of the school. Master Fred Sawyers filled his position as chairman well, and around him were ranged the dusky minstrels of the evening, dressed in characteristic negro costume and resplendent with large sunflowers. All the parts were well rendered, the solos being especially well received. Great credit is due the boys for the success of their concert, and not less to the Rev. E. V. Stevenson, their trainer, who conducted it to so successful a finish. Mr. Percy Owens as accompanist did his part in his usual tasteful manner. The following, interspersed with jokes, constituted the programme:

1. Opening Overture—Minstrels' Delight.
2. Round Song—Watermelons spoiling down in Johnnies.
3. Solo and Chorus—McCarthy—by Alf. Hodgson.
4. Selection—Banjo and Guitar Club.
5. Solo and Chorus—Swinging on the Grape Vine—Ed. Kennedy.
6. Chorus—Kentucky Bibb, Whistling Oblivion.
7. Solo—Who is dat a-calling—H. Sawyers.
8. Solo and Chorus—Kitty Wells—H. Morphet.
9. Round Song—A hot time in the old Town To-night.

FOR STAMMERERS.

We desire to call the attention of those interested to the advertisement in another column of the Stammerers and Stutterers' Home, and School, 392 College-st., Toronto, founded and conducted by Mr. Walter Bate. Mr. Bate was himself, for forty years, a victim of this distressing habit, and spent twenty-seven years in endeavoring to find a cure for the weakness, his efforts at last being successful. Mr. Bate's methods of cure are the latest and most scientific, his terms are moderate, and he is sustained by the most unimpeachable references. He has also made arrangements to conduct in connection an Educational Department for general study, especially for the use of children. All afflicted with stammering should correspond with Mr. Bate.

OBITUARY.

One of our old citizens, Mr. Frederick Paullette, died yesterday morning at his residence, 310 McDonnell street. He was sixty-nine years of age, and was a native of Quebec, but has resided in Peterborough for the last forty-five years. His children are Mr. John Paullette and Mrs. Armstrong, (Waterford street), town, Mrs. W. Miller, St. Thomas, and Mrs. J. Kelly, Welland. The funeral will take place on Wednesday morning at nine o'clock to St. Peter's Cathedral and the Roman Catholic cemetery.

Moments are useless if trifled away; and they are dangerously wasted if consumed by delay in cases where Ransom's Hives Syrup and Tolu would bring immediate relief. 25c.

THE MATCH TO-NIGHT.

Great interest is being centered in the Hockey match to-night between Peterborough and Peterborough. The visiting team have been practicing hard and are going to make a hard struggle for the game. Peterborough is just as determined to win and the match will therefore be hot. The game will start at 8 o'clock sharp. Mr. M. Hamilton will referee.

Running sores, indolent ulcers and similar troubles, even though of many years standing, may be cured by using Trask's Magnetic Ointment. It restores strength and heals. It is the great pile cure. 25c.

NOTES OF THE LEGISLATURE.

The Legislature will probably finish business next Friday, and prorogue on Saturday or the Monday following.

The legislators are evidently trying to gain a reputation for industry. It was resolved, on Mr. Hardy's motion to hold two sittings daily, the first to begin at eleven in the forenoon.

The Public Accounts Committee is still hammering away at the hogs. Chas. Moore, the butcher at the Central prison put the Government more at their ease at the last sitting by swearing that everyone of the ninety seven famous porkers was perfectly sound.

Both the Government and the Opposition are trying to convince the Methodists that they are their very best friends in connection with the Victoria University Federation. The Methodists are fortunate in having their interests so well considered.

A Reputation written on the Railway Committee of the House Saturday to oppose the bill incorporating the Toronto and York Radial Railway Co. Mr. E. A. Macdonald, famous for his picturesque language described the controllers of the Toronto Railway Co. in very fiery terms.

As Mr. Middleton's bill dealing with department stores has been laid over till next session on the advice of the Premier, it is likely that the big store proprietors and the Retail Merchants' Association will try to make every candidate face two ways at once in the meantime.

GREAT SLAUGHTERING SALE.

of Groceries, Provisions, etc. Having purchased the grocery stock of the T. W. Robinson Co. at great sacrifice, we will sell the entire lot at less than wholesale prices. The stock is perfectly new and fresh, and consists of finest grades Tea, Coffee, Spices, Canned Goods, etc. Sale to commence on Saturday morning, 8th instant, and will be continued from day to day until the entire stock is disposed of. This presents a rare opportunity for housekeepers and others to lay in provisions, as the stock must be cleared out at once regardless of what it will bring.

Buyers are advised to come early before the goods are picked over. Remember the place, T. W. Robinson & Co's stand, at the head of George-st., (Corner Smith and George), Telephone No. 388. E. F. Munro & Co.

GIVE FURS

You cannot help obeying this order if you but choose here! Other things may disappoint. Furs will not. An article of Fur is useful, handsome and always gives delight—moreover by beauty of design, richness of material and workmanship, every piece is invested with a charm of its own, far more subtle and intimate than that of any other form of art or utility, because no other is so closely connected with ones daily appearance and comfort.

- A woman's wardrobe is not complete without a Fur-lined Wrap. Rich roomy garments for the opera, party, and out-door wear. THE ENCYCLOPEDIA

The Encyclopaedia of Pope Leo the Thirteenth upon the Manitoba school question was read at Quebec last Sunday. The document had been expected some time, and awaited, especially by politicians with much anxiety, for although many may try to ignore the fact, yet there can be no doubt that the church has great influence and much power in Canada, and if it made a determined effort to bring the matter back into Federal politics, as many feared would be done, much bitterness would be aroused.

No such course however is enjoined or even suggested; on the other hand the whole tone of the document is pacific and friendly to all classes of Canadians. The pope with his usual clear insight has seen the impossibility of attempting to force upon the people of Canada, a measure proved to be objectionable to the majority. But though no attempt is to be made to force the matter into politics just now, the status quo is declared unacceptable. The Laurier settlement is denounced as "defective, unsatisfactory, and insufficient." The opposition of the church to Godless schools is reiterated, and the demand made for Catholic teachers and text-books. All Roman Catholics are urged to be zealous in endeavoring to secure the lost privileges, and an appeal is made to the generosity and liberality of Protestants. The methods of proceeding is left to the judgment of the Roman Catholic people to be used as circumstances will best allow. Thus it will be seen that the agitation for the repeal of, or at least, further changes in the Manitoba Act of 1890 is to be continued, though no direct appeal is to be made to any political party, or to the Government.

INDEPENDENCE IN PARLIAMENT.

We clip the following from the Toronto Telegram of Monday Evening: "Ontario journalism is represented in the present Legislature by two publishers of more than ordinary ability. The talents of J. R. Stratton, of Peterboro, and Andrew Patullo, of Oxford, are sufficient to equip them for careers as useful as the career of W. D. Balfour.

The man who closely studies the progress of affairs in the Ontario Legislature learns more and more as time goes by how much the people of Ontario lost in the death of Mr. Balfour. In his lifetime, and especially in the committees before he became Speaker, Mr. Balfour was a rallying point for opposition to the greedy schemes of corporations. His work as a fearless and faithful defender of the public interest created a demand for his promotion outside the Legislature and outside the party. The great need of the Liberal party in the Ontario Legislature today is more men like William Douglas Balfour, and it is a pity that men of ability like Mr. Stratton and Mr. Patullo do not proceed to supply that need.

The strong individuality of robust ability is lacking in the make-up of the Liberal party in the Ontario Legislature. All the ambitious members strive to get ahead by cringing to their leaders. Instead of trying always to please his leaders W. D. Balfour strove to please the country, and his tactics were much more advantageous to himself and much more profitable to Ontario than the game which Liberals of ability in the Ontario Legislature now try to play."

If Canada and the United States ever come to an agreement over the seal question, they will do more than a good many husbands and wives have done.

GRIFFITH'S FAUST

A fair audience assembled last night to witness the production of Goethe's tragedy, Faust, by the American tragedian John Griffith, and his troupe. The play was well presented, the cast being well balanced, and the scenery and electric effects of a high order. Mr. Griffith sustained his high reputation, his fine voice and presence, his artistic skill, and his strong and fiery energy carry him with honor through his difficult part as Mephisto. Miss Kathryn Purnell took the role of Marguerite with good taste and expression. Miss Annie Inman made a good Martha. The presentation compared very favorably with former exhibitions of the famous tragedy, which, no matter how often it is seen, is always enjoyed.

BILIOUSNESS

bores many a body and burdens many a mind. You can't enjoy the food you like because you are bilious. You take all sorts of precautions, and yet the bilious attack leaps on you like a tiger from ambush. You know the feeling! The blood seeming on fire with a dull heat; the boring pains in the eyes; the head seeming to open and shut; the horrible nausea. You know the irritability which precedes and the languor that follows the attack. It's miserable, isn't it? Why not cure the trouble? There's a pill that will cure biliousness. Dr. J. C. AYER'S PILLS are an acknowledged specific for this derangement.

A. Swanger, Texarkana, Tex., writes: "For fifteen years I have used Ayer's Pills, and find them very effective in bilious complaints. I have yet to see the case where they have failed to cure."

RAILWAY IN THE SOUDAN

Great Work Done By Lieutenant Girouard

Account by a Special Correspondent—Success of the Work in the Desert

(Special to the Times.)

The railway from Egypt into the Sudan is a prominent factor in the British advance; Lieutenant Girouard, D. S. O., a son of our Justice Girouard, of the Supreme Court of Canada, is doing some good work in connection with its construction as appeared from an article in the London Graphic, of December 25, from the pen of its special correspondent, H. H. Gwynne, who writes as follows: "When a history of the British Empire comes to be written, the work performed by us in the Sudan ought not to be passed over. And although many a gallant deed has been done out there and many a battle won when it seemed almost lost, yet the quiet struggle of Lieutenant Girouard, D. S. O., and his following of sapper officers against the odds of heat and drought and sandstorm merits a full measure of praise. Never before has such an undertaking been commenced with less noise and bustle. Early in the year a few paragraphs appeared in the newspapers announcing the beginning and the progress of a railway from Wady Halfa to Abu Hamed. Nobody took any notice of the news, few, if any, comments appeared in the Press, and I am convinced that the majority of the British public thought there was no more difficult in the enterprise than in running a tram line out to a London suburb. Laying a few sleepers along a level sandy plain and nailing rails onto them was the ordinary man's conception of the Halfa Abu Hamed Railway.

He did not take into consideration the facts that there was every reason for supposing that no water could be found for nearly two hundred and fifty miles; that the only platelayers and skilful artificers available were Dervish prisoners and Lower Egyptian peasants; and that Abu Hamed, the terminus of the railway, was in the hands of the Dervishes. Yet I imagine that if the proposition of making such a railway had been made to some of our railway kings, they would have declined to have anything to do with such an uncanny thing. One can imagine the Sirdar's conversation with Girouard when the thing was decided. It must have been somewhat of this kind. Sirdar: "Oh, Girouard, I want you to build a railway from Halfa to Abu Hamed across the desert." Girouard: "But there's no water, sir." Sirdar: "Well, you must carry it out." Girouard: "But the Dervishes are holding Abu Hamed." Sirdar: "I'll clear them out of that for you." Girouard: "All right, sir, when shall I begin?"

But this is pure romancing, though I imagine from what I know of both Sir Herbert Kitchener and Lieutenant Girouard the desert railway must have begun somewhat as I have described its "hatching."

THE DIFFICULTIES OF CONSTRUCTION.

And surely there is no railway in the world which is more provocative of romance—though not romancing—than the railway I am describing. The desert is altogether too large and immense ever to become anything but romantic in spite of all the railways in the world, and this particular desert tells—every yard of its skeleton-strewn expanse—tales of death and deadly struggle. The Arabs have always had a wholesome respect for this Nubian desert; it is so utterly desolate and waterless. A few scrubby yellow clumps of grass are met with every now and again, and besides there is nothing but sand and rock.

The material at the disposal of Lieutenant Girouard for the construction of the railway was scanty. He had two railway battalions—partly made up of Dervish prisoners and partly of the Lower Egyptian fellahs, whom he had used last year for the construction of the Kermah line. Of skilled artificers there were about half a dozen; the rest of his men had to be taught everything.

The splendid organization of the railway workers was one of the things that struck the most men when I visited the Halfa Camp this summer. Lieutenant Pritchard, whom I knew in Ashanti, and Lieut. Macaulay, had a camp generally about a mile ahead of the line. Their duty it was to survey the ground. They took curves and pegged out the places where a cutting or an embankment should be made. They had with them a small escort in case of accidents. Their life must have been lonely in the extreme. Often they were ten miles away from Halfa Camp, alone there in the desert. If the line was easy and the men could lay the line rapidly, they had a most terrible hard time of it, for it was their business to be well ahead of the workers, and often they were at work from sunrise till sunset, without a break, standing in the heat of that Sudan sun. Behind them followed steadily the big Halfa Camp—a gathering of all types and tribes, prisoners and free men all working together with a will. The officer commanding Halfa was Captain Ford Hutchinson, whose half a battalion of Egyptian soldiers kept watch and ward over the busy workers. Surely no stranger sight could be seen than this long line of busy human ants working away in the heart of the desert, while out in the distance, and often merging into the mirage, stood the grim outposts looking for the coming of a possible raiding party.

When I was in the camp Lieutenant Midwinter, R. E., was supervising the actual laying of the line. The modern operandi was a revelation of what order and discipline can do. Here was a wild-looking horde of natives, who ordinarily are incapable of knowing what order means, working gaily away, each in his appointed place, without confusion. There is no questioning as to what each man has to do. He seems to know his place and his work thoroughly. So splendid is the organization, that while I was there, two miles of railway were laid in an amay hours.

But all this is, in a way, a distant history, and the famous line is now in working order from Halfa to Abu Hamed. Everybody knows the story of the finding of the water in the desert which will rob the grim, sandy expanse of half its terrors. In this connection it is only fair to state that Captain Girouard, R. E., was perhaps the first man to suggest the digging of wells in the desert.

It must be remembered that as the line moves forward it becomes necessary to move forward the camp every five or six days, according to the progress of the line. Everything is packed into the train, and in a short hour what was a busy camp becomes nothing more than a howling desert.

GIVE AWAY HER CHILDREN.

MRS. STERNAMAN MAKES A DISPOSITION OF HER TWO BOYS

Cayuga, Jan. 10.—As the time for the carrying out of the death sentence on Mrs. Sternaman approaches, preparations have been actively going on to make everything ready for the appointment. Mrs. Sternaman, realizing the terrible position in which she now stands, made a disposition of her two boys, aged eight and ten years respectively, to Mrs. Chipman, mother of her first husband, E. Chipman, through T. A. Sander, barrister, of Cayuga, in the presence of her spiritual adviser, the Rev. J. D. Edgar, and the Rev. J. G. Foile, both of Cayuga.

LAUGHTER ADDS TO BEAUTY.

Laughing is said to produce small wrinkles about the mouth, but no one need have any anxiety about wrinkles thus formed, for they are rather pleasing than not, and often add to the attractiveness of a face, for they show a light and merry heart. "With mirth and laughter let old wrinkles come," as Shakespeare says. Cheerfulness and bright, happy looks always add to beauty, so laughing should certainly add to beauty, even at the expense of a wrinkle or two. It is the lines that come from a peevish, discontented frame of mind that disfigure the face, and have to be fought against.

Sensible Notes for Farmers for Fall and Winter Work.

Lack of ventilation often causes dampness in the hive.

If bees are to be moved it should be done before cold weather.

Try a broken butcher knife with a blade two inches long for prying up supers.

It is seldom profitable to go into winter quarters with weak colonies.

Honey costs practically nothing and is a valuable produce, considering the price.

If colonies are in proper condition in every respect robbing seldom occurs.

Bees that lack stores should be fed in autumn. September is a good time to do it.

Empty frames of combs should be well taken care of during the winter, when not in use.

Only pure, clean, unbleached wax should be used in making foundations.

Grade all honey carefully and then set prices to correspond with the grade.

Ship to distant markets only when the home market is fully supplied.

(Granulation in honey is a proof of its purity and superiority.)

Comb honey during the fall and winter should be kept in a warm room.

Bees rob only at such times as the general scarcity of nectar forbids honest gains.

Strong colonies are rarely molested and are almost sure to defend themselves against intruders.

Usually closing the entrance so that only one bee can pass at a time is a good protection for a weak hive against robbers.

Italian bees and strong colonies are rarely if ever injured by moths.

At this time give plenty of room for queen and workers, as fall storing begins.

Remove all surplus boxes and frames, as soon as storing ceases, which is usually about the middle of this month.

The lack of fecundity in the queen may be due to disease, improper development or to a special race or strains.

Worker bees reared in autumn may live eight or nine months, and sometimes longer, but in spring and summer they die in from 30 to 90 days.

The young bees in the hive build the comb, ventilate the hive, feed the larvae, queen and drones and cap the cells. After they get older they do outside work.

Bees, by a rapid vibration of their wings, heat the power to ventilate their hives. In this way they are able to reduce the temperature in summer and to keep the cold in winter.

GOD'S WITNESSES TO DIVINE HEALING

MRS. S. A. KELLEY, 314 EDDY STREET, SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

(Published by Request.)

"Raise the Dead!"
What a wonderful command! These three words are a part of the Commission to the first Twelve Apostles whom Jesus sent forth, and commanded, saying,
"As ye go, Preach, saying, 'The Kingdom of Heaven is at hand.'"
"Heal the sick!"
"Cleanse the Lepers!"
"Raise the Dead!"
"Cast out Devils!"
"Freely ye have received."
"Freely give!"

This witness believes that she was raised from the dead! We also believe it. We were there at the time when it happened.

We were used of God in the doing of it. It is a wonderful Story of Zion; but it is true. It matters not who sneers, or who denies.

The facts remain, and all the powers of earth and hell combined cannot shake them.

She was healed when she was raised. She had been a sufferer for twenty-five years from Hereditary Pulmonary Tuberculosis.

She died before our eyes of hemorrhage and disease.

Carry her Story again to every land and nation on earth.

Tell them Christ lives.

Tell them His Church lives.

Tell them the Apostolic Office is perpetual.

Tell them that the Apostles are being called forth, are being commanded, and are being commissioned in His Church.

Tell them that the Kingdom of Heaven has come.

Tell them that the Sick are being healed.

Tell them that Lepers are being cleansed.

Tell them that the Dead have been raised.

Tell them that Devils are being cast out.

Tell them that this is being done without money and without price.

Extract from report of meeting held in Zion Tabernacle, on Lord's Day, Sept. 19, 1897.

Mr. Dowie said in part: You remember that she had suffered from consumption for twenty-five years; that she was lying, having suffered from hemorrhages for three or four days; that there was not an appearance of any blood in her face. Her face and lips were absolutely bloodless, and all that you could see was her very bright eyes looking at me, and all that she could say was just a whisper.

Now all had gone, and I had locked the door, and Mrs. Dowie advances with me to that bed, and as we stand by the bed we both say, "Dead!"

She had thrown herself back in her last expiring groan; it was that which made me turn quickly, and as I reached the bed I looked at her. Now, I have seen a great many people faint, and I have seen many in trances, and I did not get nervous, and death has no more terror for me than anything else; but I know death when I see it. I have walked the hospital in Scotland and seen death; I have buried fifteen people a day in a pestilence, and I know death, and I saw death. The eyes were looking up expressionless, glassy, without any spirit behind, and I put my hand to find the pulse, and there was no pulse, and I put my hand upon the heart, and there was no beat, and I put my ear down to the mouth, and there was no sound, and there was no feeling of breath, and I said, "Dead!" But with it there came this thought. It was my first few months in San Francisco; many had been healed, and a vast congregation was waiting for us, but I felt I could not leave the room; that she had called for me to come, and I had come, just as Jairus had asked if the Lord would come because his daughter was at the point of death.

Her brother did not know she was dead: "My sister is at the point of death," he had said, and now she was dead!

With my good wife here we knelt down by that bedside, and I did then what I did for the first time, and what I have never done since. I do not know that I shall want to do it often.

I knelt by her side, and I said, "Oh God, she called for me while she was yet living; she had faith that she would live; she expected life. I cannot tell her brother, her daughter and son that she is dead, and I beseech of you to give her life."

I believed that God would bring her back. I do not know how long I prayed, and I do not know all that I said, but I know what I thought.

Mrs. Dowie, of course, was in perfect sympathy with me. And then I waited. Now, do you know one reason why you do not get answers to prayer is that after you have prayed you keep on overlastingly talking and you do not wait!

I waited, and said: "Now, Lord, I expect to see the breath come back, the spirit return, that body awake for life," and just as I had said it, I was standing there, and suddenly I felt the first tremor of her pulse upon my finger, and I saw that the spirit had come back, and then in a moment the rush of blood to the pale lips, and then in the next moment the eyelids fell, and she was asleep.

I do not know how many minutes I waited, but the pulse was restored, the heart was beating, there was a slight moisture in the palm, and the result was that I realized that she was fully alive, and, as I say, the moments and minutes passed. At last I did something like that, (snapping his finger) and she awoke.

FROM THE PRAIRIE CITY

SABBATH OBSERVANCE AND SEVENTH DAY ADVENTISTS—POPE'S ENCYCLICAL.

(Special to the Times.)

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 11.—Sir Charles Tupper was banqueted at Morden last night. He leaves for the east tomorrow.

The Seventh Day Adventists broke up a meeting last night called for the purpose of considering methods to be adopted for securing legislation for the better observance of the Sabbath and protection from the innovation of secular work.

No interest has been manifested here in the Pope's encyclical up to date, and Catholics have not the slightest hope that the Manitoba Legislature will tinker any further with the school act. If anything is done it must be at Ottawa.

Judging from declarations made by western M. P's, the outlook for any C. P. R. bonuses for new roads at the next session is very slim if western support goes for anything. Ninety-nine of the western people are heartily in line with the Telegram's policy on the Crow's Nest Railway.

NOT USED FOR SCHOOLS

MONEY VOTED FOR THE PURPOSE WAS USED FOR ROADWAYS.

(Special to the Times.)

Barrie, Jan. 11.—The Public School Board of 1897 fired its last shot last night by deciding to sue the Town Council for $1,350, which legacy the new board will probably not accept very gratefully. In 1896 a bill was levied $1,500 for school purposes, but previous to all spent $150 only, the other $1,350 having been used subsequently in the street. The principal objection the board takes is that part of this $1,350, perhaps $300 of it, which was levied for public school purposes, has, in being used for town purposes, gone to the benefit of Separate School ratepayers.

ODD THINGS ABOUT RAINBOWS.

Here are some interesting facts about a rainbow and how it is formed.

1. It is never seen except when the sun is shining in one part of the sky, and rain is falling in the other, or opposite, part.

2. It is generally seen in the east, because our showers come from the west and pass off toward the east.

3. It cannot be formed in the east except in the afternoon.

4. It cannot be formed in the west except in the morning.

5. It is never seen at midday, because the sun is then above us, and we cannot, therefore, stand between it and the rain.

Some of you may wonder why a rainbow is always semi-circular in shape. As a matter of fact, it is always a complete circle, but we cannot see but one-half of the circle because the earth cuts off our view. If we were poised in the air, high above the earth, we could see it all. The circular shape is due to the fact that the raindrops are round and that each drop reflects but one color to our eyes. It may strike you as a strange thing, but it is true, that no two persons see the same bow. That is because no two persons can possibly occupy the same position, and thus the reflections fall differently upon their eyes.

Government Help

WILL BE GIVEN THE JAMES BAY RAILWAY

A Bonus of $270,000—Other Companies to Receive Aid—

Electric Light Companies Get Left in the Municipal

Committee—Mr. Stratton Speaks on the Question—

Other Sessional Notes.

Toronto, Jan. 12.—The Ontario Government has decided to give the James Bay Railway a grant of $270,000. The grant is really only a new vote of $120,000 and a transferred vote of $150,000.

The note reads as follows:
To the James Bay Railway, to aid in the construction of ninety miles of the said railway from Parry Sound to a point at or near Sud-bury, $3,000 a mile for a distance
not exceeding 40 miles, and the unearned subsidy of $3,000 a mile for a distance not exceeding 50 miles,
which was granted to the Nipissing
and James Bay Railway in 1889, which said unearned subsidy is hereby transferred to the James Bay Railway.

The Ontario Government has decided to give grants to other roads in the following manner:
Ontario and Rainy River road, from a point at the westerly end of the 165 miles heretofore aided, to a point at or near Fort Frances, $120,000.
Pembroke Southern Railway, between Pembroke and Golden Lake, a distance of 3 1/2 miles, $10,000.
Frontenac, Renfrew and Ottawa, from a point 45 miles from Frontenac, and thence west 10 miles, $30,000.
Bay of Quinte Railway formerly Kingston, Napanee and Western Railway, a re-vote of $90,000, which was granted in 1893.

Encouraging report by the Forestry Official to the Legislature.

A partial report of the Clerk of Forestry was presented to the House yesterday afternoon. The report is only partially finished. It discusses principle the advance in interest, and also the advance in information which has been made in the last few years. Some years ago a report was made concerning forestry, and the report then was that to do the work satisfactorily $33 an acre was necessary. This is quite in contrast to the forestry project of this year.

The report of 1893 recommended the regular planting of trees, for it at that time it was believed that pine did not reproduce.

"The mistaken but persistent notion that our supply of the best varieties of timber was inexhaustible," says the report, "has at last been effectively exploded, and the people have come to realize that it is only by judiciously regulating their remaining woodlands and giving the natural principle of reproduction an opportunity to assert itself that we can hope to avert scarcity in the future."

"Though but few plantations of any size have been put in, innumerable instances of wind-breaks and lines
of forest trees, along roads and fences are seen, barns are protected and adorned with spreading shade trees,
and the wood lots, in place of being recklessly depleted, are now in many cases managed with an eye to economy and possibilities of reproduction. The extent to which tree culture has been carried on in some localities, though still far short of what might have been done in that direction, has already changed the appearance of the landscape for the better."

Much of the report is devoted to the growth of copice. This can be produced on lands where other timber cannot be produced. This copice is easily grown, and is very valuable for the manufacture of wheel spokes, baskets
and implement handles.

MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE

An Important Matter Settled Yesterday—
Mr. Stratton Speaks

Two old familiar faces were seen in Municipal Committee this morning.
Ex-Speaker Thomas Ballantyne and Uncle Richard Tooley were among the lookers on. A very important principle looking to municipal ownership of necessary enterprises was discussed. Mr.
Auld's bill to compel all municipalities
intending to establish a lighting plant to buy out or compensate existing electric light companies had several strong advocates. By an act passed last session such a law is in force with regard to municipalities of less than 5,000 inhabitants. Donald Guthrie, Q.C., of Guelph, and Z. A. Lamb,
Q.C., representing the electric light
companies of the Province in general,
appeared before the committee to advocate the bill on the ground that municipalities of whatever size had no right to encourage investors to start enterprises and then turn around and destroy their property.

Mr. Stratton thought that electric light companies were entitled to the same privileges as gas companies. He advocated the bill as one providing the machinery to enable municipalities
to acquire lighting plants with ease.

Mr. Whitney favored the bill, but expressed himself as seeing no advantage to municipalities in the purchase of such enterprises.

Frank McKelcan, Q.C., of Hamilton, opposed the bill strongly, taking the ground that at present electric light companies were compelled to give the public just terms for the fear that municipalities would step in and compete with them. If this act became law the companies would be in a position to raise their rates and adopt every possible measure to inflate their stock. There would be every temptation to do so in order to obtain a high valuation for their property when the municipality proposed to purchase their franchise.

City Solicitor Caswell spoke against the measure, saying that at the present time the newly elected council had not had time to look into the subject. He admitted the principle of compensation for municipalities under 5,000, but in a city like Toronto with perhaps half a dozen electric lighting companies, it would be an outrage to compel it to purchase all these enterprises. He asked that the bill stand for a year.

Henry O'Brien, Q.C., representing
the Toronto Electric Light Company, advocated the bill and said if the principle of compensation were admitted for small municipalities it should be admitted everywhere.

Other gentlemen spoke and the President expressed himself as favorable to allowing the matter to stand until next year in order to obtain the views of the press and the people on the subject. The suggestion was adopted although Mr. Guthrie made the astonishing request that the act be passed for one year in order that no municipality could act in the meantime.

Mr. Garraw's bill, which applies the same principle to water works companies, was also laid over. As was
Mr. Platt's bill, respecting toll roads companies. As Mr. Platt will not be here next session the committee expressed some nice obituary views on the bill, alluding to the many services of Mr. Platt in the matter of toll roads.

The committee wound up for the year
by adding to Crown Attorney Curry's
"draft," passing a measure compelling
the city to maintain an office for him
as the county does for Mr. Dewar.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY

Held Their Annual Meeting and Elect Officers

A Splendid Report From the Directors. An Excellent Financial Statement. A New feature adopted by the Society—Vote of Thanks to Officers—Other Business

The annual meeting of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society was held last night in the Council Chamber where there were present
the following members: Dr. Geo. Burnham, Messrs. W. H. Hill, W. H. Ford,
H. Nesbitt, H. C. Rogers, J. H. Cobb,
H. McNeill, J. S. Knappman, J. Heid,
T. A. S. Hay, J. Stevenson, J. H.
Roper, A. Saunders and McFarlane
Wilson.

The President, Dr. George Burnham, occupied the chair.

Secretary Browncombe read the minutes of the last meeting which were confirmed.

DIRECTOR'S REPORT

The president presented the report of the directors as follows:
Peterborough, Jan. 11th, 1898.

To the members of the Peterborough
and Ashburnham Horticultural Society.

Gentlemen,—We your directors beg to report as follows:
The annual exhibition of the society
for 1897 was held on the 20th of August and compared favorably with former years in so far as the number of exhibits were concerned, but the attendance
was not as large as in previous years, while the receipts were short of what they ought to have been for an exhibition such as was held there. After giving the matter careful consideration
your directors believe that the present plan of admitting a whole family on one ticket is giving the members more than the society can afford to do. We therefore suggest that in future all tickets be limited so as to admit only a specified number.

The committee appointed to wait upon the Council of the town and Ashburn-ham were well received, and obtained from the former an additional $100,
which sum was expended in necessary
permanent improvements such as residing the walks, repairing the fountain, connecting the same with the sewer, etc.

Your directors have also had several trees, in places where they were too close together, removed so as to enable those remaining to have more room for proper growth.

Early in the year we advertised for tenders for taking care of the park
for the past season and awarded the contract to Mr. Jos. H. Cobb, who was the caretaker for the preceding year and we are sure you will all agree with us that he has done his work well and that the park has been a credit, not only to the society but also to the town.

As suggested at the last annual meeting a chrysanthemum show was held on the 4th and 5th of November for which 30 entries were received and for which we awarded prizes amounting to over $20. The display of flowers, etc., was quite satisfactory to the directors considering it to be the first show of this kind we have held, and while the attendance was small on account of other attractions, yet those persons who did visit the show were amply repaid for so doing, and should you decide to hold another, we believe the display and also the attendance will be much larger.

Submitted on behalf of the directors
Geo. Burnham, F. Browncombe,
President. Secretary.

The report was adopted.

THE CHRYSANTHEMUM SHOW

It was decided on a motion of Mr.
D. W. Dumble that the society would not hold another chrysanthemum show
this year. It was explained that there were only a few gentlemen who took enough interest in the growing of this flower, and the competition was not keen enough in a town the size of Peterborough to warrant the expenditure of any money for a special show.

TWO FAMOUS ACTORS' DOG.

Fussie, Sir Henry Irving's famous fox terrier, has had a tragic end. He was very old, asthmatic, and nearly blind, but where his master was there he loved also to be, and the mutual affection was touching to witness. The poor beast fell down a hole under the stage at the Manchester Theatre Royal and broke his neck, to the deep grief of his lifelong friend. Fussie was originally the property of Miss Ellen Terry, and in his wild youth gave a vast amount of trouble. Some thirteen years ago, during an American tour of the Lyceum company, he was constantly in scrapes. On one occasion the special train had steamed a mile or so away from the station on a straight track, when Fussie was misled. Presently he was described as white speck in the rear, scudding after the train with evident confidence in his ability to overtake it. His manners to the world in general were haughty in his declining years. He would appear on the stage amidst a couple of hundred guests after a first night's performance, gaze around with an expression of aristocratic boredom, and then stalk slowly and solemnly off. Social frivolities had no attraction for him; but to lie at his master's feet in the snug privacy of Grafton street, with no one to disturb the silent interchange of ideas, was to the faithful old dog the ideal of deep contentment.—London Sketch.

OLD AGE.

It is an acknowledged fact that a great age is attained by women often rather than by men. One of the most famous female centenarians was the Countess of Desmond, who lived to be 145 years old, and died in the reign of James I. from the effects of an accident. This wonderful woman found herself, at the age of 100, so lively and strong as to be able to take part in a dance; and when she was 140 she travelled from Bristol to London—no trifling journey in those days—in order to attend personally to some business affairs.

Lady Desmond is, however, quite thrown in the shade by a French woman, Marie Peron, who died in St. Omer, it is said, at the wonderful age of 150. Toward the end of life she lived exclusively on goat's milk and cheese. Although her body was so shrunk that she weighed only 46 pounds, she retained all her mental faculties to the last.

It is an extraordinary but uncontested fact that some women at the age when most people die undergo a sort of natural process of rejuvenation—hair and teeth grow again, and wrinkles disappear from the skin, and sight and hearing reacquire their former sharpness.

Marquise de Mirabeau is an example of this rare and remarkable phenomenon. She died at the age of 86, but a few years before her death she became in appearance quite young again. The same change happened to a nun of the name of Marguerite Verdun, who, at the age of 82, lost her wrinkles regained her sight, and grew several new teeth. When she died, ten years later, her appearance was almost that of a young girl.—New York Ledger.

THE MONTH TO MARRY.

People who are going to be reckless may find interest in this litany:—

A January bride will be a prudent housekeeper and very good-tempered. A February bride will be neither too intelligent nor too good-looking.

A March bride will be largely—a fool.

An April bride will be inconsistent, pretty, and agreeable to others.

A May bride will shed many tears.

A June bride will be generous and jealous.

A July bride will be a trifle quick in the temper.

An August bride will be a bird.

A September bride will be a peace.

An October bride will be an old maid, warranted Irish.

A November bride will think herself a very pretty person, and try to prove it.

A December bride will be—a failure.

HELP THAT COMES TOO LATE.

It is a wearisome world, this world of ours, With its tangles small and great, Its weeds that smother the springing flowers, And its hapless strifes with fate; And the darkest day of its desolate days Sees the help that comes too late.

Alas! woe for the word that is never said Till the ear is too deaf to hear, And woe for the lack to the fainting head Of the ringing shout of cheer; Alas! woe for the lagging feet that tread In the mournful wake of the bier.

What booteth help when the heart is dumb? What booteth a broken spar Of love thrown out when the lips are dumb? And life's barque drifteth afar, On far and fast from the alien past, Over the moaning bar?

A pitiful thing the gift to-day That is dross and nothing worth, Though if it had come but yesterday, It had brimmed with sweet the earth— A fading rose in a death-cold hand, That perished in want and dearth.

Who vain would help in this world of ours Where sorrowful steps must fall, Bring help in time to the waning powers, Ere the bier is spread with the pall, Nor seek reserves when the flags are furled, And the dead beyond recall.

For battling most in this weary world, With its tangles small and great, Its lone and lonely nights and its weary days, And its tangles form with fate, Is that bitterest grief, too deep for tears, Of the help that comes too late.

A REMARKABLE CONTEST.

A Sick Woman's Struggle to Outlive an Invalid for Her Children's Sake.

A remarkable case developed at Morristown, Ind., says The St. Louis Republic. Morgan Chandler, a banker and a resident of Greenfield, several weeks ago executed his will, dividing his large estate among his nearest relatives. Among them was Eliza Burton, to whom he had bequeathed $10,000, which she was to receive providing she was not living with her husband, Charles, at the time of the testator's death, she having married Burton against his wishes. It was also stated in the will that, should the testator survive the niece, the bequest was to go to the legatees named in the will, not to Eliza Burton.

Soon after the will was drawn Burton died, leaving Mrs. Burton to support the children, which she did, by taking in washing, sewing, etc. Several weeks ago the niece was taken ill, and at about the same time the wealthy uncle was also stricken. Both grew constantly worse. The neighbors and friends of the widow took great interest, wishing her to survive the uncle, having learned the provisions of the will.

Greenfield and Morristown have telephone connections, and the friends of the widow were kept constantly informed as to the condition of the uncle. Both patients grew weaker. At times the mother would seem to be breathing her last, but at such times would be administered and she would revive, or long enough to enquire as to the condition of her relative, when she would return to a comatose state.

This was continued thirty-six hours, and all hopes of prolonging her life were virtually abandoned. Finally a message came that Morgan Chandler was dead. Mrs. Burton had endured the tortures of a long illness, and a fortune for her children. They were summoned to her bedside, and with a blessing upon them she closed her eyes and passed away. Cashier McDonald of the Union Bank has been appointed their guardian.

The New Millionaire.

I ran across a new millionaire the other day whose name I have not yet seen in the papers. I found him and his family in a little room from whose window one could see the lake. The living that my friend Midas needs many servants and a palace to make his life go grandly on here in one room and an alcove. Three servants, love, willingness and good nature, to all the work gratis. On the looking-glass was printed this little poem of Lucy Larcom's:

"ALL THINGS ARE MINE."
"I do not own an inch of land,
But all I see is mine—
The orchard and the mowing-fields,
The lawn and garden fine;
The winds my tax-collectors are,
Fishing and the bird-bring
Wild scents and subtle essences,
A tribute rare and free;
And more magnificent than all,
My widow keeps for me
A glimpse of blue immensity,
A little strip of sea."

The Speedy Razorback

A wild boar hunt was the exciting sport a number of the young men of South Jacksonville had looked forward to last week with a great deal of pleasure. The wild boar was a razorback hog. He was installed in a pen and fed with red pepper, gunpowder and dynamite, and became as fierce as his reputed cousin the Black Forest boar. On the day of the hunt a cavalcade assembled at the meeting place armed with javelins and spears made of bamboo with hunting knives tied to the end.

The wild boar was liberated and trotted away into the woods. He squealed a half-contented, inquisitive, where's-the-rest-of-my-family sort of a squeal as he went, but the snort soon distanced the pursuers, and they were robbed of the pleasure of "jabbing" him full of holes.—Florida Times Union.

Most Valuable Spots on Earth.

Probably the most valuable spots on the face of the earth, the burial sites in Westminster Abbey cannot be bought with gold; are the four corners where Wall-street touches Broadway, and the two where it meets Broadway. I cannot guess how large a price any one of the might bring in the market now; but $1,000,000 and $500,000 more were recently paid for five lots on Broadway opposite to Bowling Green. This was the value of the land alone, the old buildings that it bore were at once to be torn down; yet, says Philip Hone, a lot in just this place sold in 1839 for only $15,000. As late as 1840 lots on Cortlandt-street could be had for $100, or even $750. But a year or two ago the corner of Liberty-street and Nassau, measuring seventy-nine feet along the one, 113 along the other, and about 100 feet in depth, brought $1,250,000, and this, again, for the sake of the land alone.—Century.

He Knows His.

"That's a very stupid brute of yours, John," said a Scotch minister to one of his parishioners, a poor dealer, who drove his merchandise from door to door in a small cart drawn by a donkey. "I never see you but the creature is braying."
"EH, aye," said the poor dealer, "ye ken the heart's warm when friends meet."—Square Moments.

WEDDING BELLS

Wedding of Mr. Jas. Hill and Miss Lettie Rehill

A very pretty wedding took place at three o'clock yesterday afternoon at number 149 George street, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. Rehill, when their only daughter, Lettie, was united in the bonds of matrimony to Mr. James Hill, formerly of Mitchell, Ont., but who has for some time past been living in town. The knot was tied by the Rev. S. J. Shorey. The bride looked charming in a wedding dress of cream tulle trimmed with chiffon and pearls, and carried a beautiful bouquet of cream roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Emily Noble, wore a dress of pale blue alpaca trimmed with pink chiffon and silk, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was supported by Mr. Fred Cocks, of Toronto. A number of friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony, and afterwards all sat down to an elegant wedding supper. The presents were numerous and beautiful, those of the groom being a splendid set of sable furs to the bride and a gold bracelet to the bridesmaid. The young couple left on the 5.30 G.T.R. express for a trip to Toronto, Hamilton and Chicago, followed by the best wishes of their many friends. The groom is well known in town being a member of Otonabee Lodge, No. 13, I.O.F. and also of the Masonic fraternity.

60 PER CENT. INTEREST

LADY TATTON SYKES SUE BY HER MONEYLENDER ON ALLEGED FORGED NOTES MADE BY HER HUSBAND.

Special to the Times.

London, Jan. 12.—The case of Jay v. Sykes was opened before Lord Chief Justice Russell to-day. Mr. Lawson Walton, Q.C., for the plaintiff, Daniel Jay, a money-lender, said the action was to recover £15,870 lent to Lady Sykes in 1890, on the security of notes purporting to be signed by her husband, Sir Tatton Sykes, a well-known Yorkshire baronet, owing about 34,000 acres of land. The actual amount of cash lent, counsel continued, was about £10,000, the balance being interest. Lady Sykes admitted the liability, but Mr. Walton denied the signatures were his, and alleged they were forged by Lady Sykes. The latter would testify that her husband signed the notes. Counsel then proceeded to describe the relations between husband and wife, the former encouraging his wife's extravagance, yet loth to pay the bills. The wife, consequently became involved in debt and borrowed money at 60 per cent. interest. At the same time, with her husband's knowledge, she speculated heavily on the Stock Exchange. When the "Kaffir Circus" was "smashed" her husband had to pay £31,000 to her brokers.

TOD SLOANE'S PROVERBIAL LUCK STICKS TO HIM—RETURNING TO AMERICA.

Special to the Times.

London, Jan. 12.—A large fur overcoat, enclosing the slight form of Tod Sloane, the eminent jockey, arrived in London Saturday night from Monte Carlo. Sloane will sail for New York on Jan. 15th. Sloane's luck stuck to him at Monte Carlo. He did not attempt to play high, but he came away winner to the amount of 82,000 francs. He also won $2,800 at poker in London before leaving for France. Sloane told a reporter that he would certainly carry out his contract to ride for Fleishman in America this spring, although he had several tempting offers to ride in England.

POND'S EXTRACT

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 29, 1894. I have used "Pond's Extract" for many years and always insist upon my patients getting "Pond's," not the ordinary Extract, which is often a very poor article. W. K. BROWN, M. D.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9, 1895. I use Pond's Extract a great deal in my practice. I think it very valuable in all venous enlargements.

J. L. BRADFORD, M. D. SANTA BARBARA, CAL., Nov. 27, 1894.

I have been using Pond's Extract in my practice for twenty years. I frequently have the experience you mention of druggists insisting they can put up as good as yours. I don't believe it. I use Pond's Extract a great deal as an antiseptic in combination with glycerine and carbolic acid. I think it far superior to any antiseptic known. F. G. FLOURNOY, M. D.

G. W. BABCOCK, M. D. ASTHMA'S INSTITUTE, Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 8, 1894. I know Pond's Extract to be a valuable remedy, and shall continue its use whenever the opportunity offers.

Decision Given

The case of Ballais vs. Young was tried in the County Court at the Dec. sittings and created a good deal of interest in the neighborhood of Young's Point, as it was a contest between Major Bellais and Mr. P. P. Young to establish the northern part of the concession line between the third and fourth concessions in the township of Douro. A number of the old residents were present as witnesses to identify the original post-plant by Surveyor Birdall in 1822. The judgment finds that the line contended for by Major Bellais is the correct line, and is in his favor for nominal damages with full costs of suit. Defendant, Peck & Stevenson for the plaintiff; the late John Burnham, Q. C., for defendant.

HOCKEY ITEMS

Many Interesting Notes of Our Popular Winter Sport

The Peterboro Hockey team are now looked upon as the most probable winners of the senior championship of Ontario, and this knowledge has spurred the boys on to put themselves in proper shape. Last night's practice was well attended and some excellent combination work done. Their first match will be to-morrow evening, when they will tackle the strongest combination Toronto can turn out, the T. A. C. team. We have every hope that the boys will beat them but, and it rests with them to run up a good large score so that there will be no opportunity of a surprise when the match is played in Toronto. Lionel King will be in good shape for the game, and if Peterboro forwards don't surprise the visitors we will be much mistaken.

Several of the local sports are prepared to back Peterboro heavily and are hoping that T. A. C. backers will bring lots of green backs with them. Mr. F. W. Ashe, of Norwood, will referee the game to-morrow night. Lakefield and Millbrook play at the former place to-morrow night in the Junior C. H. A. series.

The Winnipeg team which will play here on Tuesday night next will play in Toronto next day.

Lionel King has been requested to accompany the Toronto team in a tour of American cities.

A young man and woman, members of well society, and well known in Peterborough who are engaged to be married, were visiting various jewelry stores one day last week that the girl might choose a bracelet which her fiancé was to present to her. The principal stores in Toronto had been visited without finding anything to the girl's fancy, when they arrived at the last store on their list, a well-known Yonge street establishment. The young man was well known here and the couple received much attention from the head salesman. Tray after tray of bracelets were shown, and at last two styles met the girl's approval. She tried these on, one after the other, and both pleased her so that she was in a quandary which to select. Finally she decided to wait until the following day, when she would make the choice. The couple now left the store, and at the girl's home parted. That evening, while arranging the lace at her wrist, the girl noticed that her old bracelet seemed heavier than usual. Examination showed that together with the old bracelet was one of those she had tried on in the afternoon, so she at once at once and wrote to her fiancé explaining the mistake. Next morning the young man received two letters. The first one opened was a bill for a bracelet from the Yonge street store, which mystified him considerably until he read his sweetheart's note. The salesman said later that he had missed the bracelet, and knowing the young man, had sent a bill instead of a detective.

West by Horsemen

The militia general order requiring all officers in regiments to take a course in equitation will be rigidly enforced. The action has been taken on account of a large number of militia men being incompetent riders. Some of the local officers will take the course at Toronto or Quebec this winter.

On a raft

A flow of natural gas is to be seen back of Armour's hill on the Trent Valley Canal. The flow was struck about seventy-five feet below the surface by an employee who was ascertaining the depth of the strata.

Basket Ball

We understand that a movement is on foot to form a Basket Ball Association in Ontario. If there is any object in having such an association why don't some of our local enthusiasts take hold of the matter and get the headquarters of the sport here. Peterboro would be just as central as any other place.

Calcutta's Tonic Lager

The best drink made, you get the benefit of the Hop Bitters without the intoxicating quality. Always ask your grocer for Calcutta's Tonic Lager, better than any patent medicine you get one dozen bottles for less than the price of one bottle of patent medicine. Ask for Calcutta's Tonic Lager and build yourself up, price only 50c. per dozen, sold by all leading grocers.

COUNTY COUNCIL

Mr. Ed. Peck likely to become a Member of That Party

It has been almost settled that Mr. E. A. Peck, the well known local barrister, will succeed the late John Burnham, Q. C., in the County Council. Otonabee is quite agreeable to allowing him to have the seat by acclamation and we hope that the report is correct.

Mr. Peck has always been prominent in the municipal affairs of the East Riding, and is a wise and careful legislator. He enjoys the confidence of all and will no doubt be honored with a seat at the County Council Board.

Obituary

We regret to have to announce the death of Henry Goodfellow, of Maudon in town. Mr. Goodfellow's death took place under rather sad circumstances, as it was while in Peterboro, to attend the funeral of his daughter, the late Mrs. Fred. Foote, that he became ill. He had to return home before his daughter's interment, and was himself carried away Tuesday night. The deceased gentleman was born in Shaftesbury, England, and was seventy-five years of age. In 1889 he came to Canada, and settled in Peterboro, where he lived fifteen years. He then removed to Macdonald, near Nanapan, where he has since been residing.

CATARRH IS A DISEASE.

Which requires a constitutional remedy. It cannot be cured by local applications. Sufferers with catarrh find a cure in Hood's Sarsaparilla, even after other remedies utterly fail.

Suffered Agony With Pains in the Stomach—Hood's Cured.

The testimonials in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla are so worthy of confidence as though they came from your most trusted neighbor. They are written by honest people who are grateful for the cures accomplished by this wonderful medicine. Read this statement:

"I was afflicted with severe pains in my stomach from which I suffered much agony at times. I was afraid to go any distance from home for fear of having an attack. I was treated for neuritis of the heart without avail. At last my mother wrote and urged me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have her letter before me at the present time and it reads as follows: 'My dear child, it grieves me to learn that you suffer so with your stomach. Do get a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and let me know the result, for I am confident it will save my life.'"

I am glad to state that I abided by my mother's advice and I am now healthy and strong. I never think of being without Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house. It is a great help to mothers while nursing. I have given it to my baby with satisfactory results. I cannot state all I would like of the many benefits I have known Hood's Sarsaparilla to give to other sufferers. I gladly recommend it." THE BOARD OF HEALTH

The Last Meeting for the Year 1897

HEALTH OFFICER'S REPORT

A Very Low Death Rate in Town Last Year

There are no cases of Infection in Town at Present. Many Subjects Dealt With in the Report of Dr. Clarke—The Health Officer's Report—Milk Inspection.

The last meeting of the Board of Health for the year 1897, was held in the Town Clerk's office yesterday afternoon, when there were present Messrs. Benj. Shorty, Dr. Geo. Burnham, Robt. Innes, Henry Innes, Dr. Clark, Medical Health Officer and Secretary Armstrong.

Mr. B. Shorty, chairman of the board presided.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

HEALTH OFFICER'S REPORT.

To the Chairman and Members of the Peterborough Board of Health.

Gentlemen,—In presenting my report as Medical Health Officer for the year 1897, I would congratulate you on the very low bill of mortality, on the absence of serious epidemic, on the comparatively few cases of infectious disease and the small number of complaints regarding nuisances which have been made. The work of past years is beginning to show itself. There is a much better sanitary tone in the air. On the institution of a Board of Health years ago its efforts were at first ridiculed and even opposed, but they have now come to be accepted by public opinion. Sanitary work is infectious. It is said that a boy in the arms of New York who got his face washed was the cause of a change for the better in the houses and inhabitants of the whole street on which he lived. The advance of the community depends upon the advance made by each individual citizen and I am glad to say that during 1897 the sanitary advance in Peterborough has been not only individual but municipal.

DEATH RATE.—This is the lowest in the recorded history of the town. At the time sanitary operations began the rate was 19 per thousand. This was in 1884. In 1890 it had become gradually reduced to 12.85, a very low percentage. During the years since then it runs slightly, but in the last year it has touched the extraordinarily low mark of 10.8. This is hardly to be maintained in succeeding years and is the strongest possible indication of the benefits of sanitary measures. The good done is not immediate, that is to say, a general cleaning up will not allay an epidemic of diphtheria or typhoid which may be raging in the community. It is a long and a persistent work carried on through a succession of years is sure to have the effect of lowering the death rate of lessening infectious disease, moderating ordinary disease and increasing the physical and mental vitality of the community.

INFECTIOUS DISEASES.—During 1897 there were 33 cases of diphtheria reported and 3 deaths occurred. 19 cases of scarlet fever with no fatal result, and 12 mild cases of typhoid fever with only one death. A large number of cases in fact an epidemic of scarlet fever has been going on for some months past. It is impossible to state the number of cases as in the large majority a medical man is not employed, and heads of families do not report as it is not considered necessary. This, however, is a mistake. Household as well as public health depends upon reports of cases of infectious disease. I have had a good deal of trouble regarding children attending school where measles is in the family. Both Health law and school law require that no child from an infected house can attend school during and for some time after measles occurring in the family. This is considered a great hardship by parents especially where the case is mild, and occurs on the eve of a school examination for promotion. It should be remembered that a mild disease in one may produce a severe form in another and that measles is not such a harmless and necessary disease as many suppose there having been 3 deaths in town from that cause during the year. And even this does not convey an adequate idea of its danger for many long continued sequelae are often brought on. Regarding whooping cough of which quite a little occurred, it may seem silly to keep children from school where it appears in a family, but 2 deaths happened from that cause and whooping cough often leads to bronchitis and other lung troubles.

SLAUGHTER-HOUSES.—No complaint has been heard during the year. Regarding parking-houses and arrangements for disposal of refuse and moderating the unpleasant fumes from driving furnaces are evidently effective as scarcely a complaint has been heard. We have visited these places often from time to time and always found them in good order.

REMOVAL OF GARBAGE AND EXCRETA.—This has been carried out very thoroughly, outside a number of men obtaining employment thereby. Earth closets are still being constructed in the outlying parts of the town, but in these places there is not so great an objection to the ordinary privy vault, provided it is cleaned out once a year according to statute and disinfectants used especially in hot weather.

WATER, ICE AND MILK.—167 samples of water were sent in for analysis, and found of variable degrees of purity. I find a very marked freedom from organic taint as compared with years ago when removal of garbage was not so thoroughly carried out. No complaint has been made regarding the town water and no evidence of taint has been discovered from its use. The principal objection is its expense. When there is so good and so inexhaustible a water supply it should be placed within the reach of all. I examined a few samples of ice at different times but found nothing of a deleterious nature. The changed conditions of the Little Lake as respects disposal of sewage and mud make it one of the best sources of ice in the country. Although not an expert in the analysis of milk a few samples have been sent in to me for examination and the principal fault to be found was a scarcity of cream. No complaint has been made as to disease caused by it. I have driven out to some of the farms and found the cows apparently in good condition and with good surroundings.

HOUSE TO HOUSE INSPECTION.—This has been very thoroughly and systematically carried out by the Sanitary Inspectors who include the whole police force. I do not know of any town in Canada in which this is better done. The report is given below.

VACCINATION.—Extremely little has been done during the year, even in spite of the reappearance of smallpox in Montreal. The number of unvaccinated children in Peterborough must be legion. The danger is that children grow up, never think of the necessity for it and move out of town to some source of contagion where the disease is contracted. I have known several deaths to occur in other places from this cause. Parents should see that their children are vaccinated as early as possible. The prejudice against introducing possible disease will soon be done away with as Dr. (Vennan), the Inspector of the English Local Government Board has disapproved a method of sterilizing vaccine by a mixture of glycerine with calf lymph. Lord Lister has stated that the Government would likely propose legislation to give the public full benefit of the discovery.

CONSUMPTION.—This is one of the most important diseases to be considered by the community and Board of Health in future. The mortality due to it is simply appalling. Dr. Briggs of the New York Health Department stated not long ago that one person in seven in the city died from consumption, and that among the working people the mortality was one in four. 20 deaths occurred in Peterborough in 1897, from this cause which would give a proportion of about one in six, and besides this does not include deaths described as occurring from such vague diseases as general debility, chronic bronchitis, etc., which may be simply means of consumption. This disease is considered by some as a stain on a family and a medical man is frequently asked to use some other term as far as can be done consistently. It is firmly believed by distinguished medical authorities that consumption is a preventable disease. The treatment of consumption can be entirely eradicated as it is unquestionably a powerful infectious disease. A certain amount of ridicule was cast on an assertion, I made in a report some time ago that expectoration expelled germs from the system. Now this is what is being done in many of the leading cities of the States. There is no more potent cause of the spread of consumption than the inhalation of expectorated matter which has been dried, powdered under foot, and blown about people's throats by a passing breeze. It is almost as if a smallpox or scarlet fever patient were allowed to scrape his skin and throw the scales out the window. I do not mean that a consumptive person should be locked up in a room like one with diphtheria, but that the germs which would be the worst possible form of treatment and a very inhumane way of preventing the spread of the disease. But all infectious diseases, like smallpox, have their own way of propagating themselves and in case of consumption it is through the sputum. A child recovering from scarlet fever is rubbed with disinfecting ointment to prevent the scales on the skin from spreading, and so with consumption. Some means should be adopted to prevent its spread, and if any members of the Board should happen to be visiting cities in which laws regarding it are in force they would do good by getting information. It is the Government should do more in the matter. The establishment of sanitariums like that at Gravenhurst is very important. Local Boards of Health should consider the subject and make recommendations. Twenty or twenty-five deaths in a year from consumption in Peterborough is too much. If it occurred from any other disease there would be a public out cry.

SEWERAGE.—The Town Council should be concentrated on pushing the system on as fast as finances will allow. It is a world-old experience that the more perfect and the more extended a system of sewerage is, the better the health of the community. I think the Board should see that proper steps are taken to be connected with the main sewer as far as possible.

CONFECTORY AND BAKE SHOPS.—The Sanitary Inspectors visited all of these in accordance with a motion of the Board and found everything in good order in most places. The supply of water used was found to be satisfactory.

The Chairman and members of the Board have done valuable work throughout the year by advising, recommending and informing as to sanitary matters. The officers of the Board are always ready to hear of street cleaning and to see that the streets are kept clean and that the town is kept in good order.

For the incoming year, I would urge perpetual vigilance. It is at this moment that a warning is needed. After a particularly healthy year of 1897 and to be relaxed, but the town will not be better than it is if work ceases.

Hoping we shall have a similar record for 1898.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your Obedient Servant,
J. CLARKE, M.D.,
Medical Health Officer.

Work done by Sanitary Inspectors during the year 1897:

No. of notices served, 717.

No. of yards examined, 2353.

No. of closets examined, 2660.

No. of yards found in good condition 1636.

No. of closets found in good condition 1343.

No. of manure heaps ordered to be removed, 25.

No. of hog-pens ordered to be removed, 20.

No. of dead animals buried, 112.

No. of houses picked, 35.

GEO. I. ROSZEL,
Sanitary Inspector.

It was decided on a motion of Dr. Burnham, to adopt the report of the Medical Health Officer and to send it to the Government as the report of the Board.

The members of the Board congratulated Dr. Clarke, on the excellence of his report and also the Town on the very low death rate.

Dr. Clarke reported that there was only one case of infectious disease in town at present, one of diphtheria, and the patient he hoped would be allowed out of the hospital to-day.

The Board adjourned to meet at the call of the Secretary.

It was announced that the first meeting of the Board for 1898 would be held a week from Monday.

The New Custom Regulations For the Yukon

PREPARING FOR A RUSH

Result of Mr. Sifton's Visit to Washington

Duty Must be Paid By Outlanders on Every Thing They Bring into the Country—Fake Transportation Companies—No Mine in Klondike—Other Particulars.

(Special to the Times.)

Washington, Jan. 13.—In a few days the Treasury Department will make known the details of the arrangement recently concluded with Mr. Sifton, Canadian Minister of the Interior, respecting the transportation of gold, silver and freight to the Klondike.

Meanwhile it is learned here from government authority that the Canadian government is about to issue new customs and mining regulations applicable to that region. Last year when there was an unexpected rush to the gold fields, the Canadian Government permitted the free entry of miners' blankets, personal clothing in use, cooking utensils in use, and one hundred pounds of food for each person, charging duty only on excess.

DUTIES ON EVERYTHING

This year that privilege will be abolished and customs duties levied on everything the miner takes in, except practically the clothes on his back. The Canadian Government does not wish to be unfair in the matter, but is going to great expense to maintain police and establish courts of law, post offices, treasuries for the safe keeping of the miners' gold, offices where drafts may be obtained for gold, and other conveniences, and must obtain revenue to meet the outlay.

Outfitted supplies brought in Canada by persons taking the Wrangel and Stickeen, the St. Michael, Skaguay, Dyea, or Dalton trail routes will be admitted free into the Klondike, and, of course, are not subject to duty when taken in over the all-Canadian route from Ashcroft, Kamloops, Edmonton, and Prince Albert.

TRANSPORTATION FAKIRS

The Canadian authorities desire to warn the public against so-called transportation companies which are offering for sums ranging from $50 to $150, payable in advance, to convey persons from the Eastern States to Dawson City by Canadian routes and to provide them with food en route. The overland routes within Canada are all controlled by the Canadian Pacific Railway, which is also operating the route by Wrangel and Stickeen; and outside companies have no authority whatever to offer such service on route. The overland routes, but supplies are running low just now and those entering without a sufficient stock of their own might become a burden to the community. The Wrangel and Stickeen route, the one recommended by Canadians, will not be open until the end of April.

DIED IN AN OIL TANK

OIL MERCHANT OF DAWN TOWNSHIP ASPHYXIATED WHILE AT WORK.

(Special to the Times.)

Lorence, Ont. Jan. 13.—Last evening about 6 o'clock Mr. H. S. Mawlan of Dawn Township, was found dead in one of his own oil tanks. The recent rains have caused the oil tanks to flow, and it seems Mr. Mawlan got an upper hand being drowned some time ago. Mr. Mawlan's aged mother still survives him. The family are considered the richest in Dawn township.

ANOTHER WAR SCARE

Uncle Sam Organizing a Cuban Expedition

WILL ATTACK HAVANA

The Substance of a Special Washington Despatch

The Report Causes a Decline in the Prices on Wall Street. Several Insurgent Victories Reported. Many People Starting to Death on the Island—Other Notes.

(Special to the Times.)

New York, Jan. 13.—A special to the Journal and Advertiser from Washington says: Within forty-eight hours, on present indications, intervention in Cuba will have been forced on the Administration. It will be found not unprepared. The rioting in Havana was much fiercer than the censored press reports indicate.

Gen. Lee got at the cable early, and reported that the situation was serious and that the mob was getting even with the Americans and "downing the United States" as much as it was striking at the autonomist policy of the reconcentrators.

American citizens had to seek refuge in the consulate. General Lee's prompt military instincts told him that the consulate might be in even greater danger than any other place in Havana, but General Blanco at once threw a heavy cordon of Spanish regulars with artillery and the whole square and adjoining streets were held. This alarming information came late. The President did not wish to act precipitately, but the emergency had to be met promptly.

The navy department was notified and Commodore Crowinshield, chief of the Bureau of Navigation, at once sent dispatches to Admiral Bunce, with the white squadron, to hold every vessel in prompt readiness, and to Key West for the vessels at that point to be ready to start for Havana on signal, but not to land unless instructed by General Lee.

The Key West squadron cannot be assembled before to-night, as they are hunting filibusters. Not later than Friday they will be in hand. While alone they would be unable to do much at Havana, and might serve to inflame the Spanish mob to greater success, they can give a good account of themselves in preparing for the heavier fleet to follow. The torpedo flotilla has been notified and can be put into Key West for a dash on Havana by Friday.

THE MARKET AFFECTED

New York, Jan. 13.—The market was unsettled at the opening by the news from Havana of unfriendly demonstrations against the United States. Some striking declines were shown and the exceptions on the side of grains were few. The railroads generally showed losses extending up to 5-8. The latter in the morning, the Pacific preferred was also off 1-2. Sugar and National Lead laid nearly a point, Chesapeake and Ohio and New York Central were the only railroads to show gains. Opening prices: Atchison 13, Sugar 14 1-8, Tobacco 89 1-2, People's Gas 96 1-2, Burlington 100 7-8, Rock Island 91 1-4, St. Paul 96 1-8, Louisville 57 3-8, Western Union 92 1-8, Wheeling and Lake Erie 3 3-8, Manhattan 117 to 117 1-2, Missouri Pacific 34 5-8.

A QUITE FEELING

Washington, Jan. 13.—United States Consul General Lee has reported to the State Department the facts connected with the rioting here. While the State Department officials do not divulge the text of the despatch, it is said that it corroborates generally the newspaper reports on the subject. According to General Lee, the rioting in Havana was quenched for the time being, but he was apprehensive of another outbreak at any moment.

The officials are evidently not apprehensive of any trouble in the immediate future that may require the forcible intervention of our Government. The quieting feature of the situation is the horrible condition of the poor in Cuba. According to General Lee's advice less than 200,000 people on the island are in the last stages of destitution and are wholly dependent upon charity.

THE OUTBREAK SUPPRESSED

Washington, Jan. 12.—Senator de Lozano, the Spanish Minister, today received despatches from Dr. Congosto, Secretary General of Cuba, stating that there had been an outbreak in Havana, but that it was over and that no apprehension was felt for further

PETERBOROUGH, JANUARY 14, 1898

PERNICIOUS LEGISLATION.

Much has been heard lately about the vast natural resources of Canada, her great but undeveloped wealth in mine, forest and fertile soil. It has been time and again declared that but one thing is wanted to make our country one of the most productive in the world, namely capital.

Large sums of money have been spent in Great Britain and foreign countries in an effort to place the advantages of the country before capitalists in the most favorable light.

In the face of this it seems preposterous that the Legislature of Ontario should even consider placing upon the statute books legislation which might tend to have a depreciative effect upon the value of industries already established in the province. That the amendments to the Lord's Day Act, now being urged upon the Government by the Lord's Day Alliance, would have this effect was clearly shown by a large deputation of prominent men who waited upon the Government the other day to protest against them. These men were practical business men having large interests in the province, and giving employment to many workmen, and are clearly the disastrous effects that would result from passing legislation injurious to commercial or industrial progress.

A very important item dwelt upon was the perishable freight trade. The success of the railways of a country are indicative of its general progress. One of the most important things in connection with the Canadian roads is their trade in perishable goods. If this trade is lost to United States roads it will be almost impossible to ever regain it, and it will surely be lost if the proposed amendments carry, as it will be impossible for the roads to make fast time with trains tied up from 12 o'clock Saturday night till 12 Sunday night. The amendments would have a similar effect on many other industries. To adopt them would be a retrograde movement, at the demand of a few Sabbatarian extremists, at a time when all our measures should be progressive.

NOT SO BAD AS THE ENGLISH.

In Mr. Blake, of Toronto, right in saying that the Canadian press is much worse than the English in the matter of the publication of morbid reading matter in the shape of criminal and social details. We do not think so. The British newspaper is far less busy in its get-up and far less hysterical in its headlines than that of Canada, but for steady, cold-blooded recital of criminal details when legally exposed, and for total depravity in connection with the gambling instinct it would be hard to excel the British press. Even in the invasion of privacy there is a certain class of society papers that cannot easily be outdone.—Witness.

THE ALASKA BOUNDARY.

The possibility of customs trouble between Canada and the States at Skagway, Dyea and such points recalls the fact that some of these places, Skagway and Dyea both included, are in territory claimed by Canada, or Britain. The United States administration of these places is a temporary concession by Britain, pending the settlement of the disputed Alaska boundary.

From Mount St. Elias north to the Arctic Ocean there is no dispute about the boundary now. It has practically been fixed within a few yards by joint observations of United States and Canadian surveyors. From Mount St. Elias southward hundreds of miles to the Portland canal, the question is not one of survey, but one of the meaning of a treaty. Roughly speaking, the British claim is that the boundary line should run parallel with the general run of the coast. The American claim is that it should follow back all the bays and indentations of the coast. For the present the Americans are allowed to administer all the territory they claim, but it does not belong to them yet. The Victoria Province says:

"Canada has quite as much 'right' to administer the disputed territory as the United States has. For the sake of convenience the United States authorities are being allowed to look after things, but as they seem to think that permission is license, it might be as well to haul in the shack as the sailors say.

It would certainly be as well for the Dominion government to bestir itself to get the question settled by arbitration. Considering that the other party is in temporary possession and that there must now be constant danger of friction in view of the large traffic which is developing to the Yukon gold fields, a decision of national rights in the district can not be arrived at too early.—Ottawa Journal.

A vigorous agitation is being carried on in many towns and cities throughout Ontario against the ward system. The Toronto Telegram which usually sees things in their true light declares that it ought to be abolished.

La Grippe Cured

This modern malady has become dreaded not more for its direct fatality than for the weakness of body and mind it leaves behind it. Prolonged debility, permanent prostration, melancholy and suicide follow La Grippe. For this disease there is no remedy superior to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"The best remedy for La Grippe that I know of is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."

Rev. JOHN E. CHASE, South Hampton, N. H.

"My wife and five children were taken down with La Grippe, while the disease was so widely prevalent. I doctored them with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and before using quite two bottles my family was restored to health. I know of several obstinate cases of the same complaint which were also cured by this remedy."

BUTTER AND CHEESE ASSOCIATION

TUESDAY AFTERNOON SESSION
At two o'clock the convention resumed in the old opera house, with an attendance of about 150 present, including many ladies.

The opening address was given by Mr. J. W. Palmer, of Toronto, a graduate of Ontario Agricultural College. He gave an extremely interesting talk relative to the care of dairy cattle and the production of a superior article of butter. He condemned the feeding of turnips and said that no matter what taint butter had it was all set down to turnips. There were many other causes leading to the production of bad butter, but public opinion was the great factor to be considered, and if the buyers said butter was turnip they ended it. He had himself taken butter that had been wrongly condemned, and by putting it up in a neater package it was pronounced first-class butter and sold for the highest price. His advice was to feed the dairy cattle the right kind of food, and with proper care the yield would be satisfactory.

Mr. John Gould, of Aurora, Ohio, followed. He was introduced by President Derbyshire as "Honest John Gould," the man who had made money out of poor cattle—by changing them for better. Everyone present will bear us out in the statement that a more practical address on the feeding of dairy animals has never been delivered in this town. He opened by remarking that he found it hard to leave Ohio, just when Mark Hanna was scattering money by the bushel and he had also been warned that he was liable to get into trouble in Canada over the seal question. Well, he wanted to tell the farmers that a good dairy cow was better than any half dozen seals sporting uncaught in Behring sea. The essence of Mr. Gould's address was "feed corn now and all the time," and he proved the value of the ration by bright scientific truths and striking illustrations that were most convincing. The farmer who sells a ton of butter is said to part with only 30c worth of the fertility of his farm, "and if Bill Smith didn't put his awkward foot into the milk pail the loss would be only 9c worth," meaning that the loss was almost nothing as compared with that caused by grain growing. Mr. Gould pointed out that corn is a tropical plant and only attains its best growth when conditions resemble its early environment; it is a sun plant and cannot get too much of it. Cattle require food that contains protein or starch, consequently turnips are of little value—he could erect a windmill to raise water much cheaper than he could do it by raising turnips. Most farmers raise probably a ton and a half of hay per acre, and 3,000 lbs. of hay contains 720 lbs. of digestible starch—the rest is valueless except as an aid to digestion. On the other hand an acre of corn contains 4,800 lbs. of starch. Mr. Gould gave some practical directions as to the growing of corn, and said failure was not always the fault of providence, but rather the fault of the man steering the cultivator with a horse hitched on. The soil should be well worked but the roots of the plants should not be cut, and for that reason he never cultivated deeper than one inch. The old style of seeding gives 9,600 plants per acre, if put in drills the number would be 14,300 plants—an appreciable gain. Weeds are strict prohibitionists by nature, and drink water night, noon and morning. It has been demonstrated by scientific experiment that a corn plant requires 10 inches of water during its life to attain its best growth, or 1600 tons of water to the acre. That quantity is greater than the average rain fall, hence the importance of keeping down the weeds that rob the plant of its supply of moisture. He was a strong believer in the value of ensilage as a cattle food, and if the corn was a little frost bitten it did not matter much—he was now feeding the contents of a silo filled three years ago with corn that had been slightly damaged, but cattle ate it with avidity.

In answer to a question put by Mr. Fanning, Mr. Gould said he had never known milk tainted by ensilage—it might if the animals were fed just before milking. On his way to Canada he had called at Mr. J. W. Francisco's famous dairy farm near Buffalo, where 450 cows are kept on 100 acres, and fed on ensilage 365 days in the year; the milk is inspected by the state inspector and is sold for 12-12c per quart, being used principally by invalids and children because of its superior quality.

In concluding Mr. Gould said there was little probability of better prices in the future for butter and cheese, and if farmers wished to be able to compete with the butter producers of Denmark, Australia and other countries in the English market they must grow corn and feed it to their dairy animals.

EVENING SESSION
At eight o'clock when the President took the chair the seating capacity of the Academy of Music was severely taxed and many occupied the gallery. Prof. Robertson, Dominion Dairy Commissioner, was present and took as his subject, "How to Make Farming Pay." It was handled in admirable fashion. Several musical numbers were rendered during the evening.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS.

Made an Assignment
The Midland Trust Company's banking department is closed and notice posted up stating that company has made an assignment and is open only for receiving the payments of notes. The assignment was made for the interests of all concerned. The steps taken headed off the issuing of writs which no doubt would quickly have followed the announcement of Mr. Patterson's death, and involved the company in a number of law suits. The exact state of affairs of the company is not questioned, but it will take time to realize on the securities and in the meantime the depositors will have to wait. Until after the meeting of the creditors very little information can be gleaned. The Midland Trust Company has to-day made an assignment in the interest of its creditors and to enable the assets of the company to be realized upon in the best possible manner, as it will readily be understood that where such large and diversified interests are involved, time will be absolutely necessary to liquidate the estate. A meeting of the creditors will be called immediately.—Port Hope Guide.

TO-NIGHT'S GAME

The T. A. C. Hockey Team Play Here This Evening

If excitement counts for anything, the rink to-night will be crowded with our citizens who will assemble to cheer the local team to victory in their match with the Toronto Athletic Club seven. The team which will come down is the strongest that could be picked up in the Queen City. Captain Hardisty has been practicing hard and feels confident of winning and this he hopes to do as he foresees that if he is successful in defeating Peterboro that the senior championship is in his grasp. Captain Phalen will put a strong team against the visitors and we predict that a good big score will be run up by Peterboro, so large in fact that when the return match is played in Toronto, T. A. C. will find it utterly impossible to overcome it.

Mr. F. Ashe, of Norwood, who is well known in Peterboro will referee the game and will no doubt give every satisfaction to both teams. Winnipeg will play here on Tuesday. This is a phrase which is on everyone's lips when he meets a friend. Winnipeg defeated Quebec on Wednesday night by a score of 2 to 0. This shows that they are pretty strong and there is no doubt that it will be the best match of the season.

The local club had a dandy practice last night and will be in good shape for to-night's match.

A New Feature
Appropos of the activity of the Lord's Day Alliance the following clipping from a Lindsay paper is interesting: "Owing to a change in my religious convictions I have decided to close my livery barn on the Sabbath day for secular business. The public will find my accommodation burn open that day as usual; all space free to those attending church. Believing the Sabbath day was made for man, I have decided to adopt the above regulation; furthermore it is a life. I wish not a living. I can't stop the temptations gathering around me any more than I can the birds flying over my head, but I can stop them from building nests in my hair. 'Love the Lord with all thy strength, thy neighbor as thyself' is the motto I have adopted.—W. A. JEWETT."

JIM ALLISON'S BROTHER

ANTHONY ORR SAYS HE HAS THREATENED TO INJURE HIS SON NORMAN.

Special to The Times.
Galt, Jan. 13.—Anthony Orr came to town on Tuesday. He was excited. He said a younger brother of Jim Allison, the murderer, had threatened to split his son Norman's head open. He said he would be in again in the afternoon, when a warrant against young Allison may be issued. It appears that the boy Allison was getting word either at or near Orr's, or Mr. Orr's housekeeper, communicated with him and in return received the foregoing intimation.

Our Figs, Nuts, Raisins, Grapes, Apples and Oranges are all new stock, and we can give you best value in all lines we carry. J. B. Orr.

BASKET BALL

A Very Interesting Game Played in the Y. M. C. A. Building

The basket-ball team of the Y. M. C. A. of Belleville came up to town yesterday to give the local boys their first game. Their team which is a fine looking lot of young fellows is composed as follows:—H. Hitchon, centre; Irwin Wallace, T. M. Nash, forwards; J. McLeay, W. C. Hitchon, (Capt.), backs; H. Sierieks, spare; and were accompanied by D. Sinclair, doctor, and Percy Pitney, manager. The town team was Keher Dolan, centre; M. McDonough, S. Hall, forwards; J. Wilson H. Halpin, backs.

When the teams lined up at about 8.15 a large crowd was present in the gallery of the fine Y. M. C. A. gymnasium to witness the sport. It was seen that the Belleville team had a great advantage in size and weight, and before the end of the game this told against their opponents. As the town boys have been playing but a comparatively short time their combination was not as perfect as that of the visitors which was at times almost marvellous.

In the first half Dolan scored two points for Peterboro and H. Hitchon 2 for Belleville. In the second half Dolan again scored twice while the Belleville boys by their combination work and fine shooting rolled up a score of nine, leaving the total, eleven to four in favor of Belleville. Dolan and McDonough got in some good combination work at times. Wm. Wilson acted as referee, and Mr. J. R. Herdman and Mr. W. H. Buxton as umpires. Mr. Herdman, who is Secretary of the Belleville Y. M. C. A. spoke highly of the skill shown by the boys under the training of Mr. Buxton.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS

The Toronto Evening Star last night says: "The Star was informed on good authority to-day that the Provincial elections would be held on March 1."

This statement is very likely correct as that paper is a Government organ and has been usually very reliable in its political information.

HER SISTER'S LIFE

A SIMCOE YOUNG LADY NARROWLY ESCAPES SUFFOCATION BY GAS.

(Special to The Times.)
Simcoe, Jan. 13.—Miss Georgie Hall was awakened at an early hour and discovered that the house was filled with escaped coal gas and that her sister, Ella, was unconscious from the effects of breathing it while asleep. The household was aroused, doors and windows thrown open and Dr. Stanton summoned. After hard work he restored the young woman to consciousness, but she is very ill. The doctor says in fifteen minutes she would have been dead.

ANDREE'S BALLOON

SWEDISH ACADEMY BELIEVES IT WAS SEEN IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

(Special to The Times.)
Stockholm, Jan. 13.—Prof. Nordenfalk, the Arctic explorer, has informed the Swedish Academy of Science that the Foreign Office has received intelligence that several persons worthy of credence saw Professor Andree's balloon early in August, in British Columbia, seven miles north of Quesnelle Lake, in the district of Cariboo. The professor regards the news as being of sufficient importance to call for closer investigation. The Andree balloon left Digne Island, of the Spitzbergen group, July 11, 1897.

The True Remedy
Wm. Duggan, St. Albans St., Toronto says: "We won't keep house without Ransom's Hives Syrup and Tolu for consumption, coughs, colds, croup, or bronchial troubles. Experienced with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Ransom's Hives Syrup and Tolu. No other remedy can take its place in our home as in it we have a certain and sure cure for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, etc. We would not be without it in the house."

It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as "just as good" as "Ransom's Hives Syrup and Tolu." They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy 25c.

Pills! Pills! I Ching Pills
Symptoms—Moisture intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form which often bleed and ulcerate and become very sore. Swayne's Ointment stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. All druggists, or by mail for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman Ross & Co., Montreal, wholesale agents.

Ask for Calcutt's Tonic Lager and built yourself up, price only 60c. per dozen, sold by all leading grocers. Moments are useless if trifled away, and they are dangerously wasted if consumed by delay in cases where Ransom's Hives Syrup and Tolu would bring immediate relief. 25c.

FAIRWEATHER & CO. The Largest and Finest Fur Store in Central Canada.

To Give Gracefully Select Thoughtfully

Some one has said: if we listen we can hear the Christmas Chimes saying something, just as Whittington heard the Bells of London. Listen

"Give, Give, Give to Please! Give to please for years to come!"

GIVE FURS You cannot help obeying this order if you but choose here! Other things may disappoint. Furs will not. An article of Fur is useful, handsome and always gives delight—moreover by beauty of design, richness of material and workmanship, every piece is invested with a charm of its own, far more subtle and intimate than that of any other form of art or utility, because no other is so closely connected with ones daily appearance and comfort.

This large and splendid equipped Fur Store offers a rare choice of all classes of Furs for the Holiday season.

—A woman's wardrobe is not complete without a Fur-lined Wrap. Rich roomy garments for the opera, party, and out-door wear. From $15 to $50 embraces everything in this department, but a woman's eyes are needed to appreciate the values. The garments are 30 inches and three-quarter lengths, richly lined and trimmed in the fashionable Furs, plain, twill and broadcloth outside.

—You'll think the price must be a mistake in some of our Fur Caps—$3, $10, $12, $15, $16.50 and $25 buys beauties in Greenland Seal, Belgium Mink, Coon, Opposum, Astrachan, Electric Seal, etc., 15 inches long to 30 inches, ripple style.

—A few Men's Coon and Black Dog Coats left over from last season, worth $15 to $18, to clear at $10.

—Good Coon and Matisini Buffalo Coats, of fine quality, this year home make $25, $30 and $35.

—Wombat, Black Corsican Lamb, Marmot Coats, $13.50 to $25.

—Early for reductions!—of course it is—but our ASTRACHAN JACKETS for ladies are marked that way Now, $19.50 buys a very choice one, former price $23.50, $25 buys a $30 one, and so on.

—COON JACKETS are in great demand, $25, $30, $35, and $40 are a sample of prices shown.

—Storm Collars, Baby Carriage Robes, full sized Sleigh Robes, and a great host of other goods in too great variety to be enumerated.

—Persian Lamb Jackets, in the latest 34 to 36-inch lengths, of choicest grade, German-dyed skins $65 to $100.

—If you have $175 to $200 to spend for a choice Alaska Seal Sack or Jacket, ask to see our specially fine goods at these prices.

—Here's a lot of dainty warm Fur Ruffs, with heads and tails, comprising Sable, Mink, Grey Lamb, Opposum and Black Martin. Price $2, $2.50, $4, $5, $7.50, and $10. By.

—Eleven designs in Collarettes—Electric Seal, Grey Lamb, German Mink, Persian Lamb and Seal Combination, Chinchilla and Seal Combination, etc., $4.50 to $18.00.

—A few Choice Sable and Persian Lamb Collarettes at $20.00, $25.00, and $30.00.

—We cannot keep Fur Gauntlets in the back ground, they are in ever increasing demand—and such values—$1.25 buys a Grey or Black Lamb Imitation, $2.50 to $4.00 buys a serviceable Astrachan or Electric Seal Gauntlet, for lady or gentleman.

—Children's Grey Gauntlets in Imitation Lamb 75c; the real Grey Lamb costing $ but $3.00 to $4.00.

—We show Gauntlets in Persian Lamb, Seal, Beaver, Otter, Coon and Matisini Buffalo at special prices for 'Xmas shoppers.

—Then Caps are always very givable, showing good judgment in the purchase and giving comfort to the wearer; $1.50, $2.00, $2.75, $4.00, $5.00, $6.00 and $7.50 buys beauties in Baltic Seal, Nutria, Wombat, Astrachan, Grey Lamb, Beaver, German Otter and Persian Lamb.

—Ladies' delight in Muffs. It is not often one gets such values in these handsome articles—an extra large Siberian Bear Muff for $2.00, a quantity of common sort at 75c to $1.25.

—Some extra choice Sable and Brown Bear Skins have contributed to the making of a quantity of fine Muffs which cannot be excelled anywhere—$6.00 to $8.00.

Call and see us and you will find that your money is best spent in giving good serviceable Fur Goods—that will ever be "A thing of beauty and joy forever."

PETERBOROUGH, JANUARY, 15 1898

A SHARP AMERICAN MOVE.

With the new year, the United States government began a characteristically shrewd commercial move.

A daily publication commenced of the trade reports sent in by United States consuls from various parts of the world.

The reports are re-issued in sheets from the government printing bureau promptly as possible after being received. They go to all boards of trade, exchanges, leading newspapers, and to business firms which apply for them.

Thus the latest trade information received by the United States government from its officials—and they are required to report regularly and frequently—is disseminated with the least possible loss of time.

This common-sense move should be of material value to United States trade.

To Canada it may suggest a greater promptness in the publication and distribution of a great deal of official information which at present is apt to be of the Rip Van Winkle style.

BEWARE THE BLUE LAWS.

Mr. Hardy will do well to leave the next legislature to deal with the gentlemen who are advocating blue laws "for the better observance of the Sabbath." The Hamilton Herald argues their demands down to the conclusion that "When it is the law that the person whatever may do any work on Sunday except works of charity and necessity, hot dinners on Sunday will be a violation of the law; it will be illegal to do any domestic work at all that should have been done the day before, and the master or mistress who requires a servant to do any such work will be requiring that servant to break the law. If the servant be discharged for refusing to do the required work, he or she would have good ground for action against the master or mistress who required the work, for the refusal of the servant to violate the law would be a very poor reason for dismissal."

THE NATURAL ROUTE.

In 1897, 17,000,000 bushels of Manitoba wheat were shipped from Fort William, of which about 13,000,000 went for export. Of this 11,000,000 went via Buffalo, while only 2,000,000 found its way to the sea-board via the St. Lawrence route. The expense of carrying Western wheat to the sea-board makes it imperative that it be taken by the shortest possible route.

The St. Lawrence is the great natural highway of the Dominion, and should be the chief means of transporting the products of Western Canada to the Atlantic, but it seen that too great a time is occupied in the trip through the Great Lakes to the St. Lawrence. All that is required to divert this grain trade to Montreal instead of Buffalo is a shorter means communication between Lake Superior and the upper St. Lawrence, and nature has again been favorable to Canada for no better waterway is required than the chain of lakes through central Ontario to the Trent. The vast possibility of this route has been recognized for many years and its practical utility has been scientifically proved. The work of developing this great resource was taken up by the last Government and although several large contracts were let, which are being carried out, yet no provision has been made to continue the other branches of the work. We did a good stroke of work in getting the first measures taken and it will not do to let the matter languish. We hope that the consiliencies will take steps to see that the matter is kept before the notice of the Laurier Government.

bosses many a body and burdens many a mind. You can't enjoy the food you like because you are bilious. You take all sorts of precautions, and yet the bilious attack leaps on you like a tiger from ambush. You know the feeling! The blood seeming on fire with a dull heat; the boring pains in the eyes; the head seeming to open and shut; the horrible nausea. You know the irritability which precedes and the languor that follows the attack. It's miserable, isn't it? Why not cure the trouble? There's a pill that will cure biliousness. Dr. J. C. AYER'S PILLS are an acknowledged specific for this derangement.

A. Swanger, Texarkana, Tex., writes: "For fifteen years I have used Ayer's Pills, and find them very effective in bilious complaints. I have yet to see the case where they have failed to cure."

LOVE ROMANCE OF THE CENTURY

Story of Ruskin, His Wife and Sir John Millais

THE LAST CHAPTER IN THE Drama

Lady Millais Dies From a Death-Bed Kiss

[By Edgar Saltus]

It is fifty years ago that John Ruskin after flinging into Philistia a rhapsody on art, and while preparing to illuminate contemporary stupidity with the Seven Lampes of Architecture, met, married and married one of the prettiest girls in the world.

Ruskin to-day looks like an abstracted green-grocer, but, at the time, without being alarmingly good-looking, he was by no means repulsive. In addition he was already a celebrity, and not merely on the high road to fame, but through his father—a prosperous sherry merchant—on the high road to wealth as well, in short, just the fellow to take a girl off her feet.

The girl in this instance, Euphemia, daughter of Geo. Gray, of Bowerswell, Perthshire, locally known as the Fair Maid of Perth, was widely admired for the purity of her profile. But it was her eyes that were admirable. Generally she made the mistake of keeping them half closed. When she opened them they revealed a great many things—surprise, curiosity, restlessness, truths half divine and a lot of good intentions. She had little self-reliance, but plenty of confidence in others. As a consequence, when she was not very timid she was almost brave.

At that time aesthetics were cultivated in London about as much as hexameters are now in Chicago. Neither soil nor atmosphere was propitious.

It was Ruskin who gave things a twist. At a comparatively youthful age he had been struck by the gorgeousness which the early Italian schools presented. It had gone to his head. It remained there. It remains there still. The prevailing doctrine that utility is beauty became to him a trifle absurd. He believed, and he imparted every one else to believe, that utility, goodness and truth are not in themselves the beautiful, for the beautiful is the unique.

The Fair Maid of Perth listened as others had and have. It may be she did not understand. Such things happen. But Ruskin was not the apostle of the unique for fun. He practiced what he preached. When Miss Gray became Mrs. Ruskin she became also an object of worship, as such, sacred, inviolate, a species of angel in the house.

THE HUGUENOT LOVER.

A woman cares for a man not in proportion to what he does for her, but in proportion to what she does for him. Save to sit about and inhale incense, Ruskin would not permit this lady to do a thing. The opportunities for caring for him were not, therefore, very ample. But Ruskin had love enough for two. (Ruskin's end theory, he was transcendent in life. He would have been the ideal knight at Joyous Gard, the blameless companion of the blameless king. Yet, consciously or unconsciously, in every queen there is the Guinevere. In those eyes of the beauty there were still the same realizations, the same truths half divine. And one day the knight brought Launcelot to paint them.

The picture which resulted every one has seen. It represents two lovers bidding farewell. The man is a Huguenot, who, loving more than love, refuses the white scarf of his sweetheart which would have saved him from the massacre of St. Bartholomew. In the background is the red of bricks. There is the pistache of ivy, the glow of a nasturtium. There is the yellow of washed sleeves. In the rest of them is blue the unique, a symbol stroke, and in the frock a violet so brilliant that it is almost black. Signed John Millais, it was the work of a fabulously handsome young pre-Raphaelite.

With a simplicity which, when you consider it must be ever-renewing, he bestowed the unerring Guinevere on the unerring Launcelot.

Not at once, of course. There was first a decree of annulment obtained which made the lady free. Then, at the marriage which followed, the ex-husband left his ex-wife away. Marcus Aurelius an emperor who reached unselfishness and practiced it, could not have done better, and it may be would not have done as well. It was the triumph of civilized life, unless you prefer to regard it as the triumph of civilized love; in any event the fitting act of the apostle of the unique.

"THE ORDER OF RELEASE."

There is a picture by Millais which is quite as well known as "The Huguenot." It is called "The Order of Release." It represents a clansman in a Scotch prison and the grasp of paper which his fair young wife was now his own. The picture was not unallegorical. Millais's early life had been hard. He had faced poverty, faced opposition. With this lady came release from both, fame also—a fame such as no recent English artist had had. It made him successively an R.A., a baronet, and a rich man. He painted Gladstone, Bright, Newman, Salisbury and the children of half the peerage. His popularity was national. His house was a palace. At its splendors the shabby old Sir John of Chelsea one day looked in. "All made by painting," he asked. "Millais nodded. The old peer nodded, too. "There are more fools, then, than I fancied." But that was impossible. To Carlyle the census was made up of fools, and it was in their parodies he thought Sir John and Lady Millais were living.

At the time he was wrong. They were happy, as only two people can be who are all the world to each other. In those delicious eyes there was still surprise; yet it was at the encounter with such happiness. From them nearly the suggestion of truth but half-divine had gone, for she had solved the heart's great problem.

During this period Ruskin, who meanwhile had managed to unite art with political economy and ethics with aesthetics, was continuously their frigid and aesthetically their guest. Society was less gracious.

A woman, however, spotless, who divorces or is divorced, lacks the countenance of England's Queen.

Their house, as a consequence, while never the resort of great ladies, became the home of the less resplendent of great men—the centre of that Upper Bohemia in which the Duke of Edinburgh used to reign and which has no parallel in any other metropolis. Mayfair is not a cheap place in which to reside, and Upper Bohemia is just as expensive. The expense of that household are rumored to have been such that Millais took to painting anything for money. From "The Huguenot Lover" he descended to "Little Miss Muffit;" from "The Order of Release" to a soap advertisement; from art to chromos. It was not a fall; it was a catastrophe. Carlyle looked on and smiled.

Lady Millais looked on and smiled, too. Whatever her husband did was perfect. She had adored him before, she worshipped him then. There are women whose love never attains its real growth in the absence of some such crime. They too, a love which does not increase diminishes. Her own went on expanding. For it fate held an accent in reserve.

A little over two years ago Millais began to be perplexed by a difficulty in articulation. In addressing his wife one day it was noticed that his speech was affected. To Millais came cancer, to Ruskin insanity. Ruskin was shut up. Millais took to his bed. It was then that fate produced the accident. The cancer with which Millais was afflicted was in the throat. The physician warned his wife away. The warning was a summons.

It was at his side her place was, and that place she took.

The physicians told her the disease was infectious and warned her away again.

To his side she moved closer.

They told her the disease was mortal, and did she kiss him it would be mortal to her.

On this lips she pressed her own.

Then it so fell about that Queen Victoria sent to inquire whether there was anything she could do.

"Thank her," said Millais, "ask her to receive my wife."

And whether because of the nature of the man, or the nature of the woman, or the nature of their unequalled love, the Queen constituted Lady Millais' last appearance. Eighteen months ago Millais died, and of the same malady a few days since his wife died also. White scarf or none, the sweetheart followed her lover.

To her, as to him, came "The Order of Release."

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING

A Special Meeting Held to Consider the North Monaghan Difficulty

Mayor Davis Given Power to Make a Settlement—Maintenance of Boundary Bridges—House of Refuges—Other Notes

A special meeting of the town council was held last night to consider and arrive at a settlement of the costs of the old dispute between the town and the township of North Monaghan with regard to the disposal of sewerage. Mayor Davis occupied the chair, and all the councillors were present except Hamilton and Allen. As a settlement had never been reached regarding the costs of the litigation that went on between the town and townships the new council wished to get the matter out of the way. All the aspects of the case were discussed and it was finally decided to leave the matter in the hands of Mayor Davis with power to act.

RESOLUTION OF CONDOLENCE.
Coun. McWilliams then arose and moved the following resolution, which was seconded by Councillor Robertson, and carried by a standing vote.

"That this council desires to give expression and to place on record its sorrow on account of the recent death of Mr. John Burnham, Q. C., ex-M. P., and its sympathy with Mrs. Burnham and the other members of the family in their severe affliction. Mr. Burnham was during his lifetime, from the time of his coming to manhood, a prominent, respected, and honored member of the community and one who did much for the advancement of the town. His business talent and his integrity made him a most useful citizen, and in the wider sphere of public life his abilities were exerted for the benefit of his native country and county. As a prominent member of the county council for many years he did much to advance the interests of the county and as citizens we recognized and appreciated his work in this relation. His death has left a void in the community that has been felt by the citizens generally, and we know that in the very much closer family relations his demise leaves a much greater void. We therefore desire to tender his family our deepest sympathy and assure them that in doing so we voice the feelings of the citizens of the town of Peterboro."

SLIPPERY WALKS

Coun. Langford drew attention to the danger arising from the ice on the sidewalks and said that as their were many men looking for work he thought it would be well to have it removed. Coun. Denne thought the town horses could be employed to remove the danger by breaking the ice with the proper machinery. The matter was dropped without action being taken.

NEW SLEIGHS.

Mr. Craig, chief of the fire brigade, drew the attention of the council to the need of a pair of sleighs to use under the hook and ladder truck, as there was great danger arising from using the wheels on the slippery streets. It was decided on an amendment moved by Councillor Langford, and seconded by Councillor Best to leave the matter in the hands of the Fire, Water and Light Committee to find out the probable cost and report to the council.

SUPPLIES

Mr. J. English asked the council for certain supplies for the firemen's room at the hall. Moved by Coun. McWilliams, seconded by Coun. White, that it be referred to the Property Committee with power to act. The motion was carried.

CHAIRMAN'S EXPENSES

Coun. McWilliams brought up the matter of the $200 contingent fund which was placed at the disposal of chairman of committees for use last year. Some people were under the impression that it had been used extravagantly. He therefore moved, seconded by Coun. Best, that the treasurer prepare a statement of the amount spent by the chairman of each committee last year. The motion was carried.

WORTH FOR MEN.

Coun. McWilliams stated that men had complained to him that in order to get corporation work they had to have their names put on the charity list. Coun. Dawson replied that this was absurd and that the men were being put on as fast as possible. He intended to have all the stones broke at once.

HOME OF REFUGE

The question of building and maintaining a Home of Refuge for the aged poor was discussed. Coun. McWilliams moved, seconded by Coun. Langford, that the joint committee of the county council to discuss the matter and report to the council.—Carried.

OTHER MATTERS

The question of the maintenance of the Pigeon Creek Bridge and all other matters concerning both town and county were referred to the joint committee to discuss with the county council and report.

The council then discussed the matter of diverting the course of the creek, the cost of a bridge at King street, and other matters relating to the sewerage. It was moved by Coun. Dawson, seconded by Coun. McWilliams, that the sewerage committee see the property owners interested to find out what aid they will give to the project and to report to the council. The council then adjourned.

At the last meeting of the Faraday township council the following communication, signed by a farmer in Lower Faraday, was laid on the table: "Please to ask the council if they have any elderly women that they are supporting, as I would board her for to take care of the house this winter, as I have lost my wife and got no one to take care of the house."

The mission of Hood's Sarsaparilla is to cure disease, and thousands of testimonials prove it fulfills its mission well.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING

A Special Meeting Held to Consider the North Monaghan Difficulty

Mayor Davis Given Power to Make a Settlement—Maintenance of Boundary Bridges—House of Refuge—Other Notes

A special meeting of the town council was held last night to consider and arrive at a settlement of the costs of the old dispute between the town and the township of North Monaghan with regard to the disposal of sewerage. Mayor Davis occupied the chair, and all the councillors were present except Hamilton and Allen. As a settlement had never been reached regarding the costs of the litigation that went on between the town and township the new council wished to get the matter out of the way. All the aspects of the case were discussed and it was finally decided to leave the matter in the hands of Mayor Davis with power to act.

Coun. McWilliams then arose and moved the following resolution, which was seconded by Councillor Robertson, and carried by a standing vote.
"That this council desires to give expression and to place on record its sorrow on account of the recent death of Mr. John Burnham, Q. C., ex-M. P., and its sympathy with Mrs. Burnham and the other members of the family in their severe affliction. Mr. Burnham was during his lifetime, from the time of his coming to manhood, a prominent, respected, and honored member of the community and one who did much for the advancement of the town. His business talent and his integrity made him a most useful citizen, and in the wider sphere of public life his abilities were exerted for the benefit of his native country and county. As a prominent member of the county council for many years he did much to advance the interests of the county and as a citizen we recognize and appreciated his work in this relation. His death has left a void in the community that has been felt by the citizens generally, and we know that in the very much closer family relations his demise leaves a much greater void. We therefore desire to tender his family our deepest sympathy and assure them that in doing so we voice the feelings of the citizens of the town of Peterboro."

SLIPPERY WALKS

Coun. Langford drew attention to the danger arising from the ice on the sidewalks and said that as there were many men looking for work he thought it would be well to have it removed. Coun. Deane thought the town horses could be employed to remove the danger by breaking the ice with the proper machinery. The matter was dropped without action being taken.

NEW SLEIGHS.

Mr. Craig, chief of the fire brigade, drew the attention of the council to the need of a pair of sleighs to use under the hook and ladder truck, as there was great danger arising from using the wheels on the slippery streets. It was decided on an amendment moved by Councillor Langford, and seconded by Councillor Best to leave the matter in the hands of the Fire, Water and Light Committee to find out the probable cost and report to the council.

SUPPLIES

Mr. J. English asked the council for certain supplies for the firemen's room at the hall. Moved by Coun. McWilliams, seconded by Coun. White, that it be referred to the Property Committee with power to act. The motion was carried.

CHAIRMEN'S EXPENSES

Coun. McWilliams brought up the matter of the $200 contingent fund which was placed at the disposal of chairmen of committees for use last year. Some people were under the impression that it had been used extravagantly. He therefore moved, seconded by Coun. Best, that the treasurer prepare a statement of the amount spent by the chairman of each committee last year. The motion was carried.

WORK FOR MEN.

Coun. McWilliams stated that men had complained to him that in order to get corporation work they had to have their names put on the charity list. Coun. Dawson replied that this was absurd and that the men were being put on as fast as possible. He intended to have all the stone broke at once.

HOME OF REFUGE

The question of building and maintaining a House of Refuge for the aged poor was discussed. Coun. McWilliams moved, seconded by Coun. Langford, that the joint committee meet the joint committee of the county council to discuss the matter and report to the council. Carried.

OTHER MATTERS

The question of the maintenance of the Pigeon Creek Bridge and all other matters concerning both town and county were referred to the joint committee to discuss with the county council and report.

The council then discussed the matter of diverting the course of the creek, the cost of a bridge at King street, and other matters relating to the sewerage. It was moved by Coun. Dawson, seconded by Coun. McWilliams, that the sewerage committee see the property owners interested to find out what aid they will give to the project and to report to the council. The council then adjourned.

A party of fox hunters went out in Monaghan yesterday afternoon and the dogs soon were in hot chase after a fox. PETERBOROUGH, JANUARY, 17, 1898

THE NEW ELECTION LAW OF ONTARIO.

We here give a summary of the new law governing the registration of the voters:

Every male person of the full age of twenty-one, a subject of Her Majesty by birth or naturalization, and not by law prohibited from voting, is entitled to be entered upon the list of manhood suffrage voters for the polling subdivision in which he resides, provided he has lived in the Province of Ontario for twelve months, and has lived three months in Peterborough and provided his name is not on Part I of the voters' list. If the person has removed from one division of the city to another, and has not resided thirty days in the latter division, he shall be entitled to be put on the list in the division he came from, if he has resided there continuously for thirty days before removing.

Any person unable to attend to be registered, by reason of sickness or physical disability, or by reason of his business as a lumberman, or mariner, or fisherman, or commercial traveller, or in the service of a railway company, or a student in an institution of learning in Canada, shall be entitled to be registered upon giving notice signed by himself, or some grown member of his family resident in the city, or by some person to whom he is well known. The notice shall not contain applications for more than one person. Arrangements are also made whereby absentees, unavoidably out of the city by reason of business, may be registered.

A LIGHT SENTENCE

Wm. Cummings Gets Five Months for Indecent Assault

Wm. Cummings, a character well known to all our marketeers as a seller of sundry-wares in the market building and well known to the prisoners at the jail for his addresses to them on many religious subjects, was arrested by P. C. Stewart on Saturday afternoon on a charge of committing an indecent assault upon a little girl in the market building. It appeared from the evidence that the prisoner is in the habit of encouraging the company of small girls and that on Saturday he had done the crime with which he was charged before the eyes of several of the most prominent residents of the town, one of whom laid the complaint to the Police.

It was also learned from the evidence that it was not the first time he had committed deeds similar to that with which he was charged, but on several occasions had committed crimes with small girls for which he should long ago be languishing behind the bars at Kingston penitentiary. Police Magistrate Dumble, despite the prisoner's statement, contradicting the evidence put in, found him guilty and stated that owing to the age of the prisoner he would be much more easier on him than otherwise, and imposed a sentence of five months in jail at hard labor.

Visit Mount Church Notes

At the morning service the pastor took as his text 1 Cor. 3:9. "For we are laborers together with God." He gave a good discourse, well illustrated, on this important subject.

At the evening service, the subject was "God's tender care for old age." The text very appropriate, was Psalm 92:25. "I have been young and now am old; yet have I not seen the righteous forsaken, nor his seed being bereaved."

The pastor referred to the great attention now being paid to young people, sometimes to the virtual neglect of the older people. He thought the old people also should have their proper share of attention. It was a very profitable sermon to all who had the privilege of hearing it.

The Sabbath school was well attended, there being 125 present. All, both young and old will be made welcome at the Sabbath school.

THE ENCYCLICAL LETTER

Read at the Cathedral Yesterday—Address by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor

The encyclical letter of Pope Leo XIII on the Manitoba Separate School question was read yesterday in the Cathedral at the last mass.

At vespers in the evening his Lordship Bishop O'Connor reviewed the document and explained it thoroughly for the benefit of the congregation. He said he wished to give an explanation of the principles as set forth by the Holy Father Leo XIII and the line of conduct to be pursued by all Catholics in the matter. Going back to the time before Manitoba became a province he explained how although the Catholics were in the majority yet they allowed the Protestant minority to have their own schools supported by their own taxes. At the time Manitoba entered the Confederation in 1870 a constitution was granted to the province. One of the principles of this constitution was that of Separate Schools for the protection of religion. This privilege was granted not for the use of Catholics, for they were in the majority but to guarantee the Protestants that they should not be deprived of their schools. This is a fact confirmed by history. This right was granted in perpetuity namely that each party was to have the right of its own schools supported by its own taxes. One of the first acts of the Legislature of Manitoba was to pass laws to give each the control of its own schools, and this system was carried out for twenty years—from 1870 to 1890.

In 1890 through the ambition of political leaders and the intrigues of political parties the laws guaranteed for ever were abolished and the result was that Catholics were obliged to support Public or Protestant schools. His Lordship then traced the different steps that went on in the litigation between the Roman Catholics and the province of Manitoba ending finally in the decision of the Privy Council that the Federal Parliament had the right to rescind these laws. Yet on account of political considerations and the divisions among Catholics themselves and the opposite sides they took on the matter these schools have never been restored and Catholics have to pay taxes to both their own and the Protestant schools. The Catholics want to be free to support their own schools according to the Manitoba Act, and so no restitution has been made in a satisfactory manner.

The Holy Father sent a delegate to investigate, and it was seen that a mistake was made by allowing political parties to take hold of the matter. Now the Pope after due consideration has sent his encyclical letter couched in the language of one of the greatest teachers of the Christian era, to govern the conduct of Catholics in the matter. In the first place it recalls the the wisdom, labors and sacrifices of the early bishops. Then it enunciates the principle that to the parent and not the state belongs the right and duty to educate the child in the religion in which he was baptized and provide for his religious and secular knowledge. This is the inherent right of the parent. Secularists may claim that this is the right of the state rather than the parent but this is not a natural principle. Parents must insist on this right for the children themselves have the right to this instruction.

The next principle is that they should have Catholic schools because the children must be taught not only scientific but also religious knowledge. This is necessary because scientific education without moral education very often turns to a disadvantage both of the individual and the state. Neutral schools are condemned because in them all religions are treated alike, and as if they were equal although Christ established only one church on earth. Moral principles can not be taught by being mingled with the divisions among Catholics themselves.

Now the matter should be above politics. It can never be settled satisfactorily while it is kept in politics. Therefore Catholics should set aside all party considerations and unite in seeking to restore their rights. What we are talking of is the principle of Catholic schools. Catholic teachers and a Catholic atmosphere in the schools. All Catholics should unite and work with zeal and with prudence to have their rights restored.

His Lordship stated that if the Protestant Separate Schools were abolished in Quebec the bishops would be the first to protest against it. This would be but in keeping with Catholic principle and Catholic charity.

Again he urged all Catholics to unite and working with zeal and yet with prudence, and not making any disturbance to take advantage of every opportunity to demand their rights. Catholics numbered nearly 43 to the 100 of the population of Canada and were not afraid to stand against the world for their rights. By working together zealously and yet by prudence, he hoped and believed that they would regain their lost rights sooner than many expected.

We are informed that during this week several American manufacturers will visit Peterborough for the purpose of looking over the advantages of this town with a view of establishing the Canadian branch of their factories. We hope that the town council will deal liberally with them. Toronto and other cities are making strong bids for industries of all kinds and no city would be lost of securing the splendid facilities of Peterborough before all manufacturing concerns.

PETERBOROUGH, JANUARY, 18 1898

NEED OF BETTER ROADS.

While our different legislative bodies are considering many reforms we feel that there is one of the greatest practical importance which is not receiving the attention it merits. We refer to the need of better roads, and, as a step towards it, a better system of road-making than the one now in vogue. Statute labor has had a fair trial and has not been found successful. A more thorough and scientific system and a more general knowledge of the principles of road-building are required in order to bring the roads of Ontario to the proper standard.

The Provincial Government has done much to advance the movement in the way of distributing literature, and sending out experienced lecturers to impart information on the subject. But this is not sufficient. The county councils should take the matter up as they understand more fully the needs of each locality. Money properly spent in constructing and keeping up a system of properly drained, macadamised, and graded county roads can not be wasted for nothing does more to enhance the value of farm lands. The words of Provincial Road Inspector Campbell in this connection are interesting.

"It is doubtful," says he "if there is a mile of true macadam road in Ontario outside of a few towns and cities. There are miles of road which are covered with dirty gravel or rough broken stone, and are popularly supposed to be macadamised, and they more resemble the roads Macadam found in England three-quarters of a century ago—the kind he removed rather than those he constructed.

"A century ago, the roads of Ontario, such as existed, and they were very few, were mere trails. To-day, notwithstanding the amount of money and labor placed on them, the majority are little better than trails. This criticism may seem overdrawn to those who drive over some of the best gravel roads during the summer season, but if the journey had been made in the fall or spring—the rainy seasons—its fairness would become more apparent.

It is estimated that on account of bad roads there is a daily loss of $325,788 in the province. At three per cent. this is the interest on a capital of $551,576,000."

AN IMPORTANT MATTER.

The bill passed during the last session of the Assembly abolishing the wards in towns of five thousand population and under was a step which has been commenced on all sides. But why stop at five thousand? Do not larger towns and cities want the best men to represent them as well as the smaller towns? What we want is town councillors, not ward councillors.

It is true the men elected by the wards may be representative of the whole town but they would be more representative and would take a greater interest if elected by a general vote. The abolition of the wards would also have a very beneficial effect on the public as it would encourage them to take a broader and more liberal view regarding town affairs and a greater interest in the municipality. In speaking of this matter a London (Ont.) exchange says: "If Mayor Wilson can accomplish the death of the ward system his term will be crowned with the most enduring benefit to London."

The bill introduced into the Legislature by the Attorney General to provide for the attachment of employees salaries is a tardy step in the right direction. The exemption is unjust, puts a premium on ill doing and causes the honest men in the service to suffer through the bad record of the dishonest. The establishment of such a law in Ontario will doubtless be followed by similar legislation in Ottawa.

A Veteran's Funeral
The funeral of the late Thomas Walker took place this afternoon at 2.30 at St. James' Cemetery from the deceased's late residence, 18 Beaconsfield avenue. A number of ex-members of the Q. O. R. were also in attendance at the funeral.

The "Biocellat's Best Friend" is a familiar name for Trask's Magnesian Ointment, always ready for emergency. While a specific for Piles, it also instantly cures other and cures cuts, burns, salt sores, eczema and all affections of the skin. It never fails, 25c.

Two men in the south end of the town boast of dogs with a record for killing rats. For some time past the creation of their dogs' respective merits has been the chief topic of conversation. A wager of fifteen dollars a side was finally made, and a contest agreed upon to decide which dog was entitled to the championship of the neighborhood. Two dozen rats were needed for the match, and as the backer of each contestant offered five cents apiece for the rats, the youngsters in the neighborhood supplied them after a diligent search of two days. The contest took place last night in a cellar of limited dimensions so that each dog had an excellent chance to bag his game. The rats were brought to the scene of battle in two large wash boilers. A hole was cut in the end of each boiler, so that one rat at a time could escape and take its chances. The Lake street dog was the first to try for the prize. As a given signal the hole in the boiler was uncovered and the rats were released at half-minute intervals. It succeeded in capturing eight rats out of the twelve. Then Westcott street dog made a try, but six was the limit of its ability.

To heal the broken and diseased tissues, to soothe the irritated surfaces, to instantly relieve and to permanently cure piles is the mission of Trask's Magnesian Ointment. 25c.

ANOTHER BOY MURDERER

A Philadelphia Boy Kills Another Lad

The Body of His Victim Found in a Creek—
—Struck With a Knife—Another Tragedy
Which Can Be Placed to Crime Novels

Special to the Times.
Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 17.—The body of 8-year-old Percy Lockyer, who is believed to have been murdered on Friday night last by 15-year-old Samuel Henderson, has been found in the bottom of Reddie's Creek, and there seems little doubt in the minds of the police that young Henderson is guilty of the crime. He is now locked in the cell at police headquarters. The body of the child when found was weighed by two heavy stones, one about his neck and the other around his ankles. His skull was crushed in and there was a knife thrust just above the heart and similar wounds on his breast, side and forehead, while on one side of his face was a long cut extending from below the eye to the chin.

A YOUTHFUL MURDERER.
After Henderson's arrest he admitted a knowledge of the knife thrust, but said it was due to the child accidentally running against an open knife. Henderson became alarmed at this. He said he threw the body into the creek. When shown the mutilated body of the child he admitted he was responsible for the other cuts also, but he persisted that it was an accident. The police, however, believe it was a planned murder in which the guilty one also purposed ending the life of another small boy, Willie Addison, 7 years old.

DIME NOVEL READER.
Henderson, it is claimed, has been reading trashy novels of the wild western stamp and has shown a desire to emulate the heroes of these tales. The police assert that Henderson accompanied Lockyer and Addison to the woods as he told yesterday, but instead of any accident happening to either, Henderson tied both children to a tree. Addison broke away and ran home. It was then, it is said, that young Lockyer's death was accomplished.

Six Bottles of Nature's Medicine
Effect a Complete Cure

A Strong and Convincing Letter

Wells & Richardson Co.,
Dear Sirs:—For five years I suffered from sciatica and rheumatism at times being so bad that I could not walk or put my hand to my mouth. If I attempted to do any work I would be crippled for weeks. I took medical treatment, Turkish and Mineral baths, but all failed to meet my case. Some time ago I tried Paine's Celery Compound, and after using six bottles I feel like a new man, and can do hard day's work and feel none the worse for it. I have also gained in weight, and can say I am permanently cured.
Yours truly,

The True Remedy
Wm. Duggan, St. Albans St., Toronto says: "We won't keep house without Ransom's HIVE Syrup and Tolu for consumption, coughs, colds, croup or bronchial troubles. Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Ransom's HIVE Syrup and Tolu. No other remedy can take its place in our home as in it we have a certain and sure cure for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, etc. We would not be without it in the house."
It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as "just as good" as "Ransom's HIVE Syrup and Tolu." They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. 25c.

CARELESS BOYS
CAUSE AN IMMENSE AMOUNT OF DAMAGE WITH A MATCH

(Special to the Times).
Wheeling, W. Va., Jan. 17.—Two thoughtless boys caused great mischief by applying a match to a spray of coal oil issuing from a small aperture in the Standard Oil Company's pipe line from Starville and Manning to Morgantown. The pressure at that point was strong. Soon the burning spray melted the lead in the joints of the pipe, which was six inches in diameter. Fifty acres of forest and field were soon ablaze. Two bridges and two barns were burned. All the oil in the ten miles of six inch pipe, nearly two thousand barrels was consumed.

Ayer's Asthma Cure

better known as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, has made a record for its remarkable cures of asthma. Cases that have been considered beyond hope or help have been cured by this remedy. We give two examples of such cures out of the many on record:

"My mother has been a great sufferer from asthma for the past ten years and her recovery is almost without a parallel. On account of her advanced age—over seventy—we had but little hopes of ever seeing her well again; but we are sincerely grateful to inform you that she has been entirely cured by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."

INGLES BANKS, Tar Brook, N.S.

"I was a sufferer for a long time from asthma, vainly endeavoring to procure relief in the use of ordinary remedies. At length I was induced to try a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. The first bottle afforded me so much benefit that I continued the use of the remedy until entirely cured."

RULES FOR CANDY MAKING.

MRS. RORER TELLS HOW CONFECTIONS MAY BE MADE AT HOME

Mrs. S. T. Rorer tells how to make candies at home in the Ladies' Home Journal and gives the following rules: "Never stir the sugar and water after the sugar has dissolved.
Wipe down constantly the granules forming on the side of the saucepan
while the syrup is boiling. As soon as the sugar begins to boil watch it carefully, having in your hand a bowl of ice water, so that you may try the syrup almost constantly.
Have everything in readiness before beginning. If the sugar grains, use it for old fashioned cream candy or sugar taffy. It cannot be used for fondant. Use only the best granulated sugar for boiling and confection-ers' XXX for kneading. If you fondant grains without apparent cause, you may have boiled it a little too long. A few drops of lemon juice or a little cream of tartar will prevent this. Fondant is the soft mixture which forms both the inside and the French candies and the material in which they are dipped, and it is to obtain this that the sugar is boiled.

"After the sugar has reached the
'soft ball,' a semihard condition, it must be poured carefully into a large meat plate or on a marble slab. Do not scrape the saucepan or you will granulate the syrup. Make the fondant one day and make it up into candy
the next. Never melt fondant by placing the saucepan immediately on the stove. Prevent the danger of scorching by standing the pan over boiling water. If the melted fondant is too thick, add water most cautiously a drop at a time. A half teaspoonful more than is necessary will ruin the whole. To cool candy place it in a cool, dry place.
To keep candy put it between layers of waxed paper in tin boxes. If the day is bright and clear, the sugar loses its stickiness quickly; therefore select a fine day for your candy making."

A Sinking in Old Times

In the last century every gentleman was put to bed drunk. He had either to drink as others drank, or fight a duel. Sir Xerxes de Vere,
when he was eighteen years of age,
after a day's hunt, avoided intoxication at dinner by watching until the others were tipsy, and, after that,
pouring each new glass of wine down
his neckcloth, then worn so large that the chin was buried in it. When the last of the toppers lay under the table,
he rushed to his bedroom, took a bath,
dressed anew, and joined the ladies
at their 12 o'clock tea. The next morning, at breakfast, all the gentlemen rose when he entered and received him as if he had been unharmed
by the wine, and considered that so strong a head was entitled to the highest honour.

The Boer a Queer Lot

The Boers are a queer lot. I heard more strange stories about them than I can remember. One was that not long ago a bishop was once making a business progress through a tavern-less veil, and one night he stopped with a Boer. After supper he was shown to bed. He undressed, was and worn out, and was soon sound asleep. In the night he woke up, feeling crowded and suffocated, and found the old Boer and his fat wife in bed with him, one on each side, with all their clothes on and snoring.
He had to stay there awake and stand it—awake and suffering—until toward dawn, when sleep again fell upon him for an hour. Then he woke again. The Boer was gone, but the wife of his bosom was still at his side.

HELP THAT COMES TOO LATE.

'Tis a wearisome world, this world of ours,
With its tangles small and great,
Its weathers that smother the springing flowers,
And its hapless strifes with fate;
And the darkest day of its desolate days
Sees the help that comes too late.

What booteth help when the heart is dumb?
What booteth a broken spar
If love thrown out when the lips are
dumb?
And life's barque difficult afar,
Oh! far and fast from the alien past,
Over the moaning bar?

A pitiful thing the gift to-day
That is dross and nothing worth.
Though if it had come but yesterday,
It had brimmed with sweet the cart-a-fading rose in a death cold hand,
That perished in want and dearth.

Who join would help in the world of ours
Where sorrowful steps must fall,
Bring help in time to the wailing powers,
Ere thebler is spread with the pall,
Nor send reserves when the days are furnished.

And the dead beyond recall.

For buffing most in this weary world,
With its tangles small and great,
Its lonelier nights and its weary days,
And its struggles forlorn with fate,
Is that bitterest grief, too deep for tears,
Of the help that comes too late.

A REMARKABLE CONTEST.

A Sick Woman's Struggle to Outlive an Invalid for Her Children's Sake.

A remarkable case developed at Morristown, Ind., says the St. Louis Republic. Joseph Chandler, a banker and a resident of Greenfield, several weeks ago executed his will, dividing his large estate among his nearest relatives. Among them was Eliza Burton, to whom he had bequeathed $100,
which she was to receive providing
she was not living with her husband,
Charles, at the time of the testator's death, she having married. But it was against his wishes. It was also stated in the will that, should the testator survive the niece, the bequest was to go to the nearest named in the will,
namely, Burton's mother.

Soon after the will was drawn Burton died, leaving Mrs. Burton to support the children, which she did, by taking in washing, sewing, etc. Several weeks ago the niece was taken ill, and at about the same time the wealthy uncle was also stricken. Both grew constantly worse. The neighbors and friends of the widow took great interest, wishing her to survive the uncle,
having learned the provisions of the will.

Greenfield and Morrilltown have telephone connections, and the friends of the widow were kept constantly informed as to the condition of the uncle. At times the mother would seem to be breathing her last, but stimulants would be administered and she would revive, or long enough to enquire as to the condition of her relative, when she would return to a comatose state.

This was continued thirty-six hours,
and all hopes of prolonging her life
longer were virtually abandoned. Finally a message came that Mr. Chandler was dead. Mrs. Burton had endured the tortures of death long enough to secure a fortune for her children. They were summoned to her bedside, and with a blessing upon them
she closed her eyes and passed away.

The New Millionaire.

I can scarce a new millionaire
other day whose name I have not yet seen in the papers. I found him and his family in a little room from whose windows one could see the lake. The living that my friend Midas needs
many servants and a palace to make his life go grandly on here in no room and an alcove. Three servants,
Love, Willingness and Good Nature,
to all the work gratis. On the lookingglass was printed this little poem of Lusy Larcom's:

"ALL THINGS ARE MINE."
"I do not own an inch of land,
But all I see is mine—my house,
The orchard and the mowing-mead,
The lawn and garden fine;
The winds my fax-corn grow weaker,
The sun my flowers makes divine—
Wild scents and subtle essences,
A tribute rare and free;
And more magnificent than all,
My windows keep for me
A glimpse of blue immensity,
A little strip of sea."

The Speedy Razorback

A wild boar hunt was the exciting sport a number of the young men of Southbury had looked forward to last week with a great deal of pleasure. The wild boar was a razorback hog. He was installed in a pen and fed with red pepper, gunpowder and dynamite and became as fierce as his reputed cousin of the Black Forest.

On the day of the hunt a cavalcade assembled at the meeting place armed with javelins and spears made of bamboo with hunting knives tied to the end.

The wild boar was liberated and trotted away to the music of a squealed half-contented, inquisitive, where's-
the-rat-of-my-family sort of a squeal with no thought of the pursuers who muzzled and whipped their horses into furious pursuit.

The wild boar trotted along—just simply and coolly trotted. He didn't look as if he was going, but the gait soon distanced the pursuers, and they were robbed of the pleasure of "jabbing"
him full of holes.—Florida Times Union.

Most Valuable Spots on Earth.

Probably the most valuable spots on the face of the earth (as the burial sites in Westminster Abbey cannot be bought with gold) are the four corners
where Wall-street touches Broad, and the two where it meets Broadway. I cannot guess how large a price any one of these might bring in the market
now; but $1,000,000 and $500,000 more were recently paid for five lots on Broadway opposite to Bowler Green.
This was the value of the land alone
as the old buildings that it bore were
at once to be torn down; yet, says
Philip Hone, a lot in just this place sold in 1829 for only $15,000. As late as 1940 lots on Cortlandt-street could be had for $1000, or even $700. But a year or two ago the corner of Liberty-street
and Nassau, measuring seventy-nine feet along the one, 113 along the other,
and about 100 feet in depth, brought $1,250,000, and this, again, for the sake of the land alone.—Century.

He Knows His.

"That's a very stupid brute of yours, John," said a Scotch minister to one of his parishioners, a peat dealer, who drove his merchandise from door to door in a small cart drawn by a donkey. "I never see you but the creature is braying."

"Eh, sir," said the peat dealer, "ye ken the heart's warm when friends
meet!"—Spare Moments.

SERIOUS SHUT DOWN

COTTON MILLS TRADE IN MASSACHUSETTS HAS GONE TO SMASH

(Special to the Times)
New Bedford, Jan. 17.—A shut down, the most complete in the history of the cotton mills of New Bedford, began this morning. Not a spindle is turning near a loom in motion in the factories of the cloth portions an hour after the usual time of beginning work. Between forty and fifty operators went into Bristol mill and 25 or 30 into the Whitman, but aside from these no mill made any show of running and these two soon shut down. Nine corporations operating 18 mills in which upwards of 9,000 hands are employed are involved in the strike. The shut down is uniform all over the city, ten per cent. The total pay roll of these corporations is estimated at $70,000 weekly.

Every arrangement has been made for the accommodation of the large crowd which is sure to be there. Seats have been placed in the galleries for the ladies. This will be much appreciated and will enable those behind to see the game to advantage.

The Winnipeggers will arrive from the East on the C.P.R. this evening and will be met at the station by Mayor Davis, Mr. G. W. Hutton, Mr. W. G. Ferguson and the officers of the local club. Sleights will be in waiting and the visitors will be shown over the town.

The match will begin at eight o'clock sharp, and promises to be one of the most bitterly contested fights ever witnessed in Peterborough. After the match the visiting team will be entertained at an oyster supper at McCallum's restaurant.

Many Hockeyists from our surrounding towns and villages will be present to witness the game.

Don't fail to turn out and cheer the boys on to victory. Use your lungs but leave your tin horns, whistles and canes at home.

Lakefield and Millbrook will play here this week.

Fire in Smith.

Yesterday morning the barns of Mr. Jas. Sanderson, of Smith, were completely destroyed by fire. All the grain and farm implements were destroyed as well as a couple of cattle. It is supposed that tramps were the cause of the fire. Mr. Sanderson's loss will be very heavy as his insurance, which is in the Northern Co., only amounts to $700.

Yankee Soldiers.

The Toronto News last night says:—The First Regiment, Illinois National Guards, with at least 1,300 members, propose to take a trip in July, 1898, leaving Springfield, Illinois, for eastern points, including New York City, and they will visit Toronto and Montreal provided they have assurance that they will be properly received by the military organizations in those cities and secure permission from the Canadian Government to pass through Canada with their arms. The National Guards did not wish to be any expense to the Canadian military organizations, but desire to pay all bills themselves and have the Canadian military act as their guests instead of the Guards being the guests of the Canadian Militia. They will have not less than 1,200 horses and men in addition to a band and a bugle corps of 100. It is the largest regiment, either regular or militia, in the United States. Toronto is taking steps in the matter. Why not Peterborough also.

CATHOLIC ASSOCIATION

Entertainment Last Night—Address by Rev. Father McCall of Ennismore

A large audience filled the assembly room of the Catholic Association last night to hear the address by Rev. Father McCall of Ennismore, who is known as one of the most interesting speakers in the diocese. The rev. gentleman in opening, spoke of the great pleasure it afforded him to meet again his friends in the association. It was always a pleasure to him to help the society because he knew it was doing a good work.

He had chosen as his subject for the evening that of "Civil Society," although he feared it would be hard to make it interesting to the audience. In the first place he would remark that we are born to live in society. We can not live isolated but are dependent on our fellow being to supply our wants. We must arrange to the best of our ability our surroundings so as to acquire as much as possible of intellectual and physical knowledge. We can not do this ourselves. We have to depend greatly on others for our knowledge. We are also dependent on others for the interchange of the commodities of commerce. There must be commercial intercourse between different peoples. We have also to unite to conduct many things in common such as mutual defence, care of the poor and lunatics and execution of civil government.

God has created us to live in society. It is in accordance with His laws and natural laws that we live in communion with one another. A public assembly is a number of families living together bound by a common law framed for the public good and directed by a moral influence.

To keep up mutual society there must be some kind of power to regulate the affairs of the community. This is a result of God's will and His teaching for the establishment of power is upheld by the Scriptures as the speaker showed. Although depending on God's will this power arises in various ways. It may arise from the sword of the family principles, from warfare or from the pre-eminence of great men. But when once legitimately established and used for the common welfare we are bound to obey the laws and support the public power. There are, as the speaker showed many forms of power established—absolute monarchies, limited monarchies, republics and other kinds. Absolute monarchies are bad because the ruler has overstepped the bounds and no longer rules for the public welfare. Some monarchies may become tyrants in time if they cease to rule according to the natural laws of God.

All power comes from God to the people and it lies in their hands to establish rulers and choose whatever form they wish. But once established the people are bound to obey its laws as long as they are for the public good. Legislation passed must be in harmony with the law of God, otherwise we would be governing in defiance of Him who is the source of all power. It is the duty of all citizens to use their best efforts in favor of good legislation, never to accept bribes or do anything to sustain improper power, and to use with great precaution the means given them to secure the very best rulers.

During the evening a very interesting musical programme was rendered. The opening number was a vocal duet by the Misses Bellegem which was well received and heartily enjoyed. Some national airs were next heard from a genuine Irish piper, fresh from the old sod. A humorous farce, The Klondike at Home, furnished considerable amusement. This was followed by a selection by the Glee Club. Mr. Frank Dwyer taking the solo. After the lecture a piano solo was played by Miss S. Gurin. A vocal solo by Miss Loftus and a farce entitled "The Haunted Hotel" closed a very interesting programme.

A vote of thanks was presented to the speaker of the evening.

LIGHT WEIGHT BREAD

The Chief of Police Makes a Raid on the Bakeries of the Town

Yesterday morning Chief of Police Roszel and P. C. Stewart paid a visit to the bakeries of the town and at two places the bread was found light and consequently seized. It was brought to the Police Station and was piled up in the court room.

Last night a special session of the Police Court was held and the bread weighed before the magistrate. In some cases the bread was found 1 2 ounces light. One lot of bread was so well baked that the magistrate dismissed the case as he was of the opinion that he extra baking accounted for the loss in weight. In the other case the bread was confiscated and handed over to the charity board for distribution among the poor of the town.

The Police intend to make regular visits in the future and we would advise our friends, the bakers, to make good allowance for weight before baking.

Nervous Prostration

Sick Headache and Dizziness—All Cured.

Little Girl Has Grown Plump and Rosy Since Taking Hood's.

Nervous mothers and sickly children endure a vast proportion of the suffering which is caused by impure and impoverished blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives relief by purifying and enriching the blood. Read this statement:

"I was bothered with sick headaches and dizziness. I also had nervous prostration and weakness in my stomach, which made me feel very ill indeed. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, which was highly recommended by many, and by the time I had taken four bottles I was in perfect health. About a year ago my little girl, then six years old, had bronchitis and chicken pox. We were told that her

was the careful treatment she might receive at the hospital. We took her there and for eight days they had no hope of her recovery, but later she had a change for the better. Her sickness, however, left her very delicate and weak, and she did not grow any for a year. It was then I thought I would try Hood's Sarsaparilla, inasmuch as I had used it for myself and found it such a good medicine for building up a constitution. She had not taken two bottles before she had improved wonderfully. She has grown rosy and plump and is quite herself again. I have great faith in Hood's." Mrs. M. HICKERSON, 838 Bloor Street, West, Toronto, Ontario.

Sir Charles Tupper Makes a Statement

Great Britain Severely Snubbs Uncle Sam in the Sealing Matter

An Important Statement in Reference to Trade Made by Sir Michael Hicks Beach

(Special to the Times.)

Montreal, Jan. 18.—Sir Charles Tupper, who arrived here last evening from Ottawa, had a long conference at the Windsor Hotel this morning with the local Conservative leaders, concerning the reorganization of the Conservative party in this province. Those present were: Hon. Joseph Royal, ex-Lieutenant-Governor of the Northwest Territories; T. O. Cagrain, M. P.; F. D. Monk, M. P.; and J. G. H. Bergeron, M. P. The whole situation discussed. While no definite statement of the result was made, it is stated that Sir Charles agreed that, so far as he was concerned, he would not relax his efforts to secure justice to the minority in Manitoba on the lines laid down in the Papal encyclical.

UNCLE SAM SNUBBED

BRITAIN DECLINES TO RE-OPEN THE SEALING QUESTION TO PLEASE YANKEE POLITICIANS.

(Special to the Times.)

London, Jan. 18.—Great Britain has again declined to re-open the sealing question. It seems that her previous refusal gave rise to the notion that while negotiations were pending between the United States and Canada, Great Britain could not re-open the matter. To this the United States replied that no negotiations were pending, and renewed the request, but the Foreign Office sends its regrets that the Government does not see its way to re-open the question. The United States Ambassador, Col. John Hay, and Mr. Spencer Eddy, his private secretary, left London to-day on their way to Egypt.

TRADE IS SUPREME

BRITAIN ENDORSES THE GOVERNMENT'S DECISION TO MAINTAIN ITS COMMERCE AT ALL COSTS.

(Special to the Times.)

London, Jan. 18.—The country generally is greatly pleased by the announcement made by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks Beach, at Swansea, last night, in which he echoed the previous declarations of Mr. A. J. Balfour, on the Indian policy of the Government; and added that the Ministers were determined, even at the cost of war, that the door of Chinese commerce should not be shut to Great Britain.

This declaration is recognized as clearly defining the Government's position, and both the Liberal and Conservative newspapers commenced the paper speaking.

The Globe this afternoon says: "What we want in China is trade. We want to make a market for the commerce of the whole world. Sir Michael Hicks Beach's announcement of the determination of the Government is clear and resolute, and will tend to peace. It was a pity that our Cabinet Ministers have not spoken thus on other occasions. When the loan is definitely settled, Russia, France and Germany will have to let us know not only whether they intend to acquiesce in the principle we have laid down, but they will have to be definitely asked to give a plain answer on the specific points which have been discussed."

"In carrying out the policy promulgated, the Government will have the support of the people of this country, and also of two countries, who above all others are eminently concerned. Both the United States and Japan recognize the wisdom and the benefits which are likely to be derived from ports free and open."

The St. James Gazette also believes that the "firm statement tends to peace."

The Pall Mall Gazette remarks: "The Government is determined that the Chinese door shall be kept open, even at the cost of war. These are grave words, but they would be more serious still if they did not represent a serious intention. It is the power that talks of war and then recoils from acting that gets embroiled."

HEINZE MAY SELL

HE RECEIVES AN OFFER OF $80,000 FOR HIS RAILWAY AND SMELTER.

(Special to the Times.)

Montreal, Jan. 18.—F. A. Heinze, proprietor of the smelter at Trail, B. C., stated this morning that he had received an offer of $80,000 from the British American corporation for his smelter and narrow gauge railway. This company is that presided over by Lord Dufferin, and of which Hon. C. R. Mackintosh is managing director. It seems likely that Heinze will accept.

A BREAD WAR

ATTACK ON A BISCUIT COMPANY AND NON-UNION BAKERS

(Special to the Times.)

Chicago, Jan. 18.—The Bakers' Union has begun a war against the American Biscuit Company and incidentally against all employers of non-union bakers. The officers of the union say they will carry the war into every state where the American Biscuit Company does business.

According to the officers of the union, the fight is in retaliation for alleged action on the part of the American Biscuit Company in discharging members of their organization whenever it has secured control of a bakery, and placing non-union and cheaper men in their places. In this way, the union men say, wages have been reduced in the company's bakeries, and this has forced the wages down in other establishments.

IN ITALY LIKEWISE.

Ancona, Italy, Jan. 18.—There have been bread riots here, arising from a demonstration of women organized by the socialists that proceeded to the Town Hall to beg a reduction in the price of bread. The Mayor promised the measures; but the men then joined the demonstration and stoned several shops. In the melee that ensued several were hurt. Several arrests were made.

THE COTTON COLLAPSE

PETERBOROUGH, JANUARY 19, 1898

WHERE MANY MEET.

The anxiety of all three parties to claim as their own the pro-Ontario timber policy is rather amusing. Mr. Whitney's followers will allow no other name for the pet than the "Whitney" policy, the child of their own brilliant patriotism, stolen and adopted by the treacherous Hardy. The Reformers can prove to the satisfaction of their loyal followers that they are the true guardians of Ontario's timber industry, that years ago they brought out the policy of Ontario loggers for Ontario mill men, and have supported it ever since. Now the stalwart Patrons from the rural districts claim that they and not the Government passed the popular timber legislation of the last session. At one of their meetings in Picton the other day the chairman claimed that the Patrons did not vote with the Government on the question but that the Government voted with them. With so much fluttering care there is danger that the infant may come out in the end as a spoiled child.

A WARM CAMPAIGN.

The great J. R., who would be minister but could not until he has done some more work for the party, is in the field, and prepared to wipe the opposition in the riding from the earth. It is said that the "machine" is the beautiful order, and expected to carry the great mass through the turn-out to triumph, if the combination should not slip in any somewhere.

Mr. Garvin has made great headway during the past two weeks, and there is some very fast hustling to be done by the man with the winning smile. However, it is but to be expected that the party which he has backed through thick and thin will not see him stuck.

It is said that Mr. Stratton is so Grit that he is mardy.

Patronize the Spot Cash Grocery Co. for groceries, fruits and oysters.

These are the days when all coons look alike to the candidate although he knows every man by his own name.

Sunny ways are not the private property of Sir Wilfrid any longer. They are to be found disseminated all through Ontario.

The elector need not pay for his reading matter for some weeks now. He is pretty sure to find his mail fattened up with bulky packages of campaign literature showing how cheaply he is governed, and what great benefit he has received through the wisdom of his protectors. We hope he has the proper spirit of gratitude in his flinty bosom.

LAKEFIELD LOCALS

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Favorable weather is helping on the work on the canal, and good progress is being made. A new roadway across the cut is being constructed in readiness to commence operations on the bridge. A petition has been circulating for signature the last few days to obtain a level swing bridge in place of the high level bridge decided on; if successful it would carry the additional advantage of a comfortable "sit" for some persons as bridge wardens.

The rink is being well patronized by skaters this season. The curling club, though for various reasons not quite as strong in numbers as usual, is becoming more enthusiastic and some good local matches have been played.

The hockeyists are more ambitious this year and have entered the Intermediate League. Their first match, played with Millbrook on Friday last, was a good game and resulted in favor of Lakefield 8 goals to 7. Rev. A. D. MacKenzie, referred the game in a manner satisfactory to both sides. Other matches are to be played in the near future. The return with Millbrook was to take place on Peterborough ice, but it is likely that Millbrook will default. Matches are also being arranged with Peterborough.

"Speaking of cheap power," said a well-known citizen with an inventive turn of mind yesterday, "electricity won't be in it, when once I have completed this device I am working on now."

"Something like Edison, Jr.'s scheme to utilize the wave motion of the ocean," he was asked.

"Not much," he answered, "that thing is easy. Anybody could do that. But nobody ever will because it requires too much capital."

"May be it's on the line of his father's suggestion to develop energy direct from coal without the intervention of steam," it was suggested.

"Nothing of the kind," he replied. "That would cost too much, too. Think of the price of coal! Besides, coal can be monopolized. I purpose to develop power which will require practically no capital. Consequently, it never can be monopolized. It will be as much within the reach of everybody as light."

"What in the name of wonders is it?" he was asked.

"Well, I'll tell you," he said, "if you'll say in the story you write about it that you promised not to print it. That's so as to interest capitalists in it. They won't like to back anything they think is being advertised on purpose, you know. We inventors have to make 'em think we're letting 'em into something very secret and that nobody else is being given a chance to make money out of it."

"Yes, but I thought you said it would not require capital!"

"That's after it's invented. In the meantime I have to live, you know. But listen. What I purpose to do is to get right down to first principles. What is it makes electricity? You say steam or running water, or the fire that makes the steam, or the coal that makes the fire. I say it's the thought of a man that's back of them all. Now, what I purpose to do is to make a thought motor—a little machine which will utilize the power of thought waves for the turning of machinery. At present some poor stoker thinks a fire needs more coal. He shovels on the coal, makes more steam, develops power to run an engine or a factory or a railroad train. I am going to fix it so there shall be no intermediate acts between the thought of that man and the actual running of the machinery. And the brain of a stoker will be just as competent to run this motor as that of the most intelligent man alive. Think what a blessing that will be to humanity! Fancy, for instance, a canal-boat captain being able to sit on the deck of his craft, enjoy the summer breezes, smoke his pipe and think his boat from Peterborough to Lakefield at six miles an hour! Is not that ideal! That's the only one instance of the way everybody will be able to work when my thought-motor is completed. The flying-machine problem will be solved. Nobody will have to pay any railroad fares. And there won't be a multi-millionaire in the world, except, perhaps, me!"

After serious illness, like typhoid fever, pneumonia, or the grip, Hood's Sarsaparilla has wonderful strength-giving power.

DOG AND POULTRY SHOW

It Opened Successfully in Peterborough

Yesterday

Every Entry in the Bench Show on Exhibition Some Beautiful Specimens of St. Bernard and Collie—The Poultry Show is an Excellent One—Large Crowds in Attendance—The Dogs Are Judged

The Peterborough Dog and Poultry show opened here yesterday in the market building and promises to be a great success. All day Monday every incoming train brought in lots of exhibitors which were taken in charge by the committee and arranged in their places in the market building.

The poultry show was simply magnificent both in number of entries and in the quality of exhibits. Every variety of the feathered tribe was represented commencing with the huge table fowl, the Plymouth rock down to the bantam, while the different species of pigeons were well represented. A number of freaks were also shown as well as a number of new strains of fowl. The gentlemen who have looked after this department have every reason to feel proud of the success of their work. The judging has been finished the complete list will be published to-morrow.

THE DOG SHOW.

The interest manifested in the bench show is sufficient to warrant Peterborough in making it an annual event. The present show is simply an experiment as far as Peterborough is concerned and we do not know of anything in the way of an exhibition which has been such a success as the Peterborough bench show for 1898. Every breed of canine is to be seen commencing with the huge St. Bernard of which there are a large number of entries and going down gradually to the smallest specimen of the terrier tribe. The class of dogs which are on exhibition is of the highest and the competition between the animals is so keen that it was a difficult matter for Mr. Stone and Mr. Mullen, the judges to give a decision. However, these gentlemen are up to date, in all matters relating to the canine tribe and their judgment has been accepted without question by the exhibitors. If any of our citizens have had any idea that the show was inclined to be a poor one, let them relieve their mind of the doubt at once, and the Times would advise them to not delay in seeing the show to-day. The exhibit of St. Bernard and Collies is worth double the price of admission and we do not wish to hear anyone say after the show is over, "I wish I had gone." This may be your last chance of seeing some of the most valuable dogs in Canada, and you should not miss an opportunity.

The Kidneys

are the seat or the starting point of many maladies, all of them serious, all more or less painful, and all of them tending, unless cured, to a fatal end. No organs of the body are more delicate or more sensitive than the kidneys. When symptoms of disease appear in them not a moment is to be lost if health is to be restored. The best way to treat the kidneys is through the blood, cleansing it from the poisonous matter which is usually at the bottom of kidney complaints. For this purpose there is no remedy equal to

Ager's Sarsaparilla

"For many years I have been a constant sufferer from kidney trouble, and have tried a number of largely advertised kidney cures without benefit. At last a friend advised me to try Ager's Sarsaparilla. The use of eight bottles of this remedy entirely cured my malady."—MARY MILLER, 1225 Hancock Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

POPULAR MANAGER

Mr. A. T. Smith of the Bell Telephone Co. at Kingston

The last issue of the Electrical News contains a short account of Mr. Alfred T. Smith. The journal says: "Presented herewith is the portrait of a gentleman well known in telephone circles, Mr. Alfred T. Smith, district manager for the Bell Telephone Co., with headquarters at Kingston. Mr. Smith has just emerged from a serious illness, covering a period of more than two months. His friends will be glad to learn that, although a month ago he was declared by the physicians to be beyond recovery, his excellent constitution enabled him to withstand the ravages of disease, and he is to-day out of danger and on the road to convalescence. A few weeks spent in a milder climate will, it is hoped, be the means of completely restoring him to health again."

"Mr. Smith has been in the employ of the Bell Telephone Company for nearly twenty years, having entered their service at Hamilton in the year 1879, when eighteen years of age. One year later found him in charge of construction, and the following year he built the first long-distance telephone line in Canada, connecting the cities of Toronto and Hamilton. His ability and careful attention to business led to his appointment in January, 1882, as local agent for Peterborough and Lindsay; from thence he was transferred to the Halifax agency in August, 1884. In charge of this district the telephone system was installed on Sable Island, much to the convenience and comfort of the gulls. The electric light system of Halifax was also constructed under his immediate supervision. In 1886, at his own request, Mr. Smith was transferred to the Kingston agency, and in May, 1897, his faithful services were further recognized by his appointment as District Deputy of the Ontario department. He is a brother of Mr. A. B. Smith, superintendent of construction for the G. N. W. Telegraph Company."

Thomas Atkins
The name of Tommy Atkins, which is a sobriquet of the British private soldier, the world over, in Hong Kong, Mandalay, New Zealand, the Sudan and the Transvaal, had an official origin, and was originally used in the instructions to non-commissioned officers, as John Doe and Richard Roe are used in contract forms and other legal papers, for purposes of illustration. Simple blank returns were furnished to show sergeants and corporals and recruiting officers how genuine ones should be made out, and Thomas Atkins, private, Company B, was the fictitious name always used. Model individual reports were also included in the regulations signed "Thomas Atkins, private, Company B," or "Thomas Atkins, X, his mark." Hence when a recruit arrived at a garrison the soldiers usually addressed him as Thomas Atkins until they found out his real name. Drunken soldiers reported themselves as Thomas Atkins when they were taken up, until the public took it up, and Tommy Atkins became an affectionate synonym for the gallant warriors of Her Majesty's land forces.

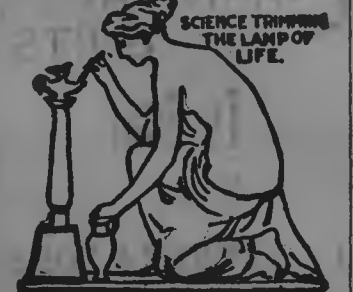

The Kitchen Sink
The reason why sinks are stopped so often is because grease gradually fills the pipes and hardens there into cakes, which must be taken out by the plumber if they are too hard to be large to resist the action of lye. There is always danger of this stoppage from grease, but the danger is less when housewives insist upon two daily rules: First, all the plates and dishes must be scraped with a palette knife or some other flexible blade, so that as little grease as possible and certainly no lumps of indissoluble matter reach the pipes; second, after every dish-washing, and the last thing at night, pour down a certain quantity of potash lye dissolved in boiling water and use while hot as possible. This makes a soft soap in the pipe, which melts away as water comes down, and provided that there is no foreign substance, like matches, sticks, bits of paper, bone, hair or fruit stones lodged in there, leaves it clear and free.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Free Trial To Any Honest Man

The Foremost Medical Company in the World in the Cure of Weak Men Makes this Offer.

HEALTH AND ENERGY ASSURED. HAPPY MARRIAGE, GOOD TEMPER, LONG LIFE.

In all the world to-day—in all the history of the world—no doctor nor institution has been so successful in curing so many men as has the famous ERIE MEDICAL CO. of Buffalo, N. Y. This is due to the fact that the company controls some inventions and discoveries which have no equal in the whole realm of medical science.

So much deception has been practiced in advertising that this grand old company now for the first time makes this startling offer:—

They will send their costly and magnificently effective appliances and a whole month's course of restorative remedies, postpaid, on trial without expense to any honest and reliable man!

Not a dollar need be advanced—not a penny paid—until results are known to be acknowledged by the patient.

The Erie Medical Company's appliances and remedies have been talked about and written about all over the world, till every man has heard of them.

They restore or create strength, vigor, healthy tone and new life.

They quickly stop drains on the system that sap the energy.

They cure nervousness, despondency and all the effects of evil habits, excesses, overwork, etc.

They give full strength, development and tone to every portion and part of the body.

FANTASTIC VAGARY.

A PUBLIC MAN WHO CONSULTED THE OUIJA BOARDS.

This is One of the Grounds on Which It is Sought to Show That He Was Incapable of Making a Proper Will—The Estate Involved is a Large One.

The Ouija board, that curious little device which attracted so much attention and furnished so much amusement to many people a few years ago, has got into the courts. It is cited as evidence of a man's mental weakness and his incapacity to make a proper will. This man was Charles M. Pond, once State Treasurer of Connecticut, a Senator in the same State and a director of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad. A suit is now under way in New York to break his will. It was instituted by his brother, Anson Phelps Pond.

Among the property which Charles M. inherited from his father was the Prospect Hill farm, on the outskirts of the city of Hartford, and this, with about $450,000 worth of other realty, he willed to Hartford. The disputed farm or homestead which Hartford proposes to turn into a public park, is now valued at about $250,000.

The claim is made by the contestant that his brother had no right to devise away this tract, and counsel bring forward his father's will in substantiation of this position, and quote that part of it which reads: "And it is my express desire that my said son, Charles M. Pond, will not alienate or sell my farm known as the 'Prospect Hill Farm,' but that the same may descend and be from time to time devised to my lineal descendants."

Among the testimony already introduced is that of Mrs. Frank A. Porter, a sister of the Pond, which it is said showed the deceased brother to be an extraordinary and eccentric person.

In his public career Charles M. was known only as a man of rare judgment and brilliant parts, but it seems that for some time previous to his death his mind was clouded or weakened by disipation, and he displayed oddities of intellect that were entirely at variance with his character as the public and all but his intimates know it.

According to Mrs. Porter's statement, some of the evidence that would be important and valuable as corroborative proof has been deliberately destroyed. The destroyed evidence consisted of works on Spiritism and the several Ouija boards that were in the possession of Charles M. Pond, and were used by him. It is said that the dead man was a firm believer in Spiritism and was an easy dupe of mediums. Luther R. Marsh was not more thoroughly fooled by Miss De Bar than he was by the men and women who pretended to be able to materialize those who had passed to the shining shore.

After the death of his wife, it is said, he was almost constantly under the influence of mediums. He had implicit confidence in the oracular qualities of the Ouija board which is a rudimentary sort of planchette. In the latter case the spirits are supposed to communicate with their friends in the flesh by means of writing; in the former the spirits have not got so far in the third R's, and they spell out their communications.

A planchette is a small heart-shaped bit of wood, mounted on two tiny legs with casters, and having for the third leg a pencil. When the little table is placed on a sheet of paper and the hands are permitted to rest lightly upon it, the pencil moves, and some people pretend that the lead-marks made by the pencil are legible messages, and they go through the solemn formality of reading them.

Ouija has a three-legged, heart-shaped little table, too, which the hands rest upon, but it travels not over writing paper but over a smooth rectangular board, on which the alphabets and the numerals are stenciled so that they make the segment of a circle, and the words "yes" and "no" are stenciled in two of the corners. Messages are read by following the movements of the leg at the apex of the board. It travels from letter to letter and spells out words, the nerves and muscles of the manipulators having much to do with the direction of its movements.

Charles M. Pond had several of these Ouija boards and he consulted them dozens of times a day. Through them he communicated with his dead wife. The story is told that often he would arise in the midst of a group of friends, excuse himself and hurry off to another room to ask Ouija certain questions.

These Ouija boards, with all of her brother's Spiritistic books, Mr. Porter says, she burned. Her statement is that she went to the office of one of the executors of the will and in his absence obtained from his father, who drew up the will, permission to remove the books and boards from the house, which she did and made a bonfire of them.

This is only one of the strange proceedings of the executors, it is claimed.

There is a great deal of secrecy about the proceedings and a whole lot of mystery, but the plaintiff feels confident that he will be able to show the mental insufficiency of his brother to make a will as well as to clinch his own right to the disputed part by the reticling clause in his father's will, which insists that the property shall not be devised away from the family.

The dissipated habits of Pond's brother have been pretty well established. He seems to have had a wild and terrible mania for morphine and administered it to everybody and everything on his place, even the dogs. The Ouija board weakness, though, appears to be the most fantastic of all his vagaries.

Tactless in the Band.

A colonel in the French army, who had a great eye for neatness, but not much of an ear for music, took occasion one day to compliment his bandmaster on the appearance of his men. Their uniforms are neat, said the colonel, and their instruments are nicely polished and kept in order, but there is one improvement that I must insist upon.

What is it, colonel?

You must train your men, when they perform, to lift their fingers all at exactly the same time and at regular intervals on their instruments, so—one, two and, two!

FEELING AGAINST THE GOVERN-

MENT AMONG MEMBERS OF THE ALLIANCE.

(Special to the Times.)

Toronto, Jan. 18.—The Ontario

Alliance will shortly hold a conference for the purpose of making arrangements for the Provincial elections, and it is expected that some dissatisfaction will be expressed at the action of the Government. The members of the Alliance consider that the Government has acted in a reprehensible

manner in ignoring about eight hundred petitions sent in from all parts of the Province asking for an amendment to the law governing the licensing of licenses. The action is being compared to that of last spring, when an unsatisfactory license bill was introduced,

and will probably lead to similar results. It is likely that some strong words will be spoken against the position of the Government and what the members of the Alliance consider Premier Hardy's complete ignoring of the requests of so strong a body of electors. The date of the conference will shortly be announced.

It's a REAR DUTY you owe to yourself to make an early visit to GOUGHS while this Great Sale is in progress. The store is constantly crowded with delighted customers—and no wonder when you look at some of our prices:—

A New Monthly.
The Monitor, an educational monthly, dedicated to the interests of Sepia schools in this province, has made its appearance. It is printed in Ottawa, and is gotten up in a neat and attractive manner. The editor-in-chief is Mr. Thomas Swift, of Ottawa. Mr. J. T. Noonan, of Brockville is the editor of the school department. In the issue of this month appear several excellent articles by experienced teachers. The establishment of the Monitor is a step in the direction of progress that is commendable, and it is to be hoped that success will attend its efforts.

Alex. Elliott's successors are building up a large fruit and oyster trade.

A Popular Councilor.
At the meeting of the Town Charity Board on Monday night the chairmanship of that body was unanimously tendered to Mr. J. H. Cobb, the popular councillor for Ward No. 3, it being felt that his many sterling qualities of character especially fitted him to hold this responsible position. Although pressed to accept Mr. Cobb felt it his duty to decline the honor on the principle that a councillor should not hold the position. Although we regret that Mr. Cobb could not accept, we feel sure that he deserves the commendation of all citizens for the upright principle he showed in his decision.

PERSONAL

Oranges 15c. doz. while they last at the Spot Cash, Wednesday.

Rev. Father McColl, of Ennismore, paid the Times office the honor of a friendly call yesterday.

Dinner forget the Fruit Sale at the Spot Cash, 353 George street.

The many friends of Jas. D. Denny, formerly teacher of Mt. Pleasant, will be pleased to learn of his success in passing the Normal College Examination, held in December. Mr. Denny has thus secured his first-class professional certificate and qualified himself to teach in a high school or institute. He secured his first-class non-professional at Peterborough last mid summer, and is now teaching as principal of the Elgin Ward School, Smith's Falls. Much credit is due Mr. Denny for his success in passing this hardest of professional examinations on his first trial, while pursuing his duties as teacher. We understand that he wrote at Ottawa.

We are glad also to be able to report the success of Mr. Edward J. Bolton, of town, in passing the same examination. Mr. Bolton secured all his non-professional training at the Peterborough Collegiate Institute and is highly creditable both to himself and to that institution. We extend our congratulations to both of the young gentlemen.

The True Remedy

Wm. Duggan, St. Albans St., Toronto says: "We won't keep house without Ransom's Hives Syrup and Tolu for consumption, coughs, colds, croup or bronchial troubles. Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Ransom's Hives Syrup and Tolu. No other remedy can take its place in our home as in it we have a certain and sure cure for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, etc. We would not be without it in the house."

It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are as good as "just as good" as Ransom's Hives Syrup and Tolu. They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. 25c.

House-Keeping on the Yukon

A woman writes from Raminport City on the Yukon river about house-keeping in the Klondike. "It is impossible to escape the dirt," she says. "Every pore of the skin is filled with it, and all clothing is ruined. There is some sort of mineral deposit—gold, perhaps—which acts upon the skin and clothing, and grinds into them. Washing does not remove it, but produces a gummy substance which the strongest soap won't cut. This dirt is the hardest thing I have to endure. I like the country. The air is fine and clear, with glorious sunsets on mountain and river. We have an 8000 log cabin—just a hut—with one room, one stove, a bunk, and a place for a sleeping bag. There are no beds in the whole town there is one cot and mattress, and that is ours. Our cabin is situated on a hill, commanding fine views of both banks in the river. There are about 400 inhabitants here. The newcomers, like ourselves, are well provisioned; those who have been here all summer have but little, and poor prospects of more. The situation is alarming. We were aroused night before last, after midnight, by a summons to go down to the store and attend a meeting for the purpose of preventing a steamer, which had just come in from taking her provisions any farther. Dried fruits, butter, evaporated potatoes, kerosene oil, etc., are a dollar a pound. A stove which sells in Seattle for $12 brings here $45 and is not to be had except occasionally. We have everything, almost, in one form or another except fresh meats. Eggs and milk we have dehydrated and condensed, likewise potatoes and onions, and we have excellent appetites. There are three other ladies in the town. In fact, we are the most unique crowd that ever came to a mining camp—lawyers, doctors, brokers, teachers, society men—all are here."

The "Biocyclist's Best Friend" is a familiar name for Frank's Magneto Cyclist, always ready for emergencies. While a specific for Piles, it also instantly relieves and cures cuts, bruises, salt rheum, eczema and all affections of the skin. It never fails. 25c.

THE WINNIPEGGERS WON

One of the Closest Games Ever Witnessed here

Thousands of People Saw the Game—Handed. Turned Away—The winning Team are the Winnipeggers—Our Boys at Disadvantage—King and Davidson Play a Rattling Game—Other Notes of the Game

The rink was taxed to its utmost capacity last night to accommodate the crowds that turned out to see the hockey match between Winnipeg and Peterborough. Long before the hour appointed for the game to start every available seat and space was taken and those who waited until the last were turned away. Men and small boys climbed out on the beams in order to see the game to advantage. Every one present had the success of Peterborough at heart and yelled themselves hoarse when by some sharp and cunning play Peterborough scored a goal. The result of the game will be a pleasant surprise to our citizens as it was never anticipated that Peterborough would be able to hold Winnipeg's crack team down to such a small score.

It was shortly after eight o'clock when the referee Mr. F. W. Ashe, accompanied by Mayor A. L. Davis, appeared on the ice and a few minutes later the puck was placed in position by his worship and the signal given to play. It was at once seen that the match was going to be a hot affair, as well as a close call for either team. First the puck would go to one end, and would be soon carried back to the other. For about ten minutes some beautiful rushes and combination work was done by both teams when Winnipeg secured an opening and by a clever pass managed to score.

The second game was quickly scored. Peterborough forwards began to get warmed up and although the rules of the Manitoba Association which govern all the first half bothered them, yet they played a good game and Bellegem managed to score a goal for Peterborough and the crowd went wild.

The third game was nearly as quickly scored by Peterborough. Combination work was indulged in and Lionel King by a beautiful back shot scored. The fourth game was a long one and several times Peterborough nearly scored but the extra weight of the Winnipeg men put the local boys to disadvantage in a scrimmage. After seven minutes of hard playing, Winnipeg scored Peterborough's score. The next two games fell to Winnipeg but before half time was up Peterborough scored another game from a heavy shot by Captain Phelan.

In the second half the Ontario rules governed the game and Winnipeg gave up many of her rushes and played pretty much on their defensive. However, their forwards were splendid skaters and they got the puck out and quickly rushed it down to Peterborough's goal and scored. The next game was a very long one and Peterborough played in the hardest kind of a game. Everything appeared to go against them. Time after time they had chances to score and although rattling attempts were made to do so yet unsuccessfully, until after a vigorous fight in front of the Winnipeg goal, Peterborough managed to score. The following two games were taken alternately by Winnipeg and Peterborough. During the last three games some hard playing was to be seen. Roger Davidson and King worked like trojans and succeeded in scoring two games but Winnipeg scored another before the time was up which Peterborough never caught up, making the score at the close 8 to 7, in favor of Winnipeg.

The teams were composed as follows: Winnipeg.—Baker goal, Swinford point, Green cover, Thompson, Neve, Leque and McFarlane, Forwards. Peterborough.—Wason goal, Montgomery point, Hollingshead, Kin, Davidson, Phelan and Bellegem, forwards.

Umpires.—S. Ray and W. Stocker. Timekeepers.—W. Loch and W. Norman. Referee.—Mr. F. W. Ashe, Norwood.

POLICE COURT NOTES

Two of Three Tramps Arrested at the Police Station Last Night

A man named Michael Shanahan, came to town yesterday and evidently indulged too freely for he left his home standing on the street from noon till late at night. A citizen called the attention of P. O. Stewart to the matter and he had the team placed in a hotel stable. The owner will appear before the magistrate for his neglect this morning.

P. O. Adams arrested two men yesterday below Indian River who were wanted on a charge of obtaining a home on false pretences. They will appear for trial to-morrow morning.

TRICKS OF THE TYPES

SOME AMUSING MISTAKES THAT HAVE CREPT INTO PRINT AT TIMES.

"What is this?" exclaimed a composi-tor who was expecting to be promoted to a proofreading position. "Garmoning in stoves, books, in the running brooks!" Impossible! He means, of course, "Garmoning in books and stoves in the running brooks." And a new reading of Shakespeare appeared next morning.

A sporting compositor thought
"Cricket on the Heath" must be a slip of the pen. He made it "Cricket on the Heath."

A writer on angling had the joy of seeing his sentence, "The young salmon are beginning to run," printed.
"The young salmon are beginning to swim," another thoughtful compositor
having been at work.

Happier was the transformation of the sentence, "Bring me my toga,"
into "Bring me my toga."

There is a less subtle vein of humor
in the story of the editor who wrote
during an election, "The battle is now opened." The compositor spelled "battle" with a "t," and the other side
said, of course, that they had suspected it from the first.

It was by a similar mistake that the late Baker Pasha, who might fairly be described as a "battle scarred veteran," the libel being by no means purged when the newspaper called the gallant officer a "battle scarred veteran."

Owing to an error in printing the announcement, "A sailor going to sea,
his wife desires the prayers of the congregation," became "A sailor going to sea his wife desires the prayers of the congregation."

The statement, "Messrs. —'s preserves cannot be beaten," was rather vitiating as an advertisement by the omission of "b" in the last word.

Innocently gay was the newspaper report which said that the London express had knocked down a cow and cut it into "calves."—Gesta Typographica.

Tennyson's Fraught of Nerves

Mr. Aubrey de Vere contributes to the biography of Lord Tennyson a report of some conversations with the poet, in which was disclosed his singular freedom from the spirit of rivalry.
In these conversations he never uttered a word that was disparaging or tainted with the spirit of rivalry.
The only point I heard him criticize roughly or unfairly with himself.
"Compare," he once said to me, "compare the heavy handling of my workmanhood with the exquisite lightness
of touch in Keats."

Another time he read aloud a song
by one of the shivarious poets of Charles I's time perhaps Lovelace's
"Althea," which Wordsworth also used to crown in the woods, and said,
"There, I would give all my poetry to have made one song like that."

Not less ardent was his enthusiasm for Burns. And here an incident with no small significance recurs to me.
"Read the exquisite songs of Burns!"
he exclaimed. "In shape each of them has the perfection of the berry, in light the radiance of the dewdrop. You forget for its sake those stupid things,
his serious pieces."

The same day I met Wordsworth and named Burns to him. Wordsworth praised him even more vehemently than Tennyson had done as the great genius who had brought poetry back to nature, but ended: "Of course I refer to his serious efforts, such as the 'Ode to a Satyr' and 'The Foolish Little Amatory Songs' of his one has to forget."

I told the tale to Henry Taylor that evening, and his answer was, "Burns'
exquisite songs and Burns' serious efforts are to me alike tedious and disagreeable reading."

So much for the infallibility of poets
in their own art.

Free Trial To Any Honest Man

The Foremost Medical Company
in the World in the Cure of Weak Men Makes this Offer.

HEALTH AND ENERGY ASSURED.
HAPPY MARRIAGE, GOOD
TEMPER, LONG LIFE.

In all the world to-day—in all the history of the world—no doctor nor institution has treated and restored so many men as has the famous KIDNEY MEDICAL CO. of Buffalo, N. Y.

This is due to the fact that the company controls
some inventions and discoveries which have no
equal in the whole realm of medical science.

So much deception has been practiced in advertising that this great old company now for the first time makes this startling offer:—
"We will send their entire and uniquely effective preparation and a whole month's course of regenerative remedies, positively on trial without cost to any honest and reliable man!"
And a dollar need be advanced—not a penny paid—all results are known to and acknowledged by the nation.

The KIDNEY MEDICAL COMPANY's appliances and remedies have been talked about and written about all over the world, yet every man has heard of them.
They restore or create strength, vigor, healthy blood and new life.
They cure nervousness, depression and all
the effects of evil habits, excessive overwork, etc.
They give full strength, development and tone
to every portion and organ of the body.
Failure is impossible and age is no barrier.
This "Treatise Without Expense" offer is limited
by the company to a short time, and application
must be made at once.
No C. O. D. scheme, no bogus lithography nor deception, no expectation of a return business proprietor, but a company of high financial and professional standing.
Write to the KIDNEY MEDICAL COMPANY, BUFFALO, N. Y., and refer to seeing the account of their offer in this paper.

IS IT PREJUDICE

MARRIAGE IS HAPPIEST, IT IS CLAIMED, IF THE WIFE BE SEN-IOR.

Every one has his own idea as to what will constitute a happy marriage, but there is one point on which nearly all agree—the wife must not be older than the husband.

People who look complacently on the spectacle of a girl of 16 or 18 marrying a man twice her age are ready to declare it a profanation of the marriage altar if the bride is a few years older than the bridegroom. It would be a curious study in sociology to trace this prejudice to its source. A prejudice it undoubtedly is, for some of the happiest marriages known to the world have been those in which the wife was the older of the two.

Everyone who knows his Boswell knows the extraordinary devotion of Johnson to the fat, ugly widow whose manners were execrable and who was nearly twice his age, so the spiteful biographers say. He knows, too, how happy Tetty made Johnson and what a grief her death was to the great man.

The marriage of Margaret Fuller and the Count d'Ossoli was a brilliant success in point of happiness, though sadly brief. Margaret was seven years older than her husband and refused him several times on this ground, but his devotion and persistency overcame
her reluctance, and the result of her marriage fulfilled her dream of such happiness. It is said that all who saw them together were struck by the lovely fondness and exquisite deference of D'Ossoli's manner toward his plain New England woman, seven years his senior, whose only attraction apparently was her great intellect. Mrs. Story says of him: "No service was too trivial, no sacrifice too great. When she was ill, he nursed her and watched over her with the tenderness of a woman. Such tender, unselfish love I have rarely seen. It made green her days and gave her an expression of peace and serenity which before was a stranger to her."

D'Ossoli's wife was his senior, yet
the marriage was a notably happy one.

FIDDLER TO VICTORY

AN ELECTION DISTRICT WAS CAR-RIED AT AN INFORMAL DANCE.

"Never scorn any of your honorable attainments," counseled the old judge,
who has been on the bench in his district for a third of a century. "I had-ed this advice in my own case or I'd not be where I now am and where I'm liable to stay as long as I'm in the harness. The first time I was nominated I was with the minority party and had little hope of election. The highest of my ambitions was to make a good showing. In the river district along the docks there was a dense population, and as the voters there went so went the district. I was told there was no chance of making any inroads there, but I wanted to satisfy myself by personal inquiry. I happened there on the night of a little dance at the house of a rough but influential giant among the river men and dropped in to have a talk with some of those present. My opponent had been invited, but sent his regrets.
My exception was a chilling one, and I was gazing on getting away as gracefully as possible when it was discovered that the fiddler was presently under the influence of refreshments and could not play. A canvas of the invited guests showed that no one could supply the vital accompaniment to the festive and the entertainment began to assume the appearance of a dismal failure."

"Perhaps I can help you out, gentlemen," I volunteered with inward trembling, for I had not touched a fiddle since I used to saw away in the kitchen at the old farm home.
"In no time they had me on top of a burning fiddle, bow and rosin in my hands. Their enthusiasm was an inspiration, for it meant votes. Merrily and vigorously I rendered such classics as 'Money Musk.' 'We Kept the Pig in the Parlor,' and 'O'Reilly's Reel,' while the farmers shook the house and shouted approval. 'More power to his elbow,' and 'It's him as will be the next judge,' was the music
that I heard on every hand till I gave the 'Home Sweet Home,' at 4 in the morning. I went in with a whoop and have been going in ever since."—De-

Tiger V. Bull

In the Plaza de Toros of Madrid, a combat was recently fought between the famous man-eater tiger Cesar and the bull Regatero. The bull was the first to appear in the inclosure. He was walking leisurely when the tiger glided in, and at once sprang upon him, firmly implanting his claws in his hide. The bull, taken by surprise seemed at first undecided what to do,
then, with a terrible bellow, he reared up and shook his adversary off. He barked several times, and charged taking the tiger upon his horns and throwing him ten feet into the air. He then retired and repeated the attack.
He did this again and again, and each time the tiger, after being thrown, would land on his feet. After the tenth trial Cesar seemed to lose heart,
he retired to a corner of the arena
and pretended to be dead. The bull could not get at him there, but kept careful watch, and each time the tiger moved Regatero lowered his head to charge. At length the tiger stole out, but was immediately charged by the bull, which had moved several yards away. Retreating this time, sure of his prey, gored without throwing.
The tiger rolled over, apparently dead,
but when the door to his den was opened he made a dash for it. The bull following, gave him a few parting strokes of the horn. During the entire combat the audience showed the greatest enthusiasm, and applauded wildly the attacks of the bull, while they hissed the strategic movements of the tiger.

The members of the Peterboro Dog and Poultry association entertained their friends at a supper at the Morgan house on Tuesday night. An important address was made by Mr. Gilbert of the Experimental Farm on "How to Dress Food." The entertainment part of the evening was made up by some excellent songs from Messrs. Pringle and Head. A very enjoyable time was spent during the evening.

They go together—but Trask's Magnetic Ointment will cure your aching, inflamed joints quickly and soothingly—and you'll be miserable no more. Try it—it always cures, and only costs 25c at all drug stores.

Better Heating Required
A great many of those present at the Winnipeg hockey match Tuesday evening were able to catch only a few battered glimpses of the game on account of the lack of proper heating accommodation. At future matches when the presence of a large crowd is anticipated it would be well for the management to place a few tiers of seats along the sides under the gallery. This could be done at little expense and would add greatly to the comfort of the spectators.

MILLBROOK WON

They Defeat Lakefield in the First Round of the Junior Series

Lakefield and Millbrook played their final game, in the first round of the junior series of the O.H.A. in the rink here last night. Millbrook, had one game against them when play began. Last week Millbrook played the Lakefield team in Lakefield where they were defeated by a score of 8 to 7. When play started last night it was to be seen at once that Millbrook was in to win. Their defence was strong while their forward line was much faster than the boys from the north. Lakefield however, played a good game but were unable to stop the rushes of their opponents, and as a result the Millbrook boys ran up a score of seven goals to three. This gives Millbrook the round by three goals.

Mr. Walter Thelan, refereed the match in a very satisfactory manner to both teams, who lined up before him as follows:
Millbrook—Tucker goal, Coomb point, T. Natras cover, J. Natras, C. Leach, F. Leach, H. Duncan, forwards.
Lakefield—Newberry goal, Savers cover, More cover, C. Stibbe, R. Ridpath, S. Ridpath, J. W. Ridpath, forwards.

Umpires—S. Grills and W. Crossly.

HOCKEY NOTES.

The local junior team will play Millbrook on ice to be selected by the O.H.A. executive some time this week. The boys had a good practice last night. Toronto is getting several strong men on their team to try and lower Peterborough's lead. Several outside men have been brought in.

A number of outside clubs have written asking for matches with Peterborough but it is not likely that any will be arranged until the series games have been finished.

The Hockey club have secured a $2 rate to Toronto for next Tuesday evening. It is expected that a large crowd of enthusiasts will accompany them.

Several knights of the grip informed the Times yesterday that reliable authorities put Peterborough down as the minor champions. We agree with their judgment.

MR. STRATTON ORGANIZES

The Reform Candidate Holds a Meeting of His Supporters

Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., the Reform Candidate held a meeting for the purpose of organization last night in the rooms over Lech's store which was well attended by his supporters.

The meeting was called to order by Dr. R. W. Bell, President of the Liberal Association. He dwelt upon the previous success of their candidate and predicted an easy victory for him in the coming provincial election.
Mr. J. R. Stratton was called upon and told of the organization work which had taken place in the different municipalities in the riding, and gave his supporters a few pointers as to replies to make to many of the charges which were being made against the Hardy Administration. He told of the many successful meetings he had held and asked that all reformers unite and assist in every way possible to secure his election.

The selection of a chairman was then discussed and Mr. Peter Hamilton was the choice of the meeting. He accepted the duties of the important position and made some pertinent remarks as to the excellent qualifications of Mr. Stratton, as the member for West Peterborough.

The different committees were selected and a complete organization for the campaign installed.

Speeches were made by many prominent Reformers, giving their opinion that Mr. Stratton would be again returned to represent West Peterborough by a handsome majority.

DOGS AND POULTRY

The Exhibition a Greater Success Than Was Expected

The promoters of the Dog and Poultry Show have every reason to feel gratified at the success of their efforts in holding the exhibition in Peterboro. Everything has passed off lovely and the judging of the dogs has given every satisfaction to the free and independent men, a few others who are chronic kickers have found some paltry reason to complain because their dogs were not given places. The hundreds of people who yesterday went up and looked over the beautiful animals commended the judges for their choice of prize winners.

The farmers took great interest in the splendid specimens of collies which are to be seen. These are the dogs of the farm and are a source of great protection to the men when handling sheep or cattle. The exhibit in this class is one which one cannot but admire.

THE POULTRY.

The poultry exhibit is one which is surprising in the number and variety of specimens. Every breed of fowl is to be seen and the judges were both ready and willing to answer all questions regarding the laying and meat qualities of the different fowls. Pigeons and rabbits were there in abundance and some beautiful species of both were to be seen. A handsome peacock was also on exhibition and his owner prides himself on the bird's beautiful tail.

DRESSED POULTRY.

A great deal of interest is being taken in the exhibit of Dressed Poultry from the Experimental Farm at Ottawa. Turkeys, Geese, Ducks and Chickens are to be seen dressed in the proper manner for sale on the English market and one cannot but admire the tidy looking way in which the fowl are done up. The quality of the birds are fine, the chickens are the size of turkeys, while the turkeys are simply monsters. We would ask our citizens to my special attention to this exhibit when visiting the show.

To-morrow is the last day of the show.

Death of Wm. Miller

The many friends of Mr. Wm. Miller will regret to learn of his death which took place at his residence on Water street yesterday morning. The deceased has been sick for a long time and owing to his old age it was expected that the recent attack would be fatal. Mr. Miller was an old employee of the Peter Hamilton Mfg. Co. and was a skilled workman. The deceased was 67 years of age at the time of his death. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at half past two and proceed to the Little Lake cemetery for interment.

The Relief Expedition

Portland, Jan. 19.—It is now proposed to start the Government Yukon relief expedition from here on the steamer George W. Elder, which sails for Skagway on February 1. Major Jacobs, of Vancouver Barracks, has agreed transportation on the Elder for 86 men, 200 tons of supplies and 30 mules. The remainder of the mules will not be shipped until a week later as the Elder's space has been engaged. It was the original intention to send the expedition north on the steamer Oregon, sailing next Sunday, but owing to inability of the Snow & Ice Transportation Company to get its train in Alaska in time General Merriam decided to defer sending the men and supplies for the expedition until February 1.

FAIRWEATHER & CO. The Largest and Finest Fur Store in Central Canada.

To Give Gracefully Select Thoughtfully

Some one has said: if we listen we can hear the Christmas Chimes saying something, just as Whittington heard the Bells of London. Listen

"Give, Give, Give to Please!
Give to please for years to Come!"

GIVE FURS
You cannot help obeying this order if you but choose here! Other things may disappoint. Furs will not. An article of Fur is useful, handsome and always gives delight—moreover by beauty of design, richness of material and workmanship, every piece is invested with a charm of its own, far more subtle and intimate than that of any other form of art or utility, because no other is so closely connected with ones daily appearance and comfort.

This large and splendidly equipped Fur Store offers a rare choice of all classes of Furs for the Holiday season.

—A woman's wardrobe is not complete without a Fur-lined Wrap. Rich roomy garments for the party, and out-door wear. From $15 to $50 embraces everything in this department, but a woman's eyes are needed to appreciate the values. The garments are 30 inches and three-quarter lengths, richly lined and trimmed in the fashionable Furs, plain, twill and broadcloth outides.
—You'll think the price must be a mistake in some of our Fur Caps—$5, $10, $12, $15, $16.50 and $25 buys beauties in Greenland Seal, Beland Cooney, Coon, Opposum, Astrachan, Electric Seal, etc., 15 inches long to 30 inches, ripple style.
—A few Men's Coon and Black Dog Coats left over from last season, worth $15 to $18, to clear at $10.
—Good Coon and Minkskin Buffalo Coats, of fine quality, this year's home make $25, $30 and $35.
—Wombat, Black Corsican Lamb, Marmot Coats, $13.50 to $25.
—Early for reductions—of course it is—but our ASTRACHAN JACKETS for ladies are marked that way Now, $10.50 buys a very choice one, former price $25.50, $25 buys a $30 one, and so on.
—COON JACKETS are in great demand, $25, $30, $35, and $40 are a sample of prices shown.
—Storm Coats, Baby Carriage Robes, full sized Sleigh Robes, and a great host of other goods in too great variety to be enumerated.
—Persian Lamb Jackets, in the latest 34 to 36-inch lengths, of choicest grade, German-dyed skins $25 to $10.
—If you have $175 to $200 to spend for a choice Alaska Seal Sackie or Jacket, ask to see our specially fine goods at these prices.

—Here's a lot of dainty warm Fur Buffs, with heads and tails, comprising Sable, Mink, Grey Lamb, Opposum and Black Martin. Prices $2, $2.50, $4, $5, $7.50, and $10. 50¢.
—Eleven designs in Collarettes—Electric Seal, Grey Lamb, German Mink, Persian Lamb and Seal Combination, Chinchilla and Seal Combination, etc., $4.50 to $18.00.
—A few Choice Sable and Persian Lamb Collarettes at $20.00, $25.00, and $30.00.
—We cannot keep Fur Gauntlets in the back room, they are in ever increasing demand—and such values—$1.95 buys a Grey or Black Lamb Imitation, $3.00 to $4.00 buys a serviceable Astrachan or Electric Seal Gauntlet, for lady or gentleman.
—Children's Grey Gauntlets in Imitation Lamb 75¢; the real Grey Lamb costing $1 but $3.00 to $4.00.
—We show Gauntlets in Persian Lamb, Seal, Beaver, Otter, Coon and Matanasi Buffalo at special prices for Xmas shoppers.
—Then Caps are always very givable, showing good judgment in the purchase and giving comfort to the wearer: $1.50, $2.00, $2.75, $4.00, $5.00, $6.00 and $7.50 buys beauties in Baltic Seal, Nutria, Wombat, Astrachan, Grey Lamb, Beaver, German Otter and Persian Lamb.

—Some extra choice Sable and Brown Bear Skins have contributed to the making of a quantity of fine Muffs which cannot be excelled anywhere—$5.00 to $11.

PETERBOROUGH, JANUARY, 21, 1898

The former "wicked partner" is now the wicked boy.

Mr. Garvin's campaign seems to be run on rather "Green" lines.

Mr. St. John will find it hard to realize on those pigs of his.

Register whether you have a vote or not; vote whether you are registered or not.

Therapies a jar in the proceedings at Bensford the other evening which caused J.R. to get rattled.

The Ontario Grits need a man like Mr. Wilfrid with the trick of making settlements.

Were not the pigs dead even before they were stuck? Why talk them to death again?

Does Edward Blake appreciate the attachment of his name to a club kicking for patronage?

Many ratepayer's think Mr. Garvin is sadly deficient in the sense of humor, and that he can not see a large subject joke.

It takes two to make a bargain—and a speech sometimes, especially when one of them gets rattled and stings.

A Premier's promise is the name of a long story that will run for some weeks through all the papers of Ontario.

A few local politicians think West Peterborough is appropriated to J.R. for life. What will West Peterborough say?

We wonder where Mr. Hardy would stand at the finish, if the "cold justice" principle were the only factor in the coming election.

The local paper "friendly" to Mr. Stratton published on Wednesday an account of his speech at Bensford. We doff our hat in admiration of the patience of the farmers who sat it out.

Men who have been in office for twenty-five years acquire the notion that they own the country. Sometimes men in office even for twelve years think they own the riding.

The Government claim that they have a balance. The Patrons used to say that they held the balance. The Conservatives say they will hold the balance if they can find any left.

It is said that it is 50 degrees below zero on the Yukon. No matter how high the temperature may rise in the meantime, many Ontario politicians will find it a great deal colder here after election day.

Mr. Stratton made his first speech of the campaign at Bensford on Wednesday evening, in making some of his lengthened periods he found it very useful to have a friend on hand to Yokome together.

There are dissensions in the Liberal ranks in South Toronto, North West, South Renfrew, Glengarry, West Kent and Kingston. They seem to be missing badly the hand of little Oliver this campaign.

Mr. Stratton seems to feel proud of "the success of his personal efforts to advance the welfare of West Peterborough." Is it West Peterborough or J. R. Stratton who is receiving the benefit of his representation?

for the Hamilton asylum from a Hamilton hardware man who buys it from a London miller. The Spectator wants to know what relation flour has to hardware. That's easy. The flour is made into hardtack—Ottawa Citizen.

Siler and Hausmann, the sporting reporters have caught the volubility and vigor of the pugilists with whom they associate. Or did the fighters catch it from the writers? At any rate, it is rough on the reading public, which already had a surfeit of the troubles of the boxers. I cordially invite the sporting editors to confide in the police.—Buffalo Express.

TO AMALGAMATE

Central Canada Loan Co. Will Absorb the Manitoba, as stated in the Times.

As was stated in the Times some months ago, the Manitoba and Northwest Loan Company will at an early date amalgamate with the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company. The shareholders of the former company held a meeting in Toronto on Wednesday afternoon, when the proposal to amalgamate was advocated by Senator Cox, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Hon. H. D. McMillan, Ald. Lamb, Ald. Saunders, Rev. Dr. Wardner and J. H. Brock. A resolution in favor of amalgamation was carried unanimously, and the directors were empowered to arrange the amalgamation.

Hon. H. D. McMillan and J. Somers Alkins withdrew from the board, Dr. Larratt Smith, and Dr. Wardner being elected on the board in their place. The Central Canada is one of the strongest of the loan and savings companies in Ontario. It has a paid-up capital of $1,250,000 and operated until recently entirely in the province of Ontario. Within the past couple of years, however, it has extended its operations into the province of Manitoba, with the most successful results. The following gentlemen compose the directors: Hon. Geo. A. Cox, president; Richard Hall, vice-president; E. S. Vinden, F. O. Taylor, Rev. J. Potts, D.D., Robert Jaffray, J. H. Housner, Wm. McKenzie, A. A. Cox and Hon. Chief Justice Taylor.

The Manitoba and Northwest Loan Company was formed nineteen years ago. Its authorized capital is $2,000,000, with a subscribed capital of $1,000,000, of which $375,000 is called up and paid. The rest amount amounts to $600,000. The head office is in Winnipeg, and the greater part of the business is done in the west, though a large portion of the stock is held here. The directors were: The Hon. Senator Alkins, P.C., President; Alfred Hoskin, Q.C., Vice-President; Messrs. A. V. de Laporte, Frank Turner, T. Sutherland Stayner, R. T. Riley, J. Somers Alkins and the Hon. H. D. McMillan.

A COMBINE

An Item of Interest to Many of the Peterboro Merchants

Our milliners who are in the habit of buying a large quantity of goods from American wholesale millinery firms are interested in the formation of a combination of the leading houses in the United States.

Representatives of twenty or more of the prominent houses met in New York City the other day and formed what is known as the National Association of Millinery Merchants. There were representatives of firms in Philadelphia, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Detroit, St. Louis, Rochester, Syracuse, Indianapolis, San Francisco, St. Joseph, Mo., and Port Wayne, Ind. A dozen New York houses were represented.

A committee was appointed with instructions to communicate with all the leading wholesale millinery houses and invite them to become members. In the past there has been a great deal of cutting prices, especially in the Eastern cities, where Toronto and Montreal houses receive a larger portion of straw and felt shapes as well as laces, jets, and other trimmings, the outputs of the factories being controlled by the American house. The cutting in prices made to catch the Canadian trade enabled buyers to make profitable purchases. Now that a combination is formed, a schedule of prices will be made and probably an advance in certain lines established before the spring trade is over. Many houses, it is said, have made arrangements for repeat orders at the first sale price.

KEENE LOCALS

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
The first carnival of the season is to be held here on Friday night, the 21st, (to-night). A large attendance is anticipated providing the weather is favorable.

Mr. Jas. Bowie, butcher of Lang, purchased a very beautiful rig from Mr. S. Mather, of this village, which is a credit to both purchaser and builder.

The young man who made a revolver so conspicuous on Monday night while engaged in a dispute should be reminded that we have law in this country which strictly forbids any individual to carry such a firearm, unless he is authorized to do so by a Magistrate. We trust that such an occurrence will not happen in our peaceful little village again.

Mr. Wm. Wedlock is at present busy engaged hauling and delivering cord-wood to his customers in the village.

A silver wedding was celebrated at Easonville corners on Monday night, the 10th inst., by Mr. and Mrs. George Eason and family, and about thirty invited guests. All the family were present consisting of two sons and three daughters. No grand-children were present but possibly the golden wedding will be favored with a few. A very enjoyable time was spent and Mr. and Mrs. Eason were the recipients of a number of beautiful and costly presents.

Mr. T. Decard was unanimously elected president of the Lime Juice Club here and we feel assured that he will give general satisfaction as he is a good orator and full of wit. He has, we are informed secured the services of a scribe to report all business in connection with the club. A full list of the members will be given in next week's items. Look out for them.

HEROISM OF A GIRL

STOOD TWO HOURS IN A WELL HOLDING UP A CHILD.

Special to the Times.
A notable act of heroism on the part of a girl of 15, named Emma Hutton, was the subject of a story in the Times, as having occurred in a well there, on the 2nd instant. The circumstances, as detailed to the Royal Humane Society, which has awarded Miss Hutton a medal, are remarkable. The rescuer, who had been left in charge of a child of four, went to draw from a well, in to which the baby happened to fall. Succeeding in descending the well, Miss Hutton raised the child to the surface of the water, but found she could not get out again. For more than two hours she had to remain at the bottom with the child on her shoulders and the water up to her neck before the mother returned and gave the alarm. Both were rescued soon afterwards.

FELL FROM THE TRAIN

A WELL-KNOWN BUTCHER MEETS DEATH ON THE ROAD.

(Special to the Times.)
Norwich, Jan. 20.—The body of Chas. Brown, formerly of Norwich, was found under the railroad bridge at Burgessville this morning. He was on his way from Embro to his home here, and it is thought he must have fallen off the train. His wife and family were suspecting him to look after moving their household goods to Embro, where the deceased has been carrying on a butcher shop for some time. The body has been brought to Norwich.

A WATCHMAN'S DEATH

HE GOT BETWEEN TWO TRAINS AND WAS CRUSHED TO DEATH.

(Special to the Times.)
London, Ont., Jan. 20.—George Booth, a watchman for the Grand Trunk railway, stepped between the tracks while two moving trains crossed at Waterloo street this morning. The beam running across the pilot of the east-bound engine struck the unfortunate man in the back of the head. He was taken to the hospital and died at ten o'clock this morning. Booth was 64 years of age, and had been in the employ of the Grand Trunk for over 25 years. He leaves a widow and three children.

NO IDLERS HERE

EVERYBODY MUST WORK IN THIS NORTH CAROLINA TOWN.

(Special to the Times.)

"Three miles from nowhere, in a little backwoods village over in North Carolina the other day, I found the one town in the world where everybody works and no loafing is permitted," said a traveling salesman to a reporter of the Louisville Post. "In this hamlet there's no idleness that is not voluntary or vicious, and this privilege is not allowed even to the wandering Willie out of a job. On a sign at the post office in Beechland is this injunction, from which there is no appeal: 'No loafing allowed in this town.' We work, and so must everybody else who expects to reside here for any length of time. Idleness breeds crime, and, as we never had a robbery or a murder here, we have determined to strike at the root of all evil. Tramps will be given one hour in which to depart, and honest men out of employment will be given work if they desire it. If not they must git, and git as quickly as their lazy legs will carry them away from our village. This means you."

CHILD KILLED

FATAL RUNAWAY OF HORSES DOWN A HILL NEAR ST. THOMAS YESTERDAY.

(Special to the Times.)
St. Thomas, Jan. 20.—In a runaway yesterday afternoon, down the Fingill Hill, Claude Siple, an 8-year-old boy, was killed. Clara McDowell had one leg broken. Minnie McDowell was badly bruised about the head and back. Miss Siple had several teeth knocked out and chin hurt. The dead lad is a son of Chas. Siple, milkman, South-west.

Following is the text of the agreement between the C.P.R. Company and the train dispatchers and operators:

"Rights of trial or investigation in the case of discharge or suspension. 'Telegraphers are not to be discriminated against for serving on boards of adjustment."

"The telegraphers will be allowed to attend their regular annual meetings."

"Rights of promotion."

"No telegrapher will be required to teach the art of telegraphing."

"Extra pay when attending switch and signal lamps."

"Telegraphers will not be required to shovel snow, sift ashes, or scrub platforms."

"Commissions to be paid on commercial business."

"Twelve consecutive hours to constitute a day's work."

"Overtime to be paid after twelve hours."

"Telegraphers to be exempt from Sunday work as far as possible."

"Telegraphers in the service for four years or more will be entitled to two weeks' leave of absence with full pay each year."

"The minimum salaries on the different divisions to be: Cartier to Fort William, agent and operator, with dwelling, fire and light, $47.50 per month, without travel; telegraph operator, $47.50; relieving agent, $50 and 50 cents a day expenses."

"Chalk River to Cartier, and Sudbury to the Soo, agent and operator, dwelling, etc., $42.50; without $47.50; operator, $42.50; relieving agent, same as before."

"Chalk River, east, main line and branches, agent and operator, with dwelling, etc., on main line, $40; branches, $38; without, main line, $45; branches, $43; telegraph operator, $40; main line, $38 on branches; relieving agent, same as before."

"In addition to the above individual increases amounting to several hundred dollars were secured, and it was agreed to put on extra men at several points."

Send in your News

Many good items of news are lost to the newspapers by the inactivity of the people, who hesitate to tell the reporters of matters concerning themselves. Not that they do not want it to appear in print but that they are afraid that it would be pushing themselves forward. This is a wrong idea. From a reporter's standpoint the man who will stop a newspaper reporter on the street and inform him that he has been to Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, or any other city or town, that he is going to get married, or his wife entertained friends from a distance, is the best man alive. May his like increase throughout the earth. If you have done anything mean or disgraceful it isn't necessary to tell it, for there are always plenty of people who will do it for you. It is good things about yourself and your neighborhood that the newspaper man wants you to give him.

Ayer's
Asthma
Cure

better known as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, has made a record for its remarkable cures of asthma. Cases that have been considered beyond hope or help have been cured by this remedy. We give two examples of such cures out of the many on record:—

"My mother has been a great sufferer from asthma for the past ten years, and her recovery is almost without a parallel. On account of her advanced age—over seventy—we had but little hope of ever seeing her well again; but we are sincerely grateful to inform you that she has been entirely cured by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."

INGLIS BANKS, Tar Brook, N.B.

"I was a sufferer for a long time from asthma, vainly endeavoring to procure relief in the use of ordinary remedies. At length I was induced to try a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. The first bottle afforded me so much benefit that I continued the use of the remedy until entirely cured."

A POINT IN HOUSEKEEPING

HOW TO KEEP THE TABLE LINEN SMOOTH AND SHINING.

If you would have your tablecloth beyond peradventure smooth and shining you must from the expense of damask on the dinner table itself. Of course, all table linen should be freshly "done up" in the laundry, but we have no other device except folding the cloth to keep them fresh while unused. Still, one does not like to see the creases which make some dinner damasks look like giant checker-boards. Therefore, the particular housekeeper has the cloth laid, and herself superintends the neat-handed Phyllis ministrations with a smoothing iron. Around the long table she goes, carefully smoothing out each line and crease until the tablecloth looks as if it had been modeled in ivory. Each centre-piece of linen or embroidery and lace is laid in place, under the flower stand in the centre or under the candelabra. These also are ironed in their places. Finally the tiny side table that sometimes stands by the mistress' chair to hold the tea equipage has its pretty cloth with border of hollyhocks or violets carefully ironed quite flat. The table is then ready for china, silver and crystal.

RETAIL GROCERS' ASSOCIATION

Meeting of the Retail Grocers' Association held in the Council Chamber last night.

A meeting of a new association known as the Retail Grocers' Association was held in the Council Chamber last night. About twenty grocers were present. Mr. H. J. Miller acted as chairman and Mr. C. Reesor as secretary.

Mr. Miller in opening the meeting the meeting stated that he was sorry that there was not a larger attendance as there were important matters to be submitted to the secretary. He hoped that now the matter was undertaken they would all take part and make the meetings interesting.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary.

The secretary then read communications from the Retail Grocers' Association in Hamilton and other places, giving copies of their by-laws, and explaining their methods of benefiting their members, especially in the collection of their debts.

The aims and objects of the organization were read by the secretary. These are in brief:

To foster a more social feeling among the members of the trade.

To patronize such wholesale houses as do exclusive wholesale business.

Keeping a list of such persons as are unworthy of credit, for the information of members.

An intelligence bureau where members may be aided in securing reliable help.

Watching all legislation affecting the trade.

To secure through the municipal legislature better laws in licensing pedlars, and other matters affecting the trade.

Protection against the adulteration of goods, fictitious labels, and false weight and measure.

Shortening the hours of labor.

To recommend the adjustment of all trade disputes by arbitration whenever practicable.

Mr. Allison thought that the regulation of debt and credit would be of great advantage to everybody.

The chief object was not to fix prices on goods, but to fix something ought to be done to regulate the credit system. He thought that all the grocers should join the association as it would be the most beneficial of any association.

A short discussion took place as to by-laws, committees, days of meeting, etc. It was moved and seconded that Messrs. Henry, Moore and Allison be a committee to draft by-laws for the association.—Carried.

The members of the association wish it understood by the public that the association is not formed to fix a scale of prices, but chiefly to promote good fellowship and a better understanding among the members of the trade.

The customers are expected to receive as much benefit from the association as the merchants. Further discussion took place regarding bankrupt stocks, peddling and other matters pertaining to the trade, after which the meeting adjourned to meet again in the Council Chamber next Thursday night at 8.30.

War Cloud Lowers

SERIOUS TROUBLE APPEARING IN ORIENTAL WATERS

Japan is Taking an Aggressive Attitude—Sold His Daughter—Railway in Africa—Politics in East Toronto—Firebugs at Work—Mr. Harty Will Run in Kingston—Insane From Study—Other Despatches

Yokohama, Jan. 21.—A fleet of nine warships will leave in the course of a week for Chinese waters.

A Supreme Military Advisory Council has been created, consisting of the Marquis Yamagata, Marquis Oyama, Marquis Saigou and Prince Komatsu, with Gen. Kawakami as chief.

IT LOOKS SERIOUS.

London, Jan. 21.—The St. James' Gazette this afternoon says: "Japan is prepared for war. That, in a nutshell, is the news from Yokohama to-day, and it is really the first news from Japan since the beginning of the Chinese crisis. It was obvious that the Japanese Government had stopped telegraphic communication, which it never does, except when mobilizing the army or navy. That is precisely what it has been doing. It is almost certain that the destination of the fleet is Wei-Hai-Wei and there is no doubt the movement means that the status quo in China, so far as Manchuria and Korea are concerned, shall not be altered by Russia, or any combination of Russian allies, in defiance of Great Britain and Japan. So long as the defenders' policy is equality of opportunity in China, they are in a position to enforce their claims."

FRENCH WARSHIPS SAIL.

London, Jan. 21.—A Paris despatch says: The French warships Bruix and Vauban will sail for China on Jan. 24, Monday next. Admiral De Beaumont has been appointed commander-in-chief of the French squadron in the far East. He will hoist his flag on board the Vanban.

RAILWAY IN AFRICA

THE FRENCH BUILDING A LINE TO TAP A FERTILE COUNTRY

(Special to the Times.)

Washington, Jan. 21.—According to a report from United States Consul Muterion at Aden, Arabia, the French have finally begun the construction of a railroad to connect their East African possessions, in the Somali protectorate with Abyssinia. The road is expected to drain one of the most fertile countries in Africa.

The line is to run from Djibouti to Harer in Abyssinia, distant about 180 miles. The surveys have been completed and work has commenced on several points on the line.

IN EAST TORONTO

A SPLIT AMONG THE CONSERVATIVES—DR. PYNE TO REAT DR. RYERSON.

(Special to the Times.)

Toronto, Jan. 21.—If Dr. Ryerson decides to run in east Toronto he may run against one Liberal and one conservative.

It is said, too, that Dr. Ryerson will not run as a nominee of the conservative convention.

There has been dissatisfaction in the ranks for some time, which the leading Conservatives attempted to overcome. It was almost accomplished when Dr. Ryerson, without consulting anyone, issued his circular. Then the friends of Dr. Pyne asked him to contest the convention. They say now that they will not withdraw his name, and that he will carry the convention, and the riding against every party.

FIREBUGS WORK

SERIOUS BLAZE AT ALVINGTON WIPES OUT SEVERAL BUSINESS PLACES.

(Special to the Times.)

Alvinston, Jan. 21.—An incendiary fire to-day, damaged Richard Cole's building to the extent of $2,500, insured for $1,200.

Mrs. E. E. Spackman's dry goods stock and household goods, $7,500, insured for $3,000.

Store, owned by Scandrett Bros., London, $1,200, insurance unknown. James Morrison's stores and tinware, $1,500, insurance $750.

John Cunningham's building $1,500, no insurance.

Oddfellow's furniture in Cunningham's block $150, no insurance. The blocks of Whiting & Co., and Wm. Irving were damaged about $100.

MR. HARTY TO RUN

THE KINGSTON LIBERALS EXPECT HIM TO REMAIN THEIR CANDIDATE AT THE ELECTIONS.

(Special to the Times.)

Kingston, Jan. 21.—The Executive of the Conservative Association met last night, and arranged for a nomination convention next week. The names of the respective candidates, ex-Mayor Skinner, Herald and Smythe, were canvassed, and they will be consulted. It is generally agreed that Hon. William Harty will be the Liberal nominee.

PETERBOROUGH, JANUARY, 22, 1898

Too much cash and the control of patronage are not conducive to harmony in a political party.

Will Mr. Garvin give in or will he have to be knocked out?

The Grits say that Stratton is striking out. Tories say that he will be struck out.

Nearly all our Canadian politicians, when landed in office, manage the affairs of the country, as if they had lived like millionaires all their lives.

Mr. Garvin's intense earnestness, evident sincerity, etc., are very pathetic.

A few favored (and doubtful) constituents in Ontario find the Ontario Government a Klondike about election time.

"Bensford heard the boom." The explosion was accompanied by a lot of talk and much smoke. The smoke must have been thick for the electors could not see the ideas presented very clearly.

Mr. Stratton is gaining a bad reputation for the length of his speeches.

Monty Grits say that Mr. Garvin is very much like Great Britain — he stands in "splendid isolation."

The Victoria Warder gives vent to the following outburst, which would almost make St. John blush: "Mr. St. John, the clever and talented member for West York, is now the political hero of the hour. He has come out on top of the heap, having substantiated every statement he made concerning the government piggery on the Mumbur. His slanders have been silenced by the stern logic of facts, established by reliable evidence. Truth is mighty and will prevail. Some journalistic, political, and private traducers of Mr. St. John can now go and hang their heads in shame, that is if they have any."

Coal oil is $45 a gallon at Dawson City. Many people cannot afford to make light of such a thing.

Among the ante-election charges there is always the charge of the Liberals with doubtful constituencies on the treasury.

Yesterday's Globe comes out with a long and glowing account of the life of Hon. A. S. Hardy. It must be expecting his political demise.

The Globe says the Opposition has no policy. That is because the Reformers have appropriated it for election purposes.

It is too bad there was nobody at Bensford to laud Mr. Stratton to the skies except that gentleman himself. Mr. Bensford tried to do it, but could not spread it thick enough. Perhaps he did not know as well as Mr. Stratton the many good qualities of the representative of West Peterboro.

NOW A VERY HAPPY MAN

Mr. T. R. Baxter Says:
"After the Use of Seven Bottles of Paine's Celery Compound I Was Perfectly Cured and Feel Young Again"

The Great Medicine is Tri-umphantly Victorious after Medical Men Fail

This Almost Miraculous Cure Has Vastly Increased the Fame of Paine's Celery Compound in the Maritime Provinces

ASSURANCE AND HOPES FOR THE MOST DESPERATE CASES.

Wells & Richardson Co.,
Dear Sirs:—I desire to let you know about my wonderful cure by your precious medicine, Paine's Celery Compound.
I was afflicted by three complaints that made my life a misery and a burden. I had erysipelas for forty years, bleeding piles for fifteen years, and sciatic rheumatism for over a year. I tried the doctors and all kinds of medicines, but no help or relief was afforded me, and I could not eat or sleep. I was then advised to use Paine's Celery Compound, and, oh, what a mighty change. The use of the first bottle enabled me to eat and sleep, and after using seven bottles I was quite another man—was perfectly cured, and felt young again. All that I have written can be proven by merchants, doctors, magistrates, and three ministers of the Gospel, and by scores of other people. I shall always thank you for your wonderful medicine. Paine's Celery Compound.
THOS. R. BAXTER,
Kensdale, N.S.

I hereby certify that Paine's Celery Compound has made a well man of Thomas R. Baxter.

JAMES H. THORNE,
Justice of the Peace.

They Came Back
Two town boys took it into their heads yesterday to start out into the world on their own hook. They got themselves prepared, put on a couple of suits of clothes, and, and were to strike out with some confidence on a westbound freight. When they arrived at Cayville they were thrown off the train and had nothing for it but to walk back to Peterborough.

Woman's Idea Of Excellence

The economical and wise woman, who has the management of a home, knows from experience that when the "excellence" of any home necessity is established and guaranteed, money and time are saved when such goods are used.

The Diamond Dyes for home dyeing have a world-wide reputation, and stand first in purity, strength, fastness and simplicity of use. When the Diamond Dyes are used, old, faded and dingy garments are made to look as good as new at an exceedingly small cost.
Diamond Dyes, like all other popular and perfect goods, are largely imitated. Do not allow your dealer to sell you some inferior make of dye; ask for the "Diamond" and see that you get them. Send to Wells & Richardson Co., Montreal, P. Q., for valuable book of directions and sample card of colors; sent free to any address.

DR. LAMONT'S STRONG FINGERS.

I was afraid you were going to slip through my fingers," said good old Dr. Lamont.
The writer was a boy of about seventeen, then. While a student at school more than 300 miles from home, I was taken down with pneumonia. I had a tough time, and for two or three weeks my life was despaired of. But youth and good care won the fight, and one bright morning I was ready to go home with my dear father who had come for me. I was weak still, but well and happy clear up to the brim. Oh, what a ride! Oh, what sweet air! Oh, what a glorious world I had got back into! And what reception from mother and sisters at the familiar house. Oh, life! Oh, health! Oh, dulce, dulce domum!

Such an illness, if one survives it, only makes the sense of existence and its blessings more keen and delightful. It is good rather than bad. Lucky, but not to have slipped through the doctor's fingers.
But when a man with most of his days behind him has to write a line like this: "All my life I have suffered more or less from disease"—why that is another and sadder story. It is the odds between an occasional thunderstorm and a sky always covered with clouds.

We quote what he says, reminding the reader that in this matter Mr. William Hodgkinson voices the experience of millions. He says: "I always had a bad taste in the mouth, no proper relish for food, and after eating had pain and fulness at the chest."
These sensations are symptoms of acute indigestion. In the stomach there is marked loss of power. The food is neither rolled over as it should be presented to the digestive fluid, nor is it duly moved on towards the outlet into the bowels. As a result it ferments and gives off irritating acids and gases, hence the patient complains of pain, weight, distension, acidity and flatulence in that region. Thence the poisons proceed to every other part of the body, and headache, vertigo, gout, rheumatism, depressed spirits, and a score more of evils follow; among them, nervous prostration, progressive anemia, locomotor ataxia, and more or less complete paralysis.

"Frequently," continues Mr. Hodgkinson, "I was sick, and at times went on I became very weak and feeble. I consulted one doctor after another, and took various medicines, but obtained no real or lasting relief from any of them. This describes my general condition until the fortunate day when I read about Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup. I was impressed by the statements others had made concerning it, and proceeded to try it. After taking one bottle I found relief, and was soon entirely free from my old complaint. Since that time, now eight years ago, I have enjoyed good health. Knowing personally of its virtues, I have recommended this remedy to hundreds, and have never heard of its having failed to give relief. But for Mother Seigel's Syrup I should have been in my grave years ago. Signed, William Hodgkinson, Hollington, near Uttoxeter, Staffordshire, August 11th, 1893."
MR. Hodgkinson is well known and highly respected. He is a local preacher in the Methodist church, and by employment a quarry master. Had he gone into the grave, as he feared he should, he would have been missed and lamented by the community in which he has long been useful, and will live to be useful, we hope, for years to come.
Now let us repeat our leading thought. Short illnesses, even though sharp and dangerous, may result in good rather than harm. But a disease that drags its victims through decades of lingering distress, what shall we say of it? The trouble and suffering it inflicts is beyond estimate, and its name is indignation and dyspepsia. And the name of the medicine that cures it Mr. Hodgkinson has done you the favor to mention with clearness and emphasis.

EAST DURHAM LIBERALS

Mr. S. Grandy Nominant at Millbrook, Jan. 20. There was a full representation of delegates from all parts of the riding at the convention this afternoon. The President, Dr. L. B. Powers, presided; B. P. Ross, the secretary, was in his place and called the roll. A ballot was then taken. The favorites seemed to be Mr. Samuel Grandy, Mr. H. H. Walker. At the fourth ballot Mr. Grandy received a majority of votes and it was then made unanimous by a standing vote. Mr. Grandy made a very nice address in accepting the nomination, saying he was in full sympathy with the Liberal party.
Mr. Grandy was the gentleman who came within 62 votes of being elected when he ran against T. Dixon Craig, undoubtedly the strongest party in the ranks of the Conservative party in East Durham, and it is said that forty Liberals in Port Hope voted for Mr. Craig, at that time.

CAUSES OF POVERTY

HARD CONDITION OF HUMANITY
ESTABLISHED BY NATURE.

(Special to the Times.)

In the first place, I should without hesitation say that the cause of poverty is the hard condition of the human lot as by nature established, writes Francis A. Walker, in the Century. The prime reason why bread must be so dear and flesh and blood so cheap is that the ratio of exchange between the two has been fixed in the constitution of the earth, much to the disadvantage of the latter. When it is written that God cursed the ground and bade it be unfruitful, bringing forth briars and thorns, that man should only eat his bread with a dripping brow, the Scripture does not exceed the truth of the unending and ever painful struggle for existence.

Taking it by and large, it is a hard, cold and cruel world, in which little is to be got except by toil and anguish, and of that little not all can be kept by any degree of care and pains. There are, indeed, regions where the earth spontaneously brings forth fruit enough for a small population, and where a moderate effort will largely increase that product, while the climate is so benign that life itself is easily protected from exposure. But these are not the regions where man ever has, or seemingly ever can, become a noble being; and even here, in the midst of tropical plenty, the serpent stings, the tiger prowls at night around the village, the earthquake and the tornado work their frightful mischief, cholera and malaria kill their millions, while every few years guant famine stalks over the land, leaving it surnbered with corpses.

Throughout all the regions inhabited by our own race life is a terribly close and grinding struggle. From four to seven months the earth lies looked up in frost, and its wretched inhabitants cower over the somny fire and try to outlast the winter. When summer opens it is to a harsh soil that the peasant-sorts to win the means, scanty at the best, of barely preserving life. Sterility is the rule among the soils of the earth. Mountain and plain alike. The exceptions are a comparatively few fertile valleys in which are concentrated the productive essence of nature. The literature of primitive peoples is ever telling the story of this unceasing wrestle with the hard conditions of existence, and the same dreary tale is repeated down to our own day. 'Alman, the Greek, calls spring the season of short fare, and less than forty years ago the Irish peasant spoke of the starving season, which immediately preceded the harvest of the year. If, then, you complain of poverty, make your complaint mainly and squarely against the Maker of the earth, for poverty is largely His work. The socialist is simply dishonest when he charges human misery upon society. Society has done vastly more to relieve misery than to create it.

For the skating rink.

Skating sets are to be the vogue. A stylish skating set suitable for wear at the rink consists of a hat, boa and mitt. The hat is made of deep violet velvet, and fits closely to the head something like a peasant girl's cap. It is edged with a narrow band of marton. In the direct front two white birds are caught. They look as if they had just alighted upon the fair wearer's hair. The boa is made of fluffy loops of black chiffon, edged with pipings of violet satin, and nestling among the soft folds are the heads of furry little animals. Sometimes these small animals have wonderfully brilliant eyes, made of rhinestones, perhaps, or they have gleaming yellow eyes of topaz. The mitt is a most elaborate affair. It is made of shirred violet velvet, finished at each side with a gorgeous frill of violet satin in a shade or two lighter than the mitt. For the trimming, woven tails are curled in curious shapes, with the ends of two or three tails dangling below the mitt.

A Hint to the Middle-Aged.

If women would but realize it, no one but very young women should wear a broad-brimmed hat; the shading of the features with such a broad brim helps to accentuate every line and wrinkle.

Planet Discoveries.

Three more small planets were, it appears, discovered by M. Charikof of Nice, on December 31, making, if all recent announcements are verified, 20 discoveries for 1896, and a total of 429 Twenty years ago only 109 were known.

FANTASTIC VAGARY.

A PUBLIC MAN WHO CONSULTED
THE OUIJA BOARDS.

This is One of the Grounds on Which He is Sought to Show That He Was Incapable of Making a Proper Will—The Estate Involved is a Large One.

The Ouija board, that curious little device which attracted so much attention and furnished so much amusement to many people a few years ago, has got into the courts. It is cited as evidence of a man's mental weakness and his incapacity to make a proper will. This man was Charles M. Pond, once State Treasurer of Connecticut, a Senator in the same State and a director of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad. A suit is now under way in New York to break his will. It was instituted by his brother, Amos Phelps Pond.

Among the property which Charles M. inherited from his father was the Prospect Hill farm, on the outskirts of the city of Hartford, and this, with about $450,000 worth of other realty, he willed to Hartford. The disputed farm or homestead which Hartford proposes to turn into a public park, is now valued at about $200,000.

The claim is made by the contestants that his brother had no right to devise away this tract, and counsel bring forward his father's will in substantiation of this position, and quote that part of it which reads: "And it is my express desire that my said son, Charles M. Pond, will not alienate or sell my farm known as the 'Prospect Hill Farm,' but that the same may descend and be from time to time devised to my lineal descendants."

Among the testimony already introduced is that of Mrs. Frank A. Porter, a sister of the Pond, which it is said showed the deceased brother to be an extraordinary and eccentric person.

In his public career Charles M. was known only as a man of rare judgment and brilliant parts, but it seems that for some time previous to his death his mind was clouded or weakened by disipation, and he displayed oddities of intellect that were entirely at variance with his character as the public and all but his intimates knew it.

According to Mrs. Porter's statement, some of the evidence that would be important and valuable as corroborative proof has been deliberately destroyed. The destroyed evidence consisted of works on Spiritism and the several Ouija boards that were the property of Charles M. Pond, and were used by him. It is said that the dead man was a firm believer in Spiritism and was an easy dupe of mediums. Luther R. Marsh was not more thoroughly fooled by Miss De Bar than he was by the men and women who pretended to be able to materialize those who had passed to the shining shores.

After the death of his wife, it is said, he was almost constantly under the influence of mediums. He had implicit confidence in the oracular qualities of the Ouija board which is a rudimentary sort of planchette. In the latter case the spirits are supposed to communicate with their friends in the flesh by means of writing; in the former the spirits have not got far in the third R's, and they spell out their communications. A planchette is a small heart-shaped bit of wood, mounted on two tiny legs with casters, and having for the third leg a pencil. When the little table is placed on a sheet of paper and the hands are permitted to rest lightly upon it, the pencil moves, and some people pretend that the lead-marks made by the pencil are legible messages, and they go through the solemn formality of reading them.

Ouija has a three-legged, heart-shaped little table, too, which the hands rest upon, but it travels not over writing paper but over a smooth rectangular board, on which the alphabet and the numerals are stenciled so that they make the segment of a circle, and the words "yes" and "no" are stenciled in two of the corners. Messages are read by following the movements of the leg at the apex of the heart. It travels from letter to letter and spells out words, the nerves and muscles of the manipulators having much to do with the direction of its movements.

Charles M. Pond had several of these Ouija boards and he consulted them dozens of times a day. Through them he communicated with his dead wife. The story is told that often he would arise in the midst of a group of friends, excuse himself and hurry off to another room to ask Ouija certain questions.

These Ouija boards with all of her brother's Spiritistic books, Mrs. Porter says, she burned. Her statement is that she went to the office of one of the executors of the will and in his absence obtained from his father, who drew up the will, permission to remove the books and boards from the house, which she did and made a bonfire of them.

This is only one of the strange proceedings of the executors, it is claimed.

There is a great deal of secrecy about the proceedings and a whole lot of mystery, but the plaintiff feels confident that he will be able to show the mental infirmity of his brother to make a will as well as to clinch his own right to the disputed part by the restricting clause in his father's will, which insists that the property shall not be devised away from the family.

The dissipated habits of Pond's brother have been pretty well established. He seems to have had a wild and terrible mania for morphine and administered it to everybody and everything on his place, even the dogs. The Ouija board weakness, though, appears to be the most fantastic of all his vagaries.

Tactics in the West.

A colonel in the French army, who had a great eye for nestness, but not much of an ear for music, took occasion one day to compliment his bandmaster on the appearance of his men. The bandmaster, in answer, said the colonel, and their instruments are nicely polished and kept in order, but there is one improvement that I must insist upon.

What is it, colonel? You must train your men, when they perform, to lift their fingers all at exactly the same time and at regular intervals on their instruments, so—once, two! one, two!

The Military College.

The Kingston Military College is a very expensive luxury to the people of Canada, and some of the items we have to pay for are very peculiar. The gym class, $2.50; Exercise of Wales hunting belt, $2.50; emigrant's knife, $2.50; trout rod, twelve feet long with three joints, $5.00; a lawn tennis bat, $2.71. The college cost us $70,000. No wonder there is a deficit.—Brookville Recorder.

PETERBORO BIRDS WON
A Great Cocking Main Held In Lindsay

IT WAS A BITTER FIGHT

The Times Special Correspondent
Learns the Facts

Many Prominent Citizens From Both Towns Witness the Main-Beautiful Specimens of Fowls-The Times Man Had a Kodak-Namers and Cuts to Appear in a Future Issue

Lindsay has always been noted for being a red hot sporting town and her reputation has been more firmly established than ever by the facts which the Times has learned through its correspondent.

One of the Birds

Every train on the day mentioned through in a few well known characters whose presence in the town was a source of wonder to the citizens. Men paraded the streets all afternoon wearing exceedingly loud suits and dazzling diamonds. When two of them would meet they would talk in a knowing way to one another and it was surmised that a pugilistic contest was to take place in the neighborhood of the town.

The thoughts of the citizens were far astray, however, as to the nature of their presence. On the same evening a party of Peterboro people left for our sister town, and on their arrival they went to a well known resort where the room had been prepared for a huge cocking main. It was a hard contest between Peterboro and Lindsay birds, but the local birds came out the best at the end of about 7 mains. Considerable betting took place between the people present and the Peterboro men came out on top. The Times man was on hand and took note of all the parties present, as well as some snap-shots. Owing to being unable to get our films ready in time we leave full details of each main, the cuts and names of those present until a next week issue. There will be a surprise in store for some Peterboro citizens.

NEW MANHOOD

To you my friend, young or old, if suffering the results of youthful folly, such as DRAINS, NIGHT LOSSES, IMPOTENCY, LAME BACK, VARICOCELE, etc., take the advice of my 30 years' experience.

DON'T USE DRUGS

when you can get nature's own simple remedy, the very essence of life itself—ELECTRICITY. The DR. SANDEN ELECTRIC BELT for weak men is known the world over. I am the inventor. With last year I restored manly vigor to 5,000 sufferers. Little book explaining all, sent sealed free upon request, or drop in and consult me free of charge.

DR. T. T. SANDEN, 156 St. James St., Montreal Que.

The Kidneys

are the seat or the starting point of many maladies, all of them serious, all more or less painful, and all of them tending, unless cured, to a fatal end. No organs of the body are more delicate or more sensitive than the kidneys. When symptoms of disease appear in them not a moment is to be lost if health is to be restored. The best way to treat the kidneys is through the blood, cleansing it from the poisonous matter which is usually at the bottom of kidney complaints. For this purpose there is no remedy equal to

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For many years I have been a constant sufferer from kidney trouble, and have tried a number of largely advertised kidney cures without benefit. At last a friend advised me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The use of eight bottles of this remedy entirely cured my malady."—MART MILLER, 12285 Hancock Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

KODAKED THE KAISER

AMERICAN GIRLS HAVE AN EXPERIENCE WITH THE EMPEROR

I heard a pretty story the other day of two American girls who visited the imperial palace at Potsdam, which is open to visitors only when the Emperor and his family are absent, writes W. E. Curtis in the Chicago Record. Without knowing this fact the two American ladies made the journey there, and were repulsed by the usher at the door. They understood very little German, and he could talk no English, but, with the usual persistency of the American tourist, they tried to induce him to admit them. While they were in the midst of the controversy a gentleman in the uniform of a soldier came rapidly up the steps, and addressing the ladies in English, asked if he could be of any service to them. They explained that they had come up from Berlin to see the palace, and were very much disappointed because they were not allowed to enter it.

"I think I can let you in," he answered, "will show you around myself."

So he escorted them through the various rooms and corridors, and explained everything in a most entertaining manner. Then he followed them out to the portico, where one of them, who had a kodak, asked permission to take his photograph. She had not the slightest suspicion who he was but during the hour they had been together in the palace they had laughed and joked familiarly, and felt very well acquainted. The gentleman gracefully consented, and posed for three snap shots. Then he bade them good morning, hoped they would enjoy their visit, and, saluting them in the German way and re-entered the palace.

The young ladies were delighted, and related their experience with great gusto when they returned to their boarding house. That afternoon they took their kodak to a photographer to have the films developed, and when they brought home the first prints of the handsome officer, their German landlady exclaimed: "Gott in himmel Der Kaiser!"

ST. MARK'S CHOIR CONCERT

Successful Concert Under the Auspices of St. Mark's Church Choir

A large audience assembled in the new Town Hall, Ashburnham, last night and enjoyed a splendid concert given under the auspices of the choir of St. Mark's church. Rev. J. E. Moore occupied the chair and his witty remarks in announcing the numbers furnished a considerable source of entertainment. The hall was prettily decorated with flags, plants and evergreens.

The opening number on the program was a cornet solo by Mr. J. Miller. This was followed by a quartette composed of Misses Sherlock and Metheal and Messrs. Squires and Skitch. A pleasing recitation was next given by Miss Sherlock. St. Paul's church choir then sang a chorus which was warmly well received by the audience. A violin duet by Misses Maud and Faux, a vocal solo by Mayor Davis, and a chorus by St. Paul's choir concluded the first part of the program.

The second part was opened and closed by St. Paul's choir with two of their ever-pleasing choruses. The other numbers were a cornet solo by Mr. J. Miller, a vocal duet by the Misses Bellegem, and a quartette by Messrs. Squires, Skitch, Harphes and Harper.

At Mr. Harphes took the solo. The singing of the national anthem brought a very entertaining evening to a close.

Negative
The Strand Magazine for February is a mixed fiction and curiosity number. It contains a number of stories complete in this issue, all written in a very interesting style. George Gissing contributes "A Despot on Tour" written with his usual vigor and force. "The Brotherhood of the Seven Kings," a tale of a secret society, and "Leo," a dramatic story of South African life, are especially entertaining. A number of natural and artificial curiosities are dealt with in separate papers very interesting. The regular departments of Glimpses of Nature and Portraits of Celebrities are continued. The number is well illustrated throughout. Sold at the Times Bookstore. Price ten cents.

The statements of those who have been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla prove the great merit of this medicine.

HOCKEY NOTES

A Large Crowd will go With the Boys on Monday

The Hockey team turned out last night and had a rattling fine practice. The boys all played well and appeared to be in the best possible shape. Bert Bellegem is feeling much better while Captain Phalen's injured hand has improved wonderfully.

The boys were much encouraged by the score in the T. A. C.—Winnipeg game. The Toronto Club did not show up near as well as Peterboro did in their game.

The action of the O. H. A. executive in expelling Bertin for professionalism will meet with the approval of the Hockeyists of the country. The evil will kill any game. It has practically killed lacrosse and if the Ontario Hockey Association had not taken the determined stand it has hockey would have lost the interest of the better class of the people.

The Executive has not yet fixed the date for the Millbrook—Peterboro match in the Junior series.

Hardisty will play on forward line of the T. A. C. team on Monday. The boys will watch him closely, and any show of roughness on his part will be referred to the referee.

The ladies of Peterboro will have a Hockey match shortly.

Every citizen is endeavoring to arrange to accompany the boys on Monday night to Toronto. The Outlets and Hockey club will leave on the afternoon train of the C. P. R. and the cheapness of the trip, $2 return, should guarantee a large excursion.

It is a safe bet that Peterboro will win the round. Toronto has to score 11 goals to beat Peterboro and we do not think they can tally even with our seven.

Almost Distracted

Dreadful Suffering by a New-market Woman.

The Bones in the Nose Affected—Face Would Swell Until Her Eyes Were Closed—Now Relieved.

NEW MARKET, ONT.—"I have had a good opportunity of noting the great medicinal powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla. My wife has been a sufferer from catarrh for the past four years, and the disease had gone so far that the bones of the nose had become affected and particles had come away through an opening in the left side. Her eyesight was also affected to the extent that for nearly a year she was unable to read for more than five minutes at a time. She suffered Severe Pains in the Head and at times was almost distracted. She was treated by four different doctors, one of whom was a specialist. They all said they could not do anything for her, as the disease had gone too far. Her nose would swell about every three days until her eyes would almost be closed. Then it would break through and the swelling would subside for a day or two. About Christmas she commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and since that time has steadily improved. She has not been troubled with any swelling since, and the sore on the side of the nose has all healed. She is on the road to a complete cure. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I cheerfully recommend it to any person who is suffering with catarrh."

WINDPIPE ACCIDENT

WHAT TO DO WHEN OBJECTS
LODGE IN THE TRACHEA

A most alarming accident, and one which is often as serious as it looks,
says the "Youths' Companion," is the lodging into the windpipe of a morsel of food or some other substance. This is not a very rare accident, especially with children, whose hold-all, after the pockets are crammed, is usually the mouth. The articles which have been drawn into the larynx through the sudden taking of a deep breath are of the most varied character, such as jackstones, nuts, pebbles, marbles,
corks, buttons and pins, not to mention buns, corks, tin whistles, leeches, shawl pins, hair pins, false teeth and even a real tooth which slipped from the forepart just as it has been extracted. Pieces of food are sometimes inhaled through hearty laughing or excited talking while eating.

The entrance of the foreign substance, even if it is only water, causes violent coughing and a spasmodic closing of the larynx, which amounts to suffocation. If the body has passed through the larynx into the windpipe, or has been thrown out, this suf-focative attack passes off, and the sufferer may think his trouble is over.

Sometimes it is, if the coughing has expelled the intruder, but if this has failed below the larynx the condition is very serious. The body may be expelled during another violent fit of coughing, but often it can be removed only by the operation of opening the windpipe, known as tracheotomy.

The danger of the accident depends much upon the size and nature of the substance inhaled; if it is a hard smooth and rounded body, such as a marble, a small marble or pebble or the like there is a very good chance that it may be expelled in the same way it entered.

To favor this expulsion the patient should lie down with the head lower than the feet, or he may be held up for a minute or two by the heels, in order to get the assistance of the force of gravity. This, however, should only be done if the doctor is at hand to perform tracheotomy as a last resort, because the foreign body
may become fixed in a narrow part of the larynx and so cause suffocation.

Symptoms: Moisture, intense itching
and stinging; most at night; worse
by scratching. If allowed to continue cases removes the tumors. All drug-

A Madec High School Boy's Essay on Breath

Breath is made of air. We breathe with our lungs, our lights, our liver, and our kidneys. If it wasn't for our breath we should die when we slept.
Our breath keeps the life going through the nose when we are asleep.
Boys that stay in a room all day should not breathe. They should wait till they get outdoors. Boys in a room make carbonic acid. Carbonic acid is more poisonous than a lot of mad dogs. A lot of soldiers was in a black hole in India, and carbonic acid got in that hole and killed nearly everyone before morning. Girls kill the breath with corsets that squeeze the diagram. Girls can't run or jolly because their diagram is squeezed so much. If I was a girl I'd rather be a boy, so I could run and holler and have a good big diagram.—Madec Re-

FUNNY ADVERTISEMENTS

RESULTS OF THE MISPLACEMENT
OF WORDS BY UNSKILLFUL WRI-TERS.

Curiously worded advertisements,
funny without intent, are common in the London papers. English periodicals offered a prize the other day
for the best collection of such announcements, and the following is the result:

Annual sale now on. Don't go elsewhere to be cheated—come in here.

is going abroad in a strong iron frame.

Wanted—Experienced nurse for bottled baby.

swering to Jim with a brass collar

care of a baby and a good sailor.

for ladies out of their own skin.

the case may be."

THE HORCAKE

WHY DOES THE WHEAT BREAD
CROWD OUT THE CORN?

Most middle-aged persons remember well when cornmeal was served upon nearly all tables in the South and West at least twice a day. Sometimes it appeared under the form of "horcake" or "batter bread," and again in "pones." It was par excellence the bread of the negro, and every white man who served in the Confederate army was also full graduate in the use of it. Now the darkies eat where wheat bread is to be obtained, and the tables of the South and Western whites it never appears at all, while others continue to use it only for dinner.

Now, why is this? Surely cornmeal leaves it year was. Those who sincerely, but probably mistakenly, believe that "water-ground" meal is better than the product of mills turned by slaves can always find a supply of
that in most cities, and it is common enough in the country. There is no trouble about the meal; but we doubt whether the art of cooking it has been preserved. The high-toned colored damsel who are turned out
by our public schools are not adepts
in their old Aunt Dinah and Aunt Peggy were. No self-respecting pan of dough would be conjured into shape by such unskilled hands. And then we may seriously doubt whether cornmeal bread can be cooked in a stove
as well as in an open fire-place.

The Indians laid their dough cakes between layers of forest leaves, or upon the hard ground, and cooked
them in the hot ashes. Hence "ash-cakes," a very luscious product, indeed, when one has whetted his appetite for it by a long day's fasting.

The horcake was so called because it was originally baked upon a hor-
—that ever-ready and useful instrument of agriculture, which is to be found upon every plantation. But later on, cooking utensils were manufactured
which took the place of the hucklehoe, too, shingles were used whereupon to place the dough while it went through the process of becoming a well-done ashcake.

APT QUOTATION

SCENE IN A CHURCH OF COLORED PEOPLE—THEY MUST GIVE—A PROTEST ANSWERED.

There is sometimes more wit in the application to the business in hand of words already chosen for another purpose, than in the invention of an appropriate phrase. Bishop Whipple
according to the Church News, loved to tell his story.

A devout colored preacher, whose heart was aglow with missionary zeal, gave notice to his congregation that in the evening an offertory would be

DANGERS OF CLERICALISM

DISCUSSED BY THE EXCITABLE
FRENCH DEPUTES

(Special to the Times.)
Paris, Jan. 22.—During the debate in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday on the estimates of the Department of Public Works, M. Lheroy denominated the "dangers of clericalism." The Premier, M. Malraux, declared there was no ground for such fears. He stated that the Government was not composed of clericals and was not under pontifical direction. This cry was evidently put forward to divert attention from the revolutionary party of the church and state was defeated. A discussion followed on Chief Rabbi Zadoc Kahn's connection in Esterhazy affairs, after which the estimates were adopted.

POISONED THE STEERS

ADMITTED HIS GUILT BUT FRIENDS THINK HIM IRRE-PONSIBLE.

(Special to the Times.)
Wetford, Jan. 22.—Alexander Hay, well-known Warwick farmer residing on the London road, poisoned two valuable steers belonging to William Walker, on November 14th last, and before Squires Shirley and McLeay admitted his guilt. Hay's friends claim that he is not responsible for his actions, his mind being affected from worry and care. He will be tried for the offence on Monday. The poisoning was the result of a quarrel between Hay and Walker and the steers were given green in salt.

AN UNUSUAL CATASTROPHE

FISHERMEN'S HUTS BLOWN OUT ON LAKE ERIE—OCCUPANTS
NARROW ESCAPE.

(Special to the Times.)
Sandusky, Ohio, Jan. 22.—One hundred fishermen's huts on the ice in Lake Erie, off Put-in-Bay, were swept away in Thursday night's gale. Two hundred men, women and children narrowly escaped drowning by ice going up and carrying them out into the lake and by the huts catching fire. They were rescued after a long and terrible fight with the elements.

IMPROPER STORAGE

IMMENSE QUANTITY OF CANA-DIAN PRODUCE LOST IN SHIP-MENT.

(Special to the Times.)
Ottawa, Jan. 22.—Prof. Robertson, Dominion Agricultural and Dairy Commissioner, estimates that $2,500,000 worth of Canadian produce was lost last summer a very large proportion of which would have been saved by cold storage.

Horses Wanted.
Farmers having horses to dispose of will consult their own interests by awaiting the arrival of Mr. W. J. Pearson, the well known horse-buyer, of Montreal, who is prepared to pay the highest market price for a carload of good sound horses. Mr. Pearson is billed as follows: Royal Hotel, Port Hope, Monday, January 24th, White's Hotel, Peterborough, Tuesday and Friday, January 25th and 28th.

Triumph for Hockey Sport
The Toronto Star says: "Nothing has happened in athletics in Canada which will have such far-reaching effects as the action taken by the amateur athletic association of Canada, meeting in Montreal, and the Ontario Hockey Association of Canada, Toronto last night. Both have declared that athletics in Canada must be free from any taint of professionalism; that it must be honest, that the Canadian national games must be Canadian."

Lacrosse has too long been under suspicion of professionalism. It is unfortunate that the Capitals alone have been disciplined. Two teams very near Toronto, perhaps, if all were known, could not make a much better showing than the Capitals. But it must be said that the stress of circumstances led the Toronto team into the evil ways.

But now, since the axe has fallen, the survivors may take note. The Toronto and other clubs may, and will now, play amateurs only, and of the strictest type, on the lacrosse teams.

Hockey is as truly a national game as is lacrosse, and the O.H.A. is to be commended for its prompt action. Its decision means that hockey in its tender years is saved from the evils of professionalism.

The A.A.A. of C. has been clothed in the past, but it is commendable in the final action. That association should not imagine, however, that its work is done. Let it look out for further infringements in athletic games, and then Canadian sport will be a credit to Canadians.

The Dipper or the Dropper?

There are cough medicines that are taken as freely as a drink of water from a dipper. They are cheap medicines. Quantity does not make up for quality. It's the quality that cures. There's one medicine that's dropped, not dipped—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. There's more power in drops of this remedy than in dipperfuls of cheap cough syrups and elixirs. It cures Bronchitis, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough, and all Colds, Coughs, and affections of the Throat and Lungs.

UNIONIST ELECTED

MR. CAMPBELL DEFEATS HIS OP-PONENT IN AN IRISH BYE-ELECTION.

(Special to the Times.)
Dublin, Jan. 22.—A bye-election was held here yesterday for the Imperial Parliament to fill the seat of St. Stephen's Green division, made vacant by the appointment of Mr. William Kennan, Q. C., Solicitor-General for Ireland, to a judgeship of the High Court. The Unionist candidate, Mr. J. M. Campbell, was elected over Mr. George Noble Plunket, Nationalist, by a majority of 138 votes.

Too Generous
The Canadian Pacific employs a funeral, sick and relief benefit association, which has dissolved with a deficit of $600.

The association has been in existence for nearly 20 years. It had a membership of between 400 and 500 extending from Smith's Falls to Windsor. Until five years ago the association was in an extremely flourishing condition. The annual picnic brought them in each year in the neighborhood of $2,000, in addition to the monthly levies. But the management was too liberal. If a case of distress was brought to their notice, no matter whether the subject was a member of the association or not, generous relief was afforded. During the past four years the number of men laid off during the winters called heavily upon their resources.

For Inebriates
The Ontario Government is considering the idea of turning the Penitentiary Reformatory into an asylum for inebriates. It is, however, thought that the movement is too radical. I am informed that if a philanthropic society should make some such move the Government would bonus it well.

BOARDERS WANTED.

Accommodation for four boarders at 136 London street.

The Kitchen Sink
The reason why sinks are stopped so often is because grease gradually fills the pipes and hardens there into cakes, which must be taken out by the plumber if they are too hard or too large to resist the action of lye. There is always danger of this stoppage from grease, but the danger is less when housewives insist upon two daily rules: First, all the plates and dishes must be scraped with a palette knife or some other flexible blade, so that no little grease as possible and certainly no lump of indissoluble matter reach the pipes; secondly, after every dish is washed, and the last thing at night, pour down a certain quantity of potash lye dissolved in boiling water and use while hot as possible. This makes a soft soap in the pipe, which melts away as water comes down, and provided that there is no foreign substance, like matches, sticks, bits of paper, bone, hair or fruit stones lodged in there, leaves it clear and free.—Philadelphia Ledger.

POND'S EXTRACT

SANTA BARBARA, CAL., Nov. 27, 1894. I have been using Pond's Extract in my practice for twenty years. I frequently have the experience you mention of druggists insisting they can put up as good as yours. I don't believe it. I use Pond's Extract a great deal as an antiseptic in combination with glycerine and carbolic acid. I think it far superior to any antiseptic known. F. G. FLOURNOY, M. D.

HOCKEY NEWS

Great Interest Centered in the Match in Toronto this Evening

Hockey matches are without a doubt the desire of the citizens of the town. If the match which takes place in Toronto to-night were to be played in Peterboro, standing room would be at par, and it can be safely stated that when the match opens in the Caledonian rink to-night Peterboro people will not be in the minority.

The boys, accompanied by their friends, will leave on the afternoon express on the C. P. R., which arrives in Toronto about half past six. The low rate of $2, good to return until Wednesday night, will attract many who otherwise would not attend.

Mr. Percy Brown, who is well-known in Peterboro, and throughout the Province as a able referee, will officiate at to-night's game. No rough play will be tolerated by him, and he is very strict in the matter of off-sides.

Peterboro's team will be composed as follows: Watson, goal; Montgomery, point; Hollingshead, cover; King, Phalen, Ballegheim and Davidson, forwards.

The Times to-morrow will contain a full report of the game, which promises to be one of the fastest of the season.

The Peterboro curlers will play in the Tankard series against Prospect Park on Wednesday afternoon.

Peterboro Juniors and Millbrook will play the second round match on Wednesday night.

BLEEDING ARMENIA

An Eloquent Address by the Rev. Mr. Baghdasarian

A Terrible Story of Suffering Told by Two Armenian Gentlemen in George Street Church Last Night—Massacres Ordered by the Turkish Government—Unbearable Cruelty

The terrible sufferings endured by the Christians of Armenia in their struggle to retain their faith were vividly described by Rev. M. Baghdasarian and his father Gregory Baghdasarian, two native-born Armenians, in the George Street Church last night. Rev. Mr. Shorey took as his lesson the twenty-fourth Psalm and dwelt on the significant words, "How long, O Lord, how long!" In introducing the speakers he stated that the two were father and son, that the son was a man of high education, a graduate of a classical university and that they came highly recommended from such authorities as Chancellor Burwash and Principal Owen. The son had been appointed by the Evangelical Alliance to preach the cause of Armenia through Canada. The narrative was intensely interesting. The father, who was an eye-witness of the horrible massacres first told his story in his own language and it was translated into English by the son. Both are noble-looking, eminently refined and intelligent men and their burning words made a deep impression upon the congregation. Before beginning his address the son sang in his own language the grand old hymn, "Nearer my God to Thee," the congregation joining in the chorus in English. In opening his address the speaker told of the great pleasure it afforded him to address them on the Armenian question, and to testify to the interest taken throughout Canada in the sufferings of that land. He wished also to tell them a few things about his father and himself. His father was a successful lawyer living in the city of Rharport, Armenia, about four hundred miles south of the Black Sea. He was a representative of the Protestant Christians in the Turkish Parliament, and although before the massacres he was a successful lawyer, yet he sustained great losses at that time. He was an eye-witness and saw personally what he would describe.

"Armenia, bleeding Armenia," the speaker exclaimed, "the sword of Islam hangs over the land. How well the present condition of the country; once beautiful but now turned into a scene of bloodshed. Fire and sword at the hands of the Turks have spread unspeakable suffering throughout the land. All has been laid waste where once flourished the garden of Asia. Who are the Armenians? What is their religion? What is the cause of the massacres? These are the questions that have been put to the speaker throughout Canada. In reply he would say that Armenia is one of the most interesting spots on the earth. It is the home of nations, the cradle of mankind. Its history goes back to the first records for the Ark of Noah rested on Mount Ararat after the flood. Its climate is healthy, its soil productive and fertile, it is rich in minerals, and under free government would attain great prosperity. The Armenians belong to the same race as Europeans, their language is classed among the Germanic branches. Gladstone has said that they represent the oldest type of civilized man and would again become a leading nation. Prof. James Bryce has said that they are as intellectual as Europeans, and the equal morally, mentally and physically of Eastern nations. They have kept the Christian faith ever since the time of St. Paul to the present.

Over five hundred years ago, in 1395, the last Armenian king died and their country was invaded and conquered by the Persians, Russians and Turks. Ever since that time it has been under Turkish rule. The Turkish rulers are different in race, language and religion from the Armenians. The Turks are Mongolians like the Chinese, while the Armenians are of the Aryan race, the race of ourselves. The Turks are by nature cruel, bloodthirsty, tyrannical and vindictive. The element that most tends to degrade them is their religion. They believe in the same attributes of God as we do, but the teaching of their prophet Mahomet has been their great curse. He teaches them polygamy, slavery, fatalism, that woman is inferior to man and that she was created simply for his pleasure. They treat women as slaves and this has done most to degrade their character. They believe it no crime to injure Christians, but on the contrary the more Christians they kill on earth the greater will be their reward in heaven. Their intolerance was taught by Mahomet, and for five centuries the Armenians have been ground down under it. They have appealed to Christian Europe, but Christian Europe has allowed them to bleed. They can not escape by law as all the offences are held by Turkish law.

The massacres were organized by the Turkish Government to exterminate the Armenians. The cause of this was that the Armenians wished to be free of their rulers and appealed to Europe for help. These demands aroused the hate and vengeance of the Turks, who saw the danger of their becoming free, and to prevent this formed a plan to reduce the number of their men by massacres and thus keep them down. Not being content with this they thought that the best way to get rid of the Armenian question would be to exterminate the people altogether.

The horrible means adopted by the Turks to gain their object was then graphically described by the speaker. One village was surrounded by night by a large body of Turks fully armed. In the morning there was no escape for the people and at the demand of their captors they gave up all their arms and goods. Then the men of the village, 75 in number, were marched to the church, where they were given the option of giving up Christianity or suffering death. The question was first put to the village priest, a venerable patriarch over 80 years old. Raising his right hand aloft he said, "I believe in the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost." With one stroke of his sword the leader of the soldiers cut off his right hand. The question was again put to him and he gave the same answer. His left hand was now cut off. He repeated the words the third time and his breast was filled with bullets. He fell dead still murmuring the words. After the death of their heroic priest the whole 75 were shot and thrown into a ditch.

He told how in another village all the inhabitants, men, women and children, threw themselves into the river and died rather than give up their religion. In the city of Paulo ten thousand Turks and Kurds put to death all men over twelve years old and committed the most horrible outrages on the women. The city of Equin, a large and beautiful place, managed to save itself by bribery at the time of the massacres three years ago, but one year afterwards it was completely destroyed. An interesting story was told of how a brave American Missionary, Dr. Barnett, saved the lives of eight hundred Christian Armenian students by defying the Turks to invade his college. At the city of Oufra the people took refuge in the church at the approach of the Turks. The barbarians, fully armed, surrounded it, but thinking it too slow a process to put the people to death one by one, they cut holes in the roof, poured in oil, and burned to inmates to death, killing all who tried to escape with the byonet. Horrible outrages, worse than death, were inflicted on women and even little children. No mercy was ever shown to men. Two thousand five hundred villages and flourishing towns and cities have been wiped from the earth and over two hundred thousand people massacred. The horrors seen by the older man at his own native village of Rharport was terrible, but mild in comparison with other places.

The speaker brought his eloquent address to a close by expressing his admiration for the liberty and justice enjoyed under the British flag. He thanked them for their kind interest in his country and for doing all they had done to alleviate its misery. He hoped and believed that with the assistance of all Christians it would not be long till Armenia would regain her freedom and ancient prestige and would be the means of spreading the gospel throughout Asia.

FOR LITTLE CHILDREN

returned from the first home he was placed in because of ill conduct. Is in a new home now and promises to do very well. Two children are at Gravenhurst, a boy and a girl. Of the boy it is said, he is very much stronger than he was formerly, is well, indeed, now, and happy in a good home giving satisfaction. The girl is also happily situated in a good home going to day and Sabbath schools and satisfying her foster parents. Of a three year old child adopted in Hastings, the new guardians say, "It is a dear little creature and we love it as if it were our own."

With part of the practical work of the society the public are already familiar. On the 27th of Sept. Mrs. Hawke, of Toronto, Provincial Inspector of C. A. Societies paid a visit to Peterboro. On the Thursday afternoon following she addressed a mass meeting of women in Bethany Mission Hall, the result being that a Women's B. Association was formed. Representatives of which with the officers of this society waited on the Town Council and urged the establishment here of a Refuge for Women and Children. The town gave a yearly grant of $200 to the society to be applied to the keeping of a shelter for children. Mr. Best having already kindly offered his house one year on the corner of Church and Stewart streets rent free for the purpose. This offer was gladly accepted and at the next meeting of the B. of Management, arrangements were made for putting the building in order, also Mr. Miller was appointed to take charge of it. Tenders for papering and painting were advertised for, Duncan & Gray's being the lowest, was accepted. The house was ready for occupation on the 6th of December. Regulation hospital cots, that is single iron beds, and new mattresses were purchased, the ladies of the board of management kindly contributing blankets, pillows, counterpane, etc. Blinds and certain articles of furniture were purchased for the office and dormitories. The first children to occupy the shelter three of them, were reported to have been found wandering about the streets begging. The agent visited their home, a long shanty, where he discovered several families, ten or twelve persons, crowded together in one room—all in a more or less miserable condition. The eldest girl was sent to service, the younger children to the shelter. They were in bad need of clothing. The public generously supplied it and Miss Gow, Miss Forsythe and other ladies met and made up and made over what was necessary for them. A few days before Christmas another poor family was visited. The weather was cold, very cold—and although it was well on in the morning the fire had just been lighted of drift wood. The father boys were cutting up raw potatoes and trying to roast them on the stove. Their shoes were feet being wrapped in lengths of flannel in lieu of boots and stockings. These boys were removed to the shelter and all necessary clothing provided them. About this time the Rev. Mr. Davidson of St. John's Church reported another family—the mother sick, the children starving. Mr. Miller as relief officer called on them, saw the mother removed to the hospital and the children became inmates of the shelter. The five children were found to be in a filthy condition, their heads and their bodies infested with vermin. Every article of clothing was burnt and again a kind public assisted to clothe them. All are comfortable and happy now in the society's quarters. Another family was visited, a mother and her seven children. They were found all in their aquatic huddled in one dirty apartment. Their scanty clothing was filthy. Here and there was a child with a single filthy rag of a garment drawn about her. The society generously responded to this new appeal and good clothing all round, the kind ladies have made them.

Shating sets are to be all the vogue. A stylish skating set suitable for wear at the rink consists of a hat, bow and vest. The hat is made of deep violet velvet, and fits closely to the head something like a peasant girl's cap. It is edged with a narrow band of marten. In the direct front two white birds are caught. They look as if they had just alighted upon the fair wearer's hair. The bow is made of fluffy loops of black velvet, edged with stripes of red, white and marten. The vest is a most elaborate affair. It is made of shirred violet velvet, finished at each side with a gorgeous trim of violet satin in a shade or two lighter than the buff. For the trimming marten tails are curled in curious shapes, with the ends of two or three tails dangling below the buff.

Dandruff is Dangerous

When dandruff appears it is usually regarded as an annoyance. It should be regarded as a disease. Its presence indicates an unhealthy condition of the scalp, which, if neglected, leads to baldness. Dandruff should be cured at once. The most effective means for the cure is found in AYER'S HAIR VIGOR. It promotes the growth of the hair, restores it when gray or faded to its original color, and keeps the scalp clean and healthy.

Shating sets are to be all the vogue. A stylish skating set suitable for wear at the rink consists of a hat, bow and vest. The hat is made of deep violet velvet, and fits closely to the head something like a peasant girl's cap. It is edged with a narrow band of marten. In the direct front two white birds are caught. They look as if they had just alighted upon the fair wearer's hair. The bow is made of fluffy loops of black velvet, edged with stripes of red, white and marten. The vest is a most elaborate affair. It is made of shirred violet velvet, finished at each side with a gorgeous trim of violet satin in a shade or two lighter than the buff. For the trimming marten tails are curled in curious shapes, with the ends of two or three tails dangling below the buff.

A Hint to the Middle-aged.

If women would but realize it, no one but two young women should wear a broad-brimmed hat: the shading of the features with such a broad brim helps to accentuate every line and wrinkle.

Moved by Mr. Hampden Burnham, seconded by Sheriff Hall, that the thanks of the society be extended to the town council, the police officers, the other town officers, and the three daily papers for their kind assistance during the year.—Carried.

Moved by Ex-Mayor Yelland, seconded by Mrs. Beck, that the president be appointed representative on the town charity board.—Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING

Committee of the Whole Council Met in Session Last Night

The Town's Agreements With the Railways Discussed—Extension of the Electric Rail Way to Lakefield and Chemung Considered—Minor Matters

The committee of the whole council met last night to discuss the position of the town in relation to the railway companies, and to come to a better understanding regarding railway arrangements.

There were present Mayor Davis, in the chair, and Councillors Best, W. E. White, Robertson, Denno, Hamilton, Dawson, Cobb, McWilliams, Langford and J. W. White. The agreements between the town and the two railway companies form a somewhat complicated question. After much discussion it was moved by Councillor Langford, seconded by Councillor W. H. White, that the town solicitor be requested to enquire into the matter of the G. T. R. siding and the Edison works, and to report the town's position also regarding the yards at Wolfe St. and the islands in the river on which the C. P. R. Dickson spur crosses, and that he meet the committee in regard to these matters. The resolution was carried.

SEMI-ANNUAL TAXES
It was moved by Councillor Dawson, seconded by Councillor McWilliams, that the clerk be instructed to frame a by-law preparing for the adoption of the assessment of last fall for 1898, and making the taxes for 1898 payable one half on July 1st and balance on Nov. 15th. The resolution was carried.

GENERAL MATTERS
It was moved by Councillor J. M. White, seconded by Councillor Hamilton, that the Fire, Water and Light committee be authorized to buy in the usual supply of oats.—Carried.

It was moved by Councillor Dawson, seconded by Councillor W. H. White, that the street and bridge committee purchase a number of cords of stone from parties who wish to pay their taxes in this way, and can not do so otherwise, at the regular rate.—Carried.

It was moved by Councillor Dawson, seconded by Councillor Denno, that the Street and Bridge committee be authorized to buy a roller for cutting the ice on the sidewalks.—Carried.

A communication was received from Mrs. H. Drake, applying for remission of taxes for 1897. It was moved by Councillor McWilliams, seconded by Councillor Dawson, that the matter be referred to the Court of Revision.—Carried.

ELECTRIC RY. EXTENSION
Mr. Starr, of Cornwall, a gentleman largely interested in the building and operation of electric railways, appeared before the council with an important proposition. He with other capitalists have a scheme to take over the Chemung and Lakefield branches of the G. T. R., and operate them by electric power in connection with the Peterborough Street Railway, which they would also take over. If satisfactory arrangements could be made, they propose also establishing a line of fast-running boats between Chemung and Lakefield to connect with their cars. The company would handle both passengers and freight, and would have sole control of the roads. If they can secure the Peterborough Street Railway they would put on additional rolling stock and build the projected belt line. The freight traffic from Lakefield is heavy and with a half hourly passenger service and a low rate of charge the passenger traffic would also be considerable. The company estimate that they will invest $350,000 in the enterprise and want the town to guarantee the interest on $150,000 of their bonds at 5 per cent. per annum for twenty years. The matter was favorably discussed and referred to the Manufacturers' and Railway committee to report.

The committee then adjourned.

The freight traffic from Lakefield is heavy and with a half hourly passenger service and a low rate of charge the passenger traffic would also be considerable. The company estimate that they will invest $350,000 in the enterprise and want the town to guarantee the interest on $150,000 of their bonds at 5 per cent. per annum for twenty years. The matter was favorably discussed and referred to the Manufacturers' and Railway committee to report.

The committee then adjourned.

A LARGE DEFICIT

A Collingwood Merchant Missing

Goods Were Shipped to Toronto and Montreal Auction Rooms Previous to the Assignment

(Special to the Times.)

Collingwood, Jan. 25.—The creditors of the estate of A. Chellev, Collingwood, who assigned some time ago, are making an investigation of the affairs of the estate, after the estate and are not satisfied with the condition it was in when handed over to them.

A meeting was held in Collingwood a few days ago, when the following figures were presented: In January, 1897, the statement made by Mr. Chellev gave the assets as $7,654.29 and liabilities $4,297.31, a surplus of $3,256.98. The present statement shows assets of $10,730.25 and liabilities of $18,046.94, a deficit of $7,316.69. Several transactions which were not satisfactory to the creditors took place in the three months previous to the assignment, regarding goods sent from the store. The creditors applied to the G.T.R. agent at Collingwood for information, but the railway solicitor warned him not to give any information. However, a carrier employed by Mr. Chellev stated that since January 6 he had taken 39 loads of goods to the station. This merchandise, according to statement made at the meeting, was shipped to Benning & Barstow, Montreal, and Suckling & Co., Toronto, and was estimated to be worth $5,000. None of the proceeds of the sale of this stock was deposited in the bank.

On January 8 last, Chellev had sent to his home a trunk, valise and a quantity of mixed goods, which were afterwards taken to the station. On January 11 Chellev purchased a ticket for the Montreal and drove to that city from the bank and no word has been received of his whereabouts.

Mrs. Chellev stated that her husband told her he had made an assignment and was going to look for a situation. He left her and the 8 children with very little money.

The creditors appointed inspectors to look after the winding up of the business and make further investigation.

SWINDLED THE MASONS

NOW IN PRISON, BUT PREYED FOR YEARS ON THE CRAFT.

(Special to the Times.)

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 25.—George Fleming, who has just been convicted and sentenced to the State Prison for a year for obtaining money under false pretenses, has made a confession, which, if it were not corroborated by more than one hundred letters from different Masonic lodges in the United States and Canada, would be received with incredulity. Fleming is a bogus Mason, yet so skillfully has he applied himself that he has been completely deceived by past grand-masters on his knowledge of Masonry. By his own admissions he lived for years from money borrowed under false pretenses. He was a complete swindler, varying from $10 to several hundred, or, as he told ex-Sheriff Van Deventer, "according to their circumstances and times."

The total amount of money thus obtained will probably reach $20,000, but he has borrowed so much that he does not pretend to recite all the instances. He has travelled all over the world and never spent a cent for railroad or other transportation. He has so many aliases that he cannot name them. He was known in Mississippi as Prof. Wiley, in Kentucky as Alexander Craig, in Pennsylvania as William Ball, in Cincinnati and Chicago as Charles Wilson, in St. Louis as William Mays. In Paris he claims to have met and dined with the Prince of Wales and President Dudley Ward. For desert he borrowed $150 from the Prince on the strength of Masonry. In Madrid he worked Hannis Taylor for free transportation to the rock of Gibraltar by the way of Cadiz.

TO FIX THE PATRONAGE

REPORTED AGREEMENT IN OTTAWA BETWEEN FRENCH AND IRISH CATHOLICS.

(Special to the Times.)

Ottawa, Jan. 25.—Hon. G. W. Ross, it is announced, will meet the members of Le Club National when here to discuss the question of patronage. The French-Canadian Liberals want the Provincial Government to fix the vacancy on the Board of License Commissioners caused by the death of E. Le Blanc before the Ontario elections are brought on, while the Government wishes to withhold the appointment until after the elections.

It is stated there will be no clash between the French and Irish Catholics over a candidate, as there is an understanding that the French Catholic candidate on the condition that the Irish Catholic Liberals support the French Catholic Liberal candidates in the next federal elections.

J. S. Williams, of The Globe, is here today discussing the political situation with the Federal Ministers.

E. E. Sheppard, South American Trade Commissioner, is also in the city on Government business.

ABSCESS WAS LANCED.

TO SAVE HAMMOND

Argument for a New Trial Before the Judge

Counsel for the Bracebridge Wife-Murderer Put in Plea for Another Hearing

(Special to the Times.)

Toronto, Jan. 25.—In the Division Court this morning, before three judges, the last plea for Hammond, the Bracebridge murderer's life was made by Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, Q.C. Justice Meredith, who was the judge at the second trial of Hammond, and who pronounced the death sentence upon him, was one of the trio, the other two being Chancellor Hoyd and Justice Robertson.

"Am I competent to sit on this case?" asked Justice Meredith. "I have not the slightest objection to your Lordship's presence," said Mr. Johnston.

Then Mr. Johnston set forth the two points on which he had filed a reserve case: (1) The inadmissibility of the evidence given by the prisoner himself at the coroner's inquest, when no one was charged with the crime, and no one was in custody; (2) The inadmissibility of evidence relating to unsuccessful applications for insurance on the life of Katie Tough-Hammond.

As to the first point, it will be remembered that Hammond admitted to Constable Sloane that he had been with Katie Tough about ten minutes before she died. With reference to the second Mr. Johnston explained that he had no objection to the evidence of the actual insurance policies at the time of death as proving motive, but he had decided objections to the extra evidence regarding unsuccessful applications.

The greater part of Mr. Johnston's argument was addressed to the first point, the inadmissibility of the evidence of the actual insurance policies at the time of death as proving motive, but he had decided objections to the extra evidence regarding unsuccessful applications.

THE GROUND OF OBJECTION

Mr. Johnston took his ground on section 5 of the Evidence Act of 1893, which runs as follows: "No person shall be excused from answering any question upon the ground that the answer to such question may tend to criminate him, or may tend to establish his liability to a civil proceeding at the instance of the Crown or of any person; Provided, however, that no evidence so given shall be used or receivable in evidence against such person in any criminal proceeding thereafter instituted against him other than prosecution for perjury in giving such evidence."

As Mr. Johnston read this section he contended that it gave the prisoner a privilege. His argument in brief was: By this section the law compels his evidence. For the said use by which a witness said: "I have no answer, because I may incriminate myself," the law substituted this section, which says "you must answer, but the evidence cannot be used in a criminal action against you." Therefore, since Hammond was not a prisoner at the time, since he was not charged with the crime, and since he was a compellible witness, as long as he was not so charged, his voluntary statements were nullified, and was accordingly inadmissible.

A PRISONER'S RIGHTS

Mr. Johnston contended that the procedure in the Hammond investigation had been too much on the French plan of enquiry into crime, by examining everything and everybody without any restraint.

The argument gave rise to some amusing dialogues as to the protection offered by the law to witnesses. How far must he answer? How far could a statement be considered voluntary? Mr. Johnston put the matter tersely when he said this: "It is like a man who has a pistol placed in his hand, and then gives up his watch and his money through charity to the highwayman."

Deputy Attorney General Cartwright contended that the procedure had been right.

The argument is still in progress. Judgment will be reserved.

THE SIGNAL FOR A STRIKE

A SINGLE DISMISSAL CAUSES ERIOUS TROUBLE TO IRISH RAILWAYS.

(Special to the Times.)

New York, Jan. 25.—The action of Richard Croker's brother, manager of the Cork and South Coast Railway in arbitrarily dismissing a signal man, has provoked a strike, which threatens to spread throughout all Irish railways, says the Dublin correspondent of the World. The men allege the signal man was dismissed solely because he had taken a prominent part recently in laying their grievances before Manager Croker. They went on a strike at an hour's notice. The employees of other Irish railways have given notice that they will strike rather than handle any goods coming by Croker's road, unless the signal man is reinstated. Manager Croker is noted among Irish railroad men as hardest and most domineering of task-masters. He is always in more or less trouble with his men.

A FIRE HORROR

FIVE PERSONS PERISHED AND $400,000 IN PROPERTY WAS DESTROYED.

(Special to the Times.)

Spokane, Jan. 25.—Fire last night destroyed a big brick block at Post and Riverside streets, six stories high. Five persons perished and $400,000 damage was done.

The third floor was a lodging house and 150 persons were asleep there when the fire started. Many thrilling rescues were effected.

TO CLOSE THE PORTS

The People Along the Coast Want Better Regulations

Trouble Over the Entry of Goods at Skagway and Dyea With Americans

(Special to the Times.)

Toronto, Jan. 25.—Some time ago the Victoria Board of Trade asked the Toronto Board to assist them in obtaining from the Government a remedy for the obvious regulations enforced by the United States Government on Canadian goods going through disputed territory in the Northwest. The Toronto Board recently received a letter from the Western Board thanking them for their efforts and indicating that the matter had been satisfactorily settled. This morning the following telegram was received, which created a great deal of discussion among the officers of the board, who had acted upon the previous request, and thought the difficulty was adjusted:

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 24. President of the Board of Trade. "Urge Dominion Government to close Dyea and Skagway Pass until satisfactory arrangements are put into effect by the United States Government through the passage of Canadian goods through disputed territory. Only hope of Canadians getting any trade. Obnoxious regulations are still being enforced."

F. ELWORTHY, Secretary British Columbia Board of Trade.

PRESIDENT GARNEY'S LETTER

President Garney was given the telegram and immediately notified the Government. His communication is as follows:—

Toronto, Jan. 25 Interior Ottawa.

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt to-day of a telegraphic despatch from the Board of Trade at Victoria, B. C., stating that the obvious regulations instituted by the United States Government, affecting the passage of Canadian goods through disputed territory, are still in force, and that the continuing of these regulations will result in the loss of the trade of the provinces with our mining territory. The remedy urged of closing Dyea and Skagway Pass may not be the only one available, but I will hope that you will find some effective way of checking this tendency on the part of our American friends to interfere with the commercial efforts we are making in this territory. I believe the Dominion Government by making a firm stand now will avoid indefinite trouble in the future. I am, dear sir, Yours truly,

E. GURNEY, President of B. of T.

PLUNGED TO THE HILT

McSweeney's Knife Sank into the Body of Mason

Who Died Yesterday All the Wounds Fatal

(Special to the Times.)

Marietta, Ohio, Jan. 25.—Ex-Deputy United States Marshal and Detective William E. Mason died at 5 o'clock this evening of the knife wounds inflicted upon him last night by Morgan McSweeney. The three terrible stabs which he received appear, upon investigation, to have been made with a butcher knife or similar weapon, and either of them would have caused his death. The wounds were between four and five inches in depth, indicating that McSweeney drove the knife home to the hilt with all his force. Mason sunk gradually, dying from internal hemorrhage.

Since the murderer fled toward the Ohio River after the deed, not the slightest trace of him has been discovered, though it is reported that his brother, Pat McSweeney, ferried him across the river to West Virginia. The murderer is about 50 years of age, five feet eight inches tall, with short legs and long body; wears a sandy-brown beard, and weighs about 170 pounds. He is slovenly in appearance, and generally went without suspenders or vest.

Before his death Mason made an official ante-mortem statement, saying that McSweeney stabbed him with provocation, in a spirit of revenge for fancied wrongs. McSweeney had been recently driven from his home by his daughters for alleged improper conduct and had been living in an old blacksmith shop, near the scene of the crime. He was generally considered a bad man when he had a grievance.

Mason served for several years as a Deputy Marshal under United States Marshalls Bohl and Devanney, and his record showed him to have been a fearless and efficient officer. Since his taking up the work of a Fish and Game Warden he had become very unpopular. His death is considered a plain case of premeditated murder.

A TERRIFIC STORM

IT LASTED AN HOUR BUT COST TWO LIVES AND MUCH LOSS

(Special to the Times.)

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 25.—A terrific thunder storm raged for an hour or more in this vicinity after 3 a.m. The sky cleared after a time, shortly after daylight, but the wind continued to blow. It increased in intensity until 10:45 a.m. The Weather Bureau officials reported that a velocity of 63 miles an hour had been gained. August Weyer was blown off the Shield's building and died in ten minutes from his injuries. A woman, name unknown, is reported lying dead in some debris at 3840 Laclede avenue, and a boy was killed by being blown from a porch roof in another part of the city. It is apparently a straight blow and not a tornado.

HE FLEEED TORONTO

A Clever New York Swindler at Work in Toronto

A Swindler Who Is a His Great Knowledge of English Life to Obtain Money Under False Pretences

(Special to the Times.)

Toronto, Jan. 25.—There is reason to believe that one of the most accomplished scoundrels on the continent is somewhere in the neighborhood of Toronto engaged in the work of obtaining loans from confiding people in an exceedingly clever manner. The names of this gentleman are legion, he is thoroughly conversant with the social, commercial and sporting life of England, and makes use of this knowledge to prey upon the representatives of firms who have English connections. His modus operandi is to visit the business places of these people, represent himself to be the son of some well-known and wealthy Englishman awaiting remittances and ask for a small loan. He is so skillful an actor and uses his remarkable knowledge of English affairs so well that he is rarely refused.

Not long ago this knight of industry paid a visit to the office of a well-known wholesale house in the city whose manager is an Englishman. He represented himself to be Alfred G. Terry, son of Mr. Terry, the prominent York footballer, and played it well, affecting a lisp and a drawl and substituting the letter "w" for "t" in his conversation.

"Do you know," he said, "that I'm the fool of the family? My father gave me $8,000 to buy a ranch in Canada and I have been out West, but can't like the country."

He went on to speak in such a familiar way of Old Country scenes and personages that he awakened the sympathy of his fellow countryman to such an extent that the latter paid for a "bavard and sodah" and a lunch and afterwards lent him $10 with which he departed.

It has since been learned that the sharper has visited other places besides Toronto, playing the same game, but with variations possibly introduced to lessen the risk of detection. A prior to reaching Toronto he called upon the head of a Montreal house and represented himself as the son of Sir Blundell Maple, a prominent old countryman and doubtless succeeded in extracting the usual dollars which may be regarded as a tribute to his cleverness.

IN NEW YORK

But it is from New York that the most circumstantial account has been received of this gentleman's doings. Recently he called upon one of the Appleton Publishing Company, to whom he represented himself to be Mr. Epps, brother-in-law of Alma Tadema and Edmund Gosse. He showed so great a familiarity with the literary and artistic sets of London that he was invited to luncheon, at which he stated that his father had given him $20,000 to establish a stock farm in Canada. He spoke of delayed remittances, the impatience of hotel people about his bill, and finally was lent $10. It was found afterwards that on a former tour he had swindled the Century Company in a similar manner, speaking of Mr. Epps as his father. Henry Sandham, the Boston artist, was also a victim, together with several other people in Boston. A son of Canon Farrar had extracted money from Charles Dudley Warner. Both Birmingham, Ala., and Pittsburg, Kan., were the scenes of his labors, and the latter city offered a reward for his arrest on charges of swindling. The sums he borrowed were always small and he appeared to care more for the social success gained by his impudence than for the money itself.

HIS DESCRIPTION

He is described by the Torontonians who saw him last as being of medium height, with fair hair, small green eyes, ruddy complexion and badly damaged lower front teeth. Upon the second knuckle of the left hand was the scar of a tooth mark. He was consumptive in appearance and had a cough. His dress consisted of a white hat, with black band, a blue overcoat, with velvet collar, and brown boots. He was more or less shabby in appearance.

It is conjectured that he may at some time or other have been a groom or valet in some English family, and thus obtained the mass of knowledge which he is now employing to such a profitable purpose.

PETERBOROUGH, JANUARY, 26 1898

A WARNING.

There is no doubt that the coming six months will be a severe test of the Liberal party's popularity, its capacity to govern the country, and its ability to keep its own members from ruining the party. The unparalleled success of the party since the Federal campaign of 1896 has been flattering to its vanity, and with the usual result; the party has begun to think that the very stars in their courses are fighting for it, in fact, in the language of the street, the Liberals have the big head, a condition which is as unsafe for a political body as it is for an individual. Naturally, then, the party is none too well prepared to face the problems which must be met in the near future.—Toronto Star.

Can you imagine Mr. Garvin's finish on election night?

What did Mr. Kerr think when Mr. Stratton showed him liking for the "limbs of the law"?

Reading the reports of their meetings in the Review and Examiner must have a tendency to give the two candidates swollen heads.

What is most important in our politics is the free and untrammelled expression of the opinion of the citizens, both about measures and men.

Major Johnston, of Leamington, will follow Major Walsh and lead a party to the Klondike in the spring. Now where is Major Sam Hughes?—London News.

We have a vivid picture of Mr. Garvin, the working man, the horny-handed son of toil. Why not go round in a pair of blue jeans with a pick-axe on his shoulder?

The proceedings of the St. John Ward Liberal Club of South Toronto make it look very much as if the elections were going St. John-ward and Whitney-ward.

Toronto has appointed five commissioners to investigate the Toronto-James Bay route. Toronto people must be getting desperate for some means of booming their city.

The campaign should be sufficiently warm to hear from the man who has been a life-long — but is going to vote — for the first time. The blanks are filled in according to party leanings.

Professor Goldwin Smith has endorsed Mr. Whitney's policy regarding the advisory committee. The learned professor's political opinions were never very well endorsed by the Canadian electorate however.

It is all very well to try and boom all-Canadian routes to the Klondike, but something more must be done by the British Columbia and Federal Governments to make them practicable, than has been done up to this time.

It is surprising what unusual interest, intense enthusiasm, and all such stuff is being shown in Mr. Garvin throughout the riding. One is inclined to think that most of the interest is taken by Mr. Garvin himself.

It is expected that Mr. Hartly will have considerable difficulty in being elected again in Kingston, and that the Government is holding off the date of election to give him a better chance. Mr. Hartly is a public man of high principles and his defeat would be a loss to Ontario.

The heirs of Luc Letellier de St. Just are calling upon the Federal Government to pay them $25,000, the amount of salary Mr. Letellier would have collected had he not been dismissed from the office of Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec in 1879. There are more ways than one of getting at the Federal chest.—Mail and Empire.

Plans and specifications of the work can be seen on and after the 18th day of January, 1898, at the office of the Chief Engineer, of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Superintendent Engineer, Lachine Canal, Montreal. Printed forms of tender can also be obtained at the places named.

In the case of firms there must be attached to the tender the actual signature of the firm name, the nature of the occupation and residence of each member, of the same, and further, an accepted bank cheque for the sum of $500 must accompany the tender. Political Comments

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—I notice the Times has issued a standing invitation to those who care to avail themselves of it, to contribute to its columns the discussion of public questions. I presume this will incite comment on the political situation, and therefore, with this understanding, take my pen in hand to write my first essay.

Mr. Stratton and his satellites say that Mr. Hardy's cabinet is composed of men way above Mr. Whitney and his colleagues. Y. Gods and little fishes! At the same time they insinuate that J. R. himself should have been in that cabinet instead of Davis of North York. Well, if a professional politician, an intriguing wire puller like Mr. S. is good enough timber for a grit cabinet, then I'll swallow my hat if there are not a couple of dozen or more just a little better on the opposition side of the house.

Does Mr. Stratton imagine that he is in the potatoes in the patch? Has he the idea that West Peterboro' is a fit and proper person to represent it? Will he please remember that Mr. Garvin is the accredited candidate of the Conservative party, and as such has as much right in the field as the much-struck-upon himself J. R. Stratton. The Conservative candidate does not know as much about pulling wires, buying off opponents and intriguing generally as Mr. Stratton does, for Mr. Garvin is an honorable man.

What has come over our one time general friend, "J. R."? Something seems to have disagreed with him. Did he really expect to go in without opposition? Is he beginning to find out that it is not going to be a walk-over? Poor boy! His plans were according to one of his own supporters, to have a virtual walk-over here and to go out into some of the other constituencies and help his friends, thereby making himself solid for the next vacancy in the cabinet. It seems a pity to spoil these nicely laid plans; but there is no necessity for him venting his spleen on Mr. Garvin. Let him blackguard the Tories as a whole. Mr. Garvin is their choice, and when Mr. Stratton says that Mr. Garvin forced himself on the Conservatives he simply —

The Electric Railway

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—Having read in your paper the account of the discussion in the council of the project for the extension of the electric railway system, as a well-wisher of Peterborough, I hope that the matter will be given the attention its importance merits by our representatives. We have before us now an opportunity of making our city one of the greatest in Ontario. We have an opportunity of building up a Greater Peterborough, the electric city of the province. Peterborough, to be prosperous, must continue to advance. There is always a change going on in the life of a municipality as in anything else—either forward or backward. If we do not wish to retrograde we must advance.

The advantages resulting to Peterborough from the execution of such an enterprise would be great. The expenditure of such a large sum of money as would be necessary to build and equip the system would alone bring better times for a great many in Peterborough. I see that the promoters calculate on putting in $500,000. All classes of the community would be benefited by this disbursement. The increased trade that would accrue to the merchants of the town when the line was in operation would be a very large item. Marketing facilities would be greatly increased. Terms for electric power could very probably be made with the company by manufacturers. Above all, the execution of the scheme would make the town known as the most progressive, live and up-to-date place in Canada. Our summer resorts would be boomed, and more American capital would be doubtless attracted to be used in developing the natural mineral resources of the country.

The inducements asked by the company are remarkable, easy, when we consider the large business being paid for by many towns and cities in Ontario for the location of industries and the investment of capital. The town is required to guarantee the interest on $150,000 of the company's bonds at five per cent. per annum for twenty years. No outlay whatever is really required. I believe that the company is composed of practical men who will not invest $200,000 of their own money in an enterprise that will not pay. If it pays the town has to contribute nothing. If it does not pay the sum that will have to be paid by the town is simply secured by the road coming into the possession of the town when any loss that had been sustained would be repaid by the sale of the assets.

I hope that some of the prominent citizens will interest themselves in the matter, and call a public meeting to get the views of the rate-payers.

A Mad Change

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—I do not believe that there is much truth in the accounts of the great reception of Mr. Garvin in the riding as published in the Review, but for fear that some people may be led aside by his misrepresentations, I would like to warn any doubting Thomases of a Liberal, if there be any, before casting any vote against Mr. Stratton. For a riding like West Peterborough to change from Stratton to this man Garvin! What utter folly! Do we want our riding represented by a professional politician, a courier of nominations, a man who having been refused elsewhere tries to curry favor with the electors of Peterborough? We have had for 12 years a representative who is familiar with the wants of the riding, whose interests are our interests, and whose defeat would be our loss.

Mr. Garvin's ignorance or wilful misrepresentation of public questions was proven clearly at his own meeting at Buckhorn the other night, when he was made to take back his mis-statements by the audience. Mr. Stratton has served us well during the last twelve years, and it would be utter folly to change him forthwith.

Back of it all Mr. Garvin is a great big joke. He to win where well-known local men of far greater ability dared not try! He is put up to be knocked down, and he will be knocked so flat that he will try Simcoe or some other place next time he wishes to pose.

Yours, etc.

CAPONS.

The Market Results of the Operation by One Who Knows.

We reproduce herewith the cut of capon, showing just how this class of poultry should be dressed for this market. You will notice that the feathers are left on the neck, legs, wings and rump, and also that the tail feathers are left on. Otherwise capons should be dressed for this market the same as other fowls, except that they should be drip-picked, as it would be impossible to scale
them and leave part of the feathers on,
and if they are scaled, the same as other chickens, they will not bring any more than the price of common fowls,
for they are distinguished more by the way they are picked than in any other manner. All other chickens sell better in this market scaled, while turkeys sell best drip-picked.

P. S. Sprague, of the Sprague Commission Company of Chicago, a firm which deals largely in poultry, writes as follows on the subject of capons and their
market:

Capons are in the best demand with us from the first of November until the first of May. For the last year or two there have been a great many common

CAPON READY FOR MARKET.

roosters dressed in capon style and sent to this market, which has hurt the capon trade some, but still good capons always bring a good price. The larger the birds are, the more they will bring per pound. Birds that weigh less than seven pounds each will not bring any more than common chickens, as a rule.
Each year the call in this market for genuine, large capons becomes greater.
The reason is that people are becoming educated to the enjoyment of the luxury.

Looking over the quotations on Jan.
1st we note that large and choice capons sold, dressed, at 15c per pound, while mixed lots brought 12c per pound. What are termed "slips" (cockrels that have been imperfectly caponised) sold at from 8c to 10c per pound. A capon will bring upwards of three times as much as a cock. Capons grow to be larger and heavier than cocks and may, if well bred, be made to attain a size of from 12 to 15 pounds each. A capon of such weight will sell for from $2 to $3, while a cock will not bring more than 50 cents. Yet it costs just as much to raise cocks
as to raise capons.

When raising capons the breed should be carefully considered. If the operation is performed early the capon will not develop a comb. The operation should be performed before the bird is three months old. It is a waste of time to use small breeds and scrub, as they will only sell as second-class stock. The largest capons, according to our information, are produced by crossing a Dorking male with Brahmas hens, or a best in quality are produced by keeping the pullets of the Dorking-Brahma cross and mating them with an Indian game male. The capons so produced combine the size of the Brahma, the compactness of the Dorking and the full breast and juicy qualities of the Indian game. Other good crosses may be made by the use of Houdan male with Brahma, Cochin or Plymouth Rock hens, or the Dorking or Indian game may be used in place of the Houdan. The hen should always be large. The form and quality are mostly derived from the sire.

A capon grows and fattens on a small amount of food. The first point should be to secure large frames and fatten them after they are fully matured. If the capon is produced from a large breed
it should have plenty of time for growth
—about fifteen months—for every pound
is valuable. The food should be nourishing but not fattening. Corn is unnecessary until near the time for fattening.
Wheat, oats, pounded bone, meat, milk
and green food, all that it can eat twice a day will be sufficient to help the capon rapidly in growth.

Capons should be put in a small yard (not too crowded) three weeks before being sold and fed four times a day,
giving plenty of corn, and also a variety of other food. One of the best preparations for fattening capons is cornmeal and ground oats, equal parts, adding half a pound of crude tallow to every quart of the mixture. Moistened with well seasoned milk or boiling water and season with salt.

Buyers are not so particular about the color of the legs and skin of the capon
as they are of its size and attractive appearance in other respects, yet a yellow leg capon holds an advantage. Yellow legs may be secured by using Plymouth Rock males on pullets of a Dorking male and a Brahma hen. Such a capon will be of excellent quality and will always bring a good price. Light Brahma males are also mated with Cochins
hens in order to secure large capons, but they do not have that full breast
which is imparted by the Houdan, Dorking or Game. If the color of the legs is of no consequence, the Houdan male and Langshan hen produce excellent capons when mated.

The comparison of a well-bred, well-kept and well-fed capon with a cock of the same breeding, will show that where a cock reaches ten pounds weight in a given period of time, the capon will weigh one-third more, and the difference
in price is three to four times as much.
Instead of keeping the yards full useless and unprofitable cockrels, a raising were resorted to, there would be a greater desire to have more cockrels, richer than pullets. By keeping good breeds, neighbors may be induced to use the eggs for hatching purposes.
Then the surplus cockrels may be bought at a slight advance, as they will prefer to keep the pullets for their own use. By then providing the neighbors with pure bred males every season there would be no limit to the supply of eggs
for hatching cockrels for capons.

Men Injured More by Imprudence Than
by Continuous Labor.

A number of successful business men
were engaged in a most animated conversation in one of the rooms of an apartment club the other day, when the conversation turned on a newspaper paragraph that announced with great impressiveness that a man known all over the civilized world as a brilliant writer
and humorist was dying from overwork.
Regrets were expressed at the condition
of one who was known to many members of the club, and some comments were indulged in on the folly of working oneself to death.

A man of 65 or thereabouts broke into the conversation with the remark:—
"I don't believe that any man ever died of legitimate hard work, and I am willing to back up my statement against any reasonable proof that may be furnished."

This naturally created a sensation,
and there were very sharp criticisms on this man's position. But he persisted, and gave his reasons, which were so full of common sense and logic that most of the company were compelled to admit the truth of them.

Men do not die of legitimate work,
neither do they, as a rule, die of what they do during business hours. If the man would leave his office and go quietly
home to rest or to reasonable recreation
he would not be likely to suffer in health. But he does not do this. He goes out of his office to the club, to the billiard room, to the saloon, the gaming house, other occupations or amusements even less reputable.

Many a man rushes through his business, simply that he may get away to plunge into excesses of various sorts.
There may be instances in which a complicated business, handicapped by lack of means to carry it on in a comfortably smooth fashion, may wear on a man's mind during his waking and sleeping hours, and eventually undermine his vitality. But this is not legitimate business. No man has a right to work against such desperate odds. It is much better to begin on a smaller scale, to adapt one's hopes to the means at hand and remember that vital force is too valuable to be squandered in striving for the almost impossible.

Straightforward commercial transactions, unattended with the enormous risks that many men take, are healthy, and rarely bring bad results. Indeed, all things being equal, it is not business
worry that kills, except as a man lifts
the burden of business worry on his shoulders weakened by excesses, dissipation
and unwarranted indulgence.

If men would attribute their ill-health
to its just cause and would be honest with themselves and the world, in the majority of cases they would be forced to admit that it is unbusiness matters that cause the drain on their system and eventually bring them to broken health and shattered intellects. The man who has something to conceal, who has unwarranted business or domestic affairs to look after, matters about which he must be perpetually on the qui vive, lest someone should detect him, in the man who,
alone times out of ten, will break down,
and this dissipation is almost invariably charged to overwork in business.

"Poor fellow, he was so devoted to business that he wore himself out at
it," is the verdict, and a more unjust and unwarranted one it would be difficult to render.—New York Ledger.

Criticizing the Sermon.

"Here is something which I would like to see adopted by our local preachers," said a churchgoer the other day.
"It is in all the papers and newspapers I received recently from Melbourne, Australia, it says that Rev.
Dr. Bevan, pastor of the Richmond street Congregational Church, had introduced a startling innovation in his church services. After pronouncing the benediction he invites any one who pleases to come up on the rostrum and criticize the sermon just delivered by him. He often descends and takes his seat among the congregation to await developments. Only one or two venturesome hearers have so far responded, but it is expected that others will gain courage and air their views in the course of time. During the last few Sundays the church had been crowded to the doors."—Detroit

POND'S EXTRACT

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 29, 1894.
I have used "Pond's Extract" for many years and always insist upon my patients getting "Pond's," not the ordinary Extract, which is often a very poor article. W. K. BROWN, M. D.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9, 1895.
I use Pond's Extract a great deal in my practice. I think it very valuable in all venous enlargements. J. L. BRADFORD, M. D.

SANTA BARBARA, CAL., Nov. 27, 1894.
I have been using Pond's Extract in my practice for twenty years. I frequently have the experience you mention of druggists insisting they can put up as good as yours. I don't believe it. I use Pond's Extract a great deal as an antiseptic in combination with glycerine and carbolic acid. I think it far superior to any antiseptic known. F. G. FLOURNOY, M. D.

COLUMBIA, PA., Jan. 18, 1895.
I have been a constant user of Pond's Extract since 1852, and do not expect to discontinue it while I live. S. ARMOR, M. D.

CHELSEA, MASS., Nov. 8, 1894.
I have made diseases of the skin a specialty for thirty years, and am free to say I know of no remedy that has given me such perfect satisfaction as Pond's Extract in cases for which it is recommended. G. W. BABCOCK, M. D.

ASTHMA INSTITUTE, Buffalo, N.Y., Dec. 8, 1894.
I know Pond's Extract to be a valuable remedy, and shall continue its use whenever the opportunity offers. GEO. H. CALKINS, M. D.

NEWARK, N.J., Dec. 13, 1894.
I am pleased with the purity and strength of Pond's Extract. J. L. DURYEE, M. D.

POND'S EXTRACT is used by the leading physicians and principal hospitals of America and Europe.

Serious Accident
Mr. R. D. Hamilton, of the Peterborough Mfg. Co., had the misfortune to have his thigh bone broken while visiting in Hamilton yesterday. He went up on the Curlew's excursion and, while being shown through the hardware establishment, he made a mis-step and stepping over a shaft fell to the floor two stories below.

At the meeting of the county council at the court house yesterday afternoon Mr. J. B. Pearse, of Norwood, was elected warden of the county for 1898. Fifteen ballots were taken and the vote on the last stood Pearse, 6; Eastland, 2; Brown, 1; Casement, 1. Mr. Pearse thus getting the position.

In taking the chair Mr. Pearse thanked the members of the council for the honor they had done him in electing him to the position of warden for a second term. CONSERVATIVES ORGANIZE

A Meeting in Their Committee Rooms Last Night—Encouraging Address

A large and enthusiastic meeting of Conservatives was held last night in Mr. Garvin's committee rooms in the opera house block to organize fully for the campaign. Mr. William Robinson occupied the chair. Stirring addresses were given by the candidate, Mr. Hampden Burnham, Mr. R. M. Dennystown, Mr. A. P. Pousette, Mr. Green and others. Great enthusiasm was shown in the proceedings and the meeting gave Mr. Garvin's prospects a bright appearance. All the speakers were loud in their praise of Mr. Garvin's work and were unanimous in predicting his election.

MR. GARVIN

explained fully his platform upon the public questions and dealt efficiently with the Hardy Government. He decried the use of personalities in the campaign and said reason and argument and not abuse should decide which was the proper man. Mr. Stratton had said that he was dismissed by the public school for incompetency. He could and in the near future would give satisfactory reasons that it was not incompetency for which he had been dismissed. The elegant periods as reported in the Examiner were never spoken by Mr. Stratton. If he had the ability to use such language he would be a Cabinet Minister by this time. It was the editor of the Examiner, instead of the proprietor who sat in the Legislature Peterborough would now be represented by a Cabinet Minister. He announced that he would be present at Mr. Stratton's meeting to-morrow night and would take up his full hour.

The other speakers all praised Mr. Garvin and were sanguine of success. The new registration law was thoroughly explained and it was urged that all be diligent in making up of it.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The following officers were elected for the central committee: Mr. T. F. Burnham, chairman; Mr. A. P. Pousette, vice-chairman; Mr. W. Sillsbury, secretary.

The following, together with the chairman of the ward committees from the central committee: Messrs. H. C. Winch, R. Sheehy, T. Guerin, L. Sorey, A. McNeill, H. Phelan, W. J. Miller, T. Rutherford, W. Langford and C. Dunn.

A RUSH TO KLONDIKE

The Canadian Pacific Route the Most Favorable One

HAS MANY ADVANTAGES

An Extra Quick Service and no Custom Troubles

Activity of the C. P. R. in Preparing to Handle the Increased Traffic. Heavy Passenger Already Received—Englishmen Coming in Large Numbers

(Special to the Times.)
Vancouver, Jan. 26.—R. Kerr, general western freight and passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific, arrived here to-day on business connected with Klondike travel. He states that the Tartar and the Athenian, the steamers purchased by the Canadian Pacific Railway, to be placed on the Vancouver-Wrangell route, would sail from Southamton on Feb. 1 and 10, respectively, and reach here at the end of March.

In Mr. Kerr's opinion the Stickeen River route will undoubtedly be the most direct route to the Klondike. In the first place there are no customs difficulties, the entire route being in Canadian territory. The steamers Tartar and Athenian will run in conjunction with the steamers Packham and Anson, and each will make a round trip in a week.

On the Stickeen River a fleet of 16 to 18 stern wheel steamers will be operated, and another fleet is being constructed for service on Teslin Lake, from which point Dawson can be reached in three days.

As soon as Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann complete the railway from Glenora on the Stickeen to Teslin Lake, the company can land people in Dawson from Vancouver in a week.

Thomas Tompkins, contractor for the Klondike, has just announced that he would at once start work in connection with the new deposit here. This, with the wharves and other buildings entail a $300,000 expenditure.

Mr. Tompkins says also that the company's hotels along the line are also to be enlarged.

The steamers Teas and Willaga sailed yesterday afternoon for Wrangell, and the company's boats are being loaded down with passengers and freight.

$3 A HALF OUNCE

THE RATE A FIRM WILL CHARGE FOR CARRYING KLONDIKE LETTERS.

Vancouver, Jan. 26.—Messrs. Evans Coleman and Evans, of Vancouver, will despatch a special messenger to Dawson for the express purpose of carrying mail. He will leave Vancouver on the 27th inst. for the Klondike, and will only a limited number of letters can be taken up at $3 a half-ounce or under. A list of letters will be posted up in Dawson immediately on the messenger's arrival.

THE WEST IN A RUSH

THE U. S. COASTING REGULATIONS UNJUST TO CANADIANS

Vancouver, Jan. 26.—The decision of the Washington authorities to allow the coasting trade has aroused the indignation of the people of this province. It is that the transportation of the United States States ports consigned to Alaska via Victoria, Vancouver or Nanaimo, and as those ports transferred to British vessels, is a violation of the United States coasting laws, and subjects the merchandise to forfeiture. This means that the coasting of California steamers cannot carry freight to British Columbia that is destined for Canadian carriers in the way of present contracts and future business.

It is probable that several of the boards of trade will urge Government to pass an alien law to keep the Yankees out of the Klondike altogether, which would probably bring them off their high horse.

FOR YUKON TIMBER LIMITS
Ottawa, Jan. 26.—About seventy tenders have been received at the Interior Department for the privilege of cutting timber on limits of five square miles in the Yukon district.

Over ninety applications have been also received for dredging for gold in the rivers in the Yukon district.

A NEW TARIFF OF RATES.
The Canadian Pacific Railway has just issued its new passenger tariff from Victoria and Vancouver, B.C., to points in the Klondike. The tariff is an increase all round. Owing to the heavy traffic on the steamships of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Pacific Steamship Company the local agents are insisting on a deposit of the full fare before they will undertake to secure a berth.

The tariff is as follows:

1st & 2nd Class. Clus. Clus.
Wragell.....$30 $20
Juneau.....35 22
Stikine.....40 22
Slinguay, Hayes, Pyramid Hill, Haines Mission.....50 35
The increase range from $3 to $10.

"Gough That Way Kill"
Can be cured instantly—easily—in young or old—by a few pleasant doses of Ransom's Hives Syrup. When it only costs $2 at any drug-gist why be distressed by a cough? Get some and cure yourself.

NO CASH BONUS ASKED

A Subsidy in Mining Lands Given by the Dominion Government

Messrs. McKenna and Mann Take the Contract and Have to Handle—They Have Already Started Operations on the Road The Government's Position

(Special to the Times.)
Ottawa, Jan. 26.—The contract for building the railway from Telegraph Creek to Teslin Lake, leading from the headwaters of the Stickeen to Dawson City, has been signed by Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann, the well-known contractors, but the details are not yet ready for publication. They will be made known officially to-morrow.

The road is to commence at a point not yet decided upon near Glenora and run to Teslin Lake over the undulating country not very difficult for railway construction. The distance is about 130 miles.

The Government has agreed with the contractors to give a block of mining land for a subsidy. There will be no cash subsidy. The contractors will require to make traffic arrangements with the Canadian Pacific. Mackenzie & Mann have already started to work, and in the course of a very short time will have between 500 and 1000 men on the spot, arranging for the work of construction.

The road will require to be built in time to send in supplies to Dawson before next winter sets in. This will give very little more than 120 days to build a railway of 130 miles, as the work cannot be commenced before May and must be finished before September.

Purchasing of supplies and material will in the meantime be gone on with by the contractors.

In making the contract the Government had to look to men of means and responsibility, as everything depends upon rapid and successful completion of the work.

(Special to the Times.)
Richmond, Ky., Jan. 26.—Reliable information reached here this morning of another dastardly murder in Jackson county, the victim being John Embury, a former citizen of Herts. Embury, who was a farmer, and resided near Clover Bottom, went to his front door just before retiring, the report is, and on opening the door, was assassinated by unknown parties, who emptied both barrels of a shotgun and two pistol balls into the breast of his victim.

He sank down in the doorway and expired before his wife could reach his side. The assassins were so close that the man's clothes were powder-burned. Footprints showing there were two men in the party who committed the bloody deed were found leading from the house to the road.

Embury was about 40 years old, and had a wife and children.

The neighborhood is greatly excited over the crime, and no effort will be spared to apprehend the guilty party. Bloodhounds have been sent out for, but it is feared that the heavy rains which have fallen in the last 12 hours will prevent them from striking the trail. This is the first murder in this locality in the last four weeks.

(Special to the Times.)
Toledo, Ohio, Jan. 26.—Jef. Mitchell, Jr., one of the noble "400" of this city, was locked up at the police station tonight at the request of his wife. He is a victim of cocaine. He tried to kill his wife at an early hour this morning but she got away from him. He will be sent to the proper asylum at once. He is a victim of too much wealth and luxury, and contracted the cocaine habit as an antidote for the liquor habit.

WHERE IS WEYLER?

He Does Not Appear in the Trouble

AN OFFICIAL CONFESSION

The Insurrection in the Philippine Islands Continue

The Natives Want Give in—Contemplated Visit of American Warships to Havana Creates Bitter Feelings

(Special to the Times.)
San Francisco, Jan. 26.—Advice from the Orient bring to hand the full text of the edict recently issued by Ferdinand Primo de Rivera, Governor-General of the Philippines, a brief reference to which has been made through official sources at Madrid. The edict is so severe in its treatment of all enemies of the Imperial Government that the manifestation of General Weyler seems mild in comparison. Taken as a whole it appears as an official confession of the untruth of the frequent announcements from the Government at Madrid that the Philippine insurrection has been suppressed and the people pacified.

The edict begins with the revocation of all laws heretofore issued and the establishment of a military truce. Property belonging to persons connected with the rebellion, or to tenants, partners or any person interested in property belonging to the rebels is declared forfeited to the Government and will be seized to satisfy the needs of the Spanish army. The families of individuals who are incorporated in the rebel army must go to join them or fix their residence under the watchfulness of the authorities. For the purpose of this order, the families of rebels will consist of their wives, children, parents, brothers, brothers-in-law and cousins.

NOT AFRAID OF THE STATES
New York, Jan. 26.—A Madrid dispatch says: The official intimation of the contemplated visit of American vessels of war to Havana and the presence of an American squadron in the West Indian waters has caused a sensation and much displeasure at Madrid, which is viewed by all shades of opinion as a day with much bitterness. El Imparcial calls the "conduct of America provocation without justification" and recommends Spaniards in Havana to be prudent and self-possessed and to show disdain and indifference during the stay of American vessels.

Sagasta says the Spanish Government attaches no importance to the movements of the American ships, as it is perfectly aware that President McKinley harbors no designs against the present cordial relations between the two countries. It is easy to see, however, he says, how politicians and military men apprehend any demonstration by the old Spanish party in Havana, on the occasion of a visit by American vessels, that would find an echo in the patriotic feelings and hardly suppressed irritation against the United States in Spain.

EBER WARD'S MILLIONS

THE FORTUNE OF MRS. CATHERINE L. MORROW, OF CHICAGO, WAS AT STAKE.

(Special to the Times.)
Detroit, Mich., Jan. 26.—A suit involving $6,500,000 worth of stock in the Illinois Steel Company, of Chicago, the Bayview Iron Company, of Milwaukee, the Flint and Pere Marquette and other railroads was decided by the Michigan Supreme Court to-day. The amount at stake includes the fortune of Mrs. Catherine L. Morrow, of Chicago, mother of Princess de Chiny, formerly Clara Ward, of Detroit, who receives $60,000 annually from the estate.

Capt. Eber H. Ward was among the first owners of passenger steam boats on the lakes. The Princess' mother was his second wife. At his death he bequeathed to the wife $1,000,000 and to the Princess $500,000. Dr. Orville W. Owen, of Detroit, and six other relatives were also named as beneficiaries.

Prin W. Potter, of Chicago, was executor of the estate. Six years ago Dr. Owen and the relatives began suit for an accounting. They charged that Potter had through a collusive arrangement with Mrs. Ward-Cameron and her two brothers secured his money at the expense of the estate.

A decision was rendered in favor of the defendants. An appeal was taken to the Supreme Court, which sustained the decision of the lower court. The Detroit heirs claimed $4,000,000 under the terms of the will and nearly $10,000 in prosecuting the case.

AN ABOLITIONIST DIED

HE PREACHED AGAINST SLAVERY AND LOST HIS PULPIT

(Special to the Times.)
Rochester, N.Y., Jan. 26.—Rev. Abner Schuchfield died yesterday in Spencerport, aged 92 years. Some years ago while preaching at Hamilton, Ont., he was deposed from the ministry for preaching against slavery after having been repeatedly warned to desist. At this time he was prominent in abolition matters and was an intimate friend of Gerrit Smith. He once served as Superintendent of the Bibles Home at Milwaukee, Wis.

UPRISING OF NATIVES

BRITISH TAKING ACTIVE STEPS TO SUPPRESS REBELLIOUS SUBJECTS.

(Special to the Times.)
Muscat, Gulf of Oman, Jan. 26.—The British gunboat Lavington has seized the steamer Buluchistan, off here, and her cargo of arms and ammunition has been confiscated. Her cargo is held by the British consul. Oman is a kingdom of Arabia, between the Persian Gulf and the Arabian sea, or Sea of Oman.

Muscat is the capital of the kingdom of Oman and has an active trade with British India. The Sultan of Oman has despatched away and has a naval force under his disposal. It may be presumed that the cargo of arms and ammunition seized by the British warship Lavington was intended for the use of the insurgents of Buluchistan, who have recently been giving considerable trouble to the British.

According to despatches from Calcutta from January 12 there has been a serious outbreak in the Province of Chittagong, in the district of Baluchistan, where a British military party was attacked and a number of native guards were killed or wounded. Captain Burn, in command of the British force, was severely wounded, and a camel, traveling 130 miles in 36 hours to Ormara, on the Arabian Sea. He reported that the whole Keel valley was in turmoil and that the troops of the Khan of Keel were holding Nusrabad, a military post of India, southeast of Amere, adding that Fort Pashmi had been looted and that Omara itself was threatened.

A REVEREND DETECTIVE

HE SECURES THE ARREST OF A CHURCH SWINDLER IN ENGLAND

(Special to the Times.)
Toledo, O., Jan. 26.—Rev. George W. Belzey, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church of this city, has done some clever detective work and caused the arrest in England, of a man going under the name of Rev. L. C. Hutchinson, although it is thought he went under a different name in New York, where he is wanted, also in New Orleans. Rev. Mr. Belzey became interested in the case at White Stable, England, where he formerly lived. Hutchinson claimed there to be a minister and that he was the pastor of a New Orleans church which had a membership of 2,000. He said his salary was $10,000 a year. He said his wife, who was dead, was a daughter of a Millionaire Hatch, of New York.

Rev. Mr. Belzey learned that there was no such church in New Orleans and that the man had a wife and several children in London. Hutchinson suddenly left for New York, saying that his father-in-law had just died. He could shed tears on the slightest provocation and borrowed right and left. He did not go to New York after all, but he began revival work in Switzer, England, where he borrowed thousands. The officers got on his trail and he received a telegram one day during services saying his wife had just died in New York. The telegram afterwards recovered, proved to be from him to his wife and read: "All is discovered." He was finally arrested.

SATISFACTION GIVEN

CHINA HAS ACCDED TO EVERY DEMAND MADE BY GERMANY

Berlin, Jan. 26.—At a meeting of the Budget Committee of the Reichstag yesterday Baron Von Buelow, Minister of Foreign Affairs, cited the concluded arrangements between Germany and China in regard to the murdered German missionaries. The results are four in number: first, the Governor of Shantung is removed and for ever deposed from holding high office, besides other officials are removed and punished; second, China has promised pay 3,000 taels for the material loss of the mission; third, an announcement of the death of the missionaries, churches under the protection of the Chinese Emperor are to be erected, free sites provided and 30,000 taels allotted each edifice, and another 24,000 taels assigned to the erection of secure residences for the Catholic prefectures; fourth, a special Imperial edict has been issued for the protection of the German missions. In his address Baron Von Buelow said that China had complied with every demand made by Germany, and had thus averted serious results.

PETERBOROUGH, JANUARY, 27, 1898

"How will you vote?" "By ballot, sir."

After the election is over Mr. Garvin will have the (comforting) satisfaction of saying that he did his level best.

The young girl who is trying hard to seduce her young man to pop is not necessarily "begging the question."

Throwing ink and hitting members with rulers in Paris is not to be compared with the throwing of mud and "biting of heads" in Peterboro.

Mr. Dennistoun complains that Mr. Stratton hits at head whenever he sees one. Evidently Mr. Stratton finds a good many heads within reach who are trying to get a knock at him.

Conservatives say that the minister of the Gospel was taken along to officiate at an obituary service. Mr. Stratton thinks so too. They look at it from different sides that's all.

Mr. Green got off a good squib on J. R. the other night when he said that Mr. Stratton took out to his meetings first a lawyer, then a doctor, and lastly a minister of the Gospel. He thought the order very significant.

Speaking of people who take themselves seriously, the London correspond-

dents gravely predict a European war every Monday, and the following week return to the same old prediction with as light a heart as if it were a glittering novelty.

Grecian valour was glorified in the saying when Greek meets Greek then Comes the Tug of War, but modern history provides some foundation for the remark that when Turk meets Greek the subsequent proceedings have a strong family resemblance to a foot race.—Telegram.

Finally the flow of gold from the mines into the mints and into the hands of the American people must be counted as one of the substantial blessings that are beginning to flow from the discovery of this new El Dorado.—Detroit Free Press.

Poor Canadians!

The editor of the Examiner ought to feel a thrill of satisfaction to hear his writings so highly praised. The Conservatives say however that the brilliancy of his articles is rather dimmed by having to come through the solid head of J. R.

All the prosperity which Grit supremacy has restored to Canada may be extremely real and substantial, but the prosperity aforesaid has not yet entirely abolished the gent who rings the door bell in the gloaming and asks for a cash donation sufficient to buy his bed and breakfast.—Telegram.

The ungrateful Grits are nominating candidates in many ridings to oppose the Patrons. The Patrons richly deserve this treatment for though they were elected as Independents and not Reformers, yet Hardy had no better followers in the House. Any of them that survive will value their independence a little higher.

There are a number of candidates in the province running as Independent Liberals. In this they do a wise act. In our own riding a great many think Mr. Stratton should be the representative, but would like to see him act more independently of the Hardy government. With a great many that government is in disrepute, but they still believe Stratton to be the man.

THE DEATH OF GARVIN
Note—Having read in the Mail and Empire somewhere that Hon. G. W. Ross is a plagiarist, the bard hereby warns him that the patent for this spam has been applied for. The police will see that he does not take it away in his valise to-night.

Not a cry was heard, not a sorrowful word, As his corpse from committee room they hurried; For the fight was now over, and every one said, That Garvin was deeply buried.

Gladly he entered the fight, hoping to win For the wily Tories deceived him. They had led him to think he should surely get in, Now the political grave received him. He had told about school-books, municipal law, Boiling and cholera pigs squealing, But he found to his cost that the cards did not draw, That the province wished none of his healing.

Wickedly then they threw him down, This man who wished to gain glory, He was used as a catapult, this poor, silly clown— You all know the rest of his story.

A few stowed around, said a lonely Amen; And the Grits were all broadly smiling. And they looked up their sleeves did some bad Tory men— For now they were through with beguiling.

But he'll run again in some other place, And again will the tale be repeated; He is politics-struck, but it'll do him no good, He is sure to be badly defeated. (A la Sir J. Moore.)

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

(The Times holds this column open to the free discussion of public affairs. It is understood, however, that these letters are not the opinions of the paper, and that we are in no way responsible for anything herein contained.)

Wanted—A Muzzle

To the Editor of The Times:
Sir,—That's what is wanted—sure! And Dr. Bell should get one at once, or all chance of Peterboro owning a real live Cabinet Minister will be gone. What has come to our great and only "J. R." anyway? He tells us (through the mouths of his friends, and is entitled to be just on the threshold of the promised land, and if only he gets that 1500 majority, the door into the charmed circle where the "Honourables" do meet must be opened to him. Well, that's all right. Peterboro wants and is entitled to a representative in the Cabinet. We are all agreed about that. You and twenty other editors said so eighteen months ago (of course without any suggestion from J. R. himself) but the "boom" was a fizzle and Davis got the plum. We didn't all, with and used "language," didn't we, but like our own "J. R.," we didn't swear very loud, and hoped for better days.

And now they seem near at hand. I look likely enough that even if the Hardy government is sustained, some of the present Cabinet will lose their seats and then what stands between the only "J. R." and his ambition? Nothing but a cheap variety of muzzle! Here he was confronted by an admittedly weak and despised opponent. It was only a question a few weeks since of the size of the great big majority but now I fear it is all different, and all for the lack of a muzzle. He has been making votes and creating sympathy for Garvin every time he spoke of him, because of his little abuse and vulgar lack of generosity. But his half-hearted support of the Mr. Hamplden Burnham, caps all Mr. Burnham may have all the deficiencies of which Mr. Stratton is reported to have accused him before the disgusted gathering of friends in the committee room. As to that I won't say anything. But what is to be thought of the safety of a man who pretends to know that the said "Ham" was out of sympathy with and practically despised the Conservative candidate, lets his tongue run away with his brains, and by his insults makes it certain that what may have been a half-hearted support will be turned into enthusiastic help. But even that is not all. In his speech at North Monaghan his own paper reports him as breaking through all the decencies of social usage and actually telling his audience things that are reported to have been said in private and evidently friendly. He has gone stark staring mad! Is the "big head" due to "water on the brain"? Because all this leads not to big majorities, but to consolidated effort and united enthusiastic work on the part of all lovers of decency and fair-play for his opponent. And so once more I say for pity's sake somebody get him a muzzle. If private conversations are to be repeated in public, "J. R." should be careful, or he may be confronted with some of his own amusing and decidedly strong expressions of opinion when his two ambassadors returned from their unsuccessful attempt to boost him into the Cabinet some eighteen months ago.

Were all Mr. Stratton's opinions of the great A. S. Hardy and his colleagues as high, loyal and enthusiastic as these are now apparently, he would be sure to see them expressed in cold type! If not I would suggest caution in regard to private conversations, or like Runguo's ghost some of them may return to haunt him and what is worse, help to fasten the Cabinet door against him.

I have been a Grit for the last fifteen years and have always supported the Ontario Government, which has I think given us a clean and generally honest administration. That is why I hope that "J. R." will either get rid of his attack of "Head" or else be provided with a comfortable but close fitting muzzle.

Apologising for the length of this letter. Yours, etc.,

Peterboro, Jan. 26th.

THEY WONT DESERT

ATTEMPTS TO PERSUADE NORTH-WEST LIBERALS TO HOLD UP
THE GOVERNMENT.

Winnipeg, Jan. 25.—It is reported here that Mr. Young, M. P., has been endeavoring to form a combination of five Western Liberals for the purpose of forcing the Government to accede
at once to the demands of the ultra-Liberals on the tariff, freight rates,
etc.

The scheme so far has been unsuccessful, only one man, and he a Patron, having fallen in with the idea.

What he did and what he did not do
He never went to a theater in all his life or to a bill. He never read a novel or cared for any book of common light literature. Magazines and reviews for the most part he eschewed, demonstrating them trash, though he would occasionally peruse an article on some subject in which he was interested. He scanned the Times daily and followed the summaries of pamentary debate sufficiently to master
the general drift of political questions.
He read The Saturday Review for some years until he took offense at a certain article, after which he never looked at the paper again. He enjoyed the cartoon in Judy caricaturing the Liberal government. He enjoyed a good ghost story, and professed to regard black cats as uncanny. "The Memoirs of the Life and Writings of Solomon Caesar Malan, D. D."

Ginger Beer
An old family recipe for ginger beer
this is easily made is this: Put 1-2 pounds of granulated sugar in a large crock or bowl. Add 2 ounces of pure ground ginger and a lemon sliced thin.
Pour over these 8 quarts of boiling water and occasionally stir until the liquid becomes lukewarm. Then add one-quarter of a yeast cake that has been dissolved. Mix well, and then when perfectly cold strain into bottles and fasten the corks securely. Keep the bottles in a moderate temperature 12 hours and then put them in a cool place. This beer will be ready to use in four or five days.

STRINGY MILK.
A Consideration of the Scientific Reasons
Given For Its Presence.

Mr. John Speir, writing to The Scottish Farmer on the subject of "stringy milk," says: Bacteria plays a most important part in all dairy matters, and all bacteriologists who have directed their attention to stringy milk have arrived at the same conclusion—viz., that it is caused by bacteria. These investigations have also brought to light the fact that several forms of bacteria may cause stringy milk, and that stringy
milk cannot be produced without infection. In Norway and Sweden a certain class of "stringy milk," called "large milk," is sold as an article of commerecial value, and this milk is said to be produced by feeding the cows on a particular plant.
Trusts made by bacteriologists did not,
however, produce such an effect, and at the present time all evidence seems to point to every case being the result of infection.

The bacillus which is supposed to be the principal cause of stringy milk has been found by Guillebeau to retain its virulence in September in a sample of milk to which it had been inoculated in March. It is generally supposed to live on the floors, walls and air of the byre,
on the udders and bodies of the cows,
and on the vessels which hold the milk or by which it is carried. It is said to be very difficult to kill, and nothing but the most scrupulous cleanliness in everything, from the cow to final delivery of the milk, including milker's hands and clothes, will get rid of it. While in Switzerland in 1894 at the conference of the British Dairy Farmers' Association, I had a conversation with Professor Friedenreich on this subject, and he said that the bacillus of this complaint was probably more common in Switzerland and Norway than in any other country. At one of the conferences in Berne
he showed these present samples of milk, all from one pure source twelve hours before, each of which had been inoculated with a different cultivation of some bacillus causing trouble in the dairy. He dipped his pencil into the milk to which a cultivation of this bacillus had been added, and when lifted up,
the milk, by simple adhesion, was drawn out into a string one to two feet long. Later on, in his laboratory, I had an opportunity of seeing other samples of good and bad bacteria which are commonly found associated with dairymilk,
and heard from him the extreme difficulty of ridding a byre or dairy of this bacillus.

While warm weather enables this bacillus to increase, it should also give your correspondent a favorable opportunity of thoroughly disinfecting his whole premise, cows, utensils and people. Lime wash, with some strong disinfectant,
should be freely used; the dairy utensils
should be thoroughly steamed or boiled longer than usual, for several days successively; the cows' udders and bodies should be washed with some weak disinfectant; the clothing of the milkers and those handling the milk should be entirely renewed; and the milker's hands washed after every cow. If these precautions are carefully carried out, the mischief may reasonably be expected to be got rid of.

Memorable Notes for keepers for Fall
and Winter Work.

Lack of ventilation often causes dampness in the byre.

If bees are to be moved it should be done before cold weather.

Try a broken butcher knife with a blade
two inches long for prying up supers.

It is seldom profitable to go into winter quarters with weak colonies.

Honey costs practically nothing and is a valuable produce, considering the price.

If colonies are in proper condition in every respect robbing seldom occurs.

Bees that lack stores should be fed in autumn. September is a good time to do it.

Empty frames of combs should be well taken care of during the winter, when not in use.

Only pure, clean, unbleached wax
should be used in making foundations.

Grade all honey carefully and then set
prices to correspond with the grade.

Ship to distant markets only when the home market is fully supplied.

Granulation in honey is a proof of its purity and superiority.

Comb honey during the fall and winter should be kept in a warm room.

Bees never bore for nectar, but seek only of that which is fully exposed.

To winter safely bees should have 300
pounds of good stores.

Any queens which do not seem to be productive should be superseded as soon as the fact is known.

Bees rob only at such times as the general scarcity of nectar forbids honest gains.

Strong colonies are rarely molested
and are almost sure to defend themselves against intruders.

RELIEF BY MID-MAY

Will be in Time For Dawson Folk

But Food Must Surely Arrive Then to Prevent Suffering

Skaguay, Jan. 26.—Thirty-five persons have arrived here during the past week from the Klondike mining region. They say there is food enough at Dawson to last until the Yukon River is open and navigation is resumed. Supplies must be received by
that time, though, if suffering is to
be avoided.

In reference to the proposed Government relief expedition all agree that it will be impossible to forward supplies down the river on ice. The Yukon River is open and navigation is resumed. Supplies must be received by
that time, though, if suffering is to
be avoided.

The winter in the interior up to now has been remarkably mild, and it is the opinion of old timers that Lewes River will not freeze over this winter.

Inspector of Mines James McGrag-
or, who left Skaguay some weeks ago with several tons of provisions and fifteen horses, has only reached White Horse Range. It will be impossible for him to take the horses down
Lewes River, unless he can build rafts and float them down the river, and this is a tough undertaking. He and his party are now building a road around White Horse Rapids and are making fair progress.

Among this week's arrivals was a committee representing the miners
of the Klondike country, en route to Ottawa, where they will interview
the Canadian Government concerning the mining laws and endeavor to secure their amendment. The committee is composed of Dr. Wills, formerly of Belle Isle, Ontario, for the past three years, Northwest Mounted Police Surgeon at Dawson; Max Landreville, an ex-member of Parliament at Ottawa, and E. D. Livernash, of San Francisco.

The members of the committee declined to make any statement for publication until they had conferred with the Canadian Government. It is understood, however, that they have with them a petition bearing several thousand names, asking for a revocation of the royalty clause and the alternate claim sections, and that claims be restored to the original distance, 500 feet.

Speaking of the food situation, Dr.
Wills said: "If we can get food into Dawson by the wet water, the situation will be relieved. It is no use to try to sled provisions down the Yukon to Dawson. It cannot be done owing to the fact that the Lewes River is still open and that great ridges of ice block the Yukon below
the Big Salmon. If the American Government wishes to send in supplies the only feasible plan is to freight them to the foot of Le Barge on the ice and have them ready to ship down the river as soon as navigation opens, probably about the fifteenth of May. There will be suffering in Dawson in April—there always is. Food will be scarce and the situation will be more serious than it has always been at that time of year."

Ingenious Stamp Swindle

An ingenious stamp swindle has been discovered by the postal authorities. It consists of pasting a transparent piece of paper over a stamp after it has been affixed to a letter. The stamp defenc-ing machine, of course, does not destroy the stamp, and it can be used again.
The special inspectors of the postoffice department say that the swindle has not been extensively worked, and now that they are apprised of it they can easily stop it.

PETERBOROUGH, JANUARY 27, 1898

ALLEGED BLACKMAIL

PHOTOGRAPHER OF BRYSON
CHARGED WITH THE OFFENCE

Special to the Times.

Ottawa, Jan. 26.—C. A. Leurs, photographer of Bryson, is in prison on a charge of blackmail or trying to extort
money without justification or probable prospect, from Dr. T. O. Gaboury. Last December Dr. Gaboury attended Mrs.
Leurs and Leurs claiming either malpractice or neglect on the part of the doctor, conceived the idea of taking an action for damages against him. He also it is said, tried to induce the doctor to transfer some of his cash to him
without the formality of a suit at law,
and made a demand on him by registered letters, threatening to sue if his demands were not complied with within a certain time. His actions have led to his arrest. He will be tried on Friday.

HUMOR OF THE KLONDYKE.

Some Incidents of Real Life That Lighten
the Situation."I guess the old saying is true that variety is the spice of life," remarked Farmer Stakestraw, looking up from his reading, "but it kind of strikes me that there is a little more of that kind of spice than is just exactly palatable in the newspaper reports from the Klondyke gold fields.""I have been reading that 'there is little or no vacant mining land left there,
and that there are plenty of rich claims
for all comers: statements that the reports of the fabulous finds are grossly exaggerated and that the half has not yet been told of the riches of that new El Dorado; that crime and violence are rampant there, and that the people are open-handed, law-abiding and hospitable;
and that the winters are prolonged seasons
of almost unbearable cold interspersed with terrible blizzards which only the strongest and hardest can hope to survive, and that the climate, though cold, is extremely healthy, and that when one gets used to it the exceedingly low temperature is felt hardly more than a
that only one man in a thousand can
much milder degree of cold would be;
that only one man in a thousand can justly hope to win a fortune there even at the risk and probable sacrifice of his health, and that after passing through the clear, pure cold of the winter the gold-seeker charges in the spring fatter and healthier than at the beginning of the winter, ready to pick up the golden wealth which is his for the taking.""I like variety in my newspaper reading as a general thing, but I'll have to confess that the Klondyke information that I have been acquiring of late is just a little too spicy for my taste."

His Identity.

"One day," said the returned Klondyke millionaire, "we found a poor fellow with a high, bowing brow, dead in the snow and frozen as stiff as a crowbar.
The body was terribly emaciated from lack of food, and there were no papers or any other articles on his person to indicate his identity.""His pockets did not contain a cent of money, but in them we found a description of a $10,000 summer cottage,
a recipe for making ice-cream soda, a formula for curing gout, a newspaper clipping warning its readers against a dangerous counterfeit hundred-dollar bill,
a description of an ancient Indian banquet, full directions for raising orchids,
an advertisement of a Florida orange grove, a clipping describing a plutocrat's steam yacht, another about the management of a thoroughbred racing stable,
a small pocket map of Samoa, a price list of rare coins, instructions for detecting flaws in diamonds, a solemn warning against habitual over-eating, advice on wooing and winning a wealthy and beautiful young widow, and directions for the cure of a sunstroke. There was absolutely nothing on the body to show who or what he might have been, so we decided to call him an optimist, and let it go at that."

A Variety of Money.

"I understand that your husband returned from Klondyke last night, Mrs.
Jurgens," said the inquisitive village
"Is he about the house now? I'd like to have a little talk with him regarding that region.""I am sorry, Mr. Askington," replied the good woman, "but I am afraid you can't see him now. He is in the upstairs, suffering from what the doctor calls nervous-er-er-prosperity, I believe it was.""That's too bad, Mrs. Jurgens! By the way, the report is in circulation that he brought all kinds of money home with him. Is that true?""Well, I don't know that he brought all kinds of money, Mr. Askington, but he certainly brought several kinds. He fetched back two copper cents, a Chinese coin that he had used for a lucky piece, a Confederate bill which he had taken along to swap to the Indians, a few pieces of Benjamin shell money, a bit of wampum, a lead nickel, and a poker chip. If he hasn't brought home all kinds of money, he has certainly returned with quite a variety."

DISTRICT AND LOCAL TOPICS

Reporter's Phone, 164 B.

—Colder.

—We are having lots of the beautiful.

—There was a meeting of the Fire, Water and Light committee last night. As the knowledge of his death became more general yesterday morning, many expressions of sorrow and sympathy were heard among citizens and it was plain that a deep impression had been made upon all classes of the community by the sad occurrence.

—The people of the town will greatly miss Mr. Hamilton, for he was a general favorite, and there were few of the citizens who did not know him at least by sight. A party well known throughout the county also, on account of his long connection with the Peter Hamilton Mfg. Co. The funeral will take place to the Little Lake cemetery this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

—A conversation with Mr. Harry Phelan yesterday afternoon, a Times reporter learned the particulars of the sad affair. Mr. Phelan and Mr. Harry LeBrun were being shown by the book-keeper through the large hardware establishment of Wood, Vallance & Co. while they were on the third floor a party well known to Mr. Hamilton, Mr. Knappman, Mr. Ferguson, Mr. W. G. Morrow, Mr. Ray and others also entered and accompanied to the second floor. The elevator was up the shaft, but there was a false automatic flooring used to prevent the ascent of the warm air. The party mistook this for the elevator itself, and Mr. Knappman, closely followed by Mr. Hamilton, opened the narrow door and stepped out on the platform. It gave way beneath their combined weight, and the two were precipitated to the ground floor. Mr. Morrow and Mr. Ray had a narrow escape as they were about to step onto the fatal platform when it fell. Mr. Phelan and Mr. LeBrun were descending the stairs at the time when they were met by Mr. Wood, Mr. P. Knappman, a member of the firm, who told them that he feared one of their friends had been seriously hurt. They hurried down and found the two in their unfortunate condition. Mr. Knappman could stand, but Mr. Hamilton had to be carried out. The two doctors were on hand by this time, and the injured men were removed to the hospital. It was found that Mr. Hamilton's thigh was broken but no very serious results were feared. During the day he sank rapidly and though the doctors did all in their power, it was seen that he could not survive. He was never unconscious, and breathed his last a few moments before the arrival of his brother, Mr. Peter Hamilton.

—The deceased gentleman was about forty years of age, and was a native of Peterborough where he had lived all his life. He was a son of the late James Hamilton, and has three brothers, Mr. Peter Hamilton and Mr. William Hamilton of town; and two sisters, Mrs. Robert Innes and Mrs. John Cameron of town. He was married seventeen years ago to Miss Parks of Toronto. She with her two children, a boy and a girl survives him, and the family will have the sympathy of all in their affliction.

—Mr. Knappman was not seriously injured, although severely bruised about the back. He is progressing as well as can be expected, although he is still confined to the hospital in Hamilton. Mrs. Knappman is with him, and it is expected that he will be able to return to Peterborough in a few days.

The Board of Education, Education, street on behalf of Mr. Stratton, the opera house to-night. Mr. Ross is well-known in town, having been heard here before on a couple of memorable occasions. He is a very forcible public speaker, and in his peculiar style, is probably without an equal in Canada. His address makes an interesting time for the audience. Mr. Stratton will also address the meeting.

—Mr. Garvin, the Conservative candidate will be present to present his side of the case, and the public will have a good opportunity of hearing him in debate.

The gallery will be reserved for ladies. The chair will be taken at half past seven.

One on the Frontier
A well-known Charlotte street hotel-keeper tells a good joke which was played on him the other day by three of his patrons. As he walked up to the bar and was asked what they would have, "I'll take a tin roof," replied the first. "Let's have an equal share in the tin roof," said the bartender who was in a quandary, as he had never heard of a mixed drink with such an extraordinary name. "Well, give me a bottle of whiskey, gin and apple-sauce, and I'll make the drink," finally remarked the first patron. After the men had taken their drink, the bartender asked: "Now, why do you call that a tin roof?" "Because it is on the house," responded the trio. "Good-day," and they slipped out of the door.

The Lakefield Canal Bridge
A number of largely signed petitions have been handed in to the county council asking that body to petition the Dominion Government to have the new canal bridge to be erected in Lakefield changed from a high level bridge as now planned to a low level swing bridge. The ratepayers of Lakefield, or at least a great many of them, are opposed to a high level bridge on the ground that the grading of the approaches to it will greatly injure the property of those living close by, and in some cases render it almost worthless. They also object to the high bridge on account of the danger of horses being frightened while crossing it and make them to run away, and on account of the difficulty of hauling heavy loads over it in winter.

HOCKEY ITEMS

A Few Interesting Paragraphs for the Fans of Our Enthusiasts

The Toronto Telegram has seen fit to disparage Peterborough's Hockey team and to hint that Peterboro has no show for the championship. We must venture to disagree with our contemporary. There was no necessity for Peterboro to over exert herself in Monday's game. We had 10 goals to our credit and we knew quite well that T. A. C. could not overcome them. That led to the boys took things easy.

Next week the Telegram may have a different opinion. Peterboro Hockey team play in Toronto next Tuesday evening when they play Varsity rink. Our boys may there show the Telegram a few things in reference to Hockey which it did not know.

Millbrook yesterday defaulted to the Peterboro second team in the second of the Junior Series of the O. H. A. The next junior game will be played here between Frontenac second and Peterboro second.

The Berlin Hockey team have hopes of being re-installed. We hope that such conduct as Berlin has been guilty of will not be forgiven by the Ontario Hockey Association.

Toronto Athletic Club can now send their Red Portage players home. Perhaps Berlin might find use for them.

MERIT RECOGNIZED

Badges Presented for Superior Marksmanship

Captain Miller and Bandman Harper, of the 57th battalion, have received the badge and certificate awarded for highest aggregates in the matches conducted by the Canadian Military Rifle Association. Capt. Miller's score was 91 3-4, and Mr. Harper's 91 1-4, out of a possible 105 points, these being very high scores under the rules of the military association. The badges are very neat in design and handsome in appearance. They are star-shaped, surmounted by a crown, and are composed of gold laid on black and silver cloth. They bear the inscription, "For highest aggregate, 1897."

FOR BETTER ROADS

The campaign to be pushed in Counties as well as in Townships

Mr. A. W. Campbell, road commissioner of Ontario, will speak to-day by invitation to the county council of Victoria, and will discuss county roads. Heretofore, Mr. Campbell has been agitating for improvements in townships, and has done good work in attracting the attention of the people to this matter. The movement for county roads, it is expected, will now be inaugurated in Ontario.

It is the intention now to push a number of lines of highways from one end of the province to the other, which will be better than the Kingston road in its very best part.

May be a Murderer
In regard to the man suspected of burning Mr. Sanderson's barns in Smith and who was sent to the Central for six months for vagrancy the Toronto Star says:

"Chief of Police Rassel of Peterboro has written to Inspector Stark enclosing a photograph asking him to identify an Arab man sentenced there on Monday to six months in the Central Prison for setting fire to a barn in Smith Township. The man answers in general to the description of an Arab named Moshe Thomas Naleh, who was wanted in Detroit for the murder of his wife. A closer scrutiny of the prisoner will be made to settle the question of his identity. He is very reticent and the only information he will give is that his name is Carlo and that he comes from the States."

AN UNFORTUNATE TRIP

Return of the Carriers With the Remains of the Late D. B. Hamilton

Daughter Followed It and Regained Her Health

Suffered Agony With Pains in the Stomach—Hood's Cured.

The testimonials in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla are as worthy of confidence as though they came from your most trusted neighbor. They are written by honest people who are grateful for the cure accomplished by this wonderful medicine. Read this statement:

"I was afflicted with severe pains in my stomach from which I suffered much agony at times. I was afraid to go any distance from home for fear of having an attack. I was treated for neuralgia of the heart without avail. At last my mother wrote and urged me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have her letter before me at the present time and it reads as follows: 'My dear child, it grieves me to learn that you suffer so with your stomach. Do get a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and let me know the result, for I am confident it will save my life.'"

I am glad to state that I abided by my mother's advice and I am now healthy and strong. I never think of being without Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house. It is a great help to mothers while nursing. I have given it to my baby with satisfactory results. I cannot state all I would like of the many benefits I have known Hood's Sarsaparilla to give to other sufferers. I gladly recommend it." MRS. JOHN LA PAQUE, 240 Church St., Toronto, Ont.

The result will be that scarcely a mill on the Canadian side will be running during the coming summer.

PETERBOROUGH, JANUARY, 28, 1898

A FOREIGN ISSUE

Whether Mr. Garvin was satisfied to the school board during his Spectatorate here, or whether he was not, is entirely foreign to the present campaign. Too much attention is being paid to it. Because a man can not place a baby-carriage in a straight line it does not necessarily follow that he can not run a steam-engine. A man to be a house-builder need not have a record for sawing wood, or making toys, or laying sidewalks. Mr. Garvin has made just as much of his opportunities, and many think a great deal more, than Mr. Stratton has. The man should be judged as to whether or not he is capable of representing West Peterborough in the Legislature. If he had done something honorable it would be a different matter, as that would show a weakness in his character. But he has not. He is not running for the Spectatorate but for the Legislature, and it is as a parliamentarian he should be judged. If you think it is in the interest of West Peterborough and Ontario that he should be elected, then vote for him; if you are satisfied with the present order of things, vote for Mr. Stratton.

THE DELAY IN ANNOUNCING THE DATE

Though the Legislature has been prorogued for ten days and the government took the field at once, preparing for a new election the date for the poll has not been publicly announced. Why keep it secret unless it is to gain an advantage over the Opposition. Such tactics are unfair, and no party should have it in its power to spring the day for voting upon the electorate. The fixing of the date is one of the things that might well be settled by statute. In this way all parties would be apprised of it, and make their preparations accordingly.

Everybody will give Mr. Garvin credit for fighting an open, fearless fight.

The Examiner thinks that the Opposition stumblers suspended relations with truth.

Charges of abuse, mendacity, infidelity, etc., are flying around as thick as snow-flakes.

Mr. Garvin has come out, and we fear his chances are very good for staying out.

"Canada wants new men," by Geo. W. Ross, would make one think that Canada was an old maid.

A well in South Dakota spouts blue clay. Like some of the orators in this riding it is full of mud.

It is amusing to see how the two parties are trying to fasten the yoke of the piggery on one another.

Mr. Stratton may gain that 1601 majority in 1901, but he will not do it or anything like it this year.

Mr. Garvin has this to recommend him: That he speaks what is in him, and not what is in some other man.

News from Michigan confirms the rumor that that state is solid for Hardy and Gibson.—Hamilton Spectator.

"Canada wants men," a poem written by the great plagiarist, Ross, should be changed to "Ontario wants new men."

A Conservative contemporary remarks, "We are in the throes of an election. Take care you are not in the throws."

The disclosures in the John Eaton Co. case in Toronto are the strongest arguments yet advanced in favor of a good insolvency law.

If this good feeling between Great Britain and the United States grows an American paper may yet be found to admit that the Klondike is in Canada.

Bishop Nicholson, of Milwaukee, strongly condemns the christening of ships by smashing a bottle of wine on them. It does seem a waste of good wine.

The Chatham Planet calls the Liberals the Illiberals. The name Liberal, however, applies to the government in its treatment of doubtful constituencies.

In reading some of Mr. Stratton's speeches one is forced to stop and wonder how the riding ever got along before his time, and how it exists when he is absent.

The partners in the ownership of the Ontario Government are very busy in the province settling patronage disputes and boosting up some weakening candidates.

This commission that enquired into the prices of school books and reported favorably to the Government is too easy an election dodge to blind anybody. The same thing was done in 1897.

Mr. Stratton sticks to his statement that Mr. Garvin was dismissed by the school board for incompetency, and maintains that it is perfectly legitimate to make use of this fact in the campaign.

It was rather a joke when at the Conservative meeting the other night, although four "limbs of the law" were speakers no one of them was able to explain the new registration law to the audience.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt says that Hardy has the wisdom of a red Indian. This is shown by his keeping secret the date of election, and by his unwillingness to come out in the open and fight.

It is said that the only difference between Mr. Stratton's and Mr. Ross' method of using other people's literary productions is that Stratton pays a man to write for him, while Ross plagiarizes whatever he thinks he can not be caught.

Premier Hardy it seems also has the patience of a saint. It may console him for his expected defeat. His patience is only equalled by that of the saintly Mr. Garvin, who has been fitting himself for the Legislature ever since he was in the university.

One of the candidates in the riding has done nothing but study to fit himself for the Legislature for the last ten years. It is to be greatly feared that he will not be able to pass even his first examination this year.

The campaign in West Peterborough is getting into a mud-dilemma.

Hon. G. W. Ross, who recited "Scots wha hae wi' Wallace bled," so dramatically some years ago in the same Ross who has with Hardy, Gibson & Co. bled the province for many years.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

(The Times holds this column open to the free discussion of public affairs. It is understood, however, that these letters are not the opinions of the paper, and that we are in no way responsible for anything herein contained.)

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—I wish to register through the columns of your paper my hardest kick against the negligence of the police in not enforcing the by-law prohibiting coasting on the streets. I have heard the matter commented on by many persons lately, but no action seems to have been taken. Great danger arises from this practice, both to the children and to those using the streets, either walking or driving. The accident in Ashburnham a few days ago, where a small boy was severely injured, is an example of what may occur any day or night in this corporation. Especially at night is the danger great. We can hardly expect the children to refrain from coasting on the hills in town, as they do not see the danger arising from it. But we do expect and demand that our police officers take steps to see the nuisance stopped. A great many citizens have noticed it, but policemen are not for never seeing what goes on. Almost every night one can see the streets on Smith-town hill, or the Hunter-street hill near the bridge and a great many others crowded with coasters.

Yours, etc., CITIZEN.

Peterborough, Jan. 27.

CHILDREN'S IDEAS OF BEAUTY

YOUNG PEOPLE MAKE LITTLE OF THE HUMAN ELEMENT.

In one of the lectures given yesterday at the winter meeting of the College of the Preceptors, a strange light was cast upon the aesthetic ideas of the small child. The lecturer, Miss Isabel Rhys, of the Manchester High School, contributed incidentally an account of an experiment of her own. She gave her class of about thirty very young children five minutes to think of the most beautiful thing they ever saw, and at the end of that time recorded their answer. The human element was entirely ignored, not one of them referring to any beautiful face. Five children mentioned the moon and stars one stipulating that it must be the full moon, two the sun, and one the setting sun. Two chose flowers, two certain scenery, two birds, and two—both of them little boys—had on the last object lesson, a star-fish and sponge. The following joys forever received one vote each: The snow, the rain, a butterfly, the Union Jack, a tiger's skin, salt, silver and gold, barracks, and brooches and pink silk.

A little boy who had been taken to many beautiful places most preferred a glass ball which, when shaken, produced the appearance of a snowstorm inside it; and a girl, who had lived for three years under the shadow of one of our noblest cathedrals, set in the first place a monkey at the Zoo.

A SEA BOTTOM EXPLORER.

Work Actually Begun on the Lake Submarine Boat.

Work was begun a day or two ago
at the Columbian Ship Yards, Baltimore, on the construction of the Lake submarine wrecking vessel, that is to sink into the ocean depths, explore wrecks and coral beds, and, in fact,
be the wonder of the age in marine engineering. The boat, which has already been described in these columns,
will be cigar shaped, 36 feet long, 9
feet in diameter, with a displacement of 64 tons. The steel hull will be braced to stand the pressure at a depth of three hundred feet. She will be propelled by steam on the surface, and by electricity while submerged. The craft will be divided into four compartments—engine and living room, air lock chamber, divers' room and lookout compartment. The pilot house and smokestack will be in the centre of the vessel's back. When running on the surface the boat will be guided and propelled as ordinary steam vessels. The vessel will be submerged by filling tanks in her hull, lowering heavy weights to the bottom of the sea, and then winding in the cables attached to the weights, when the vessel will descend. The fires will be extinguished when the vessel goes down,
and electricity will then supply the motive power. The peculiar craft is to carry a crew of six men, and will be capable of staying on the bottom forty hours without renewing the air.

The opening where the divers will go out will be on the bottom, and the water will be kept out of the apartment from which they leave the boat
by air pressure. Powerful electric lights will illuminate the ocean bed
for two hundred feet around the boat.
There will be a propeller in the rear
and when it strikes bottom it will run on three wheels, two of which will be furnished with claws to act as additional propellers. Simon Lake, the inventor, is a young marine engineer of Baltimore. W. T. Malster, president of the Columbian Works, is interested in the scheme.

New Facts About Hypnotism

A member of the Royal Chemical Society of London recently demonstrated that man possesses two distinct consciousnesses. He says that persons under the influence of anaesthetics,
while not conscious of what is happening during the operation, are sometimes able, after several days have elapsed to describe in detail the most minute occurrence during the hypnotic influence. What he calls the "workday consciousness" was absent at the time,
but the "subliminal consciousness," he says, was present and constant during the operation. Hence, anaesthetics destroy the former and only delay the enregistering of the sensations conducted which control the latter consciousness. The medical value of hypnotic suggestion has already been proven in France. Dr. Lavy, one of the most distinguished members of the French Academy of Medicine,
recently entertains the hitherto unheard of and seemingly ridiculous proposition, that ere long it will be possible to administer medicine or its effects by merely preventing the dose, in a closed glass tube, near the patient's neck, eye or ear, or any part of the anatomy needing that particular medicament. Of course, the laymen will scout the idea as preposterous, and not to be entertained for a moment; but the French Academy, one of the most conservative bodies of its kind in the world, is seriously discussing the matter, and has requested the University of the doctor's investigations and experiments, and in some measure endorsed his conclusion. It is said that eighty per cent. of the people in the world are hypnotic. The hypnotists, on the other hand, are discovering and improving their power daily, and the mysterious power has already become the subject of local regulation in many countries. In this connection the question arises will these Evensall's ever develop sufficient power to hypnotize
the courts?—New Ideas.

Five International Shows in 1897.

Preparations are now being made for holding no fewer than five international exhibitions in different countries next year, 1897. In February next an International Electrical and Engineering Exhibition will be held at Newcastle-on-Tyne to commemorate the sixtieth year of the Queen's reign.
All the changes and developments that have taken place in electrical and mechanical engineering since 1837
will be illustrated and two large buildings are now being constructed for exhibiting purposes. In the one building
there will be electrical, ship-building and self-propelling appliances, and in the other appliances in connection with sanitation, hygiene, horticulture and women's industries. A similar exhibition illustrating the Queen's second reign, will be held at Blackpool from April till October, 1897. On January 25 an International Gas Exposition will be opened at New York, when a collection of gas apparatus and appliances of every description will be exhibited. The third is an Engineering Exposition to be held at Stockholm
where a machinery hall with an area of 100,000 square feet has just been completed. In many respects it will be similar to the one to be held at Newcastle. From July 1 to October 31 an exhibition of agricultural and industrial machinery is to be held at Helfi, and the most important of the five will be the International (General)
Exposition to be held at Brussels.

The Graveyard for Vessels.

The statistical summary of vessels totally lost, condemned, etc., shows that during 1892 the gross reduction in the effective mercantile marine of the world amounted to 1257 vessels, 306,278 tons, excluding all vessels of less than 100 tons. Of this total 310 vessels of 372,483 tons were steamers, and 927 of 432,815 tons were sailing vessels. These figures exceed the average of the preceding four years by 62
steamers of 81,519 tons and by 56 sailing vessels of 43,440 tons.

MONTE CARLO

A BRILLIANT SEASON PROMISED
AT THE GREAT GAMBLING RE-SORT.

The season is on in earnest at Monte Carlo. Every day new arrivals are pouring into the great gambling center of the world, and a brilliant time is anticipated. Cable despatches from there all tell the same story. The spirit of chance is still alive with Monte Carlo's guests, and the hotels are filling up with all sorts of people. Some old singers who blaze countenances are familiar in the Casino; others with fresh innocent look, which means that some of them are sure to contribute their share toward keeping up the ratio of the unhappy lives which are hurled over Monte Carlo's precipice. A most noticeable figure is attracting attention just now at the resort is young Rudini, the son of the Italian politician. The chap is said to play a stiff game of roulette. He puts his wagers down at random, and apparently follows no set rule in placing them. The clever Italian is said to be $50,000 ahead of the game, but then the news from Monte Carlo is seldom correct, for the army of press agents employed by the managers see to it that all losses are cut in two, and all winnings greatly exaggerated. It's a nice little way they have of doing things in the realm of the Prince of Monaco.

Around 10 o'clock in the morning the regular sojourners begin to show themselves. This is the fashionable breakfast hour—the time for mutton chops and cafe-au-lait. From then until noon the terraces behind the Casino looking the Mediterranean, and the circus immediately in front, are crowded with gayly dressed men and women. Here they sun themselves, gossip and make a pretence of reading the London newspapers of the day before until 12 o'clock, when the doors of the great "tableaux de jeux" are thrown open. Then, daily, there occurs as usual a rush for seats around the gambling tables as signaled the supreme moment of the historic charge of the Light Brigade. As there are only about 200 seats for from 1,000 to 2,000 persons it will be seen that there is justification for this undignified haste.

From present calculations it is estimated that $250,000 will pass over the tables during the year.

A WEAVERS' STRIKE

QUIT WORK BECAUSE THEIR WAGES WERE REDUCED TEN PER CENT.

Almonte, Jan. 26.—A big strike has occurred in the Rosamond Woolen mill here. Eighty weavers have walked out. At half past four yesterday afternoon a notice was posted in the weave room of the mill announcing a ten per cent. reduction of wages, with the result that all the weavers stopped their looms and left the mill. A ten per cent. bonus formerly enjoyed by the weavers was discontinued
during the dullness in trade some four years ago, and the operatives were circulating petitions to have the bonus restored now when business is brisk and the mill running overtime. The weavers are determined to accept no reduction but may return to work without pushing for the restoration of the bonus.
The mill is owned by Mr. Rosamond,
M. P. for South Lanark.

TO CROSS THE ARCTIC

RUSSIA ARRANGING CLOSER CON-NECTION WITH HER NORTHERN COAST.

(Special to the Times.)

Tacoma, Wa., Jan. 27.—Russia greatly desires to find means of communication between her north coast and Siberia by crossing the Arctic sea. It is said she will make some experiments. According to advices received by the steamer
Breslau, Admiral Makoz, of the Russian navy, has announced his belief that it is possible to travel to Siberia by water across the Arctic sea. He believes that regular communication with the north flowing Siberian rivers can be established through July and August by providing vessels bound for these parts with an escort of boats
furnished with ice plows.

THIRTEEN

LOOKED UPON AS A JONAH BY A GREAT MANY PEOPLE

Nine out of ten men look upon the faint number 13 with suspicion. When assigned to a room at the hotel, if the number 13 is above the door, the guest feels in a grim manner and seeks to be shown to another apartment. The same is also true of both houses at the seaside, gymnasium lockers, or in fact,
almost any place where apartments are designated by numbers. A stall in market—with the number 13 above would surely prove a "jonah" and the volume of business done there would not be satisfactory.

Even fearless guardians of the peace
are subject to superstition. Strive officers grow ill at heart if a black cat crosses their path. But their is nothing of which a policeman is more in dread than the number "13" and this is special reference to the star of that number. Order him out to leave a mob of rioters and he cheerfully
obeys; send him into a dark building
where a gang of desperadoes are hiding and he will not hesitate, but offer him the innocent looking badge "13" and he draws back in horror.

This point is best illustrated by the fact that the star on which that in-fated number is engraved repulses most of the time in a drawer of the City Hall.
It does not show much sign of use.
It was last worn by a member of the detective force who was afterwards transferred to a station in one of the outlying precincts of the city. Since then it has rested in a desk at police headquarters and it will most likely remain there until the police force as
so much enlarged as to make it necessary to bring all the stars in use.

No officer will wear badge "13" if he has the option of selecting any other.
Furthermore, no prudent guardian of the peace will at his own accord choose a star that in any way suggests number "13". Multiples of that number as well as figures that make a total of 13 when added together, are declined with thanks. If you see a policeman with star No. 16 or 15 or on his breast
you may see him down as a marked man. The hand of fate hangs over him and he will one day be shot down in his tracks by a desperate highwayman
or perhaps summoned before the trial bar for some offense of his own. At any rate, his path is beset with dangers of all kinds.

The man who wears such an ominous star either has had no choice in the matter or he knew not the traditions of the police force when he picked out that number. One of the inspectors tells of an incident in connection with a star of which the last two figures in the numerals were 13—some such number as 2413. This badge had been declined by several officers, but when it was ordered to a certain inspector or unwise policeman he declared that he was not at all superstitious—no, he had no terrors for him. Within the first month that same individual was called before the Police Trial Board on two occasions. He had challenged the verdict.

An officer at the Central Station told a story that should inspire any person with a proper dread of policeman's badge No. "13". A few years ago the police force of Springfield, Ill., had as one of its members a certain Officer O'Shaughnessy, a brave man with a record that anyone might be proud to possess. But the "evil eye" was upon him—he wore star No. "13". One day he was out on to quell a disturbance in a barroom of that city. He entered the place alone, rushed up the stairs
and was shot dead by one of Springfield's most prominent citizens, who was confined in the hospital with dentural tremors. After that no unlucky badge was carefully rejected by all aspirants for police honors. At the present day any visitor to the station to which Officer O'Shaughnessy, belonged will see a frame containing that policeman's picture and his star—No. "13".

WILL MARTER RETIRE

REPORT THAT J. J. FOY WILL TAKE HIS PLACE IN NORTH TO-MORROW.

(Special to the Times.)

Toronto, Jan. 27.—Conversation in political circles this morning turned upon the latest report in connection with the city constituencies, especially South Toronto. It is stated that those Conservative electors of South Toronto who are not identified with the machine do not favor the proposition to transfer Mr. O. A. Howland to East Toronto, and allow Mr.
J. J. Foy, Q.C., to take his place in their constituency. It is also said that Mr. Howland has been approached on the subject and has consented to allow his name to be brought before the South Toronto convention, the chances being in favor of his re-nomination. In such a case the possibility is hinted at that those Conservatives who desire Mr. Foy to enter the Legislature will endeavor to have him nominated in North Toronto, Mr.
Marter being assigned some other seat on retiring.

Dandruff is Dangerous

When dandruff appears it is usually regarded as an annoyance. It should be regarded as a disease. Its presence indicates an unhealthy condition of the scalp, which, if neglected, leads to baldness. Dandruff should be cured at once. The most effective means for the cure is found in AYER'S HAIR VIGOR. It promotes the growth of the hair, restores it when gray or faded to its original color, and keeps the scalp
clean and healthy.

ELECTION CONTEST

On Wednesday, Dec. 29, 1897,
a meeting was held at school section
No. 1, Bourne, for the purpose of selecting a trustee to fill the vacancy
of John Gilroy, whose term of office has expired. It was reported a day or two previous to the election meeting that an election was going to take place. The candidates nominated were Messrs. Guerin and Levesque. The closing of the poll in the evening Mr. Guerin was declared elected by two of a majority. Nothing unusual occurred, Mr. Guerin and his supporters taking the matter
quite easily, not at all surprised with the result. Everything went quietly until Jan. 11, when a poster was placed, conspicuously stating that the election was protested, although on false grounds, the complaint being made by three of the most influential men in the section.

The election was dated for Jan. 22,
and at this time it was a case of Grit against Grit. Both parties worked with might and main, Mr. Levesque's supporters doing much midnight driving. Just on the eve of the election
it was reported that Wm. Tucker was going to take the field in Mr.
Levesque's place, and a doubt would have shared the same fate.

Saturday, 22nd, dawned fair and rosy, and from early morn until dark at night excitement reigned. When the poll was closed in the evening
Mr. Guerin was again elected by three of a majority. The crowd could hardly hold themselves, and it was by the permission of the chairman that they were kept in silence. Mr. Guerin made a short speech, thanking his supporters, and said it was an augury
of victory to see such a lot of opposed and mainly-looking men a supported him. At the conclusion of the speech he was carried in the arms of two men to a sleigh which was waiting at the door. The defeated candidate and his supporters were waiting alone in the school, sadder but wiser men, to plan future campaigns. On the way home a flag was hoisted,
which bore the words, "Equal Rights"
in bold letters. Mr. Guerin invited them to his house, where all enjoyed themselves in song and dance until
"the dawning of the day."

TO THE KLONDIKE

THE SALVATION ARMY TO EX-TEND ITS WORK TO THE GOLD FIELDS.

Montreal, Jan. 28.—For the first time since his arrival from England
General William Booth, supreme commander of the Salvation Army, considered to be interviewed on the subject of the split in the ranks of the Army in the United States.

He says there is no possibility of a re-union or reconciliation between the Army and the American Volunteers, of which his son, Ballington Booth, is the head, unless the dissenters return to the folds of the Army. The Army, he says, is stronger than ever.

It is his intention to despatch a large detachment of the Army to the Klondike next month.

Ottawa, Jan. 27.—President C. Ross,
Vice-President A. W. Fleck, and other representatives of the Ottawa Board of Trade will to-morrow wait upon the deputy minister of the interior and urge on behalf of the Vancouver Board of Trade that steps be taken to bring about the enforcement of the agreement arrived at between the Government and trade is being driven to Seattle in consequence.

DEATH HIS REWARD

HIS FIGHT AGAINST SALOONS RE-SULTED IN HIS MURDER

Wichita, Kan., Jan. 27.—Eli Blake, postmaster at Tongwa, Oklahoma, was waylaid last night and beaten to death,
presumably by a gang of local toughs.
Blake, who was a deacon of the Baptist church, had been a leader in an attempt to drive the saloons out of Tong-wa. He had been advised by letter to cease the agitation if he valued his life. The attack upon him followed the arrest of four saloon keepers.

whole of the moneylender's claims were paid by friends of Lady Sykes.
Mr. Jay however, refuses either to presumably to escape prosecution.

A CATHOLIC VIEW

THE TABLET DISCUSSES THE PRE-SENT SITUATION OF THE SCHOOLS IN MANITOBA.

(Special to the Times.)

Quebec, Jan. 27.—Le Soleil reproduces without much comment, but with evident approval, the following extract from the Tablet, the leading Roman Catholic newspaper of Great Britain:

"In many places owing to the way
in which the population of Manitoba is grouped, the public schools, as affected by the recent act, are virtually Roman Catholic schools. Therefore, though the encyclical undoubtedly condemns mixed schools, Catholics should, so far as possible, be satisfied with the existing state of things, especially under the conditions above mentioned. Still, they cannot altogether accept the present law as these conditions may be changed.
Thus the law as it now exists may be provisionally accepted in so far as it gives satisfaction, and should not be totally refused, simply because the conditions may be changed."

The company has purchased the Tak-

SANTA BARBARA, CAL., Nov. 27, 1894. I have been using Pond's Extract in my practice for twenty years. I frequently have the experience you mention of druggists insisting they can put up as good as yours. I don't believe it. I use Pond's Extract a great deal as an antiseptic in combination with glycerine and carbolic acid. I think it far superior to any antiseptic known. F. G. FLOURNOY, M. D.

The Worship of Athletics

Both boys and men when they have opened a paper very soon turn to see what is said about athletics, people go in thousands to see matches of cricket, football, running, and bicycle races. Matters connected with these matters keep the telegraph busy and furnish the large headings for posters. They induce men of the highest position and gravest character to write to the newspapers and to discuss such matters from a purely athletic point of view, leaving out of sight all moral questions which may happen to be involved. Portraits of athletes are everywhere, and their histories and condition are generally known. I was present when a certain distinguished man was introduced to a great English bishop. "He is the father of P. T. A.," said his introducer, naming a youth well known for his powers of cutting.—National Review.

WEDDING BELLS

Marriage of Miss Annie Chrow of Town, and Mr. John Farrell, of Fairville, N. B.

A very quiet wedding took place yesterday afternoon at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. E. Chrow, No. 127 Smith street, when Miss Annie Chrow was married to Mr. John Farrell, of Fairville, New Brunswick.

Rev. H. Symonds, Rector of St. Luke's church, performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. Wm. Turner, of town, was handsomely attired in a fashionable blue gown, richly trimmed with braid. She carried an exceedingly pretty bouquet of roses.

Among the many handsome presents received was a heavy gold chain bracelet from the groom, and a substantial honorarium from Mr. A. H. Stratton.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a rehearsal wedding dejeuner was served and partaken of by those present.

Mr. and Mrs. Farrell left on the nine o'clock train for Montreal, where a trunk or so will be spent before they will resume their journey eastward.

Through her relations with the public Miss Chrow has made herself most popular, and it will be learned with general regret that her duties in her new sphere of life will call her to distance. A host of the warmest congratulations will follow her to New Brunswick.

Summer Notes

This has been a very fine winter so far, especially for sleighing parties.

A very pleasant time took place at Mr. Michael Polan's on Wednesday night last, when a large party was held. Prof. Bell acted as floor manager and Mr. Quinn furnished the music. The evening was passed very quietly with dancing, songs and games of all kinds. Mr. Polan thinks that dancing now is not as good as it used to be, and that the young folks have forgotten how to dance. Mr. Polan gave some fine exhibitions of clog dancing. The Lennix brothers sang "Home, Sweet Home" and Messrs. D. Barry, D. Shannon, D. Forth and F. Fox sang "There'll be a Hot Time in the Town of Tokyo To-Night" and several other selections. Mr. John Smith gave a stump speech on school elections. Mr. J. Recker ran a narrow campaign of being bitten by Mr. Quinn's dog. Mr. James Gorman put an end to the animal. The party broke up about 4 o'clock all seeming well pleased with the evening's entertainment.

"Give, Give, Give to Please! Give to please for years to come!"

GIVE FURS

You cannot help obeying this order if you but choose here! Other things may disappoint. Furs will not. An article of Fur is useful, handsome and always gives delight—moreover by beauty of design, richness of material and workmanship, every piece is invested with a charm of its own, far more subtle and intimate than that of any other form of art or utility, because no other is so closely connected with ones daily appearance and comfort.

This large and splendidly equipped Fur Store offers a rare choice of all classes of Furs for the Holiday season.

A woman's wardrobe is not complete without a Fur-lined Wrap. Rich roomy garments for the opera, party, and out-door wear. From $15 to $50 embraces everything in this department, but a woman's eyes are needed to appreciate the values. The garments are 30 inches and three-quarter length, richly lined and trimmed in the fashionable Fur, plain, twill and broadcloth outside.

You'll think the price must be a mistake in some of our Fur Caps—$5, $10, $12, $15, $16.50, $20 and $25 buys beauties in Greenland Seal, Belgium Coney, Coon, Oppossum, Astrachan, Electric Seal, etc., 15 inches long to 30 inches, ripple style.

PETERBOROUGH, JANUARY 29, 1898

IS A SURPLUS DESIRABLE

We think that Mr. Ross took a stand that will commend itself to most thoughtful people, when, at the meeting Thursday night, he declared that he did not care whether a surplus existed or not, provided that his government could prove that they had properly disposed of all the money that had come into their hands since they took office. It is, as he said, better in the name of humanity to spend the revenue in educating little children, in building homes for the aged, the lame and the halt, in shedding a glimpse of intelligence on the eyeballs of the blind, in lessening the misery of God's deaf and dumb, than it is to put dollars away in a vault, or to draw a few cents interest in a saving's bank. Is it not nobler to protect the idiot and the lunatic, to shield the unfortunate of all kinds, and to throw a mantle over the poor, and the suffering and the helpless, and the wretched, than to hoard up cash in the provincial treasury? Whether or not Mr. Ross should take all the credit to his government for doing this we do not say, but we believe that he has taken the nobler stand in spending the revenue in works of charity.

And then about developing the natural resources of the province—and Mr. Whitney too makes this one of his most important planks. If there is a surplus should it not be used in opening up the mine, in encouraging agriculture, in extending our trade and commerce, and in every other way making the most of natural advantages? So long as we have anything to develop we should use our revenue in developing it. Money judiciously spent in this way brings a return a hundred fold greater than money saved up and put out 3-12 per cent, or 5 per cent interest. The province should not be a money lender. It can make far more by investing the money in Ontario's future. The government should govern for the welfare of the province, and should look at its welfare not only now but to its future welfare. It should look at the developing of Ontario as its great work, and not to be satisfied as long as it is able to show a beggarly little pile of money saved up.

THE CONTROL OF LICENSES

One of the most serious charges brought against Mr. Stratton is that he manipulates the liquor licenses in the rickling for political purposes. This charge has been brought up time and again, and although emphatically denied by Mr. Stratton, yet he has never cleared himself fully of the imputation. It has never been satisfactorily explained why, when the licenses were being changed a couple of years ago, the Croft House was deprived of its license, while such a place as the Bodega was allowed to sell. The Croft House has a reputation as one of the most orderly and best conducted hotels in town, with every accommodation for the market and travelling public, yet it was deprived of its license. At the same time there were so-called hotels, more properly called saloons, which had only the barest accommodation required by the law, and rather ill-reputations, and yet no restriction was put upon some of these.

This was manifest injustice, yet it was the fact. Were the commissioners likely to take away the licenses of reputable houses, and allow others not nearly so deserving to retain theirs without some influence being brought on them to do so? The answer is obvious. It was well known at the time that Mr. Croft had made himself obnoxious to the Reformers, and it was generally believed that he was made to suffer for it, both as a punishment to himself and as a warning to the other hotel-keepers. This matter has always been considered as a blot on the political career of Mr. Stratton, and the sooner he can clear himself of any complicity in the matter, the better will be his prospect of re-election.

The Laurier Quartette are trying to boom Hurd as another "grand old man."

The Stratton-Ross meeting seemed to greatly encourage the Conservative candidate.

Many people are eager to know if there are going to be any meetings in the interest of Mr. Stratton.

Speaking candidly it is rather difficult to tell just whether Mr. Stratton or Mr. Garvin was the gainer by the Reform meeting.

Mr. Ross thinks that the pun of Stratton to sit-on is the most natural one to Mr. Garvin's mind as that candidate has had considerable experience in being sat on.

It is said that Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P., and Hon. G. W. Ross, Minister of Education, spoke at the meeting of Mr. Garvin's held in the Opera House Thursday night.

People are wondering when this meeting of Mr. Stratton's that is advertised on the bills to come off. It is conceded by all that Garvin had a very successful one Thursday night.

Mr. Stratton's portfolio was not dangled before the eyes of his friends as brightly as one former occasion. Have the partners in the Government decided that J. R. is not able to hold it after all?

The Liberal campaign in West Peterborough is progressing in a manner that is inspiring the utmost confidence in the supporters of Mr. J. R. Stratton. —Toronto Globe.

Mr. Stratton and his managers will be relieved to know this.

The Hon. Mr. Ross thinks the saying, "It is time for a change," is illustrated all through Mr. Garvin's history; from the manifestations at the Ross meeting the other night it looks as if one chapter of Mr. Stratton's life is to be written under the same heading.

The Globe describes the Ross meeting here Thursday night as a joint political meeting. It was not advertised as a joint meeting, and it was rather strange that Mr. Stratton should stand all the expenses of a "joint" meeting.

The Hon. G. W. Ross did not fulfil the expectations of the audience in his address Thursday night. His old-time force and fire were wanting. His ear-ear was not so keen as on former occasions. He made a good address and his closing effort was truly eloquent, but his heart did not seem to be in his speech. He was distinctly on the defensive, who used always to be the aggressor.

"As the large audience left the hall it was the generally-expressed opinion that the result of the discussion would be shown in a material increase in the majority for Mr. Stratton." This quotation is from the Toronto Globe's account of the Ross-Stratton meeting Thursday night. It is a good sample of the reliability of the party press reports. It was the general opinion, and the opinion of all impartial hearers that Mr. Garvin gained more by the meeting than Mr. Stratton.

NEW MANHOOD

To you my friend, young or old, if suffering the result of youthful folly, such as DRAINS, NIGHT LOSSES, IMPOTENCY, LAME BACK, VARICOCELE, etc., take the advice of my 30 years' experience.

DON'T USE DRUGS

When you can get nature's own simple remedy, the very essence of life itself—ELECTRICITY. The DR. SANDEN ELECTRIC BELT for weak men is known the world over. I am the inventor. With last year I restored manly vigor to 5,000 sufferers. Little book explaining all, sent sealed free upon request, or drop in and consult me free of charge.

DR. T. T. SANDEN, 156 St. James St., Montreal Que.

ALL MEAN THE SAME THING.

You have probably heard some people say, "I have such strange pains going about my body that I don't know what to make of them. Sometimes it will be a pain in the forehead, not like an ordinary headache, and then it will go to the breast over the heart, then to the left side, then to the lower part of the back. The pain may stay a whole day or part of a day in one place, and then move—after the fashion of a travelling exhibition or circus."

Now a pain is objectionable because it is a pain, and often because it worries us in trying to account for it. If it stays too long in one place we begin to think it is the sign of some serious local trouble there. And we always fancy that trouble to be the worst one we ever heard of or read about in the books. The writer has on his left eyelid a little encysted tumor, not half so big as a pea. It has been there more than forty years, and I have ceased long ago to take any notice of it. Yet once I suffered intense mental anxiety because various doctors told me it was bound to develop into a malignant cancer. I'd like to be in a condition to pay them back some time for all the mental suffering their errors caused me.

What I want you to understand from this talk is that these shifting spots of pain spoken of do not mean as many distinct local diseases. You have seen a single thunder cloud in summer dart its electric streaks all over the sky; and this is one ailment, which I will name presently, that has the power to imitate that operation in the body. First we will lend an ear to what Mr. Frank Windle has to say and then try to sum up the subject in such a way, I hope, as to make it interesting and instructive.

"In November of 1890," he says, "I fell into a low weak state of health. I felt languid, tired and weary, having no energy. My appetite was poor, and after what little I ate I had taken pain at the chest and side. I gradually got so weak that I could scarcely get about, and was wretchedly nervous. I had also palpitation and pain around the heart."

"I consulted a local doctor, but getting no better, went to a specialist at Derby who said that my heart was weak. I took all kinds of medicine, but nothing did me any good. 'I continued to suffer for over a year, when a friend recommended me to try Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup. I got a bottle of this medicine from Bot's Drug Store, Chesterfield, and after taking it a short time I felt it was doing me good."

"My appetite improved and the food agreed with me. I continued with the medicine and got stronger and stronger (the pain leaving) together. By taking an occasional dose when needed, I keep in good health. You can publish this statement as you like. Signed, Frank Windle, Newbold, Chesterfield, April 1st, 1897."

Mr. Windle mentions having had pain in the chest, the side and around the heart. Probably if he had expected you and I would have taken an interest in the subject, he could have extended this short list and told us of pains, more or less frequent and intense, in other parts of the body. For indigestion or dyspepsia, the sufferer has suffered from, nearly always arises up these scattered disturbances, often making the sufferer think he is afflicted with not less than a dozen different kinds of complaints.

This it does by first awakening, and then poisoning the nerves. And as it takes but an instant for an electric flash to leap clear across the heavens from east to west, so the baneful influence created in the torpid and diseased stomach, will sometimes send a thrill of pain from head to foot. Dyspepsia may follow, and after a time he has organic heart trouble, as in Mr. Windle's case; organic kidney trouble, as in many instances; local diseases of the nerves of the brain; organic ailments of the lungs and so on, when as a matter of fact, all these pains and disorders are merely results and symptoms of the inflammation in the stomach and the general upset of the associated digestive machinery.

When the loaded and livid thunder cloud has shot away all its arrows, and unburdened itself of its surplus water, the atmosphere clears and nature becomes balanced and serene. Even so when Mother Seigel's Syrup has sweetened and strengthened the stomach the seemingly unaccountable and alarming pains in various parts of the body die away and vanish, and that wonderful arrangement, the human system, works in harmony with itself as nature meant it should. For, as a mighty ship is controlled by a very small helm, so is that mightier construction called man operated to success or failure by his body's own management of what he eats and drinks.

Want Our Park

Recent heavy shipments of Canadian pork to Great Britain have had their effect, and old country firms are beginning to withdraw their orders from the United States. A representative of a big Liverpool importing house has been in Toronto during the past week, endeavoring to make arrangements with local packers to supply them with smoked meats, etc. This firm imports about 1,000 boxes of over 400 lbs., or about 200 tons, of these meats weekly from the United States firms, but they are anxious to place an order with Canadian packers.

Steamer Lost on Lake Michigan—Travel to Klondike—The Quebec Murder Cases—Political Notes—News From Many Sources

(Special to the Times.)
 Ottawa, Jan. 27.—Lord Aberdeen signed an order-in-council today permitting the law to take its course in the case of James Allison, sentenced to be hanged on Feb. 4, for the murder of Mrs. Orr, the wife of Anthony Orr, a farmer near Berlin.
 Allison is only 18 years of age, and but for the premeditated way in which he planned and committed the murder, his youth might have saved him from the gallows. The prisoner had no training or education, but for all that he showed some cunning in the way he planned the murder.
 Allison confessed to the murder.
 He shot Mrs. Orr while she was milking a cow, and covered the body up in a corn field until he should get time to carry it to a swamp
 where a grave was ready for the remain.

Allison will, therefore, be hanged
 on Feb. 4.

LOST ON LAKE MICHIGAN

Steamer City of Duluth a Total Wreck
 Off the Harbor of St. Joseph

All on Board Were Saved—The Vessel Break
 in Two and Sinking One Year the Fairies
 in Pieces

Chicago, Jan. 27.—The steamer
 City of Duluth went ashore in a gale off St. Joseph, Mich., last night,
 the passengers and crew, numbering 30 altogether, were safely landed at 5 a. m. to-day.

The tremendous sea running made it impossible for tug boats to get near the steamer, but the life-saving crew finally succeeded in getting their rope to the boat, and the passengers and crew were slowly and with great difficulty brought to shore.

The steamer was broken lengthwise
 through the center by the heavy sea,
 and afterwards fell to pieces by the swelling of her cargo of oats. The steamer and cargo were valued at $100,000, with insurance of $70,000
 on steamer and $10,000 on cargo.

The spot where the City of Duluth struck is the same dangerous sand-bar at the mouth of the harbor on which it is supposed the ill-fated Chicago and its hapless crew went down
 three years ago, almost to a day. It is one of the most dangerous and dreaded spots on the east shore.

Detroit, Jan. 27.—Mrs. William Tryon, one of the ladies rescued, is dying from the effects of the exposure, being badly frozen on the passenger from the wrecked vessel to the dock.

KEENE.

The Lakefield hockeyists drove to our village on Monday night last and played a game with the Keene boys.
 The game throughout was very lively and exciting but was entirely free of vulgarity and disputes. The Lakefield boys played an expert game but were unable to stop the rushes of their opponents
 and as a result at the close of the game
 the score was 8 to 4 in favor of the Keene.
 Mr. James Dickson is undoubtedly a star player and is worthy of credit for the skillful manner in which he played on Monday night. Mr. Dennis Keene acted as referee in a very impartial and satisfactory manner to both teams. The Keene boys speak well of the Lakefield boys and propose to visit their village during the season for a return match with them.

A number of young men from Indian River station met in the Foresters' hall here on Tuesday night and played checkers with a few of our Keene boys. We have learned from reliable authorities that the Keene boys were not in it with the visitors and they now feel that they can very easily be beaten playing checkers.

According to promise I now give a list of the charter members of the Keene Lime Juice Club: Tom. Decaker, Pomey Moore, Hoeler Roach, Positive Legget, Whittier Yourex, Fiddler Cronk, Ponty Mack. With such an intelligent staff of members
 the club will be doubt be a success.
 A report of the business transacted
 at the meetings will be given weekly.

Commence - 11th March
 It is a mistake to work when you are not in a fit condition to do so.
 To take off heavy underclothing because you have become over-heated.
 To think that the more a person eats
 the healthier and stronger he becomes. To believe that children can do as much work as grown people,
 and that the more they study the more they learn. To go to bed late at night and rise at daylight, and imagine that every hour taken from sleep is an hour gained. To imagine that if a little work or exercise is good, violent or prolonged exercise is better. To conclude that the smallest room in the house is large enough to sleep in. To sleep exposed to a direct draught at any season. To imagine that whatever remedy causes
 one to feel immediately better, as alcoholic stimulants, for example, is good for the system, without regard to the after effects. To eat as if you had only a minute to finish the meal, or to eat without an appetite,
 or to continue after it has been satisfied to gratify the taste. To give unnecessary time to a certain established routine of housekeeping
 when it could be much more profitably spent in rest or recreation.

POIRIER MURDER CASE

JUDGE TASCHEREAU DECIDES TO ADMIT THE EVIDENCE OF DE-DETECTIVE MCCASKILL.

(Special to the Times.)
 Montreal, Jan. 27.—The confessions
 which Detective McCaskill, of the Canadian Secret Service, secured in the Nutty and the Poirier murder cases are the only direct evidence against the respective prisoners. Their admissibility as evidence was objected to by the defense in each case, and the following judgments by Judge
 Taschereau in the Poirier case at St.
 Scholastique is therefore of great importance:

TWO KINDS OF ADMISSIONS
 "There are two kinds of admissions, extra judicial and judicial. Judicial admissions are those made in full court at the trial by the accused, who pleads guilty, and those made before a justice of the peace at the preliminary investigation, after he had put the prisoner on his guard. Then there are extra judicial admissions.
 These are divided into two categories,
 namely, those made before the arrest to anybody whether a public officer or not, and those made after the arrest. The only question in these cases is: Was there any promise of favor or any menace, or any undue terror made use of to induce the prisoner to confess and if so, was the promise induced by such promise or menace to make the confession?"
 "I believe Detective McCaskill was waiting in no consideration for Mrs.
 Poirier, and acted as a diligent officer, worthy of confidence. From the disposition he gave I am strongly of the opinion that there was no promise
 or menace or menace or manoeuvres used of a nature to influence the prisoner. I shall none the less reserve the point for the consideration of the Court of Appeals."

How to Buy Cheap Things

"What a lovely pitcher!" said one woman. "Only 10 cents," replied the other, laughing. "Yes. But then you know how to buy," sighed the first.

To know how to buy, then, means an ability to resist the temptation
 of buying a pitcher simply because it is cheap, and taking it only when,
 while cheap, it offers with itself some beauty or quaintness of form, some honesty or integrity of purpose, and this without pretending to be anything which it is not.

Never buy colored glass simply because it is cheap. You introduce into your house a discordant note
 which will destroy the peace of mind
 of those who are sensitive to an entirely new taste of growing childhood. Color costs more than anything else, and if fine shades and tones are sought for they must be paid for,
 whether in glass, in ribbon, in silk
 any manufactured article. To remember this is to spare one's friends.

If cheap things are to serve an appropriate purpose, as a ribbon for an afternoon, for instance, or for a fancy dress, and one cannot afford to buy the better kind, then buy the cheap, use it with discretion, but feel no disappointment or chagrin if it does not outlast a neighbor's more expensive purchase. And do not make the cheap price a standard for all the nicer ribbons bought in future.

Cheap articles of dress should be inconspicuous and unobtrusive. One is pretentious who wears cheap jewelry, cheap ornaments or cheap accessories for personal wear, hoping to make an impression with them. It is better to be honest and straightforward, better to go without them
 no law of good taste is violated. Muslin for a dress has a quality of its own and commands a respect which cheap satin would forfeit. A dress of cheap muslin may, besides be both dainty and charming and lend a certain dignity, but a dress of cheap satin, when one of more richness is required, becomes only vulgar and out of place. Cheapness, allied with pretentiousness, is a monstrosity;
 therefore fight shy of both—Harper's Bazar.

Meeting of Creditors

A meeting of the creditors of the Midland Trust Co., of Port Hope, was held Thursday afternoon in the town hall there. About three hundred creditors, fifty of whom were ladies, were ladies, were present. Mr. T. are not distinguished by any mark or sign from coughs that fail to be fatal. Any cough, neglected, may sap the strength and undermine the health until recovery is impossible. All coughs lead to lung trouble, if not stopped.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral Cures Coughs

"My wife was suffering from a dreadful cough. We did not expect that she would long survive, but Mr. R. V. Royal, deputy surveyor, happened to be stopping with us over night, and having a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with him, induced my wife to try this remedy. The result was so beneficial that she kept on taking it till she was cured."

R. S. HUMPHRIES, Sausage, Ga.

"My little daughter was taken with a distressing cough, which for three years defied all the remedies I tried. At length, on the urgent recommendation of a friend, I began to give her Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After using one bottle I found to my great surprise that she was improving. Three bottles completely cured her."

COMMITTED SUICIDE

A Well-known Farmer of Belmont Township Cut His Throat

Mr. John McCann, a well known and respected farmer, of Belmont township, put an end to his life by cutting his throat Thursday afternoon. He lived not far from the town hall, Belmont. The occurrence was a great surprise to the community, as he was not thought to be mentally unsound. The reason for his act is supposed to be despondency brought about by ill-health.

The deceased was about fifty years of age and leaves a family of grown up children.

Home Winter Sport

An effort is being made by some of the local horsemen to arrange a program of ice-races to be held on the little lake. Peterborough has held good winter races in past years and they have generally been very successful. A town of the size of Peterborough, with so many well-known horsemen should be able to hold a first class program of ice-races every year. No better course is required than the little lake, the scene of many exciting contests in past years.

Resulting from Catarrh Cause Great Suffering

The Great Blood Purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures.

Sufferers from any disease caused by impure blood should never be discouraged about taking Hood's Sarsaparilla because about medicines have failed to give relief. Remember Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. Read this statement: "O. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Dear Sirs:—I think it my duty to let you know what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I was suffering with severe headaches daily and also with catarrh. One day a paper was left at my house and in looking it over I read of your great medicine's value to my fellow sufferers. I reasoned that if it cured them, why would it not cure me, although I must own I had some doubts about it, as I

Had Tried So Many so-called cures which had failed even to relieve me. At last I procured a bottle and after taking all the medicine the headaches had left me and my catarrh trouble was much better. I continued taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and have derived so much benefit from it that I would advise any one troubled with impure blood to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier. I feel better now than I have for years, thanks to Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. E. GREY, 27 St. Nicholas St., Toronto, Ontario.

The Yukon Traffic Large—Many Outfits Ordered in Toronto—Ontario Hour for the Gold Miners

(Special to the Times.)

Montreal, Jan. 29.—The Canadian Pacific Railway authorities have received information that besides the wreck of the steamer Corona, reported last night, the steamer Cogitiam was wrecked on the Northern Pacific coast. The Cogitiam was a small boat, carrying forty passengers, and sailed from Vancouver January 20. The information contained no particulars as to the safety of the passengers.

WRECK OF THE CORONA

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 29.—The steamer Corona, which left here on January 10th, bound for Skagway and Dyea, has gone to the bottom. None of the passengers or crew were drowned.

The news was brought to this port by the steamer Dunbar, which arrived here at 9 o'clock last night. The Corona ran on a reef at the mouth of the Skeena river, and went down. She had on board 225 passengers and 654 tons of freight. The steamer and the cargo she carried are a total loss.

The disaster is likely to cause much suffering to some of the persons who sailed on the Corona, as, according to reports, much of the personal effects carried went down with the steamer. So far as is known there were nineteen women on board the Corona. The Corona was owned by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

POISONED HIS COUSIN

AN ENGLISH FARMER ACCUSED OF ADMINISTERING STRYCHNINE.

(Special to the Times.)

London, Jan. 29.—Walter Horsford, 30 years of age, was arraigned at St. Neots, Huntingdonshire, to answer the charge of murdering his cousin, Annie Holmes, a young widow. Horsford was married quite recently but was formerly intimate with Mrs. Holmes. A short time ago Mrs. Holmes died, and was buried. After her burial a letter written to her by Horsford was found in the mattress of her bed. The disclosure of the letter led to the examination of Mrs. Holmes' body and the subsequent examination pointed very strongly to strychnine poisoning.

A former sweetheart of Horsford's, Fanny James, died seven years ago in great agony on a day on which she had received a letter from Horsford.

Sir Charles Tupper Speaks on the

Chapleau-Tarte Letter

The Statements in the Letter Would Brand a Public Man as Dishonourable and Unfit for Public Life

(Special to the Times.)

The Montreal Star of Friday last publishes the following interview with Sir Charles Tupper on the Chapleau-Tarte letter.

Sir Charles Tupper who has been in the city for several days had a few words to say yesterday in reference to the alleged correspondence between Sir A. Chapleau and Hon. J. Israel Tarte, Minister of Public Works, extracts from which he admitted having read.

"I need not say," remarked Sir Charles, "with what amazement I have read these statements alleged to have been contained in a letter written by Sir Adolphe Chapleau to the Hon. Mr. Tarte, and the surprise I feel at their not being promptly disavowed by Sir Adolphe Chapleau. I cannot believe in the authenticity of those statements, as it would brand a public man with conduct that would stamp him as in the last degree dishonourable and unfit to hold any position in public life."

That Sir Adolphe Chapleau should boast of having prevented me from forming an administration that would secure the confidence of the country is a statement that it is impossible for me to credit under the circumstances in which I undertook that duty."

Your attention has doubtless been drawn to the following sentence alleged to have been written by Sir Adolphe Chapleau to Mr. Tarte: "You have not forgotten the role I played in preventing the ambitious Nova Scotia from ruling the country with a party founded forty years ago, and in which the bad elements predominated the good?"

In reply to the question Sir Charles Tupper said, "It is quite true that I founded a party forty years ago, but it was based upon a policy and principles which I should expect Sir Adolphe Chapleau to be the last man to condemn. When I entered public life in Nova Scotia, the policy of the Conservative party was anti-Catholic. I pointed out to the remnant of the Conservative party which survived the general election of 1855 my objection to such a policy, and took the ground that a policy of equal rights and equal justice to all parties, without respect to race or creed, was the only policy with which I would be willing to be associated, or which I believe could successfully be carried out in Nova Scotia."

When in 1857 the Liberal party were defeated by the combination between the Conservatives and the Roman Catholics, the Liberals boldly proclaimed through their organ, the Halifax Morning Chronicle, that their policy was the formation of a purely Protestant Government, in which no Roman Catholic should be permitted to hold a seat. The fierce anti-Catholic crusade which followed led by the defeat of the Government of which I was a member in 1859, and the formation by the Liberal party of a Government in which no Catholic was included. The principles of equal rights and equal justice without respect to race or creed were steadily maintained by us in Opposition with the result that in 1863, we swept the country from end to end, only 15 out of 55 members being elected by the Liberal party. The principles were firmly established as the policy of the country by that victory in a manner which has prevented their being ever forgotten since that day to this."

The same principles and the same policy were maintained with equal vigor by Sir John A. Macdonald throughout his public career and they are held as firmly by the Conservative party today as they were by me both as Premier of Nova Scotia and when entrusted with the duty of forming a Government previous to the last general election. Whether in power or in Opposition, the Conservative party will steadily maintain these principles as the only sound basis upon which the Government of Canada can be successfully carried on. I cannot believe that any man professing to be a Catholic should consider it necessary to make those principles an object of attack. As I have said before, I hesitate to believe it possible that Sir Adolphe Chapleau can have committed himself to the declaration of the views and opinions ascribed to him in excerpts from a correspondence, the existence of which would be as disgraceful to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's administration as to the writer."

KLONDIKE MISSIONS

DIFFICULTY IN SELECTING MISSIONARIES ADAPTED FOR THE WORK.

(Special to the Times.)

Toronto, Jan. 29.—The committee appointed by the executive of the general board of missions of the Methodist church, at the meeting held here last week, to look after the appointment of missionaries to the Klondike, have found the task allotted to them anything but an easy one. Much trouble has been found in the selection of men properly adapted for the work, and so far only one missionary has been requested to undertake the labor. The choice has fallen to Rev. James Turner, of the Home Mission staff, who is at present stationed at Nelson, Man. He is a young man of experience in mining camps. The committee have written him, and he now has the matter under consideration.

The committee have arranged for the missionaries to leave early in March. The fund started in behalf of the work is being liberally subscribed to, and the officers of the society are confident that the required sum, $10,000, will be made up in about three months.

BRITISH AND FRENCH Situation Becomes More Threatening

The Cuban Filibusters German Steamer Wrecked—Fire in a Hospital—The Weaver's Strike—Poisoning Case—News From Many Sources

(Special to the Times.)

London, Jan. 29.—While the situation in the far East continues to progress peacefully and there is every indication of an amicable understanding between the powers, the situation in France, in the opinion of well-informed persons is a graver menace to peace and the present unstable state of the nation and shaky condition of the Ministry, something is likely to occur to disturb European peace. A note of warning has been sounded by some of the French newspapers, which urge a cessation of the present agitation in France, pointing out that the country should not play into the hands of Germany.

The Petit Journal says "The Government may soon be unable to prevent someone in authority for making a statement which is liable to occasion a crisis. The Niger negotiations in Paris have not reached an agreement, and there are no signs of them doing so. In the meantime everything is tending to take the question out of the hands of the diplomats and leave it to be settled by the hands of soldiers."

The well-informed Manchester Guardian remarks: "If Lord Salisbury cannot come to an agreement with France he cannot, without the loss of something more substantial than prestige, much longer defer the occupation of the disputed territory. Already British troops occupy parts of the Burgu country and while the international commission is working time in Paris, the rival claimants in Africa are drawing perilously near each other. This constitutes the real danger of the situation."

Italy's Part of It

London, Jan. 29.—Some of the London correspondents of the provincial papers, having access to Government circles, point out that for some strange reason the action of Italy has been ignored as a factor in the far Eastern situation, though she is playing a by no means unimportant part in it. She is diplomatically backing up Great Britain in her demand for free ports and is prepared, in certain eventualities, to go further, namely the Italian warships will act in concert with the British in the Mediterranean and elsewhere.

HOSPITAL ABLAZE

CLINIC DEPARTMENT OF THE NOTRE DAME HOSPITAL BURNED.

(Special to the Times.)

Montreal, Jan. 29.—Fire broke out in the clinic department of Notre Dame Hospital this morning and before it was extinguished had done nearly $10,000 damage. There was considerable excitement among the two hundred and fifty patients in the hospital, but those in the vicinity of the burning wing were quickly removed, and with little discomfort, except by smoke, which filled the hospital.

THE WEAVER'S STRIKE

A COMPROMISE MAY BE EFFECTED THIS AFTERNOON

(Special to the Times.)

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—The three hundred striking weavers of Almonte had a meeting this afternoon to discuss the formation of a weaver's union to embrace all the weavers of Canada, and also as to what action, if any, will be taken towards effecting a compromise with the company. Mr. Rosemond announced that this will be held on Monday, and that if the strikers may return to work if they so desire.

HOT CHURCH ROW

A BEAR GARDEN SCENE—"SCOUNDREL LIAR, DRUNKARD," THE WORDS USED.

(Special to the Times.)

London, Jan. 29.—The church of St. Helberts, Blabogate, this city, is now the focus of a tremendous contest among the parishioners owing to the Ritualistic observances there. The vicar, who is an old man, lives at Helberts and he appointed a curate who introduced holy water, the confession, the stations of the cross, incense, etc.

Some of the parishioners objected to this and a meeting on Thursday night at the church was turned into a Ritualistic bear garden.

The malcontents howled, exchanged epithets and gesticulated for two hours declaring the church was being used for a dirty confessional and for debauching. "Scoundrels," "liars," "drunkards," were among the choice epithets exchanged.

Eventually a resolution was adopted supporting Ritualism but the fight will be continued and the police will be called in upon the next occasion.

MANIFESTO TO ELECTORS

LORD'S DAY ALLIANCE BEGIN THEIR WORK IN THE CAMPAIGN

Special to The Times.

Toronto, Jan. 29.—A largely attended meeting of the Lord's Day Alliance
executive was held yesterday, President J. K. Macdonald in the chair.The principal subject of discussion was the action of the Ontario Government regarding the Lord's Day Act, and it was decided to issue a manifesto to the electors of the Province urging that pledges be contracted from all candidates to support the amendments which were pressed upon the Government. A draft of the proposed manifesto was prepared and referred for completion to the literature committee. It will be issued shortly and will also draw attention to the fact that the Alliance have asked the Government to submit for the opinion of the court the definition of the term "traveler" in the existing act.It was also decided to move in the direction of obtaining and forwarding to the Minister of Railways and Canals petitions, with the view of closing all the canals of the Dominion on the Lord's Day.

C. P. R. SHORT OF ENGINES

THE NEW SERVICE TO NORTH BAY
WILL REQUIRE SOME NEW MA-CHINES.

(Special to The Times.)

Toronto, Jan. 29.—The determination of the C. P. R. to run a experimental service to North Bay, via Smith's Lake and Annapolis, will likely result in shaking up the Grand Trunk service to that point, and a time war, if not a battle of wits, will shortly be inaugurated. Orders were issued this morning that all C. P. R.
freight should go via Smith's Lake
after Monday evening. This will necessitate the establishment of a new freight service over this branch of the C. P. R., as well as the present heavy traffic, the authorities are wondering where they will get the engines to pull the trains. The mileage which is covered by the Grand Trunk between North Bay and Toronto is 228 miles, while by the new C. P. R.
route 453 miles will be covered.
District Freight Agent White of the G.T.R. is in Montreal consulting about the change of freight rates.

CLUNG TO THE SHIP

AND THEY WERE ALL BROUGHT SAFELY TO THE SHORE

(Special to The Times.)

New York, Jan. 29.—The North German steamer Aller, which arrived to-day from Bremen and Southampton, brings the captain and 24 of the crew of the British tramp steamer Dago, of Sunderland, who were taken off that vessel at sea while in a sinking condition. The Dago was sighted on Jan. 22 by the Atlantic Transport Line steamer Manitoba,
from London for this port. The captain of the Manitoba found the vessel too stormy to handle the disabled craft and tow her to a port and offered to take off the crew which at that time refused to abandon their vessel.The Health of the Hairis indicated by its condition. When the natural secretions decrease; when the hair becomes dry, splits at the ends and comes out in clumps; when the gloss disappears and the hair becomes gray or faded, the ill health of the hair is indicated. The success of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR is due to the fact that it restores the hair-producing organs to their natural vigor.
It encourages and promotes the secretions of the hair follicles, and thus gray or faded hair regains its original color, new growth
begins, and lost lustre is restored.Ayer's Hair

the hair to keep its natural color and its position for baldness. — T. B.

HOT SHOT FOR YANKEES

CANADIAN HACKNEY HORSE BRE-EDERS STAND BY THE GRAHAMS

(Special to The Times.)

Toronto, Jan. 29.—Yesterday at its annual meeting the Hackney Horse Breeders' Association, of Canada, discussed the action of the Illinois State Board of Agriculture in reference to the prizes won by the Canadian horse
Royal Standard, owned by Graham
Bros., of Claremont, at the Chicago Horse Show.A resolution was passed showing the facts that an agent of the Chicago show had assured Graham Bros. that their horse was eligible in the Hackney class,
and his assurance had been backed by the managers of the show. Because of the fact that after these assurances the horse was thrown out of the competition, the resolution goes on to say that the Messrs. Graham "have been grossly wronged and slandered" that their conduct had been "straightforward and above suspicion throughout, and that at all times we shall be prepared to give them such support as lies within our power to establish the honesty of their intentions in their dealings with the executive of the recent horse show at Chicago."It is also resolved that in our opinion, formed on evidence submitted to us
this day, the charges of fraud, of suppression of particulars as to the breeding, and of dishonorable conduct made in the resolution adopted by the State Board of Agriculture of Illinois, are entirely unwarranted, and, being such, are slanderous, libellous and unworthy the said Board."THE PRESIDENT'S SPEECH COMMENTS UPON IT BY THE PRESS OF ENGLAND.

(Special to The Times.)

London, Jan. 29.—The morning papers comment upon President McKinley's speech at the banquet of the National Association of Manufacturers on Thursday evening, characterizing it as "impressive and sounding, but vague and non-committal" and as "giving little hope of a bold stand against the silverites." The Morning Post says:
"The speech was evidently intended to mark the line of battle in the coming Congressional election. Everyone interested in American property will rejoice if the Republicans frankly adopt the policy suggested."

RELIEF MAY BE LATE

THERE IS MORE FIGHTING IMMI-NENT ON THE FRONTIER OF IN-DIA.

(Special to The Times.)

Bombay, Jan. 29.—Despatches just received from Ormara, Beluchistan, say that the Nizam, is ignorant of the fact that Colonel Mayne, with 200 men of the Bombay Infantry, who landed at Ormara on Tuesday a week ago, are marching to his relief and that his position is critical. Baluch-Khan is moving to block Colonel Mayne's advance and fighting is imminent.

It is not often that the chief magistrate of a municipality is held up on one of the highways of his own borough. In what happened to Nelson Monaghan, Warden of the County of Perth, Saturday night. Within a couple of miles of Stratford he was stopped by three men who demanded his cash on the point of a pistol. He gave them a cent. The footpads were so disgusted with their haul that they forgot to search him further. The only person who was hurt was the warden, who was hugging a fat wad of bills which he carried in his pocket.

Frontenacs of Kingston Play Peterboro Here To-night.

A practice match between the juniors and seniors was held Saturday night.

Walter Phalen is nursing his sore finger for the match in Toronto Wednesday night.

An interesting game is to be played to-night in the Charlotte street rink when the Frontenacs of Kingston play the Peterboro's the opening game in the second round of the O. H. A. junior series. Both teams are out for the championship and a fast game may be expected. The teams will line up at eight o'clock. A good crowd is expected.

MORE C. P. R. TRAINS

Two More Trains a Day on the C. P. R. in the Future.

Peterborough will have two extra passenger trains a day on the C. P. R., commencing on Tuesday.

The C. P. R. has been unable to renew its agreement with the G. T. R. to run trains over the latter's line to North Bay. The C. P. R. has, it is understood, decided to carry its north-west trains east on its own line from Toronto through Peterboro to Smith Falls and thence to North Bay and the West.

The new service contemplated by the Canadian Pacific means a change in the time-table over the entire Ontario and Quebec division of the road, but the principal alteration will be in connection with the western train service. There will be six trains a week out and in on the western service. The train from Toronto will leave there at 12:30 p.m., running through to Ottawa and connecting at Carleton Place with the Pacific express leaving Montreal at 2 p.m. This train will likely pass through Peterboro at 2 o'clock.

The train from the Pacific coast will arrive in Toronto via Smith's Falls at 3:30 p.m., instead of 4:30, as at present, and this train will pass through here about 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

A SAD DEATH

Death of Mr. Charles Halliday Yesterday Morning.

It is with feelings of the deepest regret that we announce the death of Mr. Charles Halliday, only surviving son of Dr. Halliday, which took place at his father's residence, Water-st., yesterday morning about 9 o'clock.

The deceased has been afflicted for some time with heart and lung troubles, and his death was not entirely unexpected. The grief at his untimely death will be felt all the longer when it is remembered that it is only a comparatively short time since his only brother died.

Mr. Charles Halliday was well known and highly respected in town, where he has spent all his life. He had been employed at the Bank of Montreal, and also held a position on the staff of the Customs House. By his kindness of disposition and gentlemanly manner he made many fast friends and his death will be felt keenly by his old school-mates among whom he was a general favorite.

The family have the deepest sympathy of the whole community in their sad affliction.

YELLAND VS. YELLAND

Judgment Reserved on the Appeal of the Plaintiff.

On Thursday last the case of Yelland vs. Yelland came up at Osgoode Hall, with the following result: Watson, O. C., and Moore (Peterborough) for defendant, Eliza Yelland and her child, the infant defendant, appeared from the judgment of MacMahon J., who tried the action at Peterborough, declaring that the plaintiff, the father of the late Dr. Albert E. Yelland, and the infant defendant, the son of the deceased, were entitled each to a moiety of the sum of $1,000 arising from a benefit certificate issued by the Ancient Order of Foresters. The certificate was on its face payable to the next of kin of the deceased. The appellants relied upon the terms of the will of the deceased and upon a change in the rules of the benefit society made in the lifetime of the deceased. Poussetta, O. C., for plaintiff, contra. Judgment reserved.

"Jack" Breaks the World's Record.

An Allendale horse, Macavoy's "Jack," reduced the world's mile trotting record on ice just three-quarters of a second on the track at the Orillia winter races last Wednesday, making a mile in 2:21.4. Mayor Sheppard and Mr. F. J. Daly took the time.

The race was a second difference between the winner when "Jack" crossed the line. The horse was not given the benefit of the doubt. "Jack" was driven by George Powell.

The track, according to surveyor Cavan, is nine feet over a last year's mile in length. The former world's ice record was made no later than Friday, Jan. 14, at Port Perry, by Dick French, a horse owned by Jackson, of Toronto. The Port Perry record was 2:22. The track there is said to have measured one mile and 3 feet.

The race meeting was probably the most successful in the history of the Orillia Trotting Association. It is estimated that, on Wednesday, nearly 1000 people witnessed the races. The weather on the second day, Thursday, was very unfavorable and rain fell nearly the entire afternoon. Despite that drawback, however, hundreds went out to the track and enjoyed the sport.—Orillia Newsletter.

Revered His Connection.

Hoisting's Star.—Mr. Joseph Harper, who has been in the employ of Mr. W. P. Plant for the past eight years, recently severed his connection with his old employer on Friday and has gone to Peterboro, to reside. That a young man can hold a position for that length of time with satisfaction to himself and employer is both a credit to the employee and commendable. His two years here has proved himself to be a young man of good steady, industrious, moral habits and he carries with him the best wishes of everybody.

On Friday evening prior to Mr. Joseph Harper's leaving for Peterboro, a number of the employees of the foundry and his friends in town met at the home of Mr. W. P. Plant and spent a very pleasant evening together.

Fire Burned.

An alarm of fire was sounded about two o'clock yesterday morning to call out the brigade to suppress a fire which had started in a barn belonging to Mrs. Jos. Butler, on the corner of Bethune and King streets. The building being a frame one and old, it burned like tinder, and it was impossible to save it. It was fully insured. A quantity of furniture belonging to the inmates of the house to which it was attached was stored in the barn, and it was also destroyed. The brigade prevented the fire from spreading.

THE ELECTION CAMPAIGN

Meeting Held in the Elton Committee Room on Saturday Night.

Now that the date of election is fixed, the politicians know just how much time they have to do their work, and both sides are leaving nothing undone to give them a pull all the way.

Mr. Stratton's and Mr. Garvin's committee rooms were crowded Saturday night with supporters eager to do something to help their favorite. At the Conservative rooms addresses were given by the candidate, Mr. A. McNeil, Mr. A. P. Poussetta, and other gentlemen. Mr. McNeil, who is chairman of No. 2 ward committee, made a very forceful speech, dealing with the campaign issues in a vigorous manner. All seemed elated with the good showing made by their candidate at the Ross meeting, and expressed their belief that as he became better known Mr. Garvin's prospects became much brighter.

Mr. Stratton's committee rooms were crowded by the candidate's friends, and they did not seem to be suffering from any anxiety as to the Liberal prospects. Addresses were given by some of Mr. Stratton's supporters all expressing confidence in the Liberal cause and in Mr. Stratton's return by a good majority on March 1st. A good deal of organization work was done by both parties and any young man so inclined will have a hard time to escape voting this year.

Rev. Mr. Armitage on Gambling.

Rev. W. L. Armitage, of All Saint's church delivered an impressive sermon on the gambling evil in St. Luke's church last night. He dealt exhaustively with his subjects and impressed his hearers with the necessity of doing everything in their power to help to stamp out the practice. The terrible effects of the gambling habit, the passion which carries away its victim and leads to misery and ruin of many were vividly described. The temptations which assail young men were pointed out as well as the difficulty which they find in breaking away from the habit once it is contracted. He showed it up clearly as the ruin of many for the time being, and that only were the ordinary ways of gambling pointed out but also the many methods of business which are really gambling schemes, though not generally recognized as such. Many supposedly innocent forms of amusement lead people to contract the habit which they would otherwise shun. His address was a complete exposition and arraignment of an evil which is far more prevalent than is generally supposed.

Frontenacs vs. Peterboro.

The Frontenacs of Kingston, a team well known on Peterborough, came up to-day and will play the home team to-night. The Frontenacs are a good team, and their style of play has always been admired here. It is an O. H. A. team, and as both teams are aspirants for the junior championship, a fast game may be expected. The local boys expect to take the men from old Fort Frontenac into camp all right, but like the man parting his hair in the middle it will be pretty even. The game will start at eight o'clock. Every lover of hockey should see it.

A Chimney Abolished.

The bricks were called out about 9:45 last night to deal with a fire at the corner of King and Reid streets. The pipes had caught fire, and the heat had caused a blaze to start in the wall close beside them. For a time it looked serious but it was finally suppressed by the neighbors. The services of the firemen were not needed. People should note that pipes and chimneys are cleaned more regularly. When a cold snap strikes these people out on big fires without realizing the dangerous consequence that may follow. There would be fewer fires if there were more clean chimneys.

The St. Wren.

The petrified man on exhibition in the store lately occupied by the Sun Life, opposite the Post Office, has been drawing immense crowds. It is without a doubt the greatest curiosity on earth. Only a few days more. Admission, 10 cents to everybody.

PETERBOROUGH, FEBRUARY 1, 1898

AN UNANSWERED CHARGE

Complaints have come in from both sides in the political contest regarding the stand taken by the Times with reference to the opposing parties. The Times is an independent journal bound to neither candidate or party by favor or affection, and in accordance with this position it publishes what it believes to be the truth, regardless of the bearing upon the prospects of any candidate. If we at any time publish matter or write reports or make comments on political sayings or doings, it is not to aid either candidate, but simply because we believe it in the public interest to do so.

At the Liberal meeting in the Opera House last Thursday night Mr. Garvin made a direct charge that, after the last election, Mr. Stratton discovered and revealed to an interested party or parties the way in which some sixty men of Peterboro voted. Mr. Garvin was trying to establish the point that the Ontario ballot was not a secret one, and made this statement boldly and plainly to prove his argument.

This was serious charge, yet it was uttered before a large and representative public audience. Mr. Garvin did not go among his own friends to say it, but made the statement before a meeting called in Mr. Stratton's interest. What did Mr. Stratton do to disprove the charge? He sat quietly in his seat, and in an annoyed tone of voice, ejaculated, "That's all rot," whereupon the speaker affirmed his statement again.

This is the most serious charge that has been made against Mr. Stratton this campaign, and yet he has not attempted to disprove it. We call the attention of the public to it because everyone, irrespective of party ties, must believe that the ballot should be kept inviolably secret. It is a nut for every elector to crack.

March will surely come in like a roaring lion this year.

What are East Peterboro Conservatives doing? They must truly be sawing wood.

Only about four weeks more for organization and work. Root, hogs or be best.

We are inclined to think that some of Mr. J. W. Garvin's educational remedies would kill the sick patient.

The Globes of yesterday comes out with a survey of the political field. There will be no Conservatives in the next Legislature.

Mr. Stratton deserves the sympathy of everyone in that he was placed in the awkward position of being expected to fulfill great hopes.

To live up to a reputation for great wisdom and cleverness is a very difficult task for a man without the requisite brain power.

An over estimated man who shoots into the political sky too quickly must feel rather flat when he comes to his proper level.

Conservatives say that should Mr. Stratton only bring Hon. Mr. Hardy here now that Mr. Garvin's election would be assured.

"Stratton will roost in the Parliament coop." So sang the Laurier choir. First it was a pig-sty, now it is a hen-coop. Hardy is a dray-horse. What next?

Party is no longer a sacred thing in the people's eyes. Defeat will follow defeat until public men and political parties learn to keep faith with the voters. Shams and shadows will not be accepted for the real substance of reform.

The Globes says that the visit of the Minister of Education to Peterboro last Thursday night had a most excellent effect. Messrs. Garvin, Pousette & Co., join in a hearty chorus.

There is a break in the Liberal ranks in South Waterloo because it is believed that their member has got the appointment as registrar of Waterloo. In West Peterboro the trouble is over what the member did not get.

A dog-ranch is the most valuable possession a Klondiker can have at this stage of the game. A dog, is a beast of burden which is also highly prized for its edible qualities.

The friends of Mr. J. R. Stratton were glad to be told by Hon. Mr. Ross that J. R. was a very clever man and took leading position in the councils of the nation. Some Peterboro people were beginning to think that the air was going out of Mr. Stratton's bubble reputation.

"It is never time for a change for the worse."

"It is always time for a change for the better."

There are gentlemen. Take your choice. Both are weighty arguments befitting the would-be statesman of Ontario.

There is one thing for which Peterboro may be glad, and that is that no real feeling of bitterness or hatred prevails between the two political parties. Of course we always have a struggle at election times but all unite when it is over.

Politics seldom or never enter the municipal arena. London, Ont., is cursed with the bitterest political hatred. Everything is run on party lines. Their mayor, councillors, and other elective bodies are elected as Grit or Tory. Only last week they divided as Grit and Tory in electing the officers for the Horticultural society.

Which requires a constitutional remedy. It cannot be cured by local applications. Hood's Sarsaparilla is wonderfully successful in curing catarrh because it eradicates from the blood the scrofulous taints which cause it. SCORING A HOG.

If A. Jones, Sec'y International O. I. G. Record Association, Shows How With Figures and Explanation.

In the course of pure bred stock breeding comes many a new idea, which may be beneficial to the breed. It is advanced every day by many breeders. A more in feed than breed, and this same old adage will ever be handed down from generation to generation, without doubt by those who do not, by sound and education, understand the principles of stock breeding. In dealing with this subject, I shall not endeavor to go over the entire subject, but concentrate upon one branch of the industry and deal only with the hog. There is presented here an outline cut of a hog, and I will endeavor to show before closing these papers, that the axiom "Breed first and then feed," will ever be the guide to success. I realize full well there are many choice grade hogs in this country, that for the block will bring just as many dollars as the pure bred. This we all admit, but the facts go to prove the finest grade is valued only for pork, and the finest pure bred is valued least for pork. The grade, then, is never worth more than for pork, or its product, which is the hog. No one can tell the value of us a breeder.

In the outset, I desire to say these papers will not be written in the interest of any particular breed of hogs, or any undue respect shown to any breed or breeder. This is a free country, and we all have our likes and dislikes, not only in grade hogs, but in pure bred as well. I propose also to show wherein we can improve our hogs and the condition of our breeders by adhering more closely to the principles underlying the breeding of pure breeds.

During the past half century much has been done to bring about desirable results in pure bred swine. Some prefer black, others red, spotted or white. While some prefer the large hog, others prefer the smaller or medium; but when the desired results are asked for, all agree that the hog that will make the greatest number of pounds of pork for the food consumed, in a period of six or seven months, and have sufficient bone to carry the load, is the most profitable for the general market and the average farmer.

This may be true to a certain extent.

PETERBOROUGH, FEBRUARY 1 1898

The laconic quip of Elvira was suddenly broken now and then by the clank of piano and the pop of opening umbrella-bell.
"That's Charles," explained one who had been there long enough to have learned the ropes. "He has an idea if he keeps up the gait he'll wake up with a head some morning."—Life.

CURIOSITY OF MONKEYS

ONE WHO WAS INQUISITIVE IN REGARD TO HOME-BREWED ALE
Curiosity seems to be the great failure, or virtue, of monkeys. A story is told of an Englishman who had a South African monkey which had travelled with around the world.

When his bachelor days were over
he took his young wife to a lovely old manor house in the south of England, and Englishmanlike, kept several barrels of good "home-brewed" ale in the cellar. On returning from church on Sunday morning he noticed that the cellar door was open,
and started on a tour of investigation. As he went down the steps Jenny, the monkey, rushed up, and he found that she had set all the spigots running. The door had been inadvertently left open, and Jenny, doubtless, went prying into the semi-lighted place. Turning one spigot on produced such a rushing stream that she tried the others also, much to the waste of the liquor. It may be added that when the Englishman's first born appeared and monopolized attention Jenny got such a fit of jealousy that she was at once sent to the secluded
but more congenial society to be found in the monkey house off the London Zoological Gardens.

A high in a Turkish harem.
It has remained for a German newspaper woman, Adèle Stern, to penetrate the mysteries of the Sultan's harem. She says:
"Along the walls are low settees.
In the middle of them stands a magnificent Turkish clock. Near by is a mural, an open metallic stove,
from which comes daintily perfumed
heat. On the top is a big bronze pot in which delicious moccas are being brewed. At every step is a sort of cradle, in which rest one to three children."

"The dock far niente of Turkish female life can no where be better studied than in a bath. The women of the harem enter the harem early in the morning and spend from an hour to the whole day there.
"And now to the bath itself. It is a veritable fairyland. The soft damp air of the white marble, the perfumed steam, all help the illusion of being in some nixie land. Right before me splashing in the water are two nymphs. Their immense black eyes glance sadly at me from beneath masses of raven black hair. Their forms are exquisite, white as the alabaster surrounding them and with skin as soft as the richest velvet.
The bath finished I am once more unbathed into the dressing room. I drink a cup of coffee and depart."

riages, gold fish, etc., brought only £128. A crowd of Sir Robert's neigh-

THE PILL THAT WILL

Music Among the Negroes

One of the chief features of every negro gathering of a social character is the singing, says W. F. Hewlston in the Chautauquan. A musical people they undoubtedly are. Not a few have exhibited a high degree of talent in this respect—as, for example, Blind Tom—whose performances on the piano have delighted so many cultured audiences. The darky fiddler, once so prominent a feature of social gatherings, is still sought after in some communities. The popularity of so-called "jubilee" singers and negro minstrels seems to increase with time. Many of the most popular songs in this country, such as "Old Kentucky Home," "The Fatal Wedding," and "Listen to the Mocking Bird," were composed by negroes.

For the origin of most of their songs
we must go back to the days of slavery. Just as the laboring classes of England during the seventeenth century found expression for their struggles and sufferings in the popular ballads of the time, so the American slave gave vent to his afflictions and heartaches in song. He sang of his griefs—and they were many—of hardships and oppression, of loss of home,
of separation from friends and relatives. In these songs one can not fail to perceive a certain plaintive
melody that seems to breathe forth centuries of patient suffering. But the songs of the negro were not all dictated to the tragic muse. Even in slavery there were bright, sunshiny openings in the clouds of sorrow that darkened his life, and there is no better evidence of the natural cheerfulness and gaiety of his character than the comic and festive songs with which he was wont to celebrate these interludes in his grief.

To Restore Natural Skin

We have recently read with considerable interest the reports of a process which has been patented by a German scientist, by which a tissue is made that will take the place of the natural skin, and be absorbed as the injury heals. He takes the muscular portion of the intestines of animals, and removes the inner and outer layers of membrane. The middle portion is then permitted to remain for a suitable time in a solution of pepsine, when the fibres are found to be semi-digested. The substance is then treated with gallic acid and tannin. It is stated that large surfaces from which the skin has been removed by disease or accident, may be healed
in a short time by means of this tissue. It is prepared and laid upon the raw surface, which has previously been sterilized, and is very lightly bandaged into its place. The union of the tissue and the surface takes place in a little while, and the tissue forms a coating that answers the purpose of the skin to a degree better than any known substance, and is likely, when still further perfected, to entirely remove the necessity for skin grafting.

REGISTER YOUR VOTE

Place Appointed for the Registration of Voters in Peterboro

The Board for the registration of the manhood suffrage voters in the town of Peterborough met yesterday morning. The Board consists of Judge Weller, Police Magistrate Jumble and Mr. John Moloney, Clerk of the County Court. The Board chose Judge Weller as chairman and selected the following places in the different wards as registering booths: No. One Ward—Leplante's butcher shop, corner of Rubidge and Sherbrooke streets.

No. Two Ward—The Town Council chamber, town buildings.

No. Three Ward—The committee room of the Town Council chamber, town buildings.

No. Four Ward—Stabler's carpenter shop, Dublin street.

It is probable that the booths will be open on Monday and Tuesday next for the registration of voters. All those who are not on the municipal voters' list should watch for particulars and see that their name is registered.

The Times Mascot

Mr. A. R. J. Hall, of the Dominion Life Insurance Co., presented the editor of the Morning Times with a pet fipak yesterday in the shape of a bit (not baseball). He secured the fipak at the skating rink, where he clung to a high beam, evidently with a view to seeing the game last night at an advantage. He protested shrilly when taken away, but it was impossible to leave him, as it was expected that all the fipaks would be required by the small boys. His fipak is a dear little fellow, with a capy bird's beak, glossy fur, and wings of the silk umbrella style. He has an evil habit, however, of biting at everything within reach, seizing sticks of type with avidity. Judging from his whereabouts when found he is evidently an enthusiastic admirer of hockey. We are sorry we did not have the bat for the dog show, where he would undoubtedly have carried off the first prize. He has been placed under the merciful care of the "devil," who will see that he gets an allowance of dried flies every day and a careful rub-down with a cork-crow. Printers ink has been his liquid nourishment so far, but we fear it is turning his fur to a sable black. Exchanges are requested not to say that the Times is "batty" or anything of that nature, as the "devil" has said so already.

Nervous Prostration

Sick Headache and Dizziness—All Cured.

Little Girl Has Crown Plump and Rosy Since Taking Hood's.

Nervous mothers and sickly children endure a vast proportion of the suffering which is caused by impure and impoverished blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives relief by purifying and enriching the blood. Read this statement:

"I was bothered with sick headaches and dizziness. I also had nervous prostration and weakness in my stomach, which made me feel very ill indeed. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, which was highly recommended by many, and by the time I had taken four bottles I was in perfect health. About a year ago my little girl, then six years old, had bronchitis and chicken pox. We were told that her

was the careful treatment she might receive at the hospital. We took her there and for eight days they had no hope of her recovery, but later she had a change for the better. Her sickness, however, left her very delicate and weak, and she did not grow any for a year. It was then I thought I would try Hood's Sarsaparilla, inasmuch as I had used it for myself and found it such a good medicine for building up a constitution. She had not taken two bottles before she had improved wonderfully. She has grown rosy and plump and is quite herself again. I have great faith in Hood's." Mrs. M. HIGGINS, 838 Bloor Street, West, Toronto, Ontario.

X, THEN BRAIN RAYS.

PROF. CROOKES' WONDERFUL THEORY OF THOUGHT TRANSFERENCE.

The Great Scientist's Latest Speculations and the Vast Amount of Attention They Are Receiving—Something of His Line of Logic and Argument.

Prof. Crookes' new application of the wave theory is attracting a vast amount of attention in certain quarters, says the London correspondent of The New York Sun. The conception of brain waves which he puts forward is a bold one, but he justifies it with one of the most fascinating if fanciful arguments ever advanced in the cold, unimaginative name of science. The suggestion is, in brief, that thought, intelligence, may be transmitted from one sensitive being to another, without regard to distance of intervening matter, by means of inconceivably minute and rapid ether waves. The strain which Prof. Crookes puts upon the ordinary human credulity by the mere statement of such a proposition is severe enough, but it is mitigated somewhat by the gentle process which precedes his stupor-inducing experiment. He begins us to free our minds from all preconceived assumptions and prejudices which, he rightly declares, are greater obstacles to the growth of knowledge than mere ignorance. He tells us in so many words that we do not know as much about nature and the universe as we think we do.

He illustrates and emphasizes this humiliating suggestion by means of a couple of parables. Imagine, he says, a tiny being of the microscopic size of Smallett's "Atom"—so small that the molecular forces, of which we in ordinary life make no account, such as surface tension, capillary attraction, the cushion of liquids, etc., would be so conspicuous that it could hardly believe in the existence of, for instance, the law of gravitation. Prof. Crookes puts his imaginary homunculus on a cabbage leaf and speculates as to what would be the illiputian philosopher's conception of the shape of the world, the laws of nature and the scheme of the universe. The notes dancing in the sunshine would be to him "cumbersome objects like portmanteaus flying through the air." He would be terrified by the thinnest insect motions and sounds unknown to us would be commonplace to him. The knowledge available to him in the physical world would be perhaps as vast as that which we possess and as genuine as far as it went.

The Professor goes on to suppose that his tiny student, endowed with all the mental capacity of man, collects his information into a great scheme of the universe from the point of view of a cabbage leaf. Then he proceeds to contrast the result with the product of a similar investigation made by a human being. The difference is in its proportions as the cabbage leaf philosopher was small. Having dwelt on the interesting contrast with a most ingenious play of fancy, the Professor proceeds to ask the inevitable question: If such changes in our elementary ideas would come to pass from a mere difference in size, may not all our so-called knowledge be limited by our actual environment?

Having thus cleared the way for his invasion from the domain of physics into the region usually regarded as that of metaphysics, Prof. Crookes discloses his wavelike theory. It is an extension of the well-known natural law under which sounds is conveyed by vibrations of the atmosphere and light by the vibrations of the thinner ether. He presents an interesting calculation of the number or rapidity of these vibrations. Starting first with one pendulum beat or vibration a second and increasing to two, then to four, then to eight, and on in geometrical progression, he carries the calculation on to the sixty-third step, where the number of vibrations a second are expressed by a number containing nineteen figures. At the fifth step, where the vibrations are thirty-two a second, we enter the region where sound begins for the average human ear. With the fifteenth vibration is reached a point at which for the average human ear sound ends. From the sixteenth to the thirtieth step is attained a region of a highly attenuated medium with far more rapid vibrations revealing themselves as electrical rays.

Higher up the scale from the thirtieth to the forty-fifth step, is a realm which is at present unexplored, but in which Prof. Crookes thinks may lie the explanation of much now wholly mysterious. Still rising in the scale, with vibrations of prodigious rapidity, comes the region of light, and beyond that lies another unknown region, as to which Mr. Crookes hazards the conjecture that "it is not unlikely that the X rays of Prof. Rontgen will be found to lie between the fifty-eighth and the sixty-third step."

Of the operations performed within two of these regions little is known; and ascending still higher in the scale, it does not require much stretch of the scientific imagination to conceive that at the sixty-second or sixty-third step the trammels from which rays at the sixty-first step were struggling to free themselves have ceased to be influential, and that these rays pierce the densest medium with no diminution of intensity, and pass unreflected and unreflected along their straight path with the velocity of light. Some still higher on the wings of "scientific imagination," he assumes operations of vibrations still more rapid, waves of ether ceasing to have the properties of ether known to us and overcoming the obstacles caused by distances or intervening matter.

Dropping the stricter processes of logic, Prof. Crookes then suggests in a more tentative way: May not the point where a sensitive being is to be transmitted from one sensitive being to another? May not their radius of action be practically limitless? "It is inconceivable the intense thought concentrated toward a sensitive being with whom the thinker is in close sympathy may induce a telepathic chain, along which brain waves can go straight to their goal without loss of energy due to distance."

No man of science has contributed anything to recent discussion of scientific subjects which will appeal more pleasantly and more encouragingly to the popular imagination than the paper which I have briefly described. Prof. Crookes occupies so distinguished a position in the scientific world that he is entitled to serious consideration even when he indulges in flights of fancy such as this discussion is in some, at least, of its conclusions. His logic is strong, apparently even to the point where he assigns the still mysterious X rays to their place in nature's scheme. To say that they lie on the borderline, only a step removed from the domain of telepathy and all those strange phenomena whose very existence is still virtually unrecognized, is a startling suggestion. It would be better, perhaps, as The Times suggests, if Prof. Crookes, before explaining the facts of telepathy, would make it perfectly clear that they exist.

A DISASTROUS FIRE

Doherty Organ Works Destroyed in Clinton

NOTES ON THE STORM

The Blizzard Stops Commerce in Many Localities

Preparing for Parliament Opening. Killed on the Track—Fatal Accident Near Gravelly—Wife shooter Committed

(Special to the Times.)

Clinton, Feb. 1.—The Doherty Organ Works, which has been the boast of Clinton citizens for twenty years, is this morning in ashes.

The entire plant, which occupied half a block, is a total loss, not even the lumber being saved.

FIRE IN A STEEL BOX

The origin of the fire is a mystery, except that it originated in the hot blast fan, which was used to heat the buildings. The night watchman was on duty and smelt fire, and soon located it in the steel box, which contained the fan. He at once stopped the working of the fan and started the pumps.

By the time he returned to the fan with the hose the heat and fire were so intense that when he opened the door he was driven back and almost suffocated.

A HIGH WIND BELOW ZERO

A general alarm was then sounded, but owing to the very deep snow caused by yesterday's storm, it was with difficulty that the steam engine arrived at the tanks near the factory. The temperature was considerably below zero, and a very high wind blowing so that it was with difficulty that the firemen undertook their work.

A BIG CONCERN

The factory was the largest exclusively organ factory in Ontario, and yet not large enough to meet the demands of their trade, and Mr. Doherty was making arrangements to build another large addition to this year. During October, November and December the men were all working overtime.

The building, stock and machinery was valued at $100,000, and there were nearly 1,000 organs on the way to completion, while in the yard there was nearly a million feet of valuable lumber. Against all this there is but a small insurance from $30,000 to $50,000, hence Mr. Doherty's loss will be very heavy.

The following are the interested companies: Lancashire, Guardian, Gore, Economical, Imperial, Phoenix, Waterloo, Mercantile, London and Liverpool, and Globe, Northern and Caledonian.

150 MEN OUT

About 150 men were employed and for them to be turned out the coldest day in winter is, to say the least, not pleasant.

Mr. Doherty's residence, right behind the factory, was also totally destroyed.

Much sympathy is expressed for all concerned, and the town council, which meets this morning, are prepared to give Mr. Doherty almost anything he asks for.

A PUBLIC-SPIRITED CITIZEN

Mr. Doherty is one of the most public-spirited citizens of Clinton, and it was only two weeks ago that he came forward with an offer to stand half the expense of building a new Methodist church the present one proving inadequate. A committee of the Methodist church was progressing favorably in the work of raising by general subscription the balance of the sum required.

Mr. J. P. Doherty, son of Mr. W. D. Doherty was elected a member of the town council at the recent municipal elections.

Everying promised great success for Clinton's chief industry, the Doherty Organ Works, the extensive improvements of last year making the factory one of the most compact in the country.

HOUSE OF PETER THE GREAT

STILL STANDING NEAR THE OLD YORK GATE, LONDON

London has discovered that the house in which Peter the Great dwelt during a portion of his visit to England is all intact. It is a roomy old building at the bottom of Buckingham street, Strand, in which quiet byway it is numbered 15. The house, which bears a memorial tablet, is said to be a fragment of York house, the residence of "Steele" duke of Buckingham, and just below, on a level with the embankment, is that fine old stone gateway, York Gate, formerly the water entrance to the palace. Here Peter the Great was installed shortly after he reached London in 1697, and it is recorded that he spent many an evening here with Lord Carmarthen drinking brandy "hot" with a pinch of pepper. Although the young Russian dressed in English fashion during his visit—sometimes as a gentleman and sometimes as a sailor—his identity soon became known to Londoners, and the vulgar curiosity of the mob was a considerable nuisance. They would crowd around the windows of the dining room and stare until the imperial shipwright left the table in rage. This trouble led to arrangements being made for his residence in the home of John Evelyn, the diarist at the Dorset.

BUNGLES IN INDIA

DAMNING CRITICISM OF THE STUPID AND ABORTIVE POLICY.

(Special to the Times.)

London, Feb. 1.—The Daily Mail this morning publishes the diary kept from December 18th by General Sir Henry Havelock-Allen, who was killed by rebellious tribesmen on the Indian frontier last month. Writing from Peshawar three days before his death, he said:

"The whole thing has been a dead failure from being undertaken on too small a scale, and without adequate calculation. It will be a costly mistake. The burden will fall on the overtaxed Indian people, who are already broken down by famine and pestilence and the beginning of sedition. A strict account ought to be demanded in Parliament of the causes of the deplorable failure. The mistake must have originated either from some controlling influence at Simla or Calcutta being used to thwart the military commanders, or what is less probable, by orders from home not to make a big job of it."

"What would be the state of things if it had occurred three or four months hence, when we perhaps, are engaged with Russia, whose advance parties were stirring up strife and unrest among those Afriid tribes who would then be most formidable enemies?"

A day or two earlier General Havelock-Allen wrote: "Reading between the lines of the accounts from the frontier, it is certain that the Afriids are not at all subdued. They are in fact, defiantly pursuing our troops and executing us out of the country."

Commenting on the diary, the Mail says: "This is a damning criticism by a competent and independent observer, whose verdict every day's news is tending more and more to justify. It is a terrible indictment, and must be answered. Now can the possibility of blame attaching to people in high places be permitted to stand in the way of a ruthless inquiry?"

THIRTY PERSONS GO DOWN

A TRAGEDY OF THE SEA—THE CAPTAIN OF THE WRECKED VESSEL SAVED.

(Special to the Times.)

Plymouth, Feb. 1.—It is reported that the mail steamer Channel Queen has been totally wrecked off the Island of Guernsey. The captain has been saved, but 30 persons are supposed to have been lost.

The rest of the people on board the Channel Queen were saved in great difficulty, one of them being swamped.

TWO ONLY DROWNED

Plymouth, Feb. 1.—Later in the day the owners of the Channel Queen announced that out of 65 persons on board of her when she struck only two are known to have been drowned.

44 REPORTED DROWNED

Plymouth, Feb. 1.—The news of the very slight loss of life, however, turned out to be incorrect, for still later advices had it that 44 lives were lost.

ON A ROCK IN A FOG

Later—The Channel Queen, which ran between Plymouth and the Island of Jersey, it now appears, struck on the rocks during a fog this morning and sank. Some of the passengers are missing, but their exact number is not known.

SENDING OUT BALLOTS

PREPARATIONS BEING MADE FOR THE APPROACHING PROVINCIAL CONTEST.

(Special to the Times.)

Toronto, Feb. 1.—Colonel Clarke, Clerk of the Crown in Chancery, is busy preparing the writs of election to the various constituencies of the province. As soon as these have been despatched officers of the stationery department will, during the remainder of the week, be employed packing up and sending off blank forms of ballot and other stationery. The names are left off the ballots and are inserted in the district to which they are to be sent. Altogether 868,000 ballots will be distributed and a tenth of that number of endorsed ballots. All these will not, of course, be used, though it is necessary to allow a margin. The city constituencies take the largest number of ballots, South and East Toronto taking 25,000 each and the other two 20,000 each. Lincoln, with 13,000, is the country constituency taking the largest number. The nominations will follow on the twelfth day after the issuing of the writs.

One of the sick rooms

Mrs. Burton Kingland, writing of "When Nursing the Sick" in the Ladies Home Journal, insists that "a tranquil mind is of the utmost importance to the patient, and consequently every effort must be made to move smoothly and easily, no matter what difficulties the nurse may have to encounter. The invalid should not be allowed to feel any responsibility whatever about his own case. This sick-room should be kept scrupulously neat, and made as cheerful and attractive as possible that the eyes of the patient may rest with pleasure upon his surroundings. The nurse herself may contribute to the agreeable environment if her own dress be simple and useful, and above all, conspicuously clean. All soiled dresses should be removed immediately after being used, and a good kept in sight. Even the most trifling details need not be ostentatiously noticed. Stillness has in itself a power to soothe, and, as all know, when the nerves are quiet Nature's healing processes go on without impediment. Cranky, noisy, bustling of garments, the rattling of dishes and kindred noises are often the occasion of positive suffering to an invalid. To accidentally jar the bed, to spill the medicine when of the nerves of the patient."

RUSSIA DEFIES BRITAIN

It is Said That Russia, France, and Germany Will Combine

BRITAIN MUST ACQUIEZE

Either Adopt the Czar's Policy or Fight

British Vessel Lost at Sea—Big Revolt in India Predicted—Britain Will Take Revenge on the Natives—Foreign Notes

(Special to the Times.)

New York, Feb. 1.—A dispatch to The Herald from London says: There is a startling dispatch in The Daily Telegraph to-day from St. Petersburg. This paper's correspondent there has had interviews with a Russian admiral, now chief of a squadron, and with an eminent Russian diplomatist. Their declarations, therefore, if true, have semi-official weight. Practically the declarations it contains amount to an menace on the part of Russia toward England that unless England chooses to acquiesce in the policy being pursued by Russia in the far East war is inevitable. If this dispatch is not a fake Russia has thrown down the gauntlet.

BOUND TO EQUAL BRITAIN

The dispatch to St. Petersburg, Saturday, I have had a conversation with a Russian admiral who had been appointed to the post of chief of a squadron, concerning the situation in the far East. This officer, in the course of his remarks, said: Nearly the whole of the marine forces of Russia will be despatched to the far East as a necessary result of the struggle to Korea and the Bay of Siam, while France will prevent the opening of the Siam Gulf and Nankin as free ports. Russia, France and Germany will permit no European power to carry out any such attempts against their interests, upon the pretext of encouraging China-French trade, for under that condition the power in question would become the real mistress of China, directing her politics and her finances.

A DIPLOMATIST'S VIEW

I also called upon a celebrated Russian diplomatist, who said: The conditions of the last of £12,000,000 which Great Britain has offered to the Chinese Government are directed principally against the interests of Russia and France, and for this reason our ambassador at Peking will, together with a French colleague, struggle to penetrate China from accepting the British overtures. By the opening of Peking as a free port, the value of Port Arthur as a naval station would be diminished.

A REVOLT IN INDIA

In the spring Great Britain will no longer occupy herself with the Chinese question, and will certainly not take the offensive, finding, as she will, the necessity of devoting her strength and energy to India, where a revolt infinitely more serious than the Sepoy mutiny is about to break out. There Russia will be able without difficulty to penetrate through Afghanistan and the Pamirs to the Indian possessions of Great Britain, to whom she will dictate terms. We have enough troops and well fortified frontiers, with outposts well connected in the rear with our reserves, by railways and telegraphs, and we could in the course of a few days place upon the Afghan frontier an army of 100,000 men. You perceive that all the chances are on our side, and we do not fear the threats of England.

HEAVY PUNISHMENT OF NATIVES WHO WIPED OUT A BRITISH FORCE.

Romby, Feb. 1.—A despatch from Muzrai gives further details of the disaster on Saturday last to the fourth brigade of the British troops operating on the frontier near Shinkamur.
